MALARIAL FEVER.—A letter from Rev. Robt. Whitaker, who is in San Francisco, states that Mrs. Whitaker is ill with malarial fever, and that the weather has been severely hot. They will go to the mountains as soon as Mrs. W. is sufficiently recovered.

THE HOAG LEAVES.—Capt. Raabe came up from Portland this morning with a crew of men, and will take the steamer Hoag down to that city. He reports the water was almost to low water mark, but thinks they can make the trip without any trouble.

AFTER SCHNEIDER.—Jos. Cavanaugh and Jas. Ross have been on the trail of who they believe to be Schneider, the escaped convict. He was in a skiff, and was chased across the river, where trace was lost, but it is hoped they will capture him before night.

STIFF ENDED.—In the suit of D. N. Leitzel vs. T. G. Cairns, which was tried Saturday before Justice Batcher, a verdict was rendered this morning giving Leitzel judgment for $25 and possession of the horse. Defendant is also charged with the costs, amounting to nearly $90.

IN THEIR NEW HOME.—Ed. Lamport and family are now nicely housed in their elegant new residence on Commercial street. The building presents a handsome exterior, and the inside conveniences are of the best that money could procure. It is a modern structure throughout, and the family is to be congratulated upon being so nicely settled in their new home.

NEW HOMES.—Prof. Z. M. Parvin and family will move into their new residence on South Salem hill some time next week, where they will have a comfortable home. Mr. J. F. Savage, who has purchased the Parvin place on Chienete street, will also move his family in soon. He comes into the city of schools and churches, in order to give his children the best educational advantages.

Saved a Woman's Life.
Mr. J. E. Thoroughgood, writing from Georgetown, Delaware, says: "Two teaspoonfuls of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy saved the life of Mrs. June Thomas of this place." He also states that several other lives have been cured by this remedy. For sale by Baskett & Van Slype Druggists.

Mrs. G. A. Brodie and children, who have been visiting at the Carpenter farm, returned to Portland this afternoon.

FROM MR. HOOD.—A party composed of J. W. Winslow, of Turner; Misses Helen Hibbard, Stella Griffith and Minnie Lausig, of Salem; Prof. A. Rice and wife, E. W. Luse, Miss Ella Wright, Prof. A. L. Briggs and P. L. Blackley, of Silverton; Marion White, and Misses Lulu and Euphemia White, of Marquam; with R. C. Ramsby, of Silverton, as guide, and James Manary a teamster, have returned from their trip to Mt. Hood. The entire party ascended to Crater Rock, while ten of their number, including five ladies, went up the summit. There they found most of the snow melted off. A box was found there containing registry book of all visitors, a bible, cards and other mementoes from persons who had visited this highest point.

The Rich Man's Son.
The rich man's son inherits lands, and piles of brick and stones and gold, and inherits soft white hands, and tender flesh that fears the cold. Like soft hands, and tender flesh, many diseases are inherited; especially tendencies to Asthma, Consumption, Bronchitis, and Stomach and Liver troubles; but there is a remedy, known as the "Golden Medical Discovery," which overcomes these diseases, and cuts off all tendencies toward a fatal result. Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, has put this remedy within the reach of all, so that even the poor as well as the rich, can obtain it. It is worth more to you than piles of brick and stone and gold." Ask your druggist for it. It's guaranteed to benefit or cure in every case, or money paid for it will be refunded.

The best, the cheapest, and the largest sales. Sand and gravel. Goodhue & Cahill.

Miss Anita Bishop, who has been visiting at the home of R. B. Cannon, west to Portland today, whence she returns to her home at Santa Rosa, Cal.

Mrs. Chas. Gray and children, returned home from Newport today.

EXPRESS ROBBERY.
Four Farmers Did the Deed, They Were Caught.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 22.—The Journal's Wichita special says: The St. Louis & San Francisco train which left here at 10:30 Saturday night was held up and the Wells-Fargo express-car robbed by four masked men, near Augusta, Butler county, about midnight. Before 9 o'clock yesterday morning the outlaws were captured, with part of the booty.

As the train slowed at the crossing a mile east of Augusta, two masked men mounted the locomotive and ordered the engineer and fireman to stop the train. This done, the other members of the gang uncoupled the express car. The engineer was then compelled to pull out a mile distant with the express car. The highwaymen demanded admittance and commenced shooting through the sides. The express messenger and baggage man stiff was forced to open the safe, and the robbers got between 15 and 20 packages of money. The outlaws did not attempt to rob the passengers, and the latter knew nothing of the robbery till it was over.

The amount of money secured probably did not exceed $8000, but the amount cannot be definitely ascertained. The robbery was committed by four farmers living in the vicinity of Douglas, Butler county, and it seems it was anticipated, for as soon as the sheriff heard of the affair he pounced upon the outlaws. Their names are Ted Livingston, Ezra Carter, A. A. Bailey and Rollin Moffatt.

