BOAT BURNERS CONFESS.

They Waive Examination and Are Bound Over.

Since Capt. Dove, David Young and Chas. Pyburn were arrested Thursday morning for burning the steamer R. C. Young, Mr. McCarthy, the detective who so beautifully captured them has secured a full confession from each of the men. While the men were in McCarthy's room at the Willamette hotel last Wednesday evening, McCarthy asked to be excused a moment. He had a man seated behind some portraits, and this man overheard their conversation. They then decided that they must get the tools and sink them and walk to the spot if it was necessary.

Since they have been in jail one at a time they have weakened and told the whole history of their crime. Some time ago Young and Dove had decided with Morgan who was then purser, to burn the boat. Morgan consented in order to get $400 that was due him, but the job fell through. Morgan is at Corvallis but cannot be implicated. Since that time several efforts have been made by the men to burn her, but every time their courage failed until July 23d, when Chas. Pyburn, the fireman, agreed to do the job for $200. On that day Dove drove the engine to the logging camp to get him out of the way. Before going he had a long talk with his wife in the cabin. Pyburn says they had a stormy time, but she finally left the boat, but no doubt against her will. This left Young and Pyburn alone on the boat. They then poured oil over the floor and boiler casing, when Pyburn touched it off. It burned so rapidly that nothing but the tools could be secured. Dove admits that he hid the compass behind a tree just where it was found by Deputy Wrightman. He also said: "I told them I would rather have a judgment on me than a crime. I don't know how many days nor how long ago, but it must have been two or three weeks after that before I came down to Salem and bought the supplies. There were some parties here that provoked me and Young too. They had accounts against us and Young claimed that it would be no worse to set fire to the thing and burn it up than to be attached. I told him all right—to go ahead and do it. Dave, Young, Pyburn and I talked it over and we concluded to let Pyburn fire it. And that day I took the engine and went above. About two hours and a half or three hours after we were gone my brother's steamer came and told us the boat had burned up. I went down and found it so."

Mr. McCarthy says he will assist the officers in prosecuting the case through. He considers the man Morgan equally as bad as the three men who are arrested, but because he cannot be convicted, because he was simply an accessory before the fact. He says he does not believe the Salem Iron works can collect their share of the insurance, because of the illegality of the entire claim. They will however try to collect the same by law, as they are innocent parties and will insist on their rights.

The prisoners were this morning brought up before Justice Batchelor, and after waiving examination, were bound over to appear before the grand jury. Their bail was at first fixed at $1000 each, but upon advice of the prosecuting attorney and Mr. McCarthy it was put at $2500 each.

FOUR CONVICTS ESCAPE.

They Dig Through Heavy Masonry and Get Out.

ALL PORTLAND MEN.

Help from Outside Gave Them Their Liberty.

This morning at six o'clock, as the laborers among the prisoners at the state prison were being counted out of their cells it was discovered that two men, Danhue and Evans, were missing. On examination it was found that two more prisoners, Schneider and Holiday, shop hands, who were laying off, were also gone.

The officials found to their surprise that the floor of cell 201 had been cut through, and that the wall between 201 and 202 had also been cut through. These walls consisted of 16 inch masonry.

The hole in the floor through which the men escaped is about 12x14 inches, and the work was done with an old file and pieces of iron kettles. After dropping through into the basement the men cut an inch iron bar out of the window grating and thus escaped into the front yard. Thence they walked around the wall fence and mounted the brick post near the barn. Here they forced the door and made their escape.

It is easy to understand how the prisoners secured the tools to dig out the brick work of the cells, and after seeing what a small obstruction such a wall is to a strong man with any kind of a tool, it is only a wonder that more do not escape in the same way. After one brick is removed it is a matter of very little exertion to remove the balance, and instead of the concrete floor being several inches thick there is not half an inch of it. The saw with which the window bar was cut out must have been supplied the men from outside, as no such a tool is used about the place. It is a small steel saw with an 8-inch blade, and is on sale at any hardware store. Supt. Downing thinks they must have had outside assistance.

About 2:30 o'clock this morning noise was heard in the basement by some of the guards, but nothing appeared to be wrong, and it was attributed to the cats. The guards made the rounds every hour, and it is evident that the work in the basement must have been done between their beats.

