JUDGE M. P. DEADY DIES.

Another Eminent Oregonian Passes Away—Blacksmith, Teacher and Lawyer.

PORTLAND, Or., March 24.—The Honorable United States Judge, M. P. Deady, died at 7:45 this morning. His death was painless, and the judge retained his consciousness to the last. Death was due to general breaking down of his system, brought on by spinal trouble and Bright's disease. All the family were present at the deathbed, except the youngest son who is in the East.

JUDGE DEADY'S BIOGRAPHY.

Judge Deady was born near Easton, in Talbot county, Maryland, on May 12, 1824. In 1837 young Deady removed to Ohio with his father, and spent some years on a farm. He left the farm in 1841 and went to Barnesville, where for four years he wrought at the anvil, and attended Barnesville academy, working as well at the forge of thought as that of matter. Supporting himself by teaching school, he began the study of law in 1845 with William Kennon, of St. Clairsville, O. In October, 1847, he was admitted to the supreme court of the state and commenced practice in St. Clairsville.

He crossed the plains to Oregon in 1849. Here he supported himself during the winter by teaching, and in the spring of 1850 commenced the practice of his profession, and soon became a man of mark in the community. In June, 1850, he was chosen to the lower house of the territorial legislature from Yamhill county. In 1851, after a severe contest, he was chosen a member of the territorial council from Yamhill county over David Logan, and served as chairman of the judiciary committee of that body in the session of 1851-2, and as presiding officer during the special session of July, 1852, and the regular one of 1852-3.

BECAME ASSOCIATE JUSTICE.

He was strongly urged in the spring of 1853 as a candidate for delegate to congress, but he received and accepted the appointment of associate justice of the supreme court of the territory, which he held until February 4, 1859. He was a member of the constitutional convention which framed the constitution of the state. After the admission, Judge Deady was appointed judge of the United States circuit court of the state. In 1860 he removed to Portland, where he ever since has made his home.

In 1861-2 he prepared and reported to the legislature of 1862 the present code of civil procedure. It was adopted, with two small amendments, and, with slight alterations, has constituted the code of civil procedure for Oregon. At the request of the legislature of 1862 he also prepared and reported to the legislature of 1864 a code of criminal procedure, including the definition of crimes and their punishments, which was passed at that session without amendment. Judge Deady has been on the federal bench for years, surpassing in length of service Judge Hon. R. P. Boise, of Salem, who since his death succeeded to that honor.

QUEER CASE OF SUICIDE.

Soldier Who Was to Wed a Girl in Indiana.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 24.—The biggest sort of a surprise developed at the inquest of Ed L. Jones, one of the soldiers buried at Fort Russell Sunday afternoon as the result of some lively shooting some 24 hours before. Jones, who was a prisoner waiting trial by general court-martial, killed Herman Unger and ran to the hills. He was followed by half a score of a military and civil posse. Two soldiers overtook him. He turned on them with his pistol. One of the pursuers fired twice with a rifle and Jones dropped dead. One wound tore away most of his upper jaw, the other was over the right ear and made a very small hole. A post-mortem examination shows that the bullet which entered above the ear and made the fatal wound was from Jones' pistol. The two soldiers testified that the man fired after he was down. They were 300 yards away and could not see distinctly. The verdict of the jury was that Jones came to his death by his own hand. In his effects today the officers found a "death list," in which he detailed fancied indignities and wrote: "I will kill Colonel Poland (the commandant), Captain Rogers and Captain Bennett." Several knives and pistols and a number of stolen articles were found in his chest. Unger, who was killed by Jones, had $500 in money in his box and letters showing that on discharge he was to wed a girl in Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 24.—At

VICKSBURG, Miss., March 24.—Additional cyclone news say the storm spent force between Tunica and Shaw Station which are about 70 miles apart. At Shaw's some stores were blown down and a few citizens wounded. It will be a day or two before full extent of the disaster in the delta is known.

AN OREGON LEAGUE.

OREGON CITY, March 24.—A meeting was held here having for its object the organization of an amateur baseball association. In addition to a large number of the leading business men of the city, there were present parties from Portland, among whom was Mr. Hammond, who is to be the manager of the Portland club. The plan embraces a league to include Oregon City, Portland, Astoria and Salem. The Oregon City club has perfected an organization by election of officers as follows: J. W. O'Connell, president; I. Ackerman, secretary and treasurer, and C. W. Kelley, manager. A good degree of interest is already manifested in the organization and the sport upon the diamond promises to be good. There will be another meeting in Portland next week which will be attended by the officers of the several towns joining in the league, when the clubs will be agreed upon and arrangements made for the season's sport.

Wholesale Elopement.

ST. LOUIS, March 24.—Henry S. Barnes, accompanied by Minnie Coleman and her sister Dixie, aged 17 and 19, daughters of James W. Coleman, of Anna, Ill., sergeant-at-arms of the state senate, arrived here last night. They were arrested on suspicion, and after a time broke down and confessed that they had eloped, together with five other girls and six young men, with the intention of going to Chicago and getting married in a bunch. It is not known where the rest of the party are, but they are supposed to be part in Murphysboro, Ill., and Chicago. The only reason given for the elopement was that things were not pleasant at home.

The Standard Oil Monopoly.

NEW YORK, March 23.—Shippers and brokers are in trouble because the Standard Oil company refuses to sell them oil or quote prices to them. The brokers have orders from abroad, but cannot fill them. COURT OF ARBITRATION.

