SHOULD READ MORE.

Many young persons have never formed the habit of newspaper reading. They are growing to be adults and the daily news is almost a sealed book to them. Ask them about a local or general piece of news that the public in general are interested in and their mind is a blank. They are not at all informed as to what goes on in the world they live in or their own city or county.

The value of a good newspaper from the mere standpoint of intelligent information cannot be over-estimated. No young person should grow up, as cheap as papers now are - THE JOURNAL can be had delivered at your door for less than two cents a day - without being a regular newspaper reader. It will brighten your life, increase your opportunities and change your whole career to be as well-informed as a daily or weekly newspaper can be the means of assisting you to be. Keep a regular file and a good paper will become to you almost a liberal education. It is a library of the world's history for the day, that comes in the most convenient form for your instruction. Your education proceeds while your pleasure is enhanced at the same time. Young persons of both sexes should early in life form the valuable habit of regularly subscribing for a newspaper, reading and filling the same. A story paper or fashion plate are good in their way but will tend to narrow your views and leave you an ignorant star gazer in the realms of romance or the mazes of the dress patterns.

By all means read the daily press and reports if you would be abreast the times and give yourself that development which is today required of a full-fledged citizen in this busy world.

LUCK IN THE FAR NORTH

All Hands on the Whaler Grampus. The chartered steamer Bertha, Captain Anderson, of the North American Commercial company, arrived from Pribilof sea islands, via Conalaska. The steamer brings quite a batch of interesting news, the most important of which is the phenomenal catch of thirty-eight right whales credited to the steamer Mary D. Hume during her 2 1/2 years' cruise near the mouth of the Mackenzie river, and well within the arctic circle. It is estimated that the catch will amount to over 300,000 blubber bladders. The Mary D. Hume may be expected to arrive here at any time, as she has been three days ahead of Bertha. She has on board 40,000 lbs of bone, which will be shipped as it arrives. An additional 15,000 lbs of this season's catch has already shipped here by another vessel. The news of the immense catch has here there was joy in the hearts of the outside of the stockholders of the city's Steam Whaling company. Bertha. She has on board 40,000 lbs of bone, which will be shipped as it arrives. An additional 15,000 lbs of this season's catch has already shipped here by another vessel.
