A REUNITED CHURCH.

Successful Labors of Rev. R. M. Thompson of Kentucky.

A month ago Rev. R. M. Thompson came to Salem and began a work of the most difficult character—that of consolidating and solidifying the scattered forces of the First Congregational church. We understand that he has practically succeeded in bringing about a reconciliation and close up of the ranks of this powerful society. This is a result in which the public as well as the members of the church are interested. It is but just to say that Mr. Thompson's fine abilities as a pulpit orator and his good tact as a gentleman, but more than all his true Christian spirit was largely instrumental in bringing this about. We understand he will continue to preach here until the building of a new church is well under way and a regular pastor is called. His work here has been truly blessed by restoring a higher degree of harmony and spiritual power in the work of this society.

COMMISSIONER'S INVESTIGATION.

An order has been served on G. W. Colvig, chairman of the railway commission ordering the board to enquire into the cause of the death of Earl Swartz who was run over and killed by a Northern Pacific train at the North Pacific mills in West Portland on December 19th. This case had never come to the notice of the board. The investigation will be held at Portland on Monday next.

THE OSWAGO WRECK.

The board of railroad commissioners on Tuesday and Wednesday took the testimony in the matter of the wrecking of a wood train on Sunday which caused the death of the fireman and a laborer. The testimony was reduced to writing and a finding will be made by the board at its regular meeting in February.

LITERATURE.

Persons who desire information about the workings of the Keeley Institute at Forest Grove for cure of liquor, tobacco and opium habit can obtain a plentiful supply of interesting literature at the W. C. T. U. rooms and Y. M. C. A. association hall. Personal references of those cured can be had in this city.

MILITARY.

It is said in the course of a few days the following military appointments of the governor will be sent to the legislature for confirmation: Gen. Compton, brigadier general commanding O. N. G.; Col. B. W. Mitchell, adjutant-general; Maj. E. H. Perry, assistant adjutant-general; Col. Jeff Myers, aid-de-camp.

THAT HORRIBLE MURDER.

Sheriff Wilson and Ex-Jailer Warren Arrive.

CARTER, FUGITIVE FROM JUSTICE.

To be Returned and Hung—Marshal Minto's Reward.

There began to be considerable anxiety lest the sheriff and jailer who were coming from Lawrence county, Missouri, to take charge of Carter, alias Rose, a fugitive from justice, would never arrive.

The morning overland brought the gentlemen, fully armed and equipped with all the powers of law, to take the murderer back to be hung.

WHO THEY ARE.

J. S. Wilson, county sheriff of Mt. Vernon, Lawrence county, Missouri, and Chas. Warren, ex-jailer of that county reached the city at 5:32 a. m., and were found at the city recorder's office by a JOURNAL writer at an early hour. They had come by way of Sacramento, leaving home last Saturday.

They are both fine-looking men and seem capable of handling their prisoner and landing him safely in custody where he belongs and where a well-merited death sentence awaits him. Sheriff Wilson never saw Carter, but knows all about his crime and knows his brothers there. His deputy, Mr. Warren, bears a memento in shape of a bullet wound through his neck that will enable him to recognize Carter anywhere on this earth.

THE CRIME

for which Carter is wanted, was, according to the official documents in the sheriff's possession, committed February 24, 1885, by Thos. W. Kelton and C. R. Carter near Mt. Vernon, Mo., upon the person of Robert Crockett, by beating his brains out with stones, giving him five lethal wounds on the head, fracturing his skull, in short committing a most horrible Cain-like murder, for which they were indicted by the grand jury then in session, for murder, and upon trial found guilty of that crime in the first degree, May 8, 1887, and sentenced to be hanged July 1, 1887. The supreme court affirmed the death sentence.

