IN THE OPINION OF MR. JONES.

I regret to see that one of the first things our present administration has done, has been to strike a blow at the animal industry. Cattle raising has become such a popular avocation that hundreds of politicians of all parties have given up all other business and have become inspired with its importance. Most of them have been more interested in raising salaries out of the government than in cattle raising. It is sad to see this infant industry destroyed by the mailed hand of a big usurper like Cleveland. He has no heart for the people who have earnestly labored to make our cattle industry a source of revenue. Men who have never been taught how to wean a calf from its early passion for the bovine breast were directing the cattle industries of a whole commonwealth of steers, and turning out tons of government reports on what to do with our great American dairy interests. One hundred and sixty eight of these useful persons have been thrown out of the animal bureau in one week by the new secretary of agriculture and their salaries cut off. But that is not the worst. I am something of a farmer. I write resolutions for discussion at our meetings while my wife does the churning. It galls me to see a plutocrat in the white house turn out those people who were consumers in Washington boarding houses of butter, milk and beef, the products of our industry. Cleveland is no friend of the farmer if he goes on in this way crippling the great art of agriculture.

There is a great deal of fine science about this animal industry. It is down so fine that experts in the microscopic department were paid ten dollars a day for looking into a glass not over ten times and that in front of a beer counter. A friend of mine in Eastern Oregon was a special representative in the sheep department and his scientific knowledge of the fine qualities of lambs was so great that he never came in contact with the great staple of the Inland Empire except when he was called to Portland Sundays to stroke the silky ringlets of his best girl. I am opposed to pensions for anyone except ex-presidents, presidential widows and the United States supreme judges. I am also in favor of giving Miss Maria Halpin some relief. The above are as a rule poor and deserving people. Our presidents are only getting $50,000 a piece for their job, and a few hundred dollars a week for groceries and washing. I am pleased to see that the issuing of at least fifty new pensions at $8 to $10 a month was stopped early in Mr. Cleveland's superb reign. It was done in this way: All business at the government pension building was suspended for eight days, to arrange for the inaugural ball. In that time the full force would have ground out pensions to amount to at least $4000 a year for several years. It is true, all the hands in the pension office had to be paid $24,000 for those eight days in preparing for and cleaning up after the swell dance for the big-necked president and cabinet and the low-necked women. The inauguration ball always costs in the neighborhood of a hundred thousand dollars. But I am glad to see something done in cutting down pension extravagance, if it is a little expensive to bring it about. Cleveland has made a brilliant start in the right direction and I hope he will keep right ahead until he succeeds in confining pensions to the worthy and deserving cases which I have mentioned.

I see we are in for a new Republican party. There is to be a national convention of Republican clubs, that is to do the job and give this country what it badly needs, a brand, spanking, new G. O. P. There are to be new soles, new heels, new uppers, and bright new red tops to the new pair of boots that the millions are to put on and tramp to the polls in November 1896. The farmers are even expected to put on this new article of foot wear and restore us to power. This convention is to be largely made up of the young men who served their country under Grant after he had suppressed the rebellion, and who gallantly held on under Hayes, Garfield and Arthur. They took a rest when Cleveland went in but were immediately to their country's rescue, right at the front at Washington, when Harrison took the oath of office. They were inaugurated with him. And not many of their relatives were spared who were old enough to take the oath of office. And they all stood gallantly by the ship until, keel upwards and its masts and rigging gone, it was dragged into port after the hurricane of last November.

These shipwrecked sailors display noble heroism in offering to give the country a new G. O. P. Will the country receive the maiden effort of these coy political neophytes? They are so fresh, so new, so like the daisy bursting from the sod in the innocence of virgin purity, that the down-trodden masses groaning under corruption and seeking something fresh and new in the way of a political party will rush to their arms in a mighty whirlwind of adoration and put them all back into office—in a pig's eye. GEORGE WASHINGTON JONES.

OUR ESTIMATES OF CITY REVENUES.

