He complained of the rush of office seekers. Declared he would not even consider any applications for office until after his inauguration and asked to be relieved from pressure until that time.

U. P. Wreck.

OMAHA, Neb. Nov. 22.—Four people were killed and three injured by a wreck on the Union Pacific at Alda, Neb, no particulars.

It was caused by a collision between the overland flyer due at Omaha at 10:40 this morning and a freight which had just pulled out of the Alda yard. Both engines were completely smashed and baggage and postal cars telescoped and freight cars piled up on broken masses. Killed: Engineer A. G. Barrett. Conductor B. McDonald, Fireman J. W. Keeler; injured: Fireman Sutherland, badly; only one passenger was slightly hurt.

Billiard Contest.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—In exactly thirty one innings last night Thomas J. Gallagher, the silver haired Chicago billard expert, rolled up 300 points in the Ives tourney, and defeated W. D. Harrison of Portland, Oregon, who was scheduled to play 175 points. Harrison made some difficult shots but lacked the stroke of a polished player.

A Public Hanging.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Nov. 22.—Allen Harrison aged 21 was hanged here this afternoon for murder of his sweetheart Bettie Adams, daughter of a well to do farmer, last April. The execution took place in a field two miles from jail, 10,000 witnessed the hanging. He murdered the girl because she repelled his advances.

GREAT FLOOD COMING.

The Entire Sound Country Under Water —Many Lives Lost.

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 22.—Reports are being received of persons who have been drowned while trying to escape from their homes, which were threatened by valley floods.

Frame houses of all descriptions have been seen floating in the Snoqualmie, Nooksak, Green, Chehalis, White, Duwamish, Black and nearly every stream of any size west of mountains. All railroad traffic is stopped except on the main line of the Northern Pacific. It is still raining hard and great destruction of property is looked for.

Mail Blockade Broken.

PORTLAND, Or., Nov. 22.—A heavy rain has fallen in this city and along the Willamette and Columbia rivers since midnight, but no serious damage has been reported except the washing out of the piers of the county bridge, being constructed across Sandy River, at Troutdale. Another slide occurred this morning, on the Union Pacific, at the Cascades. The company began the construction of a track around the slide yesterday, but if the heavy rains continue, it will be difficult to build around the slide, as it is continually moving toward the river. The Northern Pacific trains for the East are again running, and the train which was delayed four days east of the Cascade mountains, arrived at Tacoma this morning, and will reach here this afternoon.

STORMS AT SEA

Typhoon in the Pacific. Wrecks on the West Coast.

TACOMA, Nov. 22.—Hong Kong advices say the Northern Pacific steamship Phranang came very near going under in the terrible typhoon in which the Bokhara was wrecked. The gale and heavy seas carried away her fore top sails and one of the life boats, and compelled the steamer to lay to two days.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—The American ship Ericsson, of San Francisco, is a total wreck on Entrance island, Barclay sound. The steamer Alert from the west coast brought news that the Ericsson got into a gale on Thursday last and Saturday morning was being broken to pieces on the rocks between two portions Beale lighthouse. She was going from San Francisco to Nanaimo in ballast. The captain and crew reached the shore safely, and when the Elert left the vessel's bow was on the rocks and her hull was in splinters. She was in deep water.

A TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE.

The barkentine Planter, of San Francisco, loaded with lumber from Port Gamble to Honolulu, was towed in by the tug Lorin. She had a terrible experience, and the crew never expected to reach land. The vessel was windbound for several days but on Friday morning set sail and Friday evening when it was blowing a gale she was off Cape Flattery, the cargo shifted and the ship was thrown on her beam ends. When towed in she was in a sorry condition.

Convicts in Georgia.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 22.—Hon. W. S. Styles, colored, a member of the legislative committee on the penitentiary, makes public a letter giving a deplorable account of the penitentiary system of the state. Speaking of the Dade mines, where 1,000 convicts are employed, he says: "Upon entering we found great numbers who were sick from having to work in water in caves 300 feet under the ground, where water trickles down upon their heads and where they stand in water from ankle to knee deep all day long. Others are mashed and crippled by the slate and coal which fall upon them from blasting, from which they cannot escape. The gases are so stagnating that it is utterly impossible for the benighted convict to ever get pure air to breathe. There was a white prisoner who said he knew they would 'give him hell' when we left, but he did not care if they did, for it could be no worse. It is impossible for our committee to get the full information which is desired by the state of the condition of those sufferers for fear of their punishment when we are gone."