The men wore their striped suits, and as no clothing is missed from anywhere, it is supposed they still wear them. A pair of shoes was found on the walk near the post, so it is possible that one of the men is bare-footed.

A REWARD OFFERED.

Supt. Downing offers $50 apiece for the arrest and detention of the men. He has wired all parts of the country, and will no doubt soon have them all back.

P. J. HOLIDAY was also sent from Multnomah county, Mar. 8, 1892, for forgery, two years. He is 21 years of age, 5 feet 4 1/2 inches tall, complexion dark, hair black, eyes brown, right little finger stiff, three blue dots and scar on right arm, scar on back of left hand, also a letter D and four dots in blue on back of left hand, three moles on left side of face, one tooth filled in left lower jaw.

SUPP. MILES RESIGNS.

The Oregon Reform School Must Have a New Head.

It has but just been made public that on June 1st Supt. B. J. Miles of the Oregon state reform school handed in his resignation to the state board to take effect Sept. 1st. He has been in charge of this new institution since its beginning, and has done much valuable work to put it upon a good footing. Mr. Miles thoroughly understands the needs of such a school, having been in the work in Iowa about twenty years, and he will now return to the position which he left to come to Oregon. He has considerable property near Salem, and says he will probably return some day to make his home here. The Eldora, Iowa Herald has this to say of Mr. Miles and his work in Iowa:

NEW SUPERINTENDENT.

Eldora Herald: D. M. Crouse has resigned his position as superintendent of the Iowa Industrial school, to take effect September 1st, and B. J. Miles, after much solicitation upon the part of the members of the board, has consented to return and take the superintendency. For several months Mr. Crouse's health has been so bad that the board has with difficulty got him to remain with the school. In fact he was seriously thinking of resigning the assistant superintendency when he was appointed superintendent. Mr. Crouse has made a faithful, courteous and conscientious officer, but the responsibilities, under his condition of health, were too exacting.

It will be good news to the people of Eldora and all connected with the school to learn that Mr. Miles has again consented to take the superintendency. He has the respect and confidence of the public and the esteem of the inmates. Few men are as well equipped as Mr. Miles to manage an institution of the character of the reform school with less friction.

POPULAR FAVORITES.—The Wilbur Company are popular favorites wherever they appear as they always carry a first class company and play at prices that suit the people. The San Jose (Cal.), Mercury says of this company: "The well-known and popular drama, The Streets of New York, presented at the opera house last night by the Wilbur Dramatic Company highly pleased the audience present and won encomiums from all sides. James R. McCann in the character of Badger came out very strong; S. Phillis as Bloodgood, the cold and scheming rich man, was thoroughly up to his role, and Harry Rice as Mark Livingston made all that can possibly be made out of the good young man in a play. Mr. Louis Egan and Miss Gussie Gardner as old Puff and his wife, street hawkers, gained a high place in the favor of the audience. Miss Lizzie Kendall rendered the part of Alida Bloodgood, in excellent style. Miss Kate Wilber as Lucy Fairweather, won the sympathies of the audience by her presentation of that role, and Miss Irene Burnett, Jas. Turner, Geo. Wallace and the remaining members of the company performed their minor parts very creditably."

OFFICERS ELECTED.—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Capital Mining company held at the office of J. H. Haas, Thursday, Aug. 11th, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: F. S. Chadwick, Pres.; J. H. Haas, Secy.; J. J. Murphy, Treas. Mr. Chadwick and the board will visit the mine soon, and expect to find encouraging prospects.

CLOSING MEETINGS.—Mrs. Woodworth's tent meetings will close Sunday evening. The Church of God organized by Mrs. Woodworth at the Good Templars' hall next Tuesday evening at 7:30 p. m. Services conducted by Elder N. N. Mathews. Everybody cordially invited.

INCORPORATED.—The Sisters of the Most Precious Blood, a religious, charitable and educational society of Portland, was incorporated in the office of the secretary of state yesterday by Sisters Mary Seraphim, superiors; Mary Joanna, first assistant; and Mary Antonia, second assistant. The estimated value of property is $4000.

They Are Not Mormons.

The Evangelists Now in Salem Disclaim Polygamy.