To Settle Differences With Great Britain—Chilian Boundary Controversy.

PARIS, March 24.—The court of arbitration to adjust the differences between Great Britain and the United States over the Bering sea fisheries met yesterday. All the members of the court were present. Develle, the French minister of foreign affairs, made a short speech welcoming the members of the court, agents and counsel. The meeting was purely formal. Credentials were presented and the court was organized by the election of Baron de Courcelles as president. It was decided to meet at 11:30 A. M. each day and sit 4 1/2 hours daily. The meetings were to be open to members of the press, to whom cards should be issued. The court then adjourned until April 4th, in order to examine the printed arguments of the United States and Great Britain, which will then be presented. These printed arguments are to be submitted to the American congress and the British parliament probably next week, and then made public. The debates of the court of arbitration will be held in English, and the journal of proceedings will be kept in French with an English version. All the members of the court today made general formal visits to President Carnot; Hon. L. J. Coullidge, American minister; and the Marquis of Dufferin.

CHILIAN BOUNDARY.

VALPARAISO, March 24.—A correspondent in Ortigas denies the story that General Tavearez, leader of the revolution in Rio Grande do Sul, was chased into Uruguay and then disarmed. The correspondent telegraphs that Tavearez and a large body of revolutionist troops are hurrying toward Bage, and he expresses the opinion that the last stand will be made there. He believes that the battle to be fought there will settle the fate of the revolution.

No decision has been reached by the government of Argentina in regard to the treaty with Chile on the boundary question. The correspondent in Buenos Ayres says the government is awaiting a fuller explanation from Commissioner Virazoo.

A meeting, attended by the president, vice president, members of the cabinet, and Messrs. Roca, Mitre and Pellegrini, was held today, at which the sentiments expressed were favorable to the treaty, and it will probably be ratified. It is hinted, however, that congress may review the government's action.

Professor Schaeberle, of the Lick Observatory, has arrived here. He will make observations of the eclipse of the sun in April at Cortizal. Professor Bickering, of Harvard, and his party will go to to Camarones, in the hills near Vallenar, to make observations.

Ran Away With Her Lover.

NEW YORK, March 24.—Details of sensational interest were developed in Williamsburg last night in connection with the disappearance Friday last of Mrs. Jessie A. Barlow, wife of Dr. John Wilton Barlow, who it was feared had committed suicide. It is now stated as a positive fact that the woman left in the companionship of Dr. Charles H. Giles, son of Rev. Chauncey H. Giles, pastor of the Swedenborgian church of Philadelphia. Dr. Giles, it was learned, was a suitor for Mrs. Barlow's hand before her husband. The two are now supposed to be in Montreal. Dr. Barlow, when seen last night, refused to make any statement other than that he would never again receive his wife in his home.

THE TELEGRAPHER'S STRIKE.

Cause of the Trouble Stated By an Official.

NEW YORK, March 24.—Concerning the report of trouble between the Western Union Telegraph company and employes, W. H. Sommerville, of the Western Union Telegraph company, in an interview said: "I understand some operators were dismissed at Philadelphia, and no doubt for good cause. We reserve to ourselves the right to manage the company's affairs in our own way and without either dictation or intimidation from representatives of any association. On March 7th a circular was delivered at the office of the Western Union company in Chicago with a threat that it would be issued at 8 o'clock that day if certain operators, members of the order were discharged from the Western Union service at Pittsburg. The circular was signed by John Cuthbertson, supreme chancellor, and Oscar M. Gibbs, supreme secretary and treasurer, and ordered that the members of each local lodge should upon its receipt appoint a committee to thoroughly canvass its territory, visiting all of the leading firms doing business with the Western Union company, and request them to give their business to the Postal Telegraph company, on a claim that that company was not antagonistic to the order. Inquiry was made and reported; but there were no dismissals from our service as charged in the circular. On March 14th, the following letter was received, to which, of course, no reply was made: 'Chicago, Ill. To Thos. Eckert, president and general manager, Western Union Telegraph Co., New York: Notwithstanding your assurance that six men were discharged on account of our order, we have no desire to retaliate, but if these men are not immediately reinstated and this injustice remedied at all points, I shall give orders to carry out my instructions in the circular presented to you and will expect a reply by 4 o'clock. John Cuthbertson, supreme chancellor, Order Commercial telegraphers.'

He Hesitated and Won.

The young man hesitated. The clock struck 10. "My dear Miss Hattie," he said, "I am going." He hesitated again. "Oh, don't be in a hurry, Mr. Felix; it is early yet." He hesitated again. "I am going." "So early?" and there was regret in her voice. "I am going" once more. "I am going." "Don't," she pleaded. He hesitated more than ever. Then he braced himself. "I am going to ask you to marry me," he exclaimed. "Do," she whispered yearningly. And he did with phenomenal success.—Detroit Free Press.

MERCURIAL
Mr. J. C. Jones, of Fulton, Arkansas, says of this medicine: "About ten years ago I contracted a severe case of blood poisoning. Leading physicians prescribed medicine after medicine, which I took without any relief. I also tried mercurial and potash remedies, with unsuccessful results, but which brought on an attack of mercurial rheumatism that made my life a misery. After suffering four years I gave up all remedies and began using R. B. B. After taking several bottles I was entirely cured and able to resume work. It is the greatest medicine for blood poisoning to-day on the market."
