THE CAPITAL JOURNAL.

THURSDAY—JAN. 19, 1893.

GILBERT & PATTERSON,

Dealers in Groceries, Crockery, Glassware, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Brushes, Windowglass, Etc. Sole Agents for Epicure Tea and Big Can Baking Powder.

WOOD AND COAL.

It is an acknowledged fact that Geo. D. Goodhue sells more Wood and Coal than all other dealers combined. If you want fuel see him, office 95 State street.

INSANE.—S. S. S. S.

County aged 61 years, whose past history is unknown, was today committed to the asylum, as was also J. P. Baird, of Salem, aged 27 years.

MINISTER ENGAGED.—The First

Presbyterian church of Salem has closed a contract with Rev. A. L. Hutchison, of Nevada, Iowa, by which that gentleman is expected to arrive here and take charge March 1st next. The society believes it has secured an able man.

THAT WOMAN AGAIN.—Not

Langtry, Fay Templeton or Kellogg. None of those kind. A prime noble woman. The authoress of the masterpiece. Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe is entitled to the praise of the entire country. No work ever published, no play ever dramatized, that has taught the lesson as "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Sutton's grand double company of thirty-seven people, with big band and a carload of dogs, donkeys and beautiful Shetland ponies, the largest company ever organized to play "Uncle Tom's Cabin," will surely be here at the opera house Saturday next.

NEW CHURCHES.—Articles of incorporation were filed with the secretary of state as follows: The Sunnyside M. E. church, incorporated by G. W. Hickey, L. G. Reynolds, J. H. Hennes, Fred W. Hanson, G. W. Markee; value of property on hand, $2,500. The Albina saving bank, incorporated by H. S. Rowe, G. H. Stout, F. W. Deitz and A. C. Bush; capital stock, $50,000. The First church of Christ, of Portland, incorporated by S. O. Hershey, Mabel H. Hogue and D. H. Cheney.

MILITARY.—The regiment of Oregon

National Guards stationed at Portland gives a banquet tonight at their armory to members of the legislature. There will also be a drill and inspection.

ADJOURNED.—The legislature has adjourned until Monday at 2 p. m. There are but few bills in the hands of the committees, and this is done to give the committees a chance to visit the state institutions and public works.

POLICE COURT.—Judge Edges

sentenced four vagrants and one drunk this morning. One D. Lovell got 30 days for stealing blankets from the city jail. The frosty weather drives many impecunious persons to seek shelter in the city jail.

CARTER CASE.—R. C. Carter is still in the county jail awaiting the arrival of non-arrival of the Missouri sheriff, who seems to be coming around the horn to Salem. There are numerous inquirers at the sheriff's office.

SPECIAL CAR.—There will be a special car down from Albany this evening, with about twenty-five couples to attend the great Entre Nous ball at Reed's opera house this evening. It will return in the morning.

Major Hodgkin went to Portland

this afternoon to chaperon the numerous members of the legislature who went down to be gone over the adjournment.

Representative Upton's communication for the lady clerks will appear tomorrow.

The governor will probably refer the report on the state board of charities investigation to the joint committee of the legislature on asylum.

A REPORT FILED

By the State Board of Charities and Correction.

Following is a concise summary of the report, of an investigation into certain rumors reflecting upon Dr. Rowland's management of the insane asylum at Salem, made by the asylum committee of the state board of charities.

THE JOURNAL does not in all cases use the language of the board report because it believes to do so would render it liable to an action for libel, as the publication of an alleged crime, or imputed criminal misconduct, founded upon mere rumor, upon investigation found to be unsubstantiated, would render any newspaper liable for so publishing.

THE "CHARGES."

The report states that "the charges publicly made against the management of the asylum were practically—

1st.—(Here are formulated certain rumors charging criminal misconduct and bribery against J. C. Smith, bookkeeper at the asylum.)

Second—Charging criminal misconduct against officers of the asylum.

Third—That men were allowed access to female patients in the night time.

Fourth—That keys were given out too promiscuously.

Fifth—Charging criminal misconduct against a young female employe, conniving at criminal misconduct of persons at the penitentiary.

Sixth—Charging misappropriation of stores and house rent to J. C. Smith.

