PROTECT THE DOGS.

The Canine Poisoners Denounced by Indignant Citizens.

A good meeting was held last evening at Grange hall to take measures toward protecting dogs against poisoning and to prosecute gully parties. L. A. Davison was elected chairman and M. E. Pague secretary. The following resolutions were passed:

Whereas, a number of our valuable dogs have been destroyed during the past week by poison in the hands of a fiend in human form, and whereas this same misfortune has befallen the canines of our city from year to year.

Therefore, Be it resolved, That the person or persons who are guilty of this crime are lower than the lowest of animals whose lives they have and are seeking to destroy.

That a being who will disobey the law prohibiting the use of poison will disobey it in other particulars, and is a dangerous person to the community, and our homes and properties are in danger at their hands.

Be it resolved further, that such a being should be, in addition to the punishment provided by the statute farmed and feathered and ridden on a rail through the principal streets of Salem, and members of this meeting will use due diligence to so punish the offender if caught, and also that this meeting resolve itself into a committee of the whole for the purpose of seeking the offender.

An effort will be made to have the city rigorously enforce a dog law and the following subscription paper has been put into circulation today:

We, the undersigned, hereby agree to pay the specified sums of money set opposite our respective names as reward money to be paid to the person or persons who give information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons guilty of poisoning dogs within the past week in the city of Salem, Oregon.

This is a good move and the many men who are giving it their attention, deserve the thanks of every dog owner in Salem.

THAT PAVING.—There has been considerable talk today about the irregularity of the manner in which the contract for street improvement was let by the council last evening. The members who voted for this improvement claim that it was regular. They claim the bids considered were received as per the advertisement published. They further claim that the bid accepted was the lowest specific bid for the complete job. However this may be, the contract is in accordance with the petitions recently sent in by Salem's property owners, and while it does not provide for a pavement at all, it will put our streets on grade and keep us out of the mud. It furnishes a superstructure for a future pavement. Best of all, it gives Salem something besides a paper improvement. Now, let a good job be done, and that as soon as possible.

IT TOOK NERVE.—Alderman Olmsted showed that he was made of good stuff last night when he moved to reconsider the street improvement question. He knew the broken rock contract could not be carried out, and while he wanted that, and even better, he would not be "the dog in the manger" to prevent any improvement. He arose to the situation and has made it possible for Salem to have good streets the coming winter.

Y. M. C. A.—Rev. P. S. Knight will address the young men at the rooms on State street at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Choice music by male chorus, cool rooms, ice water. All men welcome.

THE "BOY COUNCIL" DID IT.

Contract Let for Grading and Draining Salem's Business Streets.

The council met in adjourned session last evening, with Johnson, Hunt, Lafore, Collins, Olmsted, Hutton and Lamoureux present.

A petition of property owners on State street was read asking that said street be improved at once between Commercial and High streets.

Mrs. Johns, of South Commercial street, appeared before the council and asked that said street be so finished that sidewalks can be laid on that part of said street. The lady made a very concise statement concerning the condition of that street.

Alderman Lafore moved that the petition of the State street parties be referred to the street committee, carried.

Alderman Olmsted moved that the vote by which Ryerson & Co. were awarded the contract for paving with crushed rock be reconsidered, at the same time stating that he did this because he firmly believed the provisions of the crushed rock ordinance can never be carried out.

The vote stood; ayes, Johnson, Hunt, Lafore, Olmsted; noes, Collins, Hutton, Lamoureux.

The mayor declared the motion carried. The question now was, should the bid of Ryerson & Co. be accepted.

Noes, Johnson, Hunt, Lafore, Olmsted; yeas, Collins, Hutton, Lamoureux; lost.

Chairman Hunt, of the street committee moved that the bid of Mason & Co., for grading, graveling, etc. for $15,542.25 be accepted.

E. J. McCutland, who was present representing Hayne, Buck & Co., of Abatey, stated that their bid was the lowest.

Alderman Hutton suggested that the bid was too high.

