AT THE OPERA HOUSE.—Tomorrow evening Cordray's complete dramatic company will present the famous comedy entitled "Humbug" which was written by the late Fred Marsden, who was one of America's brightest dramatic authors. "Humbug" is of the best comedies ever written, and is the play in which Ro'and Reed became famous. The situations are extremely ludicrous, perplexing and embarrassing at times, especially to the young man who has won a wife under false pretenses. The Cordray company is fully capable of producing this excellent comedy in faultless style and bringing out all the salient points. Miss Lieo, the leading lady, in this comedy will have an opportunity of displaying some of her beautiful dresses.

A NOTICEABLE FACT.—It is a fact that has been noticed several times, that whenever there is a good prospect of the Oregon Pacific doing something the Oregonian particularily tnrows cold water on the Yaquina harbor. Just now the outlook is good and such an occurrence is noticed. The Oregonian says a civil engineer has investigated the matter and reports that it would cost $30,000 000 to make a 25 foot channel at Yaquina. There is almost such a channel now, and the report is probably not true in any respect. In all probability it is manufactured for the occasion, in view of the present investigation taking place. The statement is a ridiculous one. It is undoubtedly true that Portland fights this improvement secretly in every manner possible.—Albany Democrat.

TRADE MARK CASE.—Judge Thayer, of the U. S. circuit court at St. Louis, recently granted a perpetual injunction, and reference to a master to assess the damages sussained by the plaintiff, in a suit against Joseph Tegethoff, instituted by the Hostetter company of Pittsburg. Defendant Tegethoff is restrained from making or selling imitation Hostetter Stomach Bitters in any manner whatever; either in bu k, by the gallon, or by refilling emp'y Hostetter bottles; and from the use of the word "Hostetter,, in connection with any article of stomach bitters, thus protecting the plaintiff in the exclusive use of the word "Hostetter" as a "tradename."

RELIGION.—An exchange remarks that the people who need more religion are: The man who lets his horse stand all day in the rain without a blanket; the man who growls like a beast with a sore head when his wife asks him for money; the woman who whispers it around that some other woman is not what she ought to be; the preacher who is always looking for an easier place at a higher salary; the man who walks the streets with his hands in his his pockets while his wife carries the baby; the man whose neighbors have an idea he is a Christian; the preacher whose sermons never help anybody, and the man who keeps a dog and says he can't afford to take his home paper.

MORE SNOW.—Oregon seems to be getting the tail end of the cold wave that has swept over Europe and the Eastern states. For several days light snow has fallen, in all some six inches, but there has been no freezing. Still there is a heavy south wind and some suffering is caused to stock. Every family should put out a little food for the birds as they are not accustomed to any great deal of snow.

SUPERIOR GOODS.—In this issue of THE JOURNAL appear the handsome advertisements of Baskett & Van Slyps for Dr. Gunn's "Onion

VISITORS.—Messrs. J. C. Smith, J. H. Ross, Lot Pearce, Wm. Warner, Geo. Shield, P. J. Larsen and J. R. Davis of Salem and Pacific lodges went to Jefferson Saturday evening to assist the Masonic lodge there in degree work with new members. The ladies appeared about midnight with refreshments and a splendid time was had.

NEW SHOP.—A. D. Palmer has has opened a fine meat market in the Cottle block, where he will be pleased to see all his old friends. Only the best meats will be kept, and the best service will be given. Everything about the place is new, guaranteeing cleanliness, and prices will always be as low as the lowest.

AT HIS OLD STAND.—Chas. Wolz has bought back into the old German Meat Market, on south Commercial street. He has it all painted up, fresh, neat and clean, keeps a fine stock, and is the prince of sausage makers at Salem.

THREE MORE INSANE.—There have been received at the State Insane Asylum since Saturday, the following: Wong Ham, Portland, of violent temper; Maggie Miller, housewife, Portland, indulges in maniacal ravings; Mrs. Belle Warner, of Newberg, has convulsive attacks, laughs, cries and grows violent at times.

THE NEWS.—The evening papers of the Willamette valley are getting in the lead in popular estimation. The morning papers seem to think people will read them because they are morning papers, whether they contain any news or not. The evening papers know they will not be read unless they rustle up all the news of the day, and they go ahead and get it. Therefore they are read.

NOTES FROM STATE HOUSE

There are 331 bills introduced in the house, of which 18 have passed the house, four of these are through the senate. There are 186 bills introduced in the senate of which 7 have passed the senate, three of these are through the house. House bill No. 306, the omnibus road bill with the governor's veto thereto is the special order of the house at 2 p. m. There are over a hundred bills not printed in the state printer's hands. Members will introduce bills and bills with no idea of having them passed. It is likely now that there will be bills left unprinted when the assembly adjourns, as there are still several hundred that will be introduced, and all their constituents are not yet heard from.

* * *

Mr. Ford has prepared a general incorporation act for all the cities and towns of Oregon. It is calculated to do away with the biennial nuisance of passing charter bills for every crossroads village. This bill would save thousands of dollars in expense of legislation. It will be introduced soon.

* * *

Speaker Keady says the jute mill bill will pass the house.

* * *

Geo. W. McBride is very poorly this morning, and there are serious apprehensions for his welfare. There is constant inquiry and much regret expressed at his illness.

* * *

The senate is at second reading of bills and will hardly get to the third. There is nothing pending except the routine business.

* * *

A grave doubt is arising in the mind of the average taxpayer of the state paying out large sums of money for state schools which 83 per cent. of the people do not get to attend.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

J. P. Galbraith, of Albany, is in the city.

Both branches of the legislature met at 2 p. m.

Miss Maud Parr leaves in a few days to resume her musical studies in New York.