Seventh—That a male patient had been abused in the asylum.

Eighth—That expenses had been carried over to reduce per capita showing of expenses.

THE FINDINGS.

On first charge: Not sufficient evidence to substantiate the charge.

Second charge—There is absolutely no proof, etc.

Third—True in one instance only. (The case of the painter as already reported in THE JOURNAL.)

Fourth—That keys were too promiscuously given out is true.

Fifth—"That the 5th charge is true."

Sixth—"Untrue."

Seventh—"Does not appear to be sustained by the evidence."

Eighth—"The charge of falsifying the accounts is not sustained."

A MINORITY REPORT.

The following minority report is submitted to the governor by Dr. W. E. Rinehart, one of the members of the board:

"First—As the evidence will prove to you, there is no doubt that a certain man named Hundley (a painter) was found in the room of female patients some two months ago at about 9:30 p. m.; also that said Hundley possessed keys to the female wards and window guards which never ought have been in his possession, at least after he had been ordered off the female wards for suspicious conduct a few days previous.

"Second—It is also shown that a Miss Roblin, a seamstress, who has charge of that department of the asylum (to say the least) acted very imprudently in going with a certain Rowley (a penitentiary guard) to get Mrs. White and conduct her out to the brickyard of the penitentiary at 10:30 p. m. to see Mr. White (her husband and a convict on night duty) for purposes which could be no other than immoral in their nature, as it is shown Mrs. White could visit her husband on any Sunday in daytime, without conflicting with the strict and necessary rules of the penitentiary. Supt. Downing discharged Rowley for his conduct in the affair at once, and Miss Roblin should have been discharged for the same reasons as soon as her conduct was brought to the notice of the superintendent of the asylum; but it is uncertain in my mind just when he first obtained this information against Miss Roblin.

who would commit, or attempt to commit, the awful crime should be chased down and prosecuted to the full extent of the law, regardless of expenses or consequences.

"I will add in conclusion, that I was not aware that any 'seeming' charges of inefficiency had been made in the biennial report of the state board of charities and correction against Superintendent Rowland's management, until the evidence was all taken. In the first place, they should never have been made, as at that time no investigation had been made by any member of our board to my knowledge; and had I known it, I certainly should have insisted on Dr. Rowland's representation at the investigation.

"The printed charges referred to are found on pages 247 and 248 of the biennial report of the state board of charities and corrections."

THE PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

Rev. C. E. Cline, president of the state board also makes a report to the governor, as follows:

"I herewith transmit my individual opinion and action in the matter of the investigation recently held by the state board of charities and corrections, by their committee on asylums, aided by Thomas N. Strong, secretary of the board but not a member of the committee, of certain rumors affecting the management of the state asylum for the insane. I cannot say that I approve all proceedings in said investigation for the following reasons:

"First—Because the management of the asylum was unfortunately prejudiced in the published biennial report of our board before the investigation was held at all. Of this part of the report only the secretary had knowledge.

"Second—While the findings of a majority of our board are, no doubt, under the circumstances, conservative and mild, yet it seems to me, that becoming fairness upon the part of a board like ours, conducting an investigation relative to the administration of a public trust, should have accorded the superintendent the privilege of cross-examining all witnesses on the stand."

"Third—True in one instance only. (The case of the painter as already reported in THE JOURNAL.)

Fourth—That keys were too promiscuously given out is true.

Fifth—"That the 5th charge is true."

Sixth—"Untrue."

Seventh—"Does not appear to be sustained by the evidence."

Eighth—"The charge of falsifying the accounts is not sustained."

STATE HOUSE NOTES.

By the dear people from various portions of the state now assembled in Salem many a curious surmise is set afloat as to what the people of the capital city are secretly working for to absorb the state's revenues.

At the same time the people of Salem manifest a sweet spirit of reciprocity, and inquire, when an outsider appears in the city: "What is he after?"

Senator McGinn created a good deal of merriment yesterday morning during the discussion of a resolution for a committee to visit Soda Springs and ascertain their qualities. Senator Cogswell of Lake, a Democrat, said he didn't see any particular use in that so far as the Democratic members were concerned, but if the waters are a good thing for the members of a committee to taste, why not increase the committee to 30 from the senate and 60 from the house. Senator McGinn immediately exercised his Irish wit by moving that the Republican members be sent to Soda Springs and the Democrats to the Keeley institute in Senator Huston's county.