HIS ESCAPE

from jail was made in June, 1888, but a few days before he was to be hung, he lying in the county jail for quite a long time while his lawyers fought the case in the highest courts of the state. In some way he secured a revolver, shot the jailer and escaped. Great search was made for him in Missouri and other states. Once the authorities thought they had him in Florida, but a trip to that state failed to identify him. He was never caught until recognized at Salem, and apprehended as he was leaving his home at Mt. Tabor by Chief of Police Minto and Detective Simmons of Portland. It is evident that he was prepared for flight and was captured not a moment too soon. He has played his part well ever since he was put under arrest and it is not certain that Mr. Carter will hang until the trap is sprung, as he is a desperate, cool, wily, nifty, man, up to all the tricks of jail breaking, resisting officers and shedding blood to secure his liberty. No officer's life is worth the snap of his finger if Carter gets a drop on him.

RECOGNIZED.

At 10 o'clock the officers, accompanied by Chief of Police Minto, visited the county jail and Sheriff Knight gave them a square look at Carter. He was easily and immediately recognized by Warren as R. C. Carter, the man who imperiled his life with a pistol shot intended to be fatal. Carter had nothing to say. He maintained his expression of blank astonishment and indifference, as though he were a persecuted individual entirely oblivious of any connection with his only too evident past history. The officers will next wait on the governor, to complete the record and procure their warrant for the person of Carter.

THE CASE

has been fought in the courts of Salem, and there are big bills of costs for the state accumulated. They can be collected out of Carter's property at Mt. Tabor, or out of the treasury of the state of Missouri, sheriff Wilson is armed with a big bundle of papers and a roll of greenbacks to defray all the expenses.

is turned over to the authorities of that state, $100 by the state and $100 by the county.

Carter has given the public officials a great chase from Florida to Oregon, and has only a small loophole for escape left him. He got into very tight quarters when he fell into Marshal Minto's hands, who has never yet lost a man he once fastened onto.

SHERIFF WILSON

was elected on the Democratic ticket in a Republican county last November. He says: "This is my first case of hanging, and I am not keen for it. But I will try to make a good job of it. We expect to be in Salem several days, to get rested up, and I shall not take the prisoner until I am dead certain that my papers are in proper order, so there will be no chance to contest the proceedings in court."

Supt. Rowland Protests.

Superintendent Rowland has written letter addressed to Dr. Carr, chairman of the investigation committee, and a protest to the board itself. In his letter he calls attention to the fact that, though he was personally assured by Dr. Carr that he would have the privilege, by his representative, of seeing the testimony taken at the investigation, of reaching the witnesses for cross-examination, and of introducing such other testimony as he might desire, yet this privilege was denied to him, and as a matter of fact the management of the asylum, pending the examination, was prejudiced, and that the alleged consequent findings in the case were published in advance. As Superintendent Rowland was denied this privilege he asks that his letter be published in the proceedings of the board. The superintendent in his protest says:

"In view of the fact that you have chosen to conduct your investigation in secret session, prosecuted by the aid of an attorney, and without allowing me to be represented, which, allow me to suggest, I believe to be in variance with every rule of jurisprudence, and deprives me of every opportunity of defending myself against unjust charges. I hereby request that you extend to the management of this institution the same privileges which you have assumed to yourselves in this investigation, viz: That after your research is completed, you will allow me the same privileges in my defense you assumed in the prosecution; that is, that you continue in session and consider your report incomplete until I, with the aid of my attorney, appear before you and cross-examine these same witnesses in my own behalf, and that I may introduce such additional testimony as I may desire, that the whole matter may be thoroughly investigated in accordance with the most fair and candid proceedings."

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.

More Street Work Needed—Plenty of Men to do it.

Salem's new council has been busily engaged up to the present time revising its charter preparatory to having it amended by the present legislature. It is generally conceded that under the charter as it now reads it is impossible to do street work and collect pay off the abutting property, hence it is desirable to have it changed at the earliest possible date. Much work is needed in this line, and it is the disposition of the new council to have it done. One strong reason why some public work should be started up at once is that Salem has at present an unusual number of unemployed men. Many of these are laborers who came here the past year to take advantage of the public work being done and are now permanent residents of the city. They have families to support, and as there is no building going on during the winter months these people are hard up and many in need. If some public work could be ordered at once it would prove a blessing to this class of citizens. It will take only a short time to have the charter amended after the council concludes what is wanted, and it is believed that all the points are now settled ready for action. This being the case it would be not only an act of charity but a good stroke of business policy to proceed with some public work at once.