Homeless Editor.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 22.—The residence of Joseph Medill, editor of the Chicago Tribune, burned last night a little after midnight, caused by hot ashes in the yard at the rear of the house. Loss including furniture $50,000; insurance $20,000. Medill will rebuild.

THE CORWIN RETURNS.

An Active Volcano Discovered in Alaska.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—The revenue cutter Corwin has arrived here after an eight months' cruise in Alaskan waters. About the most exciting incidents of the cruise took place September 14, when the Corwin was off Sand Point. It was at the time that a new volcano broke out on the Alaskan peninsula, island from Cape St. John. The birth of the volcano was marked by heavy shocks of earthquake which trembled the country for many miles around. The Corwin was many miles at sea when the eruption began, and yet she got a very lively shaking up. It was nearly a dead calm and about 9 o'clock at night when the ship began to tremble violently from sterm stern. Some of the men were nearly thrown off their feet, and nearly all of them grew sick, so peculiar were the sensations. The shock lasted nearly five minutes, and during that time the sea had a strange, yellowish appearence. Mr. Applegate of Sand Point, reported having seen the volcano, and the bearings he took showed it to be about 50 miles in from St. John and in a section of the country not yet explored. He reports the crater as vomiting out an immense quanity of lava and ashes, and the country seemed to be ablaze for miles around. One vessel within reach of the volcano's effects, the schooner Helen, of Seattle, was caught by something akin to a tidal wave and washed ashore near Cape Runkoff. The Corwin people discovered her on the 28th of last month. A shoveling party was sent ashore to dig a canal to water, and when this was accomplished the cutter hauled the Helen afloat. On the Corwin's way down she passed the rescued schooner at Sand Point apparently seaworthy and sound.

In Captain Hooper's summary of the cruise the Corwin is put down as steaming 22,000 miles during the summer. Her seizures are limited to two—the British steamer Coquitlam, of Vancouver, and the British schooner Henriette, of Victoria. Both seizures were for violations of the revenue laws, and had nothing to do with the modus vivendi. The vessels were delivered to the are scarce in Behring sea, the pack belug well started on its annual winter excursion down the coast.

Steamer Burned.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 22.—The steamer Rosa Lee, from Ashport, was burned to the water's edge here yesterday morning. Four laborers, who were in the lower deck intoxicated, are supposed to be burned to death, as they cannot be found. All the other passengers were landed in safety. The vessel was owned by James Lee & Son, was worth $70,000, and had a cargo of cotton and cotton seed worth $26,000. Insurance small.

A Child Strangled.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 22.—The 3-year-old child of William Watson, of Falsington, near this city, was choked to death by a pill which was given by the mother. Mrs. Watson, soon after getting up, put the pill in the child's mouth, at the same time reaching for a glass of water. Before she could raise the glass to the child's lips it began to turn blue in the face. The mother used every effort to make the little one spit up the pill, but it was fast in the windpipe. In less than ten minutes the child had strangled to death.

Boy Convicted.

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Nov. 22.—John Mayden, aged 14, was convicted yesterday of murder in the second degree. He will be sentenced to 16 years' imprisonment. Mayden killed Samuel Wernberg, a neighbor. The Wernberg and Mayden families quarreled frequently, and Mr. Wernberg had taunted the boy with the shortcomings of his dead mother. Mayden swore revenge. He saved money enough to buy a cheap revolver, and in one of their periodical quarrels he shot Wernberg dead. Then he shot Mrs. Wernberg twice, severely wounding her. Mayden's father was present when the murder was committeed, and he will be tried as an accesory. Able lawyers were engaged to defend the boy, and the case has been fought bitterly. A new trial will be sought.

Lands Opened.

MARQUETTE, Mich., Nov. 22—Doors of the land office were opened at 10 this morning to receive filings on newly opened land. Many persons have been in line for two days.

FOREIGN NEWS.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—The Rev. P. M. Flannagan, pastor of St. Ann's church, of this city, has received a graphically written letter from Bishop Augouard, vicar apostolic of Oubaughi, on the Upper Congo. Cannibalism there is of an every day occurence. The letter says in part: "A Frenchman, Mr. de Ponmayrac, has just been killed and eaten in Upper Oubaughi, with 10 black soldiers and 33 carriers. A Belgian expedition has just been distroyed on the Upper Congo by the Arabs, who put eight Europeans to death by veritable martyrdom. The chief of the expidition was forced to look at his arm taken off, which was then roasted and eaten in his presence; the same was then done with the others, in the slowest and most painful manner possible. It is horrible, and when shall it be our turn? Within the next six month I will go to found a new mission at the place where Mr. de Ponmayric was killed and eaten, and I implore the co-operation of your prayers for the success of this important undertaking.