THE ASYLUM INVESTIGATION.

The report of its findings, in the charges made against the management of the Oregon insane asylum, by the state board of charities, is the talk of the house. It was laid in type-writer on the governor's desk Wednesday afternoon and a constant stream of curious legislators and gossips poured in to scan its purport. The governor upholds the management of Superintendent Rowland and condemns the board of charities as a meddlesome meddling committee, who, he says, are obliged to raise a stink to earn their salaries. There are Democrats who differ with the governor on this and would like to see his appointee condemned, as they recall the fact that Rowland was chosen by State Treasurer Metcahan, a Republican, and Governor Pennoyer, once a Democrat, Secretary of State McBride desiring to retain Supt. Lane's services, at the time the change was made. The report finds none of the criminal charges alleged to be true, but condemns some of the practices. It gives no satisfaction to anyone, and will hasten the abolition of the board, if anything.

WHAT PENNOYER SAYS.

rooming abroad in the land like a wild beast," says Governor Pennoyer. In his message he recommended the abolition of the board, and is now outspoken in his denunciation of their works. He says there ought to be another committee to investigate the work of this board and that it is therefore a useless body.

MR. CLINE'S GRIEVANCE.

The secretary of the board, Mr. Strong, seems to have incurred the displeasure of the governor, although he appointed him, but his election as secretary was due to the proposition of Rev. Cline, of Salem, to have the board elect him secretary at $2000 a year and his daughter clerk. Mr. Cline proposed to resign as pastor at Salem if he could get this office and devote his entire time to the work of the board. Upon this embarrassing proposal being made, the board, to get out of a tight place, elected Mr. Strong who offered to serve free gratis and Mr. Cline was made president. But failing to get his place, he has had a large sized grievance against the rest of the board ever since. The zeal of a servant of the church, to lay aside his ministerial robes of office and cease his service of the Lord for two thousand a year and a clerkship for his daughter, reveals the corrupting influence which politics has upon some of the gentlemen of the cloth.

Amusements.

Charles E. Schilling's minstrels, who appear at the opera house next Friday evening, are very highly spoken of by the press throughout the country. The following is from the Daily Journal, Dayton, Ohio:

Before eight o'clock last evening every seat in the balcony and the gallery of the Grand was sold and nearly the entire floor was taken by the time the curtain rose for the performance given by Chas. E. Schilling's minstrels. The performance was by far the best given by any minstrel company in this city for a long time, and the audience was kept in roars of laughter by the side-splitting jokes of the funny men. As a company of north-provoking comedians the minstrels are a success, and all who witnessed the performance last night were well pleased.

ENTRE NOUS.—This evening the Entre Nous club will give their third party of the series and as it is strictly an invitation affair the committee request all to procure their tickets beforehand and present them at the door. An orchestra of thirteen pieces has been engaged from Portland and will render several lovely selections before the grand march.

Today.

Hood's Sarsaparilla stands at the head in the medicine world, admired in prosperity and envied in merit by thousands of would-be competitors. It has a larger sale than any other medicine. Such success could not be won without positive merit.

Hood's Pills cure constipation by restoring the peristaltic action of the alimentary canal. They are the best family cathartic.

Great Relief

is instantly afforded sufferers from Bronchitis, by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Either as an anodyne, to allay inflammation, or an expectorant, to loosen and bring away the mucus, this preparation has no equal.

"Last winter I contracted a severe cold, which, by repeated exposure, became quite obstinate. I was much troubled with hoarseness and bronchial irritation. After trying various medicines, without relief, I at last purchased a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. On taking this medicine, my cough ceased almost immediately, and I have been well ever since."—Rev. Thomas B. Russell, Tuesday, Holiston Conference and P. E. of the Greenville Dist. M. E. C. Jonesboro, Tenn.

"My mother was sick three years and very low with bronchitis. We feared nothing would cure her. One of my friends told me about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. She tried it, has used eight bottles, and is now well."—T. H. D. Chamberlain, Baltimore, Md.
