

STILL DINING AND WINING.

Cleveland's Capacity to Be Again Tested.

NATHAN PIERCE, PROBABLY ELECTED.

Remains of a Murdered Man Identified at Albina.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The reception to President-elect Cleveland tonight at the Manhattan club will be a notable affair. All Democratic governors and Democratic governors-elect of all states in the union have been invited, and it is announced that most of them will be present. There will be a number of other prominent guests.

Pierce Probably Elector.

PORTLAND, Nov. 19.—It will take the official count to determine whether Oregon shall cast three or four votes in the electoral college for Harrison. Full returns from six counties have not yet been received. On the face of returns at hand, Pierce, Populist elector, who was endorsed by Democrats, has less than two hundred votes to overcome Democrats and Populists claim that counties yet to hear from will give him at least four hundred votes more than necessary to election. In this estimate they do not include votes which they allege were thrown out of count by Republican judges, because of Pierce's name appearing twice on the ticket in some counties. Which ever way the official count results, there will be a contest on the ground that the ballot was irregular.

Remains Identified.

PORTLAND, Nov. 19.—Remains of a murdered man found in a box car at Albina last Wednesday morning were identified today as those of R. L. Johnson, of Colfax, Wash. Johnson was a man addicted to the use of liquor and when in his cups was quarrelsome. He was known to have had a amount of money on his person and the theory is that he engaged in a quarrel with men who afterwards murdered and robbed him. No clue yet discovered as to the identity of murderers.

Two Iowans Honored.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 19.—The president today made the following appointments: Congressman John H. Gear, of Iowa, to be assistant secretary, in place of Judge Cronse, resigned; Ex-Governor William M. Stone, of Iowa, to be commissioner of the general land office, Vice Thomas H. Carter, resigned.

Powder Explosion.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 19.—The large powder storehouse of Warren and Malley, contractors on San Bruno road, was wrecked this morning by an explosion which shook the surrounding country. As far as known no one is injured. The cause of the explosion is unknown. Two men were taken to the county hospital, having been injured by the explosion. Some damage was done to the post house, which is located near by.

Colliery Cave-in.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 19.—A cave-in occurred this forenoon at Hazel Dell Colliery, Centralia, operated by T. A. Rely & Co., whereby seven or eight men are now imprisoned in the mine, besides two others who have just been taken out very badly injured. The colliery is situated about two miles from Ashe and is a very large concern.

Heavy Rains.

TACOMA, Nov. 19.—Within the last twenty-four hours over three inches of rain has fallen, being the heaviest rainfall ever known in the Puget Sound section. Green, Puyallup, and Nisqually rivers have already risen from two to three feet. Last night the large Northern Pacific road bridge was carried away by Green river near Palmer, forty-four miles east of Tacoma, and one landslide occurred. Trains cannot pass before Sunday, and mails will be delayed.

Will Attend a Club Dedication.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Nov. 19.—Vice-President-elect Stevenson has accepted an invitation to attend the opening of the new Commercial clubhouse at Atlanta, Ga., December 20. The invitation was tendered by a delegation of Atlanta citizens, headed by Hon. Clark Howell, editor of the Constitution.

The Cotton Crop.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 19.—The cotton crop prospects grow worse every day and yield will be 15 per cent less than last year.

AMERICAN ANARCHISTS.

Attempt a Division of Property in a Wine Cellar—One Shot.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—Six young men who look like tramps and street "strikers" entered the wine cellar and saloon of Louis Tschich Friday night. Soon after there were cries for help and screams, followed by a pistol shot. The six men ran upon the sidewalk again, and the blood streaming from the forehead of one, who gave the name of Ed Hanly and subsequently that of W. D. Ostrander, showed that he was badly hurt. Officer McCarthy and Special Cochran arrested the party and also took Tschich into custody. Hanly was shot in the forehead above the right eyebrow. Tschich, who was charged with an assault to commit murder, gave an account of the trouble as follows:

"My wife and I were getting ready to close the saloon when this crowd entered. As I had considerable money and did not like their looks, I refused to serve them. One ran behind the bar and seized a wine-measure and proceeded to draw wine from a cask. I grabbed him, when that big fellow (pointing to a man named George Harris) knocked me down twice. Another man struck at me with a club. Then my wife screamed and ran to my assistance. This man whom I shot grabbed her by the throat with both hands and began to choke her. I broke away from the others who had seized me, and ran to my bureau in the next room, got my pistol, and shot at the man who held my wife."