Several persons have found fault with THE JOURNAL'S estimate by which a ten mill levy for city purposes on a valuation of two and a half million dollars is made to yield $250,000. Some of the banks want to hire us to figure interest for them. They say it will only yield $25,000. The way everything else is figured out, our figures should be correct. Whatever is undertaken by the city turns out just that way and the revenues should be estimated accordingly. For instance, the city's share of last year's street improvements was to be $5000. They will be nearly $100,000 by the time the cases are through the courts. The new city hall was to cost $20,000. The plans now talked of run up to $50,000 and $60,000, who who doubts they may not reach $100,000? THE JOURNAL'S figuring may not be mathematically correct, but the rules of mathematics do not seem to govern in our city affairs. We only estimated the income in a way to cover the possible outlay.

FROM AUMSVILLE.

Our school closed this week, its term of six months.

Miss Dull and Mrs. D. W. Smith are on the invalid corps this week.

Miss Myrtle Dove who has been attending our fine school this winter, returned to her home at Whiteaker.

George Mills, our esteemed ticket agent, feels very lonesome this week with no very bright prospect ahead, until the fall term of school opens.

The Christian church started out with a brand new shepherd, and if the old saying is true, that a "new broom sweeps clean," he will gather us all into the fold.

Dr. Klass is removing his barn to the back end of his lot. It is understood that Mr. C. Hines is in partnership with him, and the barn will be used jointly, by the doctor to shelter his cow, and by Mr. Hines to shelter his home from the west wind.

La Grippe spoken of by your correspondent, has found its way to this place. Its first stop was at the residence of Frank Pound, and it pounded his oldest son in a cruel manner. It attacked Mr. Raynard, one of the healthiest, strongest and toughest men of this place. But Oh my! what a sight it made of him. He had not been so badly used in all his life.

The Best System of Fortification is that adopted by people in precarious health who wisely fortify their systems against disease with that acceptable and effective barrier against its intrusions—Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Precautionary measures, when the health is but slightly impaired, as physicians well know, worth any amount of medication afterward. A preliminary use of this Bitters, chronic constipation, rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble and liver complaint, nervous invalids, persons troubled with the infirmities incident to advanced years, ladies in delicate health and convalescents derive infinite benefit from the Bitters.

THE OLD FOLK'S VISIT.

BY AN ORIGIN IN NOV.

[The following pastoral poem was written by an Oregon courtier, who no accident the subject by conversing with a relative who had just returned from a visit to the state of her birth.]

So we're goin' to cross the plains agate? Dear me how odd it seems To go back East on a sweepin' train, Without our old ox teams; Why Jane, the idea is so strange, It must be just a dream. They say 'twill only take four days, But how can that be so? I'm sure we were as many months, Some forty years ago; But everything has changed so much, An' ox teams were as slow, Yes, it is more than forty years ago, Since we left Illinois, And started for old Oregon, John was our baby boy, A round-faced baby, two year old, Our pride, our life an' joy. An' now John's grown up, dear me, just think! An' how he'll oppose that they, Our kin-folk back in Illinois, Would believe that John is gray, An' has a little gran'son, Just born the other day? Yes, it was in forty-nine, That we packed up to come So far out in the Western clime To make a little home, An' how we worked to clear the farm, Just you an' I alone, Wonder what the folks will say, When they see us walk so slow; When they see our wrinkled faces, An' our gray heads bendin' low; An' if they'll ask for "baby John," As forty year ago? Law now, won't they be surprised, When we tell 'em all the news, About John an' his farm an' stock An' how he's well to do, All 'bout his seven children, An' his little gran son too? An' then they'll ask 'bout Oregon, 'Bout the "big red apples," An' 'bout the "fruit an' grain;" An' other folks an' grain; If there's hands or hostile Indians Like once were on the plain? They'll ask us 'bout our orchards, An' 'bout our garden too; If we raise plenty garden stuff, To last the winter through, An' what on earth, in Oregon, In rainy times we do? Have we any railroads a runnin' Through the state, An' are there any steamboats On the rivers or the lakes, Or is that country yet too new To go to such a rate? Do we have good farmin' lands, Will the soil produce, An' do we raise enough "out there," To last us for home use, An' could we find our stock again, If we should turn 'em loose? About the Willamette Valley, They'll ask us o'er and o'er; Is it what it's said to be, "The finest out o' door," An' is the land all taken, Or could one find some more? They'll want to know about our schools; How far the children go; If it always rains "out there," Or does it ever snow? An' about a hundred other things, I s'pose they'll want to know.

