

The Time Set!

IT IS FEBRUARY 1, 1893.

At that time THE PALACE will begin invoicing, preparatory to receiving spring goods. Until then the ladies of Salem and vicinity are offered everything in the line of winter Suitings, Macintoshes, Umbrellas, etc., etc., without regard to their cost. The stock must be reduced before the arrival of new goods, and every inducement is offered. A few choice styles in Cloaks remain, and will be closed out at any price. Remember that $100 Ladies' Gold Watch will be given away April 15th. Ask to see it. Call and get the Standard Fashion Sheet for January.

It is an acknowledged fact that Geo. D. Goodhue sells more Wood and Coal than all other dealers combined. If you want fuel see him, office 95 State street.

REPAIRING.

Thos. Holman began work today with a force of men, rebuilding the electric wire system in the state house, and putting the entire plant into shape, as it was badly demoralized by the work of putting up the dome. The electric current has been cut out for some weeks, in order to secure perfect safety while the work on the building was in progress. The entire "lining" will be overhauled and newly insulated to make the plant better than ever. In a few days the lights on the inside will again be turned on, and our state officials will no longer be obliged to work in the dark.

SIMPLY A LIE.—A Salem dispatch says: Judge Boise has become a convert to the movement for the repeal of the mortgage tax law and the law allowing the deduction of indebtedness. As he is the father of the measures, his condemnation of them will not be one of the strongest arguments for their repeal. His influence in the state grange, also, will strengthen the purpose of the legislators connected with that body.—Albany Democrat. Judge Boise was seen by a JOURNAL representative and said he was not in favor of repealing the mortgage tax law, but of allowing no exemptions for debts except such as were a matter of record and could be definitely ascertained.

BETTER CROSSWALKS.—The work of building new crosswalks is fairly under way. A practical business man suggests that present walks are too narrow. The widest are only four feet, as the two outside plank are laid slanting and are not walked upon at all. The walks should all be down level upon grade, as by being raised they throw a rapidly driven vehicle into the air, break springs and cause ruts where the wheels come down off the crossing. Six or eight or even ten feet wide is none too wide for crosswalks on our principal streets.

FOR SERGEANT.—Hon. J. E. Blundell, of Douglas county, is a candidate for Sergeant-at-Arms of the House. He is a loyal Republican, was a member three sessions; knows everyone ever connected with state legislature, and knows the duties of the position to a "U." Obsolete members who undertake to run the legislature will do well to avoid Mr. Blundell if he is elected. He would turn them up and spank them if they weighed a ton, although not a giant himself, by any means.

ACCIDENT.—This afternoon while working at the rear of the Electric Power company's office, Thos. Walleit, a line-man, was badly hurt by having a box strike him which was thrown from the upper story. The box struck the side of his head and left shoulder. It was thought that the shoulder blade was broken. Dr. J. N. Smith was called, and is looking after the patient as we go to press.

NORTH SALEM REVIVAL.—Rev. J. H. Koork is meeting with good success in his revival work at the A. M. E. church in North Salem. President Whittaker preached last night to a good audience, and the people of this church society are to be congratulated upon their prosperity.

HIT THE WRONG GOPHER.—Last evening Frank O'Neill, of South Salem was setting a gopher gun, when it accidentally went off, and peeled one of Frank's fingers. He "knew it was loaded" but didn't expect it to "go off." He has killed many gophers that way.

CHURCH OF GOD.—Elder Gillett, of Woodburn, will preach for the Church of God Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the German Baptist church on

W. S. LADD DEAD.

The Former Associate of Banker A. Bush of This City.

The biggest capitalist in Oregon, and erstwhile member of the banking firm of Ladd & Bush, is dead, as will appear from a telegraphic report.

Mr. Ladd was well known in this city and his death will be a surprise to many. He was a very highly respected citizen.

The first to receive the news of Mr. Ladd's death was A. Bush, the Salem banker. W. S. Ladd was associated in partnership business interests with Mr. Bush of this city since 1868; for the past ten years he has not been interested in the bank at Salem, but has large interests with Mr. Bush here, in the state, in Washington and all over the coast. He was among the first to come from New England, and started the first bank in Portland. As a man he began life in Oregon digging stumps and clearing lands, and at his death was one of the largest land owners in and about Portland. He has conducted in many banks and conducts several large farms and herds of thoroughbred cattle. Since many years he suffered from paralysis of the legs and had to be conveyed in a carriage, and helped out and in his favorite means of getting around was on a buckboard wagon and he probably droyes as much as any man in Portland. Early in the week he suffered an attack of heart failure. At this writing that is thought to have been the cause of his death. He was a Presbyterian, and principal contributor towards the new stone church in Portland. He contributed $50,000 to a college of his church in San Francisco. Mr. Ladd was 66 years old. He leaves a wife, three sons and two daughters. He aided liberally in all public and charitable enterprises. He was once mayor, once county commissioner and of late years president of the board of trustees of the state Agricultural college. In politics he was very independent, though of a Democratic family.

