THE CAPITAL.

Many public institutions and business enterprises in Salem have the name "capital" incorporated into their various titles, and not least among them are the "Capital Business College," under the proprietorship of Prof. Stanley. An attractive catalogue has been given to the public, attractive not only in its make-up, but in the solid contents of its pages. Aside from the usual prospectus and superior course of study, it contains a list of endorsements from former students and from employers of graduates, which would be credited to any school in the United States. In addition to this is given the names of nearly two hundred of Salem's business and professional men who recommended the school very heartily. Mr. Stanley is hard at work preparing for the coming year's work, and from all indications he thinks the attendance will be larger than ever in the history of the school. Salemites feel proud of this school, and all wish it the greatest possible prosperity.

NEW QUARTERS.

F. T. Hart the merchant tailor, has removed his shop and stock into the new Bush building just completed at 232 Commercial street. Here he is better prepared than ever to please his patrons, having just received a large invoice of the most reasonable goods from the eastern markets. Since in Salem Mr. Hart has catered for the best trade in his line, and by handling only reliable goods as to style and quality, he has built up a business that is flattering in the highest degree. His effort is to keep the newest goods and do work that is sure to please the most fastidious. Everybody who wears clothes is cordially invited to call at the new quarters and see what Mr. Hart has to offer.

ON INSTALLMENTS.

A few desirable lots in Pleasant home addition will be sold on installments at most desirable rates. 75 lots have been sold this season. Also fine city property at bargain. Wm. Bagley will have charge of the business during my absence. Wm. E. BURKE. 8-19-12

HOP PICKERS MAY STRIKE.

Hop Growers' Associations Up the Valley Cutting Prices.

Strikes are all the fashion now and we may see one among the boys and girls who do hop picking. They suffer the disadvantage of having no organization but they are preparing to make a strong fight against a cut in wages.

There is great scarcity of pickers in Washington and a reduction of from 50 cts. to 40 cts. as is proposed in a number of counties will send a large number of pickers over the border, and that would raise the wages again here. Polk, Yamhill, and Marion counties hop growers have not cut wages that we have heard of, but will pay the same as in other years. A hop picker's strike would be something new.

EVERY PAIR WARRANTED.

What's warranted? Why, the "Little Giant school shoes," at Fleming's State street shoe store. 8-26-12.

PRICES OF HOPS.

No Contracts Made at Salem This Far—14 to 15 cents Offered.

The talk about 25 and 35 cents a pound for hops, is a gross exaggeration, inclined to mislead a great many people who read state statements in print. The fact is that up to date no Salem broker has had advances to offer over 14 to 15 cents a pound.

An occasional buyer admits that he may be obliged to offer 20 cents if he cannot get any at a lower rate. The price will depend a good deal upon tenacity with which growers organize and hold onto their crop. Brokers say the early market will give growers the highest price. The whole matter is in an unsettled state. But one thing is certain: Oregon has a magnificent crop of hops and should get all it is worth for it.

BOBBY BURNS.

Miss Howison, a talented and highly recommended Philadelphia lady will lecture this Friday evening on Robert Burns, the sweetest of all nature's singers. Every Scotchman and lover of Burns is asked to turn out and hear the lecture, which will be delivered in the beautiful auditorium of Unity church. The lady is under great expense to come to our city at this dull season, when so many Salemites are at the coast or in the mountains and all who can should hear her.

PHYSICIAN'S REPORT.

Dr. Brooks was deputized to take the position of state prison physician during the illness of Dr. Jeffries. The position involves a good deal of work and the pay is not very high, but Dr. Brooks wanted the experience of a prison job. He reports today that all the men are fit for labor except seven. Dr. Jeffries is at his father-in-law's place, Col. Walker of Spring Valley, and is improving rapidly.

IN BUSINESS.

The many friends of J. H. Lunn will be pleased to know that he will remain in Salem. He has purchased a half interest in the insurance business of Mitchell & Co., and the firm will hereafter be known as Mitchell & Lunn.

JOS. SMITH.

The evangelists, Elders Daley and Haws, are continuing their meetings at the tent on the corner of State and 19th streets. Sunday evening the subject for discussion will be, "Joseph Smith, a prophet of God." All are invited.

COOL AS A CUCUMBER.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

A Four Days' Session Will Be Held During State Fair Week.

The agricultural college proposes to hold an institute on the state fair grounds during the fair, on the evenings of September 13, 14, 15 and 16. One evening is to be devoted to agricultural topics; one to horticultural and kindred subjects; one to dairying; one to hop growing, discussions of curing, hop-plice, etc., and probably an afternoon or evening will be given to the wool-growers, who meet during the state fair. It is hoped that all will unite in making the institute successful. Professor H. T. French, of Corvallis, has charge of the agricultural evening. C. H. Schmidt, with G. G. Watson & Co., of Portland, has charge of the evening on dairying.