Tschich is a small, sickly appearing Austrian. The wounded man was sent to the receiving hospital, but said he was only slightly bruised on the forehead by a fall on the sidewalk, and as he refused to be treated, he was sent back to the city prison. There he was washed and the bullet hole found. Hanly was charged with battery. Harris was also charged with battery, while John Cavanaugh, John Brown and Geo. Williams, who participated in the assault, were charged with disturbing the peace. Their version of the affair is that they entered the cellar, called for wine, and Tschich shot at them. They could not give an account of themselves other than that they came from the country, and were out of work. None of the men had over 10 cents on his person. When Hanly was brought back to the receiving hospital the bullet could not be located, but fragments of lead were found in the wound. It is believed the bullet entered his skull.

CATHOLIC SCHOOLS.

Archbishops in Council Arrange for Their Extension.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The conference of archbishops of the United States, which has been in daily session at the archiepiscopal residence of Archbishop Corrigan since Wednesday last, was concluded last night. The question that has engaged the attention of the archbishops to the largest extent is a matter relating to parochial schools. The following reports indicate a compromise on the question, and is as follows: "At a meeting of archbishops of the United States, held at the residence of Archbishop Corrigan, in New York, on the 18th of November, 1892, to consider the best means to provide for religious instruction for such children as do not at present attend parochial schools or Catholic schools of any kind, the assembled prelates unanimously agreed on the following resolution: First—Resolved, to promote the erection of Catholic schools that there may be accommodations in them for more, and if possible for all, Catholic children, according to the decrees of the third plenary council of Baltimore and the decision of the holy see. Second—Resolved, that as to children who at present do not attend Catholic schools, we direct, in addition, that provision be made for them at Sunday schools and also by instruction on some other day or days of the week, and by urging parents to teach their children the Christian doctrine in their homes, both Sunday and week days. Schools should be under the direct supervision of the clergy and by intelligent lay teachers, and when possible by members of religious teaching orders."

An Iowa Storm.

DUBUQUE, Nov. 19.—Dubuque's first winter storm proved the severest and most disastrous experienced for many years. Snow began falling Friday morning, accompanied by high wind, and before midnight a blizzard set in, and in a short time telegraphic communication was entirely cut off. In the city the telephone, fire alarm, and every kind of electric service was rendered useless.

The damage in the city alone will run up in the thousands, while probably there will be much more along the railroads in this vicinity.

POLITICAL POTTER.

Cleveland and Stephenson Dined and Clubbed—A Woman U.

S. Senator.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Henry Villard gave a dinner at Sherry's last night to prominent Democrats and members of the Democratic National committee. President-elect Cleveland was there. Mr. Villard was extremely anxious that the affair should be private, and gave strict instructions that no reporters should be admitted, that the list of guests should not be divulged, and that Sherry's employees should not even speak of the table decorations.

Senator Lease.

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 19.—The Populists and Democrats are getting wider apart over the senatorial squabble. Judge John Martin wants the position, but the information that he received today that there are 35 Populist members who will stand with Mrs. Lease and the Democrats has discouraged him. Whether these 35 will vote for Mrs. Lease is unknown, but she will have a great influence with them, and to prevent them going to Jerry Simpson or a Democrat she will be a candidate herself. When she was asked if it was possible for her to get enough votes, she said: "Anything is possible with God and the farmers of Kansas." A. L. Williams, of the Union Pacific railway, said today: "I see no constitutional reason why Mrs. Lease should not be a senator; there is nothing to prevent it but the popular idea that a senator should be a man. I hope she will be elected. She would keep the senators pretty busy if they send her to Washington."

More Cyclones.

EUREKA SPRINGS, Ark., Nov. 19.—News has just reached here that a cyclone struck Harrison, Ark. Thursday night killing five residents and wounding many others. A large number of houses were blown down and considerable stock killed.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 19.—A cyclone passed through West Plains, Mo., Wednesday night causing considerable property loss. The house of John Armstrong was blown down and all the occupants, including Armstrong himself, and wife, were fatally injured.

Mrs. Lease.

WICHITA, Kans., Nov. 19.—Mrs. Mary A. Lease said yesterday: "I have never announced myself a candidate for the United States senate, but if any fight is made upon me upon the ground of sex, and if it is claimed that I am constitutionally ineligible, I will most certainly enter the race and make a test case of it."

Alliance Officers.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 19.—The Farmers' Alliance and Industrial association elected officers: H. D. Loucks, North Dakota, president; Marion Butler, North Carolina, vice president; Ben Terrell, Texas, national treasurer; Editor Taylor, of the Nashville Toller, secretary.

Blaine's Condition.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 19.—Mr. Blaine is reported to be much improved this morning. He passed a comfortable night and was refreshed by sound sleep. He is said to be bright and cheerful this morning. Senator Kenna of West Virginia, passed a bad night but a better morning.