ONLY A FAKE.
Mr. Mitchell Probably the Victim of a Practical Joke.
An irresponsible local newspaper writer has represented that J. L. Mitchell was attacked Friday evening by some of the recently escaped convicts while driving near Aunsville. The facts are, a threshing crew in the neighborhood of Aunsville were bathing in Mill creek and not knowing Mr. Mitchell's excitable nature, undertook to run a foot race after he had passed by. They wore striped bathing suits and a few of the swift runners nearly overtook the rig. Mr. Mitchell lashed his horse into a foam by the time he reached Aunsville and the young lady with him had nearly fainted. These are the facts as gathered from responsible parties in the neighborhood. The prison authorities unearthed the above joke but no convicts, and they have scoured the whole country carefully.

Parrots Are Vegetarians.
Parrots are vegetarians. They live chiefly upon a light but nutritious diet of fruit and seeds, or upon the abundant nectar of rich tropical flowers. And it is mainly for the sake of getting at their chosen food that they have developed the large and powerful bills which characterize the family. You may have perhaps noted that most tropical fruit eaters, like the hornbills and the toucans, are remarkable for the size and strength of their beaks. Cornhill Magazine.

The Old Timers Are Not In It.
While at our other store at Big Island, Va., last April, I was taken with a very severe attack of diarrhoea. I never had it worse in my life. I tried several old-time remedies, such as Blackberry Wine, Purgative and Laudanum without getting any relief. My attention was then called to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy by Mr. R. C. Tinsley who had been handling it there, and in less than five minutes after taking a small dose I was entirely relieved. — O. G. Burford, Harris Creek, Amherst Co., Va. For sale by Baskett & Van Slype Druggists.

The Street Car Driver's Song.

"Git out, git out, git out!"
Take a ride up Broadway on the front end of a street car, on a busy afternoon, listen to the driver and this is what you will hear:

"Git out, git out, git out!"
This to a truck driver, near by. The truckman starts to grimace; the car man keeps up his call in a monotonous voice:

"Git out, git out, git out!"
Then the teamster ahead gets too slow. Our man flurries his whip, whistles and shrieks, holds in his horses, wildly gesticulates and goes on following:

"Git out, git out, git out!"
A bicycle rider is caught in the jam, under the noses of the team. A dozen trucks block the track, zigzag, and a hundred people scurry right and left. Yet the car keeps right ahead. The driver never dreams of hauling up, other than for a passenger, and that only for a fleeting second—always at it:

"Git out, git out, git out!"
Then he hums a tune, stamps his feet, chews tobacco, twirls the brake, nods to a woman occasionally, bangs the team, swings his lash, whistles at the jam, roars, bellows and shrieks, and in other ways earns his salary, while the passengers on the front end stand about in perfect oblivion, not even hearing, apparently, the singsong interlude that floats in between:

"Git out, git out, git out!"—New York Recorder.

Education Increases Pain.
Education increases the natural susceptibility to pain. The agricultural laborer is much less sensitive of nerve than the artisan; and the artisan than the scholar; and the brain worker. For education, which is only civilization carried on, results in a still further development of the brain, and consequently of the nervous system which depends upon it; and the price for increased intelligence is paid in increased sensibility to pain. So that an injury which to the man of intellect may mean positive agony, by the plowman will be not only endurable, but scarcely noticed at all. For it is the brain, and the brain alone, that feels, although the actual sensation is localized.

Cut the trunk nerve which connects the seat of the injury with the brain, and the pain which that injury produced instantly ceases to be felt. For the nerves are as telegraph wires, which communicate the fact of the injury to the brain, and receive in return the sensation which it experiences. And it is therefore easy to understand how the degree of development to which the brain has attained affects and controls the degree of intensity of possible pain. —London Sunday Magazine.

Shaving in Egypt.
The earliest reference to shaving of the beard is found in Genesis xii, 14, where we read that Joseph, on being summoned before the king, shaved himself. There are several references as to shaving in Leviticus, and the practice is alluded to in many other parts of the Bible. However, Egypt is the only country mentioned in the Bible where shaving was practiced; in all other countries at that time such an act would have been considered ignominious. Herodotus mentions that the Egyptians allowed their beards to grow when they were in mourning. So particular were they as to shaving at all other times that to have neglected it was to make one's self the butt of course and ridiculous jokes.

Even in this day and age, when the Egyptian wants to convey the idea of a man of low condition and slovenly habits, they always picture to you a man with a full beard. This notion is very ancient, a fact attested by works of art found in burial monuments dating back thousands of years. —St. Louis Republic.
