

IN THE NAME OF GOD.

DR. TALMAGE ON THE SUBLIME MOTIVES OF COLUMBUS.

The Central Fact on This Memorial Day Is That the Great Achievement Was a Religious Discovery—The Voyage Was in God's Name.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 9.—Rev. Dr. Talmage's discourse today was occasioned by the Columbus observance now taking place. In the overflowing audience were many who had come to the city to participate in the patriotic ceremonies.
The subject was, "Half a Planet," the text being Deuteronomy iii, 27, "Lift up thine eyes westward."

So God said to Moses in Bible times, and so he said to Christopher Columbus, the son of a wool comber of Genoa, more than four hundred years ago. The nations had been looking chiefly toward the east. The sculpture of the world, the architecture of the world, the laws of the world, the philosophy of the world, the civilization of the world, the religion of the world came from the east.

But while Columbus, as his name was called after it was Latinized, stood studying maps and examining globes and reading cosmography, God said to him, "Lift up thine eyes toward the west." The fact was it must have seemed to Columbus a very lopsided world—like a cart with one wheel, like a scissor with one blade, like a sack on one side of a camel, needing a sack on the other side to balance it. Here was a bride of a world with no bridegroom.
When God makes a half of anything he does not stop there. He makes the other half. We are all obliged sometimes to leave things only half done. But God never stops half way, because he has the time and the power to go all the way.

I do not wonder that Columbus was not satisfied with half a world, and so went to work to find the other half. The pieces of carved wood that were floated to the shores of Europe by a westerly gale, and two dead human faces, unlike anything he had seen before, likewise floated from the west, were to him the voice of God saying, "Lift up thine eyes toward the west." But the world then, as now, had plenty of Can't-be-done. That is what keeps individuals back, and enterprises back, and the church back, and nations back—ignominious and disgusting and disheartening Can't-be-Dones.

Old navigators said to young Columbus, "It can't be done." The republic of Genoa said, "It can't be done." Alphonso V said, "It can't be done." A committee on maritime affairs, to whom the subject was submitted, declared, "It can't be done." Venetians said, "It can't be done." But the father of Columbus' wife died, leaving his widow a large number of sea charts and maps, and as if to condemn the slur that mis-erant ages put upon mother-in-law the mother-in-law of Columbus gave him the navigator's materials out of which he ciphered America. After awhile the story of this poor but ambitious Columbus reaches the ear of Queen Isabella, and she pays eighty dollars to buy him a decent suit of clothes, so that he may be fit to appear before royalty.

The interview in the palace was successful. Money enough was borrowed to fit out the expedition. They were the three ships, in the Gulf of Cadiz, Spain. If you ask me which have been the most famous boats of the world, I would say, first, Noah's ship, that wharfed on Mount Ararat; second, the boat of bulrushes, in which Moses floated the Nile; third, the Mayflower, that put out from Plymouth with the Pilgrim Fathers, and now these three vessels that on this Friday morning, Aug. 3, 1492, are rocking on the ripples. I am so glad it is Friday, so that the proves of those three ships shall first of all run down the superstition that things begun or voyage started on Friday must necessarily prove disastrous.

Show me any Monday or Tuesday or Wednesday or Thursday or Saturday that ever accomplished as much as this expedition that started on Friday. With the idea that there will be perils connected with the expedition, the sacrament of the Lord's supper is administered. Do not forget that this voyage was begun under religious auspices.
There is the Santa Maria only ninety feet long, with four masts and eight anchors. The captain walking the deck is fifty-seven years old, his hair white, for at thirty-five he was gray, and his face is round, his nose aquiline and his stature a little taller than the average.
I know from the decided step and the set of his jaw that he is a determined man. That is Captain Christopher Columbus. Near by, but far enough off not to run into each other, are the smaller ships, the Pinta and the Nina, about large enough and safe enough to cross the Hudson river or the Thames in good weather. There are two doctors in this fleet of ships, and a few landmen—adventurers who are ready to risk their necks in a wild expedition. There are enough provisions for a year. "Captain Columbus, where are you sailing for?" "I do not know." "How long before you will get there?" "I cannot say." "All ashore that are going?" is heard, and those who wish to remain go to the land. Now the anchors of the three ships are being weighed, and the rattles begin to rattle and the sails to unfur.

The wind is dead east, and it does not take long to get out to sea. In a few hours the adventurers wish they had not started. The ships begin to roll and pitch. Oh, it is such a delightful sensation for landmen! They begin to bother Captain Columbus with questions. They want to know what he thinks of the weather. They want to know when he thinks he will probably get there. Every time when he stands taking observations of the sun with an astrolabe they wonder what he sees and ask more questions. The crew are rather grouchy.
Some of them came on under four months' advance pay and others were impressed into the service. For sixteen days the wind is dead east and that pleases the captain, because it blows them farther and farther away from the European coast and farther on toward the shore of another country, if there is any.

After awhile there comes a calm day, and the attempt is made to fathom the ocean, and they cannot touch bottom, though the line and lead run down two hundred fathoms. More delightful sensations for those who are not good sailors. A fathom is six feet, and two hundred fathoms, one thousand two hundred feet, and below that it may be many hundred feet deeper. To add interest to the voyage, on the twentieth day out a violent storm sweeps the sea, and the Atlantic ocean tries what it can do with the Santa Maria, the Pinta and the Nina. Some of you know something of what a sea can do with the Umbria, the Majestic, the Teutonic and the City of Paris, and you must imagine what the ocean could do with those three small ships of olden times.

