GOODHUE & CAHILL.

A RARE RELIC.—At the market of Davison & White, 94 Court street can be seen one of the most wonderful curiosities of modern times. Along with their collection of pet owls, mongolian pheasants, rabbits, pigeons, etc it forms quite a museum. The latest curiosity is an old knife, probably lost by some trapper in the times of the Hudson Bay company, which is grown into a solid oak root. The tree was about four feet in diameter and was cut by Ashley White, of the firm, on his farm in Polk county. The knife is about seven inches long, has two blades, and is enveloped in a solid root, with each projecting slightly. It is impossible to tell how long it may have been since lost by its owner, but good judges say not less than a hundred years. It was found in this root fully fifteen inches below the ground's surface, and was evidently carried down by the growth of the root. Relic hunters should not fail to see it.

NATIVE PETS.—Mr. Chance, who resides in South Brownsville, has been the proud possessor of two cougar cubs their "kitten days," having captured them when very small and raised them up to Monday morning, when they met with quite an unexpected death, says the Brownsville Times. They had been chained in a large cage and by some means got together, twining the chains around their necks until death ensued from choking. They were quite a loss as he had been offered $300 for them.

ON INSTALLMENTS.—A few desirable lots in Pleasant home addition will be sold on installments at most desirable rates. 75 lots have been sold this season. Also fine city property at bargain. Wm. Bagley will have charge of the business during my absence. Wm. E. BURKE. 8-19-14

THE WHEAT MARKET.—This grain is bringing 94 cents, but the market is very unsteady and it is not coming into the Salem mills as fast as other seasons. A more rapid movement will take place in a few weeks when the market will become more settled.

THAT MEDAL.—At the Rod and Gun Club shoot held yesterday afternoon, B. W. Harritt carried off the diamond medal by scoring 22 points. F. A. Turner made 16; C. D. Gabrielson, 22; C. L. Glenn, 18; Frank Howe, 17; Clement, 14. The next shoot will be held Sept. 6th.

SCHOOL MEETING.—The directors of District No. 24 will meet tomorrow at 10 o'clock a. m.

Mrs. W. H. McCammon, and little daughter, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. A. B. Buren, left today for her home in Colorado Springs.

FOR CONFERENCE.—Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Rook, G. W. Rook, Rev. and Mrs. J. H. B. Royal and others left today to attend the M. E. conference in Portland.

CONTRACT AWARDED.—The bid of Dugan Bros., for putting in the asylum and state house water supply was accepted by the state board last evening.

IT IS ALL OVER.—When you go to Clark & Eppley's and find every body rushed, don't get impatient, for you will be waited upon in due time. It is the place to save money on groceries and get good treatment.

POSTPONED.—The meeting which was to be held at Grange Hall this evening to further consider the question of dog poisoning has been indefinitely postponed. This is perhaps the last we will hear of the matter until the dog poisoner has another attack.

ENDORSED.—A number of the property owners on State street have authorized the contractors whose bid the city accepted to go to work at once and improve in front of their places, even before the contract is signed up. They are anxious to have the work done at once, and stand ready to pay the expense. This is a fine endorsement of the council in ordering this work done.

From Mr. Jefferson.

Monday evening Prof. W. S. Arnold, the rustling instructor in geology, botany, physiology and zoology in the Willamette university arrived in Albany from Mt. Jefferson, a day or two behind the remainder of his party, and spent the night with his former scholar, Justice N. M. Newport.

The professor brought with him a large collection of native flowers and plants, which will go to Chicago in the ladies' collection being gotten up for Oregon, and as well, some fine geological specimens, besides trout and grouse secured at the foot of Mt. Jefferson. Some of the party made the highest point ever reached on the mountain, but not, by any means the top of Mt. Jefferson which the professor declares has never yet been scaled. He is very enthusiastic over the trip, which he pronounces a great success. The reported loss of the professor proves not to have been a very serious one, though with his companion he was out 29 hours, but not without some food. Owing to a dense fog they lost their bearings and traveled about forty miles before getting to camp, but it was a fortunate loss, for it enabled them to secure some fine botanical and geological specimens.

Among those making their homes in that isolated locality were a couple of veterans of the rebellion. One of them had his books packed to start for school in 1863, when, instead, he started for the war, and was at Gettysburg in the thickest of the fight.

Prof. Arnold visited a school of nine pupils this side of the mountain and was impetioned by the scholars to go up there and teach them. He was offered ten acres in a fine location if he would start a summer school of botany and geology, and is thinking seriously of doing so next year. A magnificent body of timber is reported, some 100 acres taken up in that region containing as much as 10,000,000 feet. Individual trees are seen twelve feet in diameter and 300 feet high. Albany Democrat.

A Reliable Man.