BERLIN, Nov. 22.—A private dispatch from Odessa confirms the report that General Boronoff had died of poison. Boronoff was recently appointed to inquire into the finanial administration of the affairs of the city of Tashkand, in Asiatic Russia. It was suspected at the time of his death that his examination had led to the discovery of a system of robbery and misappropriation of the civil funds by the most prominent officials, and his removal by poison was determined on by those implicated in the expected exposure. His sudden death before his report could be handed in aroused the suspicion of the government, and a post-morton examinasion verified the suspicion. The murderers are expected to be arrested momentarily, and the most sensational developments are looked for.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—The death of Baron de Reinach, who was one of the men compromised in the Panama scandal, has opened considerable discussion, and stories are afloat that, rather than stand prosecution, he committed suicide. This morning it is said his death was caused by cerebral excitement brought on by the discovery that, nowadays, the canal scondal had been stolen from him. His family refused to allow an autopsy to be held, and this is taken as a confirmation of the suicide theory. The family give as their reason for refusing to allow an autopsy that it is contrary to the Jewish religion. The baron leaves a fortune of 75,000,000 francs.

STORMS AT LAND.

Floods and Washouts on the Sound —Inundation in Ireland.

SEATTLE, Nov. 22.—There is but little, if any, improvement in the flood situation in the Puget Sound basin, and the steady downpour of rain since yesterday with a falling barometer gives but little encouragement for an abatement of the deluge, for at least a day or two, and many fear that the worst is yet to come. The upper streams, which were so terribly swollen by melted snow, have fallen, but the turbid flood still covers the valleys and bottom lands where there is a great deal of valuable property at stake. There is still almost a complete blockade of railroad communication.

TACOMA, Nov. 22.—It raised hard all last night, and railroad officials fear the worst of the washouts are yet to come. The barometer is low, indicating more rain. The Northern Pacific succeeded today in finishing a temporary bridge at Palmer, so trains can run over it. The first train to go East for four days left Tacoma for St. Paul yesterday, and the overland passenger train left Ellensburg for Tacoma. It will arrive early this morning, if no further trouble occurs.

Floods In Ireland.

DUBLIN, Nov. 22.—Blackwater river, in the county of Cork, has overflowed its banks and the adjacent stretches of country are inundated for miles. The town of Fermoy is in darkness, the gas works being submerged. A number of mountain water courses have swollen into torrents, and one of these swept away a house at the base of Claedough mountain, drowning the occupants.

PORTLAND, Or., Nov. 22.—Hon. D. P. Thompson leaves tonight for Constantinople, to assume his duties as minister to Turkey. He will sail from New York December 3d.

"I Owe My Life to Hood's Sarsaparilla"

"Words are powerless to express the gratitude I feel toward Hood's Sarsaparilla, for under God, I feel and know that to this medicine I owe my life. Twelve years ago I began to bloat, followed by nausea at the stomach, and later with swellings of the limbs, and severe pain. This gradually grew worse until 3 years ago. Physicians told me the trouble was

Caused by a Tumor

For several months I had been unable to retain any solid food. I was greatly emaciated, had frequent hemorrhages, and was satisfied the doctors were right in saying my life was nearly over. One day a friend suggested that I try Hood's Sarsaparilla; I did so, and for 3 or 4 days I was sicker than ever, but I kept on and gradually began to feel better.

I Began to Feel Hungry

Could, after a time, retain solid food, increased in weight, the saffron hue left my skin, the bloating subsided, and I felt better all over. For 2 years my health has been quite good, and I have been able all the time to do the housework for my family. After what it has done for me I never hesitate to recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. OGDEN SNYDER, 10 Judson St., Albany, N. Y.

Robbery by Masked Men.

SUISUN, Cal., Nov. 22.—A daring highway robbery was committed near Vanden station Sunday, J. W. Wolf, of Reno, Nev., being the victim. He was on his way to Napa and was driving a span of horses hitched to a top buggy. Near Vanden two men with grain bags as masks, and with the aid of a couple of shotguns, persuaded Wolf to hand over his coin, amounting to $180, and a gold watch. They then ordered him out of his buggy and drove off in the direction of Elmira.

Deafness Can't be Cured.

local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that we cannot cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free, F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75 cents.

American Cholera.