SPECIAL FROM PORTLAND. PORTLAND, Jan. 6.—[Special to JOURNAL.]—Mr. Ladd's death was due to heart failure. About 9:30 this morning he arose and was being dressed by his attendant. Just as his shirt was being drawn over his head he gasped and fell back on the bed. His death was instantaneous and peaceful. Arrangements for the funeral are not yet completed. Ladd was born in Holland, Vermont, October 10, 1826. He arrived in Portland in 1851, coming by way of San Francisco.

Shortly after his arrival he engaged in mercantile business on a small scale. In 1859 he organized the banking house of Ladd and Tilton, at the head of which he has since remained. He built the first brick building in Portland. He leaves a wife and five children. Conservative estimates place his fortune at twenty millions, which is invested in realty and various business interests. For the past fifteen years Ladd has been unable to walk, owing to a stroke of paralysis which deprived him of the use of his lower limbs.

RECOMMENDS A JUTE MILL.

Supt. Downing Gives Some Facts and Figures in His Annual Report.

Superintendent Downing discusses in his report what he considers a popular demand, for a jute mill at the penitentiary. He has visited the Walla Walla and San Quentin penitentiaries, and will speak at some length of the workings of their manufactures of grain and wool sacks by convict labor. The Washington mill of 50 looms cost the state about $170,000, and pleases the prison officials. At San Quentin he says they have been running a mill of 100 looms for eight years, and are so well pleased that they will double the capacity. The output there last year was 2,000,000 sacks, sold at 6 cents each. Should the Oregon legislature determine to establish a jute mill at the penitentiary, first thing would be the erection of a suitable building, a one story brick, 160 x 250 feet, with truss roof, covered with tin, and a concrete floor. Mr. Downing says an appropriation of $200,000 would be necessary. The outside labor necessary would be superintendent, three spinners, two weavers, an engineer and an accountant. Policemen are sometimes employed, also, to assist in maintaining order. A jute mill of 100 looms would require necessary for the other prisoners, 387 having been in the night of December 31, and the total number incarcerated having been as large as 424 at one time during the summer, for the superintendent believes that it is the duty of the state to furnish its criminals with some employment. He conceives a part of the object of incarceration to be the inculcation of habits of industry and encouragement to reform, both of which are incompatible with an idle life. He will therefore urge some provision for the convicts' employment, whatever form the legislature may approve, both for moral and economic reasons.

An Enemy Baffled.
There is an enemy with whom thousands are familiar all their lives, because they are born with a tendency to biliousness. With this enemy they are constantly battling with ineffectual weapons. Bowditch's Blood Purifier will battle it. Mere purgatives will not reform a disordered condition of the liver indicated not by constipation alone, but also by sick headaches, yellowness of the skin and eye balls, a sallow, furred tongue and uneasy, or a more or less chronic pressure on the right side, upon and below the short ribs. Avoid drastic purgatives which gripe and weaken the system, and take this world famous anti-bilious cod liver oil which restores natural, healthy and happy conditions of the system. As a life-giver of the bowels, pain is not effected, it improves appetite, and the ability to digest, and possesses the additional advantage of a standard tonic.

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder

"A Priceless Blessing."

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL is the best remedy for Croup, Whooping Cough, Hoarseness, and all the sudden Throat and Lung Troubles to which young people are subject. Keep this medicine in the house. Hon. C. Edwards Lester, late U. S. Consul to Italy, and author of various popular works, writes:—

"With all sorts of exposure, in all sorts of climates, I have never, to this day, had any cold nor any affection of the throat or lungs which did not yield to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral within 24 hours. Of course I have never allowed myself to be without this remedy in all my voyages and travels. Under my own observation, it has given relief to a vast number of persons, while in acute cases of pulmonary inflammation, such as croup and diphtheria in children, life has been preserved through its effects. I recommend its use in light and frequent doses. Properly administered, in accordance with your directions, it is a priceless blessing in any house."