Alderman Lamoureux advocated placing bituminous rock on six blocks of Commercial street.

Alderman Hutton remarked that the city already had gravel streets, and favored something permanent.

Alderman Collins thought if a gravel improvement was made, it would be best to simply grade the streets with the material now on them, without cement gutters.

The vote on awarding the contract to Mason stood; ayes, Johnson, Hunt, Lafore, Olmsted and Lamoureux; noes, Collins, and Hutton.

On motion of Alderman Hunt that when the council adjourned it meet next Tuesday evening.

Alderman Hunt moved that an ordinance be drawn up to cover this contract. Carried.

On motion of Alderman Collins it was ordered that a copy of the contract and ordinance for this work be spread upon the minutes, and that another copy be furnished the contractors. Adjourned.

Stands At The Head.
Dr. Geo. A. Betheune, state chemist of the state of Washington, has examined the various baking powders of the market, and speaks emphatically as to which he considers the best. He says:

"A series of carefully made tests of the baking powders sold in this market shows that the Royal yields the largest percentage of leavening gas. This powder is also found free from any harmful or even objectionable ingredient; its constituents are of exceptional purity, so combined that the powder produces the purest and most wholesome food.

There is, therefore, no question but that the Royal is the strongest, purest and most wholesome baking powder in the market."

HOW POOLBALLS ARE MADE.

Prepared from a Good Cotton Mixture, Cut into Balls and Dried.

"Celluloid has altogether superseded ivory as material for poolballs," said a manufacturer. "A set of thirteen celluloid balls will outwear three or four sets of ivory and they cost only twenty-five dollars, whereas you cannot buy sixteen good ivory balls for less than $115. The condition of the atmosphere which causes the ivory balls to shrink and swell and crack just as if they were made of wood has no effect upon celluloid.

"Of course you know that celluloid is a mixture of gum cotton and camphor. Naturally it would be yellow, but zinc white is put in to make it white. After the ingredients have been properly mingled with the aid of steam heat the celluloid is pressed into blocks, which are a little bigger than the balls that are to be made. In order to render them as hard as possible the material is subjected to a pressure of 300 tons on each ball. Next the blocks are turned in a lathe to perfect spheres of precisely the diameter required by means of knives which work automatically and cannot cut beyond a certain distance from the center of each ball.

"When this has been done the perfect spheres of celluloid are ready to be dyed in various colors. For this purpose they are dipped and allowed to remain for some time in pots containing the dyes, those parts which are not desired to be colored being protected by means of little cups of brass ingeniously fastened upon the balls. In the plain balls of red, blue, green, purple and yellow only the round spot where the number is to go needs to be covered, but in the treatment of the striped balls the matter is not so easy. After they have been dyed out of the pots the dyed balls are put on a lathe and made to revolve rapidly, while the sandpaper is delicately applied so as to smooth their surfaces. Then a keen knife, manipulated by hand, removes from them the thinnest conceivable shaving all over, which does not take off the color, because the dyes penetrate to a little depth. Finally sandpaper is again applied and the balls are ready for the last process to which they must be subjected.

"This last process is the varnishing. They are placed for this purpose in little wire cups, which come into contact with them at a few points as possible, and a transparent lacquer is bestowed upon them by hand with a brush. As soon as they are dry they are ready to be packed and sent to the retailer. When they are newly finished they are quite as pretty to look at as any ivory pool balls that ever were made. When are the numbers put on, you ask? Oh, they are cut very quickly with dies before the balls go into the dye pots, and a little plumbo is rubbed into them to make them black. No it would not be possible for a celluloid ball like one of these to explode; nor could it be made to burn, inasmuch as its density is too great. However, if you were to cut it up into chips it would go off at a pretty lively rate upon being ignited."—Washington Star.

