JAY GOULD'S WILL.

Disposition of the Property of the Great Millionaire.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Jay Gould's will, after making specific bequests to members of his family, including houses, pictures, furniture, and sums ranging to $25,000, with a life annuity of $2,000, creates a trust fund of $500,000 for his grandson and namesake Jay Gould, son of George J. Gould. To George he gives $5,000,000 in cash and stock. George, Edwin, Howard and Helen are executors and trustees.

All the rest of the estate is bequeathed to executors and trustees in trust same to be divided in six equal parts, and invested for each of the children, George, Edwin, Howard, Frank, Helen and Anna. Income to be paid the children for life and trustees to have power to dispose of same by will in favor of issue at death.

FINANCIAL REFORMS.

Third Party Propositions Introduced in Congress.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The financial theories of the third party were emphasized yesterday in a bill introduced by Otis, of Kansas, having the voluminous title "to change our monetary system, to reduce interest, fit the unit of value, supply states with circulating medium, and for other purposes." The bill is amendatory to one introduced at the last session. It fixes the dollar as the unit of value, and declares that all paper money mentioned in the act shall be absolutely upon its face and act in the form of a promise. All money specified shall be full legal tender to the amount of $5 in any one transaction. In addition to the provisions for free coinage in the previous bill, the measure provides that the money paid for bullion in the treasury shall be converted into the treasury as part of the "general fund." The secretary of the treasury is required to have coined all the gold and silver bullion in the hands of the general government and to have prepared fifteen hundred million dollars of paper money. The secretary of the treasury is directed to prepare an amount of paper money not to exceed in volume 50 per cent. of the assessed value of the real estate of the United States as shown in the last census, to be held in the general treasury as "states' improvement fund," and only to be paid out on the order of the respective governors and secretaries of states. Any state may avail itself of the provisions of this act by joint resolutions of the legislature, and the state is required to pay the United States an annual tax of 1 per cent. on all sums drawn and retained during each year, and to open and keep in operation an exchange and general deposit department at the capital of the state.

Comments on the Message.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Republicans are all practically agreed that the message was an able document. The Democrats, however, generally declared it to be a campaign document, which would have been more potent before the election. The Republicans said that the prosperous condition of the country under Republican rule, as shown by the president's message, will be contrasted in future with the results of a Democratic administration. Mr. Drockey, of Missouri, one of the Democratic leaders in the house, and a member of the committee on appropriations, said:

"I sincerely hope that the president is correct in saying that there will be no deficiency in the coming fiscal year. It is manifest, however, that the so-called surplus he estimates is ascertained by defaulting in the requirements of the sinking fund act, and even with this default, the determination of the deficit will depend somewhat upon the volume of unexpected and available appropriations, as also upon the estimate of the commissioner of pensions, which has heretofore been found to be exceedingly faulty and defective."

Said Senator Mitchell of Oregon: "I consider it a remarkably strong document and generally well expressed."

Senator Stewart, of Nevada, popularly said:

"I think it an overdrawn picture of the prosperity of the country. The president seems to endure with fortitude, not to say complacency, the rise in the price of gold and the consequent decrease in the value of farm products."

WORLD'S FAIR FARE.

A Still High Figure for the Round Trip.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—T. H. Goodman, general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific company, who has just returned from a conference of passenger officials at Chicago, says that, while nothing definite was decided upon at the conference about the fare to the Chicago world's fair, it was certain that the round trip from here would be $70, which is the present single fare. His company had already informed correspondents in China, Japan, Central and South America and elsewhere that such would be the rate, and the company would stick to its promise in that respect. Mr. White, of the Santa Fe, was also in favor of the same rate, likewise Mr. Fox, of the Northern Pacific. Mr. Lomax, of the Union Pacific was in favor of making the price of a single trip the cost of the round trip from all points west of the Missouri river. He thought that all the Western lines were in favor of the $70 rate from here.

Civil Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The United States civil-service commission in its annual report to the president, after giving statistics, examinations, and appointments, says: "This is the first time the commission has, in the midst of a presidential campaign, actively interfered to prevent a collection of political assessments, and believes its action has had a most beneficial effect and that there was much less assessing done than ever before, although it cannot be doubted that altogether too much took place. In the opinion of the commission, this practice will not be wholly broken up until it is made a penal offense for any person whatever to solicit a political contribution from an employee in any place whatever."