Blown from Track.

KENOSHA, Colo., Nov. 19.—The Denver & Leadville express was blown from the track two miles west of here by the heavy wind which has been blowing the past two days. Strange to say, none of the passengers were injured.

Blaine Ill.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—James G. Blaine is quite ill. He has been confined to his bed four days under the care of two doctors. The family are quite alarmed about him.

A Forger Arrested.

TORONTO, Ontario, Nov. 19.—During the past few months the funds of the Bank of Hamilton have been relieved of between $40,000 and $50,000 by means of forgeries, one of the culprits being C. H. Davidson. The government learning that Davidson was in Mexico sent detectives after him and a dispatch has just announced his arrest.

Thieves Arrested.

BOACON, Nov. 19.—William Scanlon, aged 19, for five years a messenger for Lee, Higginson & Co., bankers, is under arrest for stealing $20,000 in sugar certificates from the firm, and after securing the certificates, which were not negotiable, Scanlon, it is alleged, forged an order in the firm's name on a Borton bank, to deliver to the bearer, certain shares of Atchison stock, placed as collateral, and take in exchange the sugar certificates. The whole transaction was brought to light by Scanlon's attempt to dispose of the Atchison securities through a well-known brokerage firm. He claimed to be acting for a man named Clark and received for one block of stock $3,000. A day or two later brokers received by express Atchison securities of the par value of $25,000, with a request that the proceeds be sent to C. C. Clark, at Natick, by check. The brokers saw something suspicious in the manner of the proceedings, and an investigation proved that Mr. Clark could not be found, and Scanlon and a boy who was represented as Clark were arrested.

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) which cannot be cured by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75 cents.

The Power of Gravitation.
From common experience we are apt to hold exaggerated notions of the power of gravity. Not until we compare it with other attractive forces, such as magnetism or electricity, do we appreciate how trivial it really is.

The fundamental experiments in electricity and magnetism, known to men for more than 2,000 years, of lifting light bodies by rubbed amber and iron filings by means of a loadstone, demonstrate at once their incomparably greater power.

If, for instance, the attracting body had the moderate dimensions of a hand specimen of amber or loadstone, we should require it to be of so dense a material as to weigh 1,000,000,000 pounds instead of a few pounds, as usual, in order that its gravitational attraction should equal that of either of the two forces mentioned. It is obvious therefore that the imposing nature of the force of gravity, as equally compared with other attractive forces, is due not to its superior qualitative magnitude, but to the enormous masses of the bodies which exercise it.

Thus, while it requires the use of the most delicate torsion balance to demonstrate even the mutual attraction between a small and a large sphere of lead, yet where enormous masses, such as the earth, are concerned, the attraction exerted by one hemisphere upon the other probably exceeds a force of 500 pounds per square inch over a surface whose radius is 4,000 miles.—Electricity.

Characteristic Costumes Disappearing.
Possibly 50 per cent. of the international costumes copied by Queen Victoria when she dressed dolls have passed away, never to return. In some of the Swiss cantons the traditional Helvetian garb yet survives; in others it is fast declining to extinction. Picturesquely clad men, women and children who pretend to be artists' models, but who are in reality beggars, still haunt the Via Condotti at Rome and extract copious from the "forestieri." The police have driven them from the Piazza di Spagna and the steps of the Trinita di Monti; but ere long in all likelihood they will wholly vanish. A few vestiges of romantic dress linger in the Italian provinces; but on the whole the peninsula is at present inhabited by a population, the males of which wear "store" clothes and wide awake hats, while the women are clad in Manchester cottons and cheap hats copied from the latest Paris modes.

Characteristic costumes are on the wane in Germany, in Norway and in Spain. They hold their own to some extent in Austria, in Bohemia and in the Tyrol; but on every side the national costume is coming down to a dull, prosaic level, and in another decade or so it will be difficult to discriminate between different nations in so far as their garments are concerned.—London Telegraph.

Lightning's Magnetic Effects.
The magnetic effects produced by lightning are often very curious. A chest containing a large assortment of knives, forks and other cutlery was, not many years ago, struck in the house of a Wakefield tradesman, and magnetism imparted to the whole of the articles. Arago, in his "Meteorological Essays," speaks of a shoemaker in Swabia whose tools were thus treated, to his indescribable annoyance. "He had to be constantly freeing his hammer, pinners and knives from his nails, needles and awls, which were constantly getting caught by them as they lay together on the bench." The same authority knew of a Genoese ship which was wrecked near Algiers in consequence of some pranks played by lightning among the compasses, the captain innocently supposing that he was sailing toward the north when he was steering due south.—Chambers' Journal.
