Furnished by the Associated Press Reporters.

ALBANY IS IN IT.

The Boy Preacher Commits Suicide at That Place.

ALBANY, Sept. 24.—W. F. Meritt, the so-called boy preacher, a man of 27 years of age, of over striking physique, committed suicide at the Rose House this forenoon by taking about twenty-five grains of strychnine. He left a note saying he was dissatisfied with life and had been imposed on by the Cambellite Church, and particularly persecuted by C. A. Sehlbreudt of Roseburg. He is from Woodland California, and has been preaching on street corners nights.

Arrival of Steamers from Europe.

New York, Sept. 24.—The Foralls from Stettin, with steerage passengers aboard, has cast anchor in lower bay. The Latonaire from Cherbourg, of the Hamburg American Line from Hamburg, also arrived. Litter is at quarantine, with sixty-nine saloon passengers. All are well and had no sickness during the passage. The steamer Foralls has 147 steerage and forty-six crew; all well.

Report of Union Pacific Railroad.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 24.—The annual report of the government directors of Union Pacific Railroad has been received by the secretary of the interior. The property of the company is stated to be in the highest degree satisfactory. Its business has been conducted with the strictest economy, and its expenses even, on an increased volume of business largely reduced. From local causes operative in Northwest Oregon, lines have suffered considerable loss earnings, but large and general improvement upon all of other portions of the system has more than compensated for it.

Board deprecates the practical abandonment of roads in construction two years ago in Oregon and Utah. Recent decision of Justice Field affirming right of Northern Pacific Company to decline to haul cars of Union Pacific over its lines in Oregon and Washington, will if sustained on final hearing, the board declares make a completion of the Puget Sound road a necessity.

Land and Canal Co. Incorporated. DENVER, Sept. 24.—American land and irrigating canal company filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state today. Capital stock is $2,000,000, with right to increase it to $10,000,000. The company will operate in Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho and territories of New Mexico and Utah.

Railroad Accident.

New Hampton, Iowa, Sept. 24.—Two freight trains on the Chicago and Great Western railroad collided near here this morning. Four employees were killed and three others presumably passengers, fatally injured.

Notice of Appeal on Apportionment Law.

ALBANY, Sept. 24.—Notice of appeal from decision of general term in the Onedia county case, testing the constitutionality of the legislative apportionment law was filed with clerk of court of appeals today. Notice of appeal in Monroe county case has not yet been filed.

The Cholera Situation in Berlin.

BERLIN, Sept. 24.—The cholera situation today is more serious than at any previous time. Twelve suspicious cases have been taken to the hospital and one died a few hours after admittance. Prof. Koch says Berlin City is in great danger owing to the fact that Elster river is infected. Several deaths from cholera have occurred at Uckermark.

Ship Sent to Camp Low.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 24.—Sergeon General Hamilton has recommended to the treasury department that the North German Hermann be sent to Camp Low and baggage thoroughly inspected. This action is merely precautionary.

Outbreak of Indians.

DENVER, N. M., Sept. 24.—A number from Colonia Diaz, Mexico, among whom of the outbreak of the cholera in Sierra Madre mountains and the murder of a family of settlers near Colonia Pacific.

WORLD'S FAIR.

The Extensive Preparations for the World's Fair Dedication.

During the formal exercises of dedicating the world's fair buildings 125,000 people will be crowded into the manufacturers buildings at Jackson Park, the largest number ever assembled under one roof. The handling of so many thousands and getting them into the building and out of it without accident has been a serious question. It is believed that the plan just approved is the best that could be devised.

The manufacturers building, in which all these thousands will assemble, stretches along the shore of Lake Michigan for 1688 feet. The building is 787 feet wide. Only four entrances have been provided, but these are wide enough for half a dozen tall-bo coaches to drive in abreast.

It is the intention to provide seats for 90,000 or 95,000 visitors and these will be arranged in the center of the building. The large area reserved for seats will be surrounded by promenades about 220 feet wide. Without crowding them in the least it is estimated that 35,000 persons can sit in these places.

A raised platform will be built on the east side of the building to accommodate about 3000 distinguished guests, including President Harrison, his cabinet, members of congress and governors of states. From an extension of this platform on a semicircular rostrum President Harrison will deliver his address, and also W. C. P. Brockbridge and Chauncey M. Depew.

