THE CAPITAL JOURNAL.

HOFER BROTHERS, - - - Editors. PUBLISHED DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY, BY THE Capital Journal Publishing Company. (Incorporated.) Office, Commercial Street, in P. O. Building entered at the postoffice at Salem, Or., as second-class matter.

THE WORK BEFORE THE COMING LEGISLATURE. National politics so obscured state affairs in Oregon this year that there may be said to be no political issues of a local character before the coming session of the Oregon legislature. There are no state issues so-called for either party to advance and legislation will assume an almost nonpartisan character. Of course, the parties will hold caucuses to organize the house and senate, but beyond that there will be less politics before the incoming session of the legislature than ever before known in the history of the state.

There is no United States senator to elect. That event takes place two years hence. The selection of senators will hereafter be thrown more directly upon the people themselves. It is not altogether unlikely that when a senator is elected two years hence, candidates will be formally nominated in state conventions and become an issue in the campaign. Personal popularity will out a big figure in the result. A more popular class of senators will be chosen all over the northwest. This legislation may have to make provision for people's election of senators.

There is another important issue—the question of opening our rivers, and of adopting as a state policy a more aggressive system of securing the benefits of competitive water transportation. This should control somewhat in the minds of members the selection of a president of the senate and speaker of the house. These presiding officers possess great influence in shaping legislation, and men should be chosen of well known "open river" convictions. If this is not done the session will be barren of all results to the people in this direction. That Oregon should do all in her power to open the rivers goes without argument.

There are many other matters of great importance that will come up, and these will be discussed in future issues of the JOURNAL, both for information of the people and their representatives. Among the more intricate matters to come up are the re-election or reformation of the railroad commission; disposition of convict labor; the road and assessment problems; a world's fair exhibit; a registry law; the readjustment of fees of county and state officers. Many believe the time has come in the history of this state when the fee system could be done away with, and the salary of every county, city and state official be fixed by statute, and all fees of offices, in excess of the salary, be converted to the state treasury. That is the custom in nearly every state and why Oregon has adhered to the territorial system so long is a mystery, in a state otherwise so conservative in money matters.

The tax payers have a right to know just how much every official or his deputy or assistant receives for his services, just how much his office takes from or adds to the public treasury. In our state offices the only known salaries are those of the governor, attorney-general and supreme judges. In county offices the salaries of but a part of the officials are known. In both state and county offices some officers receive too much and some perhaps too little. This subject is one that needs practical dealing with and should not be passed by without a thorough overhauling.

THE REORGANIZATION NEEDED. H. C. Payne, the Wisconsin member of the Republican National Committee, who is stopping at the Fifth Avenue hotel, said that the movement in favor of a reorganization of the Republican party in this city, as explained in the Press, deserved encouragement. "What we need," he said, "is a permanent headquarters to talk over the plans for the future and to reorganize for active work. I have not thought about details. At present I am able only to endorse the idea."—New York Press.

Mr. Payne is the lobbyist and political corruptionist of the Milwaukee insurance and railroad corporations. He has been at the head of Republican management in the state of Wisconsin until the state has become almost irredeemably Democratic.

He and his like were in control of the National Republican committee this year, and lost the party all three branches of government. The way to reorganize the party is to cast all such political jobs overboard and let the party again serve the people more and the plutocrats less.

THE JOURNAL has some big improvements to store during the world's fair year. Keep your eye on its pages and see it grow.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

SUGGESTED COMMENT. The next two years will see great changes in Oregon politics.

The Jesuit Fathers have completed a beautiful new church at Spokane. Col. Bob Miller is a bigger Democrat than ever now, even if he did not fuse.

The leading question among leading Salem Democrats is, "Will Portland get all the fat offices?"

The politician says purify the party from within. The people say purify politics from without—without office.

It is hard to tell which feels the more comfortable without the other—Governor Penney or the Democratic party.

President-elect Cleveland is a bigger man than Washington's monument in the eyes of office-seeking Democrats.

The Republican party must be re-organized and re-enlist in the service of the masses if it would have any political future.

Salem wants a city government that shall respect the rights of capital but not entirely overlook the fact that the people have some rights too.

The fusionists may have the votes to carry Oregon with the Democrats will control the federal patronage. At least they say they will and all fusionists must even stand from under the dripping of the altar.

THE NEW YEAR'S JOURNAL will be the most interesting number ever printed in Salem. The literary work on its fifty or sixty chapters is well under way and it will be a volume of Salem history, every copy of which time will only render more valuable as a historic souvenir of the growth of our city.

The city of Spokane has borrowed $500,000 at 6 per cent for the purpose of securing a good water system. It has decided to spend $312,000 in the laying of pipes. Much of this has already been spent, and some of the pipes are filled only with air, the present pumping station being inadequate.

The Salem JOURNAL seems to be in doubt about Salem getting a public building since the Democrats have come into power. Its doubt is well founded.—East Oregonian.

THE JOURNAL simply showed that if Salem did not get a public building the responsibility would rest upon Democracy. The Democrats are on top and the East Oregonian if probably right.

The Republican party achieved its peerless position by adhering steadfastly to principle in face of defeat as well as in the hour of victory. When a majority voted for Buchanan in 1856 the Republican party did not consider that result a mandate to surrender Republican principles and to acquiesce in the extension of human slavery. Republicans adhered then, as they adhere now, to the principles they believed to be right, and four years later they saw those principles approved by the verdict of the nation.—New York Press.