Protection and Silver.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—The National Agricultural congress, called to consider the grave situation of agricultural affairs in Great Britain, met today. 1500 delegates from over 200 Agricultural associations are present. Loud cheers greeted an allusion to protection as the remedy for the troubles, but Hon. Henry Chaplin assured them that any attempt to put a duty on food would certainly be defeated. A resolution was adopted favoring bimetallism.

To Reduce His Flesh.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—It is reported that, on advice of Governor Flower, who tried it himself, Grover Cleveland has secured the services of Wm. Muldoon to put him through a course of athletic training to reduce his flesh. Both Cleveland and his physician refuse to confirm or deny reports.

Snow Storm.

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—Snow is falling in Iowa and Kansas. Some fell as snow here today. But it melted as it fell. In parts of Iowa it is accompanied by a high wind, with indications of a blizzard.

Another Texas Storm.

HOUSTON, Texas, Dec. 7.—A severe storm swept through the valley two miles from there yesterday afternoon, sweeping everything before it. Houses, barns, and fences were razed to the ground. So far as earned only one life is lost. But it is feared more perished and a relief party has been sent to the scene.

THE SILVER SITUATION.

Great Danger to the Country Unless Action is Taken by the Monetary Conference.

BUTTE, Dec. 7.—In the monetary conference, Sir Criviers Wilson, who said his views were shared by Sir Charles Fremantle, the other British delegate, said he believed all the governments who sent delegates here recognized the presence of great danger. A note of warning had reached us from America, and, to say the least, it is doubtful whether the American government can continue indefinitely the gigantic efforts it has fruitlessly made so many years to maintain and raise the price of silver. Certain high authorities believe the sudden cessation of purchases of silver by America and the closing of India's mints would lead to heavy falls of silver and a disastrous disturbance of commerce. Others contend that the fall is already discounted, and the removal of the present uncertainty would have a quieting effect. In view of these divergent ideas, what course should be adopted? Sir Charles Fremantle and myself, I will state frankly, are pure monometalists, and do not admit that any other system than the single gold standard is applicable in Great Britain. We will admit that the Rothschild and Levy plans may not be incompatible with our principles, but it is not enough that these schemes are defensible in principle. Would either plan have the least chance of meeting with the preponderance of support that would justify us in recommending the British government to consider it? We think not. Another plan may be formulated and approved by the conference, and if it does not conflict with our principles it will receive serious consideration from the British government.

Mr. McCreary, of the American delegation, proceeded to point out the difficulties and perils of the existing situation, and said that whatever the cause, the fact remained that a remedy was of imperative necessity. He appreciated the attention Rothschild gave the conference, but could not support his plan. He could not admit that it is a proper remedy for America to continue to purchase fifty-four millions of ounces of silver annually at a price not to exceed one hundred cents on the dollar on condition that the European powers make purchases yearly to the amount of five million pounds for five years, at a price not to exceed forty-three pence per ounce, and if silver should rise above that price the purchases to be immediately suspended. It seems an unequal distribution that we will be expected to purchase twice as much silver as Europe. The American delegates are ready to co-operate with other delegates in a candid and determined effort to maintain the monetary function to both metals. Therefore, after submitting the general plan of bimetallism favored by America, they also submitted the plan favored by themselves. It was a plain business proposition, and if adopted the necessary details could easily be arranged. In concluding, McCreary said: "I believe the best aim of the conference to be the general remonetization of silver and the unrestricted coinage of gold and silver into money of debt paying power, with a permanent international ratio of fifteen and a half or sixteen to one," and he preferred the latter. In his opinion, "this would give unity and stability to the value of money, and furnish the best remedy for existing evils from which all civilized nations are suffering."

The conference adjourned until Thursday.

Didn't Turn Off the Gas.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—Hilda Olsen, 22 years old, a Swedish servant, was found dead in bed, having been accidentally asphyxiated only one life is lost. But it is feared more perished and a relief party has been sent to the scene.

Premier Tompson.

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.—Among the members of the new ministry officially announced are: Sir John Thompson, premier and minister of justice.

Retaliation on Canada.