Albert Hawa, who is in our city in connection with Thomas Daley, was seen by a JOURNAL reporter, and was induced to make a few statements regarding their work. They have a tent on 19th and State streets, and preach the gospel according to the dictates of the Reorganized church of Jesus Christ, of Latter Day Saints.

"What is your attitude towards the Mormon church?" inquired the reporter.

"We have nothing whatever to do with the Mormon church, except to fight their erroneous doctrines. We have done more than all the other churches established to put down polygamy and other false doctrines taught and practiced by the Mormon church in Utah."

"What is the Mormon church outside of Utah?"

"There is no such church outside of Utah."

"What of Joseph Smith, the elder?"

"We believe him to be the founder of the true church of Jesus Christ, in organization, doctrine, and practice."

"What of Brigham Young?"

"He is an apostate from the original church, and was never at any time the leader of over 12,000 to 18,000 of the original church from its faith. The balance of nearly 200,000 repudiate him and his false teachings."

"What of the book of Mormon?"

"It is a history of the dealings of God with a people which emigrated to this continent from Palestine about 600 years before Christ."

"What has it to do with your present church?"

"It corroborates the Bible for us."

"What is your attitude towards other sects of the Christian church?"

"We invite the co-operation of all denominations. Our tent is free to any representative person, whether preacher or layman, to express his views on religious matters, or to ask any questions."

"How long do you expect to remain in Salem?"

"The balance of this month, at least."

"Where are your churches, if any?"

"Our publishing headquarters are at Lamoni, Iowa, where Joseph Smith, Jr., is the head of the reorganized church, and we have churches in all the leading cities from Maine to Oregon."

"Will you organize a church in Salem?"

"If possible."

FOR PURE FOOD.

Laudable Action by Boards of Health Upon the Baking Powder Question.

Boards of Health can engage in no more commendable action than the examination of our food supply and the instruction of the public as to those articles which are found to be pure and wholesome, and which therefore consumers should use.

Action of this kind with baking powder is particularly opportune. There are quantities of baking powder in the market to use which is certain detriment to the health of the consumer. They are made from alum, or improperly compounded from other chemicals so that they leave a strong alkaline residuum in the food. Many of these powders having proven unsalable in the East, have been collected by their manufacturers from the dealers with whom they were left on commission, and shipped to the Pacific coast. In the effort to gain a foothold in this market unscrupulous manufacturers of these cheaply made, low grade baking powders have indulged in extravagant statements both with reference to their own and other brands, claiming the most improbable endorsements for theirs, and defaming the brands best known and longest used upon the Pacific coast.

The following extracts from the reports of some of our well-known health authorities will be of particular interest:

The State Chemist of Washington Prof. G. A. Bethune, says: "There is therefore, no question but the Royal is the strongest, purest and most wholesome baking powder in the market."

The Seattle Board of Health says: "Finding in analysis that it is made of the highest grade of cream of tartar and bicarbonate of soda, and is entirely free from any adulteration, we heartily recommend the Royal Baking Powder for its great strength, purity and wholesomeness."

The Tacoma Board of Health says: "In our judgment, the Royal is the best and strongest baking powder before the public. We confidentially recommend it because of its purity and care of preparation."

The Spokane City Board of Health report: "There is certainly no baking powder known to us equal to the Royal for strength and uniform quality, and we recommend it for its absolute purity and wholesomeness."

The Board of Health of the city of San Francisco, after extended tests, said of the Royal, that "it is absolutely pure and healthful, composed of the best ingredients, of the highest strength and character." The health officers of Los Angeles reported that it was "clearly demonstrated and proven that the Royal Baking Powder is pure and wholesome, and that it stands as far as strength

SICK Head-Aches

Head-aches are the outward indications of derangements of the stomach and bowels. As Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is the only bowel regulating preparation of Sarsaparilla, it is seen why it is the only appropriate Sarsaparilla in sick-headaches. It is not only appropriate; it is an absolute cure. After a course of it an occasional dose at intervals will forever prevent return.

Joe, M. Cox, of 735 Turk Street, San Francisco, writes: "I have been troubled with attacks of sick-headache for two last three years from one to three times a week. Some time ago I bought two bottles of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla and have only had one attack since and that was on the second day after I began using it."