Plain J. Smith has been elected senator from New Jersey, over ex-Governor Abbett.

Do not forget the solos, dialogues, the recitations and the Athletic exercises at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, Tuesday night.

Chas. Calvert spent Sunday with his brother, John Calvert, at Gervais, who is quite sick. He was a trifle better this morning.

The newest thing in fancy stools at Keller & Marsh's.

Captain J. A. Olsson, of Newport, is in the city for a few days.

The New York Sun says Mrs. Simmons, of Sodaville, Oregon, is over 100 years old and draws a pension from the 1812 war fund.

Hear the Indian boys next Tuesday night at the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

The railroad commissioners have the power to reduce railroad rates. The supreme court says so. The fact is a very important one.—Albany Democrat.

The electric cars had considerable to contend with in the late snow storm. The Capital City boys invented a snow plow which cleared the tracks in good style.

Inquiry is made at the county clerk's office for the Silverton Land, Loan and Investment Co. It is not on record at the court house.

The county clerk is sending out descriptions of the road districts by metes and bonds to the supervisors recently appointed.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, and expels all poisonous elements. Sold by druggists.

Mrs. McDowell is to sing next Tuesday evening. She is Salem's sweetest singer. Be sure and hear her.

President Bloss, of the agricultural college, is in the city looking after the interests of his institution before the legislature.

Father J. S. White was a passenger for Portland on the afternoon train.

Mrs. Leslie will sing a contralto solo for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night. Hear her, she possesses a fine voice, well cultivated.

W. E. Anderson was jailed for being a vag. Samuel Eugel got into the same place for the same kind of business, or lack of business.

There will be no council meeting this week, as tomorrow night is the 5th Tuesday in the month.

A street car conductor found a lady's pocketbook yesterday containing over $10 and handed it back to her. That man is nearly a hero these hard times.

It is a fact worth knowing that, as a household remedy, for children and adults, Ayer's Pills are invaluable.

Fresh strawberries at Sroat & Gile.

Musical program and refreshments at G. A. R. hall to members of the post and relief corps.

For wedding and birthday remembrances see Keller & Marsh's large stock.

Be sure and see the boys in their gymnastics next Tuesday, 31st.

Immigrants are said to be waylaid on their way to this valley by confidence sharks of all kinds, possessing unlimited gall. Portland is the worst city on the way, and is cursed by some deep dyed rascals of this order. One villain recently followed a family clear to Corvallis, getting money on different pretexts.—Albany Democrat.

Nervous Prostration,

So prevalent, especially among women, results from overtaxing the system. The assimilative organs becoming deranged, the blood grows weak and impoverished, and hence "that tired feeling" of which many complain. For all such cases, there is no remedy equal to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Take no other.

"Some time ago I found my system entirely run down. I had a feeling of constant fatigue and languor and very little ambition for any kind of effort. A friend advised me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I did with the best results. It has done me more good than all other medicines I have ever used."—Frank Mellows, Chelsea, Mass.

"For months I was afflicted with nervous prostration, weakness, languor, general debility, and mental depression. By purifying the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I was completely cured."—Mrs. Mary Stevens, Lowell, Mass.

M. Renan's Sister.

Mlle. Renan was studious and educated herself well enough to gain a governess' diploma. She plunged into the German literature of the time and found that her old orthodox beliefs were vanishing. Her mental experiences were communicated in long letters to Ernest. They were of course opened by the superior of St. Sulpice's. It was noticed that the young abbe was bitten by his sister's doubts. He never had a strong vocation for the priesthood, which made the matter graver. All the discipline was directed for some time to undo the effect of the letters. Renan mentally revolted against the war that was covertly made against his sister. His distress became terrible and he took counsel of her. She wrote to him to follow his inner monitor, and she sent him forty pounds to go on with should he leave the school without being priested. He left. The sister next wrote to him to meet her in Germany. The trip was a joyous one, and, he used to say, bore succulent fruit.

On his return to Paris he took a situation as usher in a school. Mlle. Renan had higher views for him, and exhorted him to study hard. To help him she gave up her situation, and with all her earnings in hand came back to provide him with a humble home, in which she was mistress, servant and professor of literature. Her literary tutelage was exerted "to give wings to his style and to purge it of pedantry." She rewrote and recast all his themes and articles for Le Debats, and when he was in the Holy Land she suggested those sketchy pictures of the spots where Jesus drew crowds around him, and touched them up. She gave her brother the means to marry, and was to have lived with him and his wife, who was worthy of sharing his greatness, she being a rock of sense—kindly, sweet tempered, intellectual and sincere in all things.—Mrs. Crawford in London Illustrated News.

A Seal Found on Fontenoy Field.

Our Windsor correspondent informs us that Captain Grade, of the Belgian army, when walking after a heavy shower over the battlefield of Fontenoy, discovered a small seal on which the effigy of the Duke of Cumberland was engraved. Captain Grade had the relic placed in a case and sent to the Belgian consul general in London, in order that it might be offered to the queen, who has accepted the interesting gift. The battle was fought in 1745, and the seal had consequently been hidden in the ground for nearly 150 years.—London News.

Lacking in Enterprise.

The city editor sat at his desk gloomily, and it was near midnight.

"Well," he exclaimed petulantly to the reporters in front of him, "haven't any of you got any copy?"

Nobody had.

"Isn't there anything at all occurring in town?" he asked.

"No, sir," replied the head reporter. "Everything is dead dull."

"Of course it is: of course, of course," growled the city editor, "and no wonder. Every man of you has a loaded revolver in his desk that hasn't been fired at anybody for four weeks, and still you claim to be efficient newspaper men. You fellows have got too much education and not enough enterprise, and unless something occurs in the next ten days I'll dis-
