A Bishop's Funeral.

BOSTON, Jan. 26.—With impressive funeral services of the Episcopal Church, the remains of the late Bishop Phillip Brooks, were today laid to rest in Auburn Cemetery. Over 15,000 people were unable to gain admission to the Church and extra services were held in the First Baptist and New Old South Churches.

Disabled Craft.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—The bark Jenny Harkness, sailing from New York for Portland Oregon, was spoken Jan. 1. She had lost fore and main top masts.

The Washington Contest.

OLYMPIA, Jan. 26.—On the 31st joint ballot Representative Bush, of Chehalis, heretofore for Allen, nominated Chief Justice R. O. Dunbar. Allen, 50; Turner, 25; Griggs, 27; Teats, 9; Dunbar, 1. 32d ballot same.

Arkansas Treasury Scandal.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 25.—Another state treasury sensation came to light when the newly created state debt board, of which Governor Fishback, is president, ordered the state treasurer to hold $3,000 of coupons presented for conversion into bond scrip held as property of state it being evident that the coupons had been stolen from the state treasury. Nearly $50,000 of these coupons are still out, the whole have been stolen at some time from the state treasury.

Cleveland Won't Talk.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—President-Elect Cleveland, who is in the city on law business, declines to give any information regarding his Cabinet, saying it is too early.

Boil the Water.

BERLIN, Jan. 26.—It has been definitely determined that the cholera infection comes from the river Saale. Five workmen who persisted in drinking water from that river were taken down with the genuine Asiatic scourge. The authorities have made it a penal offense to drink Saale river water without first boiling.

The Kansas Dilemma.

TOPEKA, Jan. 26.—The Republicans in joint session this morning decided to appoint a committee to prepare a protest against the seating of John Martin, by the United States senate, and adjourned without date. It was expected to combine on Carroll, Democrat, to send to Washington as against Martin, but this was given up.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 26.—There was little change in the senatorial ballot today. Powers 56; Paddock 41; Majors 11; rest scattering. J. Sterling Morton entered the lists actively today, and established headquarters. The Independents, however, have thrown a wet blanket on his aspirations, by declaring that no Democrat of the Boyd Morton stripe, with no anti-monopoly antecedents, can hope for any assistance from them.

Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The legislative executive and judicial appropriation bill for the fiscal year of '94, reported to the house today makes aggregate the appropriation $21,677,-... or $232,154 less than that for the current fiscal year.

The house committee on post-... today completed the ... appropriation bill for... tion to $83,869,367, an increase of $3,535,081, over the appropriation for the current year.

New Warships.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—In the senate the committee on naval affairs reported an amendment to the naval appropriation bill authorizing a contract for the construction of one battleship of 9,000 tons, two armored coast-defense vessels, ten gunboats of 800 to 1,000 tons, and eight first-class torpedo boats. The report was referred to the committee on appropriations. It fixes no limit of costs, but appropriates $37,-000,000 toward the construction of vessels.

Allen's Reply.

OLYMPIA, Jan. 26.—Senator John B. Allen publishes an open letter in reply to Judge Turner's reference to the act of corporations in the contest. Senator Allen says: "Whether the agents of the railroad companies are friendly or hostile to a candidate for senate is not the question, as Judge Turner by ingenious statements will lead people to believe, but it is vital for the Republicans to learn whether a majority of the Republican party shall be permitted to control in selecting United States senators, or whether it shall surrender that trust to a small minority upon a specious plea. Thirty-eight constitute a majority of the Republican members of our legislature. In caucus, 45 indorsed me as the party's candidate. In joint sessions of the two houses, 51 Republicans, as against 24 Republicans, have each day for a week and through a score or more of ballots, named me for senator. Republicans stand responsible to this state and the country for the selection of a United States senator. If responsible, there must be some method by which that responsibility is to be met. There is no other than by majority action. Within the caucus, which is a council of the Republican party, the minority should be fully heard, and if able to convince or persuade a sufficient number of the correctness of their views, they become the majority and should control, but, if unable, they shall acquiesce with the greater number and make the party rule practicable.

The Broken Bank.