Any communication regarding the hop-growers' meeting may be sent to F. L. Washburn, Corvallis; T. D. Linton, Eugene, or A. E. Muleke, Aurora mills. Communications regarding the horticultural evening may be sent to G. L. Sargent, Portland; Dr. Cardwell, Portland; F. L. Washburn, Corvallis, or Mr. Huskiss, Newberg. Hon. John Muto, of Salem, is president of the wool-growers' association.

Hon. John W. Noble, secretary of the interior, who is visiting the coast with his wife for pleasure and recreation, will not go to Portland, as he is first intended—Albany Herald.

Sheriff John Knight went to Woodburn this afternoon.

Alvin Bowman has returned home from the Alsea country, where he has been rustication.

Washington Democrats.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Aug. 20.—Balance of the Democratic nominations made this morning without a strife. The vacancy on the congressional ticket was filled by Jas. A. Munday of Clark, by acclamation. For lieutenant, governor Dr. H. C. Willison of Jefferson.

For Supreme Bench, Whitman county nominated Eugene K. Hanna, and Mason county presented the name of W. H. Brinker of Pacific county. There were no other names presented and the nominations was made unanimous.

John McReavy of Mason, had no opponent for secretary of state, neither had Harrison Cloutier of Skagit, for treasurer, nor Samuel Bass of Whitcomb, for auditor, or R. W. Star of Douglas, for attorney general, or E. H. Borden of Spokane, for state printer. For state land commissioner, F. S. Lewis of Clallam was nominated.

Prof. J. W. Morgan of Kittitas unanimously nominated state school superintendent. The central committee elected Henry Drum, of Tacoma, temporary chairman. Convention then adjourned sine die.

He Was Bound to Shoot.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 20.—Professor John Duffy, who will referee the three big fights of next month, narrowly escaped being killed by his brother, Thomas Duffy, at his place of business. Duffy owns a saloon on St. Charles street. His brother Tom entered the saloon and secured a pistol from the drawer. Professor Duffy tried to dissuade him from using the weapon, but the angered man fired at Arta before Duffy could reach him. The ball struck Arta in the shoulder, and narrowly escaped hitting the Professor. Tom Duffy is the man who achieved local notoriety two years ago by attempting to kill Autolo Scaffato, one of Chief Hennessy's assistants, while the man was a prisoner in the parish prison.

The Cruisers Will Go East.

PORTLAND Aug. 20.—Before the middle of October the cruisers Baltimore, Charleston, San Francisco and Yorktown will have bid farewell to the Pacific Coast for an indefinite time. They are going east. The fleet will sail together and go around in consort. This move has virtually been agreed upon, but the official order has not yet been issued. Each ship will undergo extensive repairs at Mare Island, San Francisco harbor, before leaving, and there will be busy times in the yard for the next few weeks. The Charleston will have new tubes put into her boilers, which alone will require about a month. The Yorktown will leave Behring sea about September 25 and go to Mare Island for repairs. The fleet will stop at Callao, Valparaiso and Rio Janeiro en route home, and will make a display in each port. The Boston will remain at Honolulu to keep an eye on the British and to keep their hands off the Sandwich Islands.

A MYSTERY EXPLAINED.

If Women Were Left Handed They Could Aight Better from Street Cars.

She half rose from her seat, glanced toward the rear of the open car, and raising her parasol signaled to the conductor on the rear platform that she desired to have the car stopped at the next corner. As it slowed she stood up and stepped to the side, shifting her parasol from the right hand to the left and grasping the arm of the seat with the disengaged right.

"Wait till the car stops, please," the conductor shouted. She glanced up with a slight expression of fright, and the conductor ran along the footboard at the side to assist her, but she did not wait for him. She stepped down while the car was in motion, and when the car stopped with a slight jerk she had her left foot on the pavement. She had kept hold of the arm and was about to release it and put down the other foot, while facing to the rear, when the jerk threw her off her balance. The conductor grasped her arm and prevented her from falling. She smiled her thanks and stepped away. The conductor blew his whistle and started to return to the platform.

"There's another," he remarked to a serene and observant individual at the end of the next seat. "A woman never gets off a car while facing the right way; at least I've never seen one. If she'll wait till the car stops it's all right; if not it's all wrong."

"Isn't her fault," the individual remarked. "Huh!"

"No. It's the fault of the car, or the company, I mean."

"Of course. I'm not saying a word about grasping corporations or anything of the like, but I say it's the fault of the company."

"I'd like to know how," the conductor said suggestively. "We do everything we can to help 'em."

"That may be so, but the company ought to change the direction of its lines or start a movement for the development of ambidexterity," the philosopher remarked.

"What?"

"Ambidexterity—ability to use both hands," the philosopher explained. "The trouble is that most people can use the right hand only in grasping anything, with confidence in the effort—women particularly. In this country the cars pass to the right, and as it is safer to alight from the side nearest the sidewalk it is very natural for a woman to grasp the arm of the seat, or the side of the rear platform of a closed car, before stepping down. Now if the cars ran the other way, to the left, women would get off from the other side and would use their right hands. If a woman gets off now at the side near the track she uses her right hand and is not pitched backward. You watch the next time. If women were left handed the present system would be all right, but they are not."

