Presidential Electors Meet and Vote for President and Vice President.

Messrs. Caples, Irwin and Pierce presidential electors for Oregon met at the office of attorney general at the state house at 12 m. to cast the electoral vote of Oregon. Mr. Dunne, the other Republican elector, was not able to be present. H. B. Miller was elected in his place as a member of the college organized by the board, electing Mr. Irwin president. The vote of Oregon was cast as follows: For Harrison and Reid 3 For Weaver and Field 1 Hon. J. F. Caples was chosen messenger to carry the vote of Oregon to Washington.

SALEM Y. M. C. A.—Legislators and members of the third house while in Salem will find no pleasanter place to visit and spend an hour than at the association rooms. A literary and musical program is being arranged by a committee of ladies of the auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A., to be given in the gymnasium on Tuesday evening, the 31st, the proceeds of which are to be used in meeting obligations made in the purchase of furnishings for the new apartments.

THE TAX RAISE.—To satisfy several inquirers the writer saw Mr. Coolidge, secretary of state board of equalization, and he says the board did make a horizontal raise on all lands and town lots of the state. In no county was there a reduction on real estate or a raise on moneys, credits, notes, stocks, bonds, accounts, etc. This is what THE JOURNAL has claimed and it is correct.

CONGREGATIONAL.—The Sunday school has been re-organized, and the attendance is getting up to its old standards. Next Sunday a memorial service will be held in honor of the late T. McF. Patton, who was for many years superintendent. Misses Boise, Alice Kirk, and Miss Giesy are a committee on decorations.

"WHERE AM I?"—A motorman on one of the electric lines reached the end of his trip the other night at 10 o'clock, had to wait four minutes or just long enough to doze off. He nodded eighty minutes, the boys say, or until a car was sent out to tow his car in. When he awoke he rubbed his eyes and exclaimed: "For God's sake, where am I?"

PENSIONS.—Following have been granted: S. E. Hardcastle, $8 per month from May 11, 1891; Geo. W. Wiley, $8 per month from May 10, 1891. They were secured through th. D. C. Sherman pension agency of this city.

DREAM OF FAIR WOMEN.—This beautiful entertainment is now being prepared by the ladies society of the Congregational church, some of the most beautiful tableaux ever produced in Salem will be a grand feature of the entertainment.

"Puzzled The Doctors."

MOST of the cases cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla have been given up by the regular practice. Physicians are recommending this medicine more and more, and with satisfactory results.

E. M. Sargent, Lowell, Mass., says: "Several years ago, my daughter broke out with large sores on her face, neck, and other parts of her body. The case puzzled the doctors. My daughter used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and it resulted in a complete cure. Her blood seems to have been thoroughly purified, as she has never had so much as a pimple since taking this medicine."

"This is to certify that after having been sick for twelve years with kidney disease and general debility, and having been treated by several physicians without relief, I am now better in every respect, and think I am nearly well, having taken seven bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—Maria Ludwigen, Albert Lea, Minn.

PREPARED BY Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

"MERRY CHRISTMAS IN THE AIR."

A Club Man Who Thinks It Costs a Good Deal to Give That Greeting.

Old Marley may or may not be as dead as a doornail, but this is not a Christmas carol. And yet it happens to be about Christmas. There were a lot of young men in various indolent attitudes about the loading room of a Fifth avenue club. They all belonged to a class of young men who frequent the clubs for the reason that they can get there a month and fifteen days' credit for what they eat, drink and smoke, and thus are enabled to live a month and a half ahead of their incomes. The oldest member of the group was reading one of those alleged humorous periodicals which blossom out in the holiday season with fearfully and wonderfully illustrated legends, satirical Christmas stories and pithy maxims of the peace on earth, good will toward men order.

"The man who wrote that was either a chump or a liar," asserted the reader suddenly, throwing down his paper.

"What did he write?" asked a man who was staring at the embers of the open fire.

"Why, the Poor Richard, or King Solomon, or Martin Tupper who runs a column of aphorisms in his blooming paper says:

"It doesn't cost any money to wish people a merry Christmas."

"Now that fellow has never lived in New York in about the social rut along which we are grinding, or if he has he's willfully suppressing the truth. You fellows know as well as I do that it costs money, lots of it, to wish people a merry Christmas. Why, without a moment's reflection any of us could string out a long price list of assorted 'merry Christmas-mases,' to wit:

"Wishing elevator boy at your apartment house merry Christmas, from $2 to $5; wishing hall boy ditto, ditto; wishing washerwoman merry Christmas, from $1 up; wishing elevator boy at your office building ditto, ditto; wishing merry Christmas to your office boy, one extra week's salary; wishing ditto to stenographer, ditto; wishing your waiter at luncheon place merry Christmas, $1; wishing your barber the same, change out of the bill given up for Christmas shave; wishing merry Christmas to hostler who takes care of your horse, $5; ditto to stable foreman, one box cigars, $2.50."

"At every club we enter a Christmas list stares us in the face, and the old doorman and the call boys, the coat check boy and the clerk keep one eye on the list and the other on each entering member until he has added his autograph to the growing collection. If a fellow goes to a law school or medical school, he finds the janitor waiting in the hall on the last night before the Christmas recess with a subscription list tacked up by the door and the gas lighter in his hand as a pointer wherewith to call attention to it. I tell you there's no way for a single man in a big city to beat this Christmas game. Talk about the tariff being a tax; it's nothing alongside of Christmas. Money talks, and it's the only kind of talk that goes in this merry Christmas business.

"Of course a fellow does get a present from a best girl or two occasionally, but he has more than to make it up by return presents direct, or indirectly by flowers, theater tickets, etc. Christmas is a fully one sided. The companies, clients and patients who employ us fellows never wish us a merry Christmas in the New York vernacular."

"No," said the man who was still staring dreamily into the fire; "the only way to get square with the game is to marry, and then your wife will buy your presents and have 'em charged to your account."

And the back log snapped out a shower of sparks in emulation of this brilliant solution of the difficulty.—New York