M. J. Griner, a justice of the peace at Prim, Michigan, says one bottle of Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy saved his life. He had been down with bloody flux for three weeks when he commenced using this medicine. It soon cured him, and he believes saved his life. He also says it saved the life of three railroad men in that vicinity. "Squire Griner is a reliable and conscientious man, and whatever he says can be depended upon. For sale by Baskett & Van Slype.

CONCLUDED FROM 1ST PAGE.

wish now I had flatly refused to draw such an ordinance as it would have saved the city about \$16,000 which is now to be added to its now existing debt of \$100,000 or more. The second reason why I stated that I did not believe the assessment could be collected is as follows: You substituted an altogether different set of specifications, after the contract was let and after the ordinance was passed and the contract ordered signed by the mayor and recorder, which was several thousand dollars cheaper, although not a cent was deducted from the contract price for it. The specifications under which you advertised for bids required an upper and lower course of gravel, one of coarse gravel, the other of fine gravel, and a course of sand. The coarse gravel was the first course and was screened gravel not less than one inch nor more than two inches in diameter; the upper course was fine screened gravel not larger than  $\frac{3}{4}$  of an inch. Upon the course of coarse gravel was to be spread sand and the sand rolled into all the spaces between the gravel, then upon this was spread a course of fine gravel so as to bring the street up to grade. After the bids were taken and after the first ordinance was read a second time, Mr. Mason agreed with the committee on streets and public property that if they would allow him to use selected gravel he would do the work for \$1500 00 less, as it was very expensive running the gravel through a screen while he could take rakes of different sized meshes he could get the same sized gravel as by running it through a screen, and get it out a great deal faster by using rakes than by running it through a screen, and there was accordingly deducted \$1177.01 from the property and \$322.99 from the city on the street intersections and the ordinance with this change in it was passed and still required the work to be done according to the plans and specifications, except it should be selected gravel of the same size as the screened gravel, that is, the first course should be selected gravel not less than one inch nor more than two inches in diameter, the sand to be put in as before, the upper course to be fine screened gravel not larger than  $\frac{3}{4}$  of an inch in diameter, this still required as good a street to be made as though you had used screened gravel. The ordinance was passed with this understanding. But after the ordinance was passed and the contract ordered signed, there was a thing done in the way of substituting specifications which I seriously objected to, because I knew a good street could not be made under the substituted specifications, and that it would be a very cheap affair, besides, the property owners had a right to a hearing before such a marked change should be allowed. I went to the chairman on streets and public property, Alderman Hunt, and he had the contract with the regular specifications attached to it, and he told me that the committee had ordered another set of specifications substituted for those, and ordered me to detach from the contract the old specifications and attach the substituted specifications to the contract instead. I refused and stated to him that the ordinance did not authorize it, besides it would not make a good street and give him my reasons, and the chairman of the committee on streets and public property stated he could not help it that the committee had ordered these specifications instead of the other one and that was the way it would be. I then went to the recorder and mayor, who were to sign the contract, and informed them that the committee on streets and public property had substituted a new set of specifications that was not contemplated when the ordinance was passed, and that they could not make a good street under these specifications. The mayor and recorder had the old and also the substituted specifications before them, the old specifications were detached from the contract and the substituted ones were attached to the contract, and I told them which the original specifications were, and I pulled off the substituted specifications from the contract and put the original ones back on as they were when the ordinance was passed, but these substituted specifications were again attached to the contract and signed up with the contract. These substituted specifications required only one course of gravel and did not limit the size and did not require any sand to bind the gravel. These specifications were ordered drawn by Alderman Moore a few days previous to the time the bids were taken, and he and some other members and officers of the council thought they could go and pick out a gravel-bar with gravel of proper size without screening or raking it that would make a good street and that they would order the contractor to

GRAVEL.

"Upon the surface of the subgrade prepared as heretofore specified, gravel selected and approved by the committee on streets and public property, and the city surveyor, which shall be free from loam, earth and other deleterious materials shall be laid of sufficient depth so that when it is wet and rolled, the whole of the upper surface thereof shall conform to and be the same as the finished surface herein described. It shall then be properly wet and thoroughly rolled with a roller weighing not less than 200 pounds to the inch for each and every inch of length thereof and shall be rolled until brought to a uniform surface and of the proper height, and to the satisfaction of the committee on streets and public property and the city surveyor.

I am informed that the street committee, or some of them at least, and the street commissioner did go down and select a gravel-bar from which Mr. Mason hauled the gravel from the city on the street intersections and the ordinance with this change in it was passed and still required the work to be done according to the plans and specifications, except it should be selected gravel of the same size as the screened gravel, that is, the first course should be selected gravel not less than one inch nor more than two inches in diameter, the sand to be put in as before, the upper course to be fine screened gravel not larger than  $\frac{3}{4}$  of an inch in diameter, this still required as good a street to be made as though you had used screened gravel.