WASHINGTON.—A bill introduced by Fry in the senate smacks strongly of retaliation. It amends the law regulating the transportation of goods, by declaring that no merchandise shall be transported from one part of the United States to another in a vessel belonging wholly or in part to the subject of any power, and such transportation via any foreign port shall be deemed a violation of the law. The sailing of any foreign vessel from one United States port to another is not prohibited, provided no merchandise other than imported in such vessel from a foreign port be carried. The bill provides that the president may, by proclamation, suspend the right of carrying merchandise in bond through the United States provided for in the bill in case the Dominion of Canada should at any time deprive our citizens of the use of its canals on terms of equality.

The Color Line.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 7.—Mandamus proceedings were instituted by John R. Crump in behalf of his children against the president and directors of the public schools, alleging that his children were refused admittance to the white public schools on the ground that they are of African descent. Plaintiff asserts they are in part descended from French Creoles and Indians, and have no African blood. The court issued a mandamus to compel the schools to receive them.

New Pacific Steamer.

TACOMA, Dec. 7.—The Northern Pacific Steamship company has chartered the Flinthshire for the third permanent steamer to ply between Tacoma and Orient. She is a 4,000-ton, fifteen-knot, modern steamer, built at Glasgow in 1888. She takes the place of Zambesi, which is to be placed on the Puget Sound and Honolulu line, and will leave Hong Kong early in January.

A Texas Cyclone.

ATLANTA, Texas, Dec. 7.—About 1 o'clock yesterday a disastrous cyclone passed three miles east, sweeping away farm houses and other structures and leaving death and destruction in its path. The residence of Sam McAdams was destroyed, and he, with three children, fatally hurt. Charles Casey's gin house, with its contents, was destroyed. The house of a colored man named Dawson was demolished and several children fatally hurt.

Changes Hands.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 7.—Wells Drury has sold the Daily Evening News to J. B. H. R. R. and J. Sheehan, who will make it a democratic paper. It is understood that a strong democratic syndicate is behind the new firm, who are determined that the capital city shall no longer be without a democratic organ. An attempt to buy the N. W. was made during the campaign, but Mr. Drury was a republican, and would not desert his elders while under fire.

Barbers' Convention.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 7.—The International Barbers' Association is in session here. The question of abolishing Sunday shaving was the most important one to come up. It has been practically agreed to petition the state legislatures to enact a law to this end, and an endeavor will be made to enlist the active sympathy of the other labor organizations.

Silver Must Go.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 7.—In the senate this afternoon Hill introduced a bill to repeal the silver purchase act.

For Charity.

BERLIN, Dec. 7.—Wilhelm Lewin, a wealthy Hebrew, who recently died here, left 750,000 marks to Berlin charities. The announcement of the fact has had a softening effect upon the public animosity against the Jews, now at a greater height than at any time before in the present reign.

The Black Dance.

VICTORIA, B. C., Dec. 7.—There is no civil war among the Nitinat Indians. The latter are engaged in the black dance, of which the firing of guns in the air is a feature. There has been no murder and so the flagship Wasp proceeds to England. Several of the Nitinat tribe are in town. They say that all reports of bloodshed originated through a white man's ignorance of their dances and customs.

Mitchell Goes to Jail.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—At the Clerkenwell sessions the sentence of two months' hard labor of Charlie Mitchell, the prize-fighter, was confirmed with added costs of appeal to be paid by the prisoner. Mitchell was convicted October 7 of brutally assaulting old man Savage without provocation.

Senator and Counsel.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Senator David B. Hill was reported last night to have been tendered the position of general counsel to the Equitable Life Assurance society. The story was discussed among insurance men, and the prevailing opinion was that Mr. Hill would accept. Senator Hill, it is understood, is considering the matter favorably. If he accepts he will take hold soon after January 1st. It might be arranged so that he could take the place and retain the senatorship at the same time. The Equitable people, however, are said to prefer that he give up the senatorship if he accept their offer. The position pays $25,000 a year.

Waste and Want.

A waste of flesh and a want of digestion. These go together. People who cannot assimilate the food they swallow must of necessity lose bodily substance. To remedy this, render digestion easy and thorough with Hostettler's Stomach Bitters, which has the reputation for its strength and fish yielding qualities. Appetite and sleep are both improved by action, which begins to remove symptoms, flatulency, indigestion, irregularity of the bowels and palpitation of the heart, which latter often being erroneously attributed to disease of that organ. All these ailments disappear when the stomach is restored to health. Malaria, rheumatism, liver and kidney troubles are effectually combated by this superb corrective, which is not only effectual, but permanent.