At the south end of the building, 500 feet away, on another raised platform, a chorus of 5000 voices will be massed to shout national anthems and sing the dedicatory ode.

Down in front of the platform from which the orators will speak, seats will be arranged for 750 newspaper men. Just in front of the center of this platform tables will be placed for ten official stenographers, and on either side will be tables for the United and Associated press, each being allowed chairs for twelve men. Major Handy believes that the arrangements for the press are more complete than have ever been made before. Each newspaper man will have ample room to work.

Major Handy has already received application for more than 1500 chairs for correspondents. The New York papers are evidently alive to the importance of the occasion, for they will send 104 correspondents to Chicago this week. One big morning paper in New York has called for seats for eight men.

In another room back of the stand fifty typewriters will be at the disposal of out-of-town correspondents, no charge being made for their work. Ample telegraph facilities will be provided.

Back of the stand from which the orations will be delivered a luncheon has been arranged. In this the distinguished guests will be served with a light refreshment after the big procession reaches the park and before the dedicatory exercises proper begin.

Sixty Esquimaux, accompanied by several hundred dogs and a number of reindeer, have sailed from Labrador for Boston. They will come to live in the Esquimaux village, which will be located in Jackson Park, near the lagoon at Fifty-seventh street.

Three acres have been reserved for the village and a dozen or more huts will be erected for their use. The huts will be on the cold storage plant. The natives will be comfortably installed in their ice boxes by the middle of October. They will remain in Jackson Park all winter. It is part of the contract with these Esquimaux that those in charge of the village shall erect a place for them to hold their religious ceremonies. During the fair these villagers will give exhibitions with their peculiar canoes and weapons.

TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

Salem Grange Duly Observes its Natal Day With Ritual and Lunch.

Grange hall was beautifully decorated with flowers to welcome the assembly of the members to keep, with proper ceremony, the 20th birthday of the order. At 10 a. m. the farmers and their wives began dropping in, tho' the attendance was reduced some by bad roads and absence of many who attended the funeral of T. H. McIntyre.

THE DECORATIONS.

were beautiful and were the work of Mesdames Minto, Boise, Stump and Leabo. The tables in the outer hall were loaded with a lunch such as only grangers' wives know how to provide and grangers' well know how to do justice. At a little after 10 Presiding Officer Stump called to order and the ritual work of the order was taken up. After the canticles were served an open session was held at 2 p. m., at which speeches were made by several prominent members of the order. Salem Grange is flourishing.

Hal Pointer's Time 2:05.

Nearly 40,000 persons, who throughed the grounds of the Rhode Island state fair at Narragansett pier came to see Hal Pointer's endeavor to break his record. Without any special preparation of the track, which was wet up by four or five hours' rain, the great side-wheeler paced the two fastest consecutive miles ever accomplished. At about 2 o'clock Goers gave Hal a mile in 2:21, later another in 2:18, and then an hour later, accompanied by a runner, he started him on a tilt against the watch. The quarter was reached in 0:32, and the half in 1:04, and every one knew that the record was safe that trip. From the half Pointer quickened his stride, coming to the third quarter in 3:11 seconds, and the last, which was a straight-away, in 3:1. The mile was made in 2:06. About 30 minutes later he started again, this time getting a perfect send-off, and every fraction of the mile showing accelerated speed. He flashed past the quarter in 32 seconds, the half in 1:03, and the three-quarters in 1:34. As Hal's nose reached the wire a mighty shout went up, for hundreds of watches stopped at 2:05.

Government Surveys Extended.

United States Surveyor-General W. H. Byars has just received orders from the land department at Washington, says the Telegram, to have a number of important surveys made during the next few months. The orders include the running, measuring and marking, according to law and instructions, of the following described surveys:

- Townships 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

REMARKABLE YIELD OF WHEAT.

J. B. Vandale, living near the farm of Mr. Harding, in this county, gives a table showing the yield of wheat on nine different farms, the crops of which he helped to thresh, which shows a yield of over 33 bushels per acre or 10,880 bushels from 329 acres. He says he has resided in Oregon more than fifty years, but has never seen the first or second crop on new land exceed this.

"IT HAPPENED YESTERDAY."