"I never thought of that," the conductor said. "It has always been a mystery to me."

"Do you think they'll change?" the philosopher asked.

"The company?"

"No, nor the women either."—New York Sun.

Remarkable Swimming feat.

On one occasion a man named Fisher swam from Dover to Sandgate in two hours and a half, a distance of ten miles. He started with a favorable tide, and although it took him out a mile to sea he swam to the shore and landed without assistance. Previously he had attempted, with Professor Dalton, to swim from Dover to Ramsgate, and had then succeeded in doing twelve miles.

Subsequently he made another attempt to swim between these places, and started at 8:30 in the morning. At 10 o'clock he had reached Pegwell bay, but at the tide he dropped and he was making little progress he decided to give up. Although he had been in the water for seven hours and a half he was able to get into the boat unaided.

The Professor Dalton referred to also swam from Deal to Ramsgate, a distance of nine miles, in less than four hours. The sea was somewhat "choppy," but notwithstanding this he appeared little worse for his long immersion, and left the "briny" unassisted.—London Tit-Bits.

An Essential Quality.

A committee went to a distant city to hear a minister, and when they returned, in conversing with the person who had recommended the address of the minister to their notice, one of them said: "He preached a splendid sermon and we were very much pleased with him. If he only had your physic we should certainly give him a call." Ministers will do well to take a hint, and with all their getting in the way of understanding, eloquence, tact and piety, let them get a good "physic."—Christian Advocate.

Had Noticed It.

Mr. Richfello—Isn't Miss De Muro pretty when she blushes?

Miss Beaut—Yes. I noticed it the other day. It was the first time I ever saw her face color.

"Indeed. What was she blushing over?"

"Over a plate of hot soup."—New York Weekly.

WASHINGTON HOPS.

Spraying Methods Adopted by Washington Growers—The Crop.

A Kent special to the Seattle Telegraph says: Ben Meyers, who is Mr. Meeker's experienced and efficient foreman, says they are now using 16-foot poles in their large hop yards here. They have come to the conclusion that 12-foot poles are less expensive and far more convenient, and they have consequently decided to cut their poles all off to 12 feet before using next year. They will also twine both ways from the top of the poles and train the hop vines to cover the entire space. By this method the vines are much more easily and effectually sprayed.

They tested four acres after this fashion this year and find that it takes only one-half the material to spray that it requires under the old long-pole, no-twine method. They have 120 acres here in hops. They expect to stop spraying the 25th. Last year they used kerosene emulsion, but got to work late, and this material rotted lots of their hops. They will begin picking about the 8th or 10th of September. Some four or five years ago, Mr. Meyers says, Mr. Meeker imported from England a variety of hops known as the "Early Humphrey." They are ripe now. Mr. Meeker likes them. He thinks they are the coming hop.

Mr. Sutterworth has 20 acres of hops and has kept constantly spraying, using a mixture of eight pounds of quassa chips with seven pounds of whale oil soap to 100 gallons of water. He considers his yard free from lice, but says if there are any they must be in the thick growth at the top of the poles, to which point he is confining his spraying. Mr. Sutterworth claims that six of his 20 acres will yield an average of 2500 pounds per acre.

E. E. Titus has six acres in hops and says he will have two-thirds of a crop. This year in former years has produced an average of 2500 pounds per acre.

Have You Read
How Mr. W. D. Wentz of Geneva, N. Y., was cured of the severest form of dyspepsia? He says everything he ate seemed like pouring melted lead into his stomach. Hood's Sarsaparilla effected a perfect cure. Full particulars will be sent if you write C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

The highest praise has been won by Hood's Pills for their easy, yet effectual action.

Let the World Know You are in It.

It seems almost a crime for a man to "hide his light under a bushel." If he has something new, that will benefit the human race, he should make it known. Old-fogy physicians tread the beaten path of their grandfathers, denounce advertised remedies, and never learn anything new. Medical science knows no parallel to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, compounded by a physician of skill and long experience, especially for the maladies which afflict women. It effects a permanent cure of those agonizing disorders which attack her frail organization, and is an anchor of hope alike to delicate girls and suffering women; contains no deleterious drugs. A guarantee on the bottle-wrapper, refunding the price in case of failure. Of druggists, $1.00.

Old People.

J. V. B. is the only Sarsaparilla that old feeble people should take, as the mineral poisons which is in every other Sarsaparilla that we know of, is under certain conditions known to be emulating. J. V. B. on the contrary is purely vegetable and stimulates digestion and creates new blood, the very thing for old delicate or broken down people. It builds them up and prolongs their lives. A case in point:

Mrs. Belden an estimable and elderly lady of 80 years of age, was for months declining so rapidly as to seriously alarm her family. It got so bad that she was finally afflicted with fainting spells. She writes: "While in that dangerous condition I saw some of the testimonials concerning J. V. B. and sent for a bottle. This marked the turning point. I regained my lost flesh and strength and have not felt so well in years." That was two years ago and Mrs. Belden is well and hearty to-day, and still taking J. V. B.