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, PREPARED BY DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

ON SOME TITLE DEEDS.

Man, who builds houses, palaces and cities. Man, who has empire over all the ocean. Master of music, color and of verse, is Not worth a ha'p'ny.

Say that the coin is struck upon his birthday. Sooner or later death will tap his shoulder; Then where is he who schemed so very deeply? There is the ha'p'ny.

Thus to myself, while wearily perusing Many old deeds in chambers in the temple. Deeds that the title bore upon their pages To an old mansion.

All the rich owners gathered in the church-yard, Few just remembered, most of them forgotten; Yet are their names here signed upon the parchment. Just as they wrote them.

Hearts full of hope of many an attorney Must have leapt high when spinning out these lengthy Deeds, in the days when the longer the deed the Longer the bill was.

Here is a marriage settlement; how joyful Was the fair bride who signed her maiden name there! Husband and wife and children all are buried, Long, long ago now.

Yet I can touch where lay her gentle fingers, And I can wonder if her life was happy, Whether her husband treated her with kindness— Or like a husband.

Close "this indenture," I must cease to ponder Over the dead past—lawyers are not poets; Work must be finished ere I can depart hence Home to my dinner. —St. James Gazette.

Natural Friends of Man.

The banishment of guns from the Yellowstone National park has resulted in the establishment of what may almost be called "friendly relations" between the animals that are ordinarily looked upon as "game" and their human visitors.

No one who is aware of the excessive shyness of the gray squirrel in our eastern woodlands, for instance, can avoid an expression of surprise and pleasure upon perceiving the comparative fearlessness of the same beautiful animal in the great park, where the flag of the United States gives him almost the security of a citizen.

There also herds of elk and antelope may be approached within easy seeing distance by the visitor, and the tourist who does not succeed in seeing bears in their native haunts must neglect his opportunities.

The law forbidding the carrying of firearms in the park, except by the soldiers, throws indeed a side light on the character of the bear. He will not disturb people who let him alone, and of all the wild inhabitants of the Yellowstone valley he is perhaps the most timid in the presence of human visitors.—Youth's Companion.

When Men Want a Limit.

The question of enjoyment is a question of temperament. Some men like being made a fuss of so long as it doesn't go too far, which, unfortunately, it sometimes does. They like to see their photographs in the windows; they like to see their names in the papers; they even like to have opera glasses leveled on them—at any rate they like it now and then. But these very men will be the very first to tell you that there is another thing they like, and that is a limit. If you are in their confidence they will not improbably add, with some bitterness, that a limit is exactly the thing which the world dislikes.

An opera glass is very well in the park or at the theater, but there are times when one would rather that an opera glass should not be brought to bear upon one. Unhappily these are exactly the times in which the world longs and strains to use it.—All the Year Round.

Anybody May Carry Stamped Letters.

There seems to be a general impression among railroad men that it is unlawful for them to carry letters. This is an error. The law expressly says that all letters inclosed in stamped envelopes, if the postage stamp is of a denomination sufficient to cover the postage that would be chargeable thereon if they were sent by mail, may be sent, conveyed and delivered otherwise than by mail. As a matter of fact, Wells, Fargo & Co. carry hundreds of letters into San Francisco daily, and have been doing so these thirty-five years past.—Hartford Courant.

A Forger and Counterfeiter.

There was brought to Salem last night a man sentenced to the penitentiary for two years. He is 63 years old.

James Parker, the venerable-appearing forger and counterfeiter, who has done time in several prisons for crooked but decidedly smooth work and confidence operations, was arraigned in the United States court before Judge Deady, for the purpose of pleading.

Parker was arrested by the Portland police about the 1st of October. Prior to that time a number of raised bills had been passed in this city, and after considerable effort the detectives found that $2 bills were kept on sale by a certain dealer in North Portland. The detectives placed some marked bills who sold them. On the 28th of September Parker rode up to H. L. Wilkins' saloon in South Portland, and after making a small account in treating tendered what purported to be a $10 treasury certificate, and, receiving what change was due him, about $9 went away. Wilkins soon discovered that a $2 raised bill had been passed upon him and reported the matter to the police. Detective Griffin apprehended him, and had him under arrest, made a search of the prisoner's person and trunk, resulting in the discovery of several of the marked bills fixed up by the detectives. Parker had also had a large quantity of revenue stamps from which he had cut the figures and these figures he used in changing the denomination of the $2 bills.