A Pet Crow.
A well known up town family has a pet crow which is given the liberty of the whole household. It is as precise and particular about its appearance as a proudest young maiden, and frequently it is allowed a place in the dining room when the family meal is eaten. When night comes it stations itself at one of the fence corners and keeps looking out for intruders until the early dawn, setting up a loud cawing at the sight of any stranger approaching. A valuable diamond earring belonging to one of the daughters was missing from its drawer in the case the other day while the crow was perched on the window sill. Search was made everywhere for the missing piece of jewelry without success, and the finding of it was given up as one of the impossibilities.

A few days since the crow was followed into a corner of the yard filled with empty boxes, and in one of them, hidden away from sight, was found a perfect brick-a-lac shop, a number of bright silver buttons, a pair of diamond studs, several lustrous tortoise hair ornaments, a lot of bits of broken colored glass, and a stock of shining buttons of endless variety, and the diamond earring. The character of the crow has been considerably lowered in the estimation of the family since the discovery.—Philadelphia Press.

The Locomotive's Voice.
An engineer on one of the railroads running into this city says that persons in his business can always judge of the condition of their machinery by the tone it gives out while running. Every engine, whether stationary or locomotive, has a particular tone of its own. The engineer becomes accustomed to that, and any departure from it at once excites a suspicion that all is not right. The engineer may not know what is the matter, he may have no ear for music, but the change in tone of his machine will be instantly perceptible and will start him on an immediate investigation.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Old Timers Are Not In It.
While at our other store at Big Island, Va., last April, I was taken with a very severe attack of diarrhoea. I never had it worse in my life. I tried several old-time remedies, such as Blackberry Wine, Paregoric and Landanum without getting any relief. My attention was then called to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy by Mr. R. C. Tinsley who had been handling it there, and in less than five minutes after taking a small dose I was entirely relieved.—O. G. Burford, Harris Creek, Amherst Co., Va. For sale by Baskett & Van Slype Druggists.

Capt. J. N. Crawford, of Umahli reservation, arrived in the city today, and will stay over Sunday.

A NOTE OF WARNING.

The Public Is Cautioned to Beware of Counterfeits and Imitations.

As a matter of justice to ourselves and to the reputation of Dr. Leslie Keeley's Double Chloride of Gold remedies for the cure of the liquor, opium, morphine and tobacco diseases, and neurasthenia, we warn the public that these remedies are used by no institution or sanitarium in the United States, except those established by our company under the uniform name of "The Keeley Institute.

All others claiming to use our remedies are frauds and impostors. We have now seventy-two Keeley institutes established in various parts of the United States, where the Keeley treatment is administered, and the Keeley remedies sold. We, however, caution all to examine well and know that they are dealing with genuine representatives, authorized by us, before taking treatment or purchasing remedies.

The fraudulent establishments use the name of "Bi-Chloride of Gold," or similar titles. The newspapers do not discriminate sufficiently to know that they are imitations, and so put down all accidents occurring at such establishments as being brought about by the Keeley treatment. This is a matter of much concern to us, and hence this warning.

Respectfully yours,
THE LESLIE E. KEELEY CO.,

Beware of Ointments for Cuts—that contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Old People.
J. V. S. is the only Sarsaparilla that old feeble people should take, as the mineral potash which is in every bottle of Sarsaparilla that we know of, is under certain conditions known to be enacting. J. V. S. on the contrary is purely vegetable and stimulates digestion and creates new blood, the very thing for old delicate or broken down people. It builds them up and prolongs their lives. A case in point:

Mrs. Belden an estimable and elderly lady of 50 Mason St., S. F. was for months declining so rapidly as to seriously alarm her family. It got so bad that she was finally afflicted with fainting spells, she writes: "While in that dangerous condition I saw some of the testimonials concerning J. V. S. and sent for a bottle. That marked the turning point. I got so bad that she was finally afflicted with fainting spells, she writes: "While in that dangerous condition I saw some of the testimonials concerning J. V.