A business man got out of his life policies, on which he had made many payments, to negotiate a loan with the company. He was surprised when informed that the policies had no cash value whatever. The Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co. endorses cash and paid-up values on every policy. It costs no more to have this advantage. For further information apply to H. G. Colton, general agent, 233 Stark street, Portland, Oregon. 9-12-17

Mr. Lander's Recommendation.

Mr. J. A. Lander, a prominent citizen of Clarkburg, Mo., and widely known in that state, says of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy: "I have seen its good results and can recommend it. For sale by Baskett & Van Slype Drugists."

Don't You Know that you can secure almost immediate relief from Indigestion, and that uncomfortable fullness after meals, by simply taking a dose of Simons Liver Regulator? Some people think that because it is called Liver Regulator it has nothing to do with Indigestion and the like. It is the inaction of the Liver that causes Indigestion, and that fullness; also Constipation, and those Bilious Headaches. Millions have been made to understand this and have been cured from these troubles by Simons Liver Regulator—a medicine unailing and purely vegetable!

THE RAW RECRUIT.

Enlisted as a Substitute and Lost His Life After Battle.

It was at the hour of midnight. We received marching orders and fell into line to join our comrades, who had but a few hours before preceded us. Welcome news it had been to our battalion, for it was in the fall of the year, and for twenty-four hours we had not been permitted to light a fire lest our movements be discovered by the enemy, who was close behind us. Several new recruits had joined us—One a tall, gaunt Irishman, who had evidently been tempted to enlist as a substitute, not thinking he would so soon be sent to the front.

He was very nervous and ill at ease, showing the white feather long before he smelled the smoke of battle. Concomitant in the distance seemed nearly to paralyze him, and when three or four pickets were shot dead at their posts his face assumed the color of a corpse. The boys were cruel enough to tell him this was a common occurrence and that he would never return to camp if he went on picket duty.

Military tactics to him were yet a blank, and always would be, for that matter, as the drillmaster never lived who could make a soldier of Mike Degan. He was placed in the rear, and as it was my duty to prevent straggling I had hard work to keep him in line. Every now and then "click" would go a rifle in the hands of some sharpshooter ambushed upon the mountains, and another of our gallant boys lying stark and still along the roadside told us how true had been the aim.

These silent messengers of our constant danger were a great trial to Mike, and he would shake his head and exclaim, "It's meself that would be wishing I was out of this!"

We had marched about a mile amid gloom and silence when the ominous order, "Halt" was given. I stood near Mike when the command was received, and a more pitiable looking specimen of manhood I have never seen as he exclaimed, "Why do we stop here, sur?"

"Well, Mike," I replied, "we have either got to stop here or some one will stop us farther on," for I had learned but a few minutes before that a reconnoitering party had discovered danger ahead; consequently we had to change our line of march.

After a halt of several minutes, which seemed hours to us, we started at the order, "Forward march." Then came the command, "Left oblique."

Mike, now several paces behind his comrades, gazed at me in silent awe, threw down his musket and rushed wildly to the rear and endeavored to extract a huge stone from its frozen foundation. "Get back with him there," I exclaimed; "have you gone crazy?" "Sure, sur," replied Mike, "didn't ye see hear the cap'n's orders to lift a brook. Devil a brook is set at all, and I thought a stone might do, for we'll all be murdered, so we will."

It was with difficulty that I could suppress laughter at Mike's definition of the captain's orders.

I did not see Mike again for several hours, when he approached me, looking so wan and weary that I really felt sorry for him.

He had a white handkerchief tied about his throat. "Sure, sur," said he, "I'd loike to go to the ambulance, for I've a bad pain in me t're and me knees are that stiff I can't be using them at all, at all."

I sent him to the surgeon, who must have placed him on the sick list and sent him to the ambulance train, but Mike evidently lost his way, for he was reported as found dead beside the road with a bullet hole in his head.

The white handkerchief had made a good target for some sharpshooter. No one knows whether it was the rifle of friend or foe.—New York Recorder.

The Way of the World.

When Thackeray was in this country he called on General Scott, full of admiration for his remarkable campaign in Mexico, and eager to hear the warrior explain how battles were fought and fields were won.

"Well, now you know all about it," returned a friend, as the novelist talked with the soldier. "Not at all," replied Thackeray, with a twinkle in his eye. "The general takes no interest in strategy. I found that literature was his forte."—San Francisco Argonaut.