From the Daily Reveille, Whatcom, Washington: "T. C. Burnett, the Democratic candidate for sheriff was taken violently ill at Clearbrook. He had all the symptoms of Asiatic cholera, and for an hour or two it was feared he would die. They finally gave him a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarhoea Remedy, which revived him until a physician arrived." That is precisely what the manufacturers of that medicine recommend for cholera. Send for a physician but give their medicine until the physician arrives. An Icicle Suddenly Thrust Down Your Back

Would produce a sensation akin to that experienced by the unhappy individual who feels the chill which ushers in attack of fever and ague and bilious remittent. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, in such an emergency, is what is wanted at once to scotch the enemy which seems to penetrate the very marrow of the bones, alternately freezing, roasting and deluging the sufferer with perspiration. This grand anti-febrile specific is the surest medicinal safeguard that an emigrant to the far west can take with him. Malarial complaints are rife in all regions newly cleared of timber, in mining camps and in low lying river bottoms where the streams periodically overflow their banks. Immunity from malaria is, however, obtained from the protective agent named, which is also a remedy for indigestion, rheumatic and kidney ailments, liver complaint, constipation and debility.

YOU AND I.

Not he who lays it on the shelf,
But he who spends his talent saves it.
He gives indeed who gives himself,
And best or worst is his who craves it.

A thousand wish our work success;
One brings us cheer because he speaks it.
A common thing is happiness;
He only never finds who seeks it.

The atom with the supreme sun
Of Nature's plan was made partaker:
Alike has each its course to run,
And show the wisdom of its Maker.

The steady seasons come and go,
The constant needle strangely falters;
The moon drawn sea sways to and fro:
Opinions change; truth never alters.

We may resist our foe's assaults,
His sneers that sting, his blows that batter:
Correction of our daily faults
We find another, harder matter.

Self has no claims when duty calls;
Our destinies receive our shaping:
Escape we may from prison walls,
But from ourselves there's no escaping.

The cruel conquests of the sword
Bring fleeting fame that soldiers sigh for:
The cheering smile and winning word
Bring love that thousands pine and die for.

An accident, a lucky star
Might lead us to the abbey's niches;
Not what we have, but what we are
Is the imperishable riches.

Is there a course we should pursue?
Through ruin's realm we must pursue it.
Is there a work for us to do?
Though death confront us we must do it.

Not how to die, but how to live,
Demands our care and best endeavor
For character its light will give
When sun and stars are quenched forever
—E. S. Pomeroy in Youth's Companion.

They Kill, but Do Not Smoke.

The average Kaluli does not regard [illegible] as killed in his own country, and he therefore regards the matter of the taking off of a friend most philosophically. "There is nothing to worry about: he is dead, and I killed him," he will tell you if you should inquire about a companion with whom he was on the best of terms the preceding winter. I have heard an Afghan, while purchasing a weapon, speak with evident gusto of the occasion when he would use the gun to murder a friend. It caused him as little concern, this contemplated crime, as if he had said, "Shall kill a chicken, if God so wills it, tomorrow for my pillau."

And yet there is something childish and affectionate about these men. They never seem to forget a favor, and repay it to the best of their ability. Unlike other Mohammedans, they do not observe the Koran with blind obstinacy, but occasionally stretch its precepts to accord with their ideas of religion. They do not drink, for that is directly against the law, nor do they smoke.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The Kind of Music Baudelaire Liked.

Literature is on the border of science, draws inspiration from it, and finds in the marvels of physiology motifs of disquietude and fear—an unpublished shudder, in fact, to speak a little after the manner of Victor Hugo. Charles Baudelaire certainly had an influence on this particular movement. I hear him still telling us with a grimace not to be forgotten: "I adore Wagner. [He had been one of the first to defend him in Paris.] But the music I prefer is that of a cat hung up by his tail outside of a window and trying to stick to the panes of glass with its claws. There is an odd grating on the glass which I find at the same time strange, irritating and singularly harmonious."—Jules Clairette in North American Review.

A Bogus Muzzle.

An amusing deception connected with dog muzzling came to light the other day in the Ternes quarter of Paris. An old lady, whose pet had been seized among others, complained that while her pug was captured the police allowed that of her neighbor, a painter, to roam at will without a muzzle. The inspector assured the lady that the artist's dog was always muzzled, and was somewhat taken aback on learning that the muzzle in question was merely painted on the animal's head.—London Tit-Bits.

A Sure Thing.

A witty individual one morning wagered that he would ask the same question of fifty different persons and receive the same answer from each. The wit went to first one and then to another until he had reached the number of fifty. And this is how he won the bet. He whispered, half audibly, to each:

"I say, have you heard that Smith has failed?"

"What Smith?" queried the whole fifty, one after another, and it was decided that the bet had been fairly won.—London Tit-Bits.