But we're goin' to cross the plains agate, Dear me, how odd it seems, To go back East on a sweepin' train, Without our old ox teams; Why Jane, the idea is so strange, It must be just a dream.

Well, Jane, we'll tell 'em 'bout our state, "Way out in the West," How, of all the forty-four, We think it is the best, An' that, right here, we're satisfied, Our lives to spend the rest. We'll tell 'em 'bout the splendid farms, That spread out o'er the state, An' how we take the premium, When it comes to raisin' wheat; An' as for fruit an' veg'ables, We never have been beat. We'll tell 'em 'bout the valley, Jane, An' we'll not tell 'em wrong; That it's more than forty miles in breadth, An' most two hundred long; An' has a population, Two hundred thousand strong. An' then about the rivers, They'll be surprised I know; When we tell 'em 'bout the steamboats, A runnin' to an' fro, An' that in the broad Willamette, Twenty others flow. An' half a thousand smaller streams That flow in brooklets clear, Across the farms an' fruitful drink For stock 'thout the year, An' make the power for many mills That are a runnin' here. We'll mention railroads, towns an' lan's, The schools an' churches too; For they'd be glad to hear it all, To them it will be new; We'll tell the naked truth, Jane, An' talk 'till we get thro'. An' when we've told it all, When they've heard our story through, When we start back to Oregon, They'll want to come 'long too; But whether or not we bring 'em Jane, I'll leave it all to you.

So we've crossed the plains agate, Dear me, how odd it seems, That we've been back to Illinois, On such a sweepin' train, Why Jane, the whole thing is so strange, It seems just like a dream. I'm glad that we've got home once more, Back on our good old farm; An' yet we made the trip so quick, Without the least o' harm; But now we'll always live at home, By our fire-side snug and warm. I guess they've changed their minds some, 'Bout the country "way out there," They see, of wealth and enterprise, Oregon has her share, An' if they could only "get away," I'm sure they'd soon be here. But, Jane, we've had a pleasant time, In the country of our birth, We feel the life did us good, An' we've got our money's worth; But now in Oregon we'll live As long as we stay on earth.

Dear with, it's now been just ten year, Since we visited Illinois, An' fifty year we've been allow'd,

HOOD'S CURES

Consumption, Hopeless Case. Bad Cough, Short Breath, Pain in the Side. Restored to Perfect Health by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"For the comfort and health of the human family I write unsolicited to tell of the wonderful benefit Hood's Sarsaparilla has done me and how highly I prize it. I was in very poor health for four years, having a terrible pain and swelling in my left side, one physician pronounced my affliction neuralgia. I kept getting worse. Another doctor treated me for Consumption. I became very weak and poor in flesh; had a cough all the time, and sometimes I could not lie down for I was so distressed, short of breath. I consulted seven physicians, and the conclusion was that I certainly had consumption and My Case Was Hopeless. One physician advised me to go either south or to Colorado, as I could not live in the north. My husband was in the drug business and sold me to go away, but a friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. I did give it a trial, and found so much virtue in it that I continued with it. I cannot tell how much this medicine has helped me. I have improved rapidly in health ever since I began with it, and am now able to do my own work. Nothing I have ever taken equals Hood's Sarsaparilla. I feel like a new person." Mrs. F. O. Stone, Geneva, Ohio. Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and efficiently, and the liver and bowels.