You may judge what the ocean was then by what it is now. It has never changed its habits. It can smile like the morning, but often it is the archangel of wrath, and its most rollicking fun is a shipwreck. The mutinous crew would have killed Columbus had it not been for the general opinion on shipboard that he was the only one that could take them back home in safety. The promise of a silk waistcoat and forty dollars in money to the man who should first discover land appeared them somewhat, but the indignation and blasphemy and threat of execution must have been awful. Yet God sustained the great savior commanding the Santa Maria.

Every evening on shipboard they had prayers and sung a vesper hymn. But after all the patience of those on board the ships had been exhausted, and the great captain or admiral had been cursed by every anathema that human lips could frame, one night a sailor saw a light moving along the shore, and then moving up and down, and then disappearing. On Friday morning at two o'clock, just long enough after Thursday to make it sure that it was Friday, and so give another blow at the world's idea of unlucky days—on Friday morning, Oct. 12, 1492, a gun from the Pinta signaled "land ahead."

Then the ships lay to, and the boats were lowered, and Captain Christopher Columbus first stepped upon the shore, and the song of birds and the air a surge of rejoicing, and took possession in the name of the Father, and the Son and the Holy Ghost. So the voyage that began with the sacrament ended with "Gloria in Excelsis Deo." From that day onward you say there can be nothing for Columbus but honors, rewards, rhapsodies, palaces and world wide applause. No! no! On his way back to Spain the ship was so wrenched by the tempest and so threatened with destruction that he wrote a brief account of his discovery and put it in a cask and threw it overboard that the world might not lose the advantage of his adventures.

Honors awaited him on the beach, but he undertook a second voyage, and with it all malice and persecution and denunciation and poverty. He was called a land grabber, a liar, a cheat, a fraud, a deceiver of nations. Speculators robbed him of his good name, courtiers depreciated his discoveries, and there came to him ruined health and imprisonment and chains, of which he said while he rattled them on his wrists, "I will wear them as a memento of the gratitude of princes." Amid keen appreciation of the world's abuse and cruelty, and with body writhing in the torment of gout he groaned out his last words, "In manus tuas Domine com-mendo spiritum meum"—"Into thy hands, O Lord, I commend my spirit."

Of course he had had regal obsequies.
That is the way the world tries to atone for its mean treatment of great benefactors. Many a man has had a fine ride to his grave who during this life had to walk all the way. A big funeral, and instead of bread they give him a stone—that is a tombstone. But death, that brings quiet to the body of others, did not bring quiet to his. First buried in the church of Santa Maria. Seven years afterward removed to Seville. Twenty-three years afterward removed to San Domingo. Finally removed to Cuba.
Four postmortem journeys from sepulcher to sepulcher.

I wish his bones might be moved just once more, and now that they have come so near to America as Cuba they might during the great Columbian year be transported to our own shores, where they belong, and that in the fifth century after his decease the American continent might build a mausoleum worthy of him who picked this level of a hemisphere out of the sea and set it in the crown of the world's geography.

But the bright noonday sun of that old sailor's prosperity went down in thickest night, and though here and there a monument has been lifted in his memory, and here and there a city called after him, the continent that he was the means of founding was named after another name, and no fitting commemoration of his work has been proposed until nearly four hundred years after his body turned to dust. May the imposing demonstration now being made in his honor on the Atlantic coast and to be demoted next year in his honor midcontinent, be brilliant enough and far resounding enough and Christian enough and magnificent enough to atone for the neglect of centuries! May the good Lord allow that most illustrious sailor of all time to look over the amethystine battlements long enough to see some of the garlands wreathed around his name and hear something of the hemispheric shout that shall greet his memory!

What most impresses me in all that wondrous life, which for the next twelve months we will be commemorating by sermon and song and military parade and World's fair and congress of nations, is something I have never heard stated, and that is that the discovery of America was a religious discovery and in the name of God, Columbus, by the study of the prophecies and by what "The use of 'Castoria' is so universal and its merits so well known that it seems a work of supererogation to endorse it. Few are the Isaiah had said about the "ends of the earth," was persuaded to go out and find the "ends of the earth," and he felt himself called by God to carry Christianity to the "ends of the earth." Then the administration of the last supper before they left the Gulf of Cadiz, and the evening prayers during the voyage, and the devout aspiration as soon as they saw the New World, and the dogologies with which they landed confirm me in saying that the discovery of America was a religious discovery.

Atheism has no right here; infidelity has no right here; vagabondism has no right here. And as God is not apt to fall in any of his undertakings (at any rate I have never heard of his having anything to do with a failure), America is going to be Gospelized, and from the Golden Gate of California to the Narrows of New York harbor, and from the top of North America to the foot of South America, from Behring straits to Cape Horn, this is going to be Imma-nel's land. All the forms of irreligion and abomination that have cursed other parts of the world will land here—yes, they have already landed—and they will wangle for the possession of this hemisphere, and they will make great headway and feel themselves almost established.

But God will not forget the prophecies which encouraged Columbus about the "ends of the earth seeing the salvation of God," nor the Christian anthem which Columbus led on the morning of the 12th of October, 1492, on the coast of San Salvador. Like that flock of land birds which met the Santa Maria and the Pinta and the Nina far out at sea, indicating to the commanders of that fleet that they were approaching some country, so a whole flock of promises and hopes, golden winged and song-ful, this morning right around us, assuring us that we are approaching the glorious period of American evangelization.

A divine influence will yet sweep the continent that will make infidelity drop like slacked lime, and make the most blatant infidelity declare it was only joking when it said the Bible was not true, and the worst atheism announce that it always did believe in the God of