MCMINNVILLE, Or., Jan. 26.—On receipt of the news of the failure of the Gervais bank, the Sheridan branch of the United States Banking company closed its doors and refused to pay checks. L. H. Reeves, secretary of the corporation, was here to consult attorneys. Telegrams were shown from the president of the corporation, now at Kansas City on his way to Oregon. If he does not arrive in a week or ten days local officers will make an assignment and depositors will be paid pro rata. It is learned that there are from $3,000 to $5,000 in the bank at Sheridan and nearly enough securities to meet the amount of deposits, estimated at $20,000. The affair is talked about everywhere in financial circles, and there seems to be confidence in Reeves. No doubt the concern has been trying to do a banking business on money of depositors. Good financiers here say a bank examiner is needed.

No Annexation Desired.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—In an interview Mr. Charles Tupper, Canadian minister of marine and fisheries who is on his way to France to attend the Behring sea arbitration conference, said he did not think there was much of a sentiment among the masses of the Canadians in favor of annexation with the United States. It was a subject which was discussed by a few public men only, and could not be said to enter very largely into the thoughts of the masses. There were but three men of prominence in the Dominion, Mr. Tupper declared, who openly advocated annexation. One was a former official named Meyers, who had been retired from office in part as a consequence of his views as an annexationist; another was an editor named Farrar, who had been outspoken in the columns of his paper, but who had not many converts; and the third was Professor Goldwin Smith. "Whatever influence Smith might have as a scholar, and however much his learning might be respected, he had no strength as a leader in politics," Mr. Tupper said, "and could not control any votes if he were to become a candidate for any office."

A Wreck.

EUREKA, Cal., Jan. 26.—At eleven o'clock this morning a tug passed Humboldt Bar, going south, with the wreck of a vessel in tow, probably the schooner Courser, which ...

REPORT OF COMMITTEES

On elections: H. C. R. No. 9, reference of election of U. S. Senators to vote of people, that it pass; minority report that president and vice president also be so elected. Ford moved adoption of minority report.

Northup moved that amendment to strike words "president and vice president" be adopted. Carried.

Northrup moved adoption of majority report relating to senators being elected by direct vote of the people. Yeas 58; nays 1.

On question of electing president and vice president in same manner Miller spoke for the resolution. Wilkinson also made a stirring speech for it. Bishop upheld the ancient custom. Brown, of Morrow, eloquently defended the electoral system and argued for one great change at a time. King showed that there was inconsistency in trying to have senators elected in a different manner from presidents. Upton showed that the present system was at the root of all corrupt political influences that were oppressing the people. Geer argued against such election by the people, as it was in the interest of the newer and smaller states to retain the electoral system.

Durham moved the previous question. Lost.

Ford argued that one man's vote should count just as much as another's. The president was now elected by a small element in one or two states, one of which was carried by Tammany and fraud every time. Frauds had been attempted in the election of Hayes, Garfield and Cleveland. In some cases they were successful under the present system.

Jeffreys said the idea of the constitution that electors were to exercise an independent individual judgment, had passed away, and electors now recorded party edicts of states.

Ormsby spoke for the Springer bill, which divided the electoral vote in proportion to the total vote cast by each party in each state. Ayes 24, noes 35. Lost.

Preventing Future Misery.

If there is, in this vale of tears, a more prolific source of misery than the rheumatic twinge, we have yet to hear of it. People born with a tendency to rheumatism just as they are with one to consumption or to scrofula. Slight causes may develop this. As soon as the agonizing complaint manifests itself, recourse should be had to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which checks its further inroads and banishes the rheumatic poison from the system. This statement tallies exactly with the testimony of physicians who have employed this fine blood depurent in their private practice. There is also the amplest professional and general testimony as to the efficacy of the Bitters for malaria, liver complaint, constipation, indigestion, kidney trouble, nervousness, and loss of appetite and flesh. After a wetting, whether followed by a cold or not, the Bitters is useful as a preventive of the initial attack of rheumatism.

Harper's Bazar is a journal for the home. It gives the fullest and latest information about fashions, and its numerous illustrations, Paris designs, and pattern-sheet supplements are indispensable alike to the home dress-maker and the professional modiste. No expense is spared to make its artistic attractiveness of the highest order. Its bright stories, amusing comedies, and thoughtful essays satisfy all tastes, and its last page is famous as a budget of wit and humor. In its weekly issues everything is included which is of interest to women. The serials for 1893 will be written by Walter Besant and Edna Lyall. Christine Terhune Herrick will furnish a practical series, entitled "At the Toilet." Grace King, Olive Thorne Miller, and Candace Wheeler will be frequent contributors.
