

DOCTOR POWELL REEVES 216 Commercial street SALEM.

WONDERFUL POWER.

CHAT WITH A NOTED SPECIALIST, DIFTED WITH ALMOST MIRACULOUS SKILL AND ABILITY.

Thousands Restored to Health and Happiness on the Pacific Coast who had been given up by other physicians. His Specialties and Mode of Treatment.

But few noted specialists have sprung into prominence and an immense practice so suddenly as Dr. Powell Reeves, now a resident and practitioner in our midst. His name has become almost literally a household word; almost every other man and woman you meet here has a wonderful story to relate of some almost miraculous cure he has performed in an acute or chronic case of long standing where other physicians have failed.

In order to lay before our readers fuller details of the marvelous cures wrought by this medical celebrity, his mode of treatment, his specialties, and something concerning his personal and history prior to his advent in our midst, a Globe representative called at his elegant suite of offices, at 730 Pacific Avenue, and after holding his time, while the doctor prescribed for a score or more of patients of both sexes then in waiting, met this noted, reputable and successful practitioner, who has already done so much for suffering humanity among our people, and the following conversation ensued:

Doctor, where were you practicing before you came here? "In Chicago, Ill. I have also had extensive practice in the leading hospitals of the United States under the most learned scientific practitioners in specialty cases. I know nothing but medicine, and am wholly absorbed in my profession, and of the thousand and more difficult cases I have treated on the Pacific Coast I may simply say in justice to myself that I have been almost invariably successful."

You are a medical graduate, I presume. "O, yes. You see my diplomas hanging on the wall. They are from the best medical colleges in the land. No physician in Tacoma can show a better or more successful record among his patients."

What is your special course of treatment, doctor? "Patients who consult me are not turned over to an amateur hired substitute, as in the case of many high-sounding dispensaries or institutes, but receive my own personal care and attention. I use no mercury or other injurious drugs. Consultation always free."

Have you much of an interior state or country practice? "You would think so if you could see my daily mail. Here is a batch of letters I received to-day from all sections, with orders for medicine. All that is necessary for a person from a distance to do is to describe their troubles to me by letter, and I mail them effective medicines, free from observation, to any part of the country. In my treatment of disease for a cure in a stipulated time, for a certain fee, if the period of cure should run much longer than I anticipated, I make no additional charge."

I presume you have many certificates of cures effected? "Multitudes of them. Did I consider it necessary, I could publish almost numberless cases of wrecked man and womanhood completely restored to health and enjoyment of life through my special course of treatment. I treat nervous diseases of every kind and name—rheumatism, scalp and skin diseases, hemorrhoids, fistula, blood diseases of every description, diseases of the lungs, throat and chest, stomach, liver and spleen, diseases of women, and private diseases. All I want is a fair trial to convince the most skeptical."

The cut at the head of this article is an excellent portrait of this noted specialist. He is an affable and cultured gentleman, of commanding presence, and immediately impresses one with his candor and wonderful healing gifts. In order to corroborate some of the above matter, the Globe man called on a leading and highly reputable Pacific Avenue drug firm, where the doctor's prescriptions are filled. In response to the general query concerning his standing and the extent of his practice, etc., a member of the firm said: "We have known Dr. Powell Reeves quite a while and believe him to be an honorable, skilled physician, who would not stoop to an illegitimate act in his profession. Judging from the number of prescriptions we fill for him his practice must be larger than that of any other physician or specialist in the city. There's another point in his favor, showing integrity and fair dealing with his patients. We are not percentage druggists. He receives no discount from us, and his patients get just what their prescription call for; whereas, the doctor might realize a handsome sum by dealing with a percentage firm, even though his patients did have to suffer for it in a less effective or a more deadly dose of cheaper medicine. This important fact may account in a great measure for the healing virtue of his treatment."

A thorough diagnosis of disease, coupled with eminent skill in handling them, and the administration of pure medicines in their treatment are evidently the doctor's forte. We regard him as a conscientious, meritorious physician. Merit will tell in the long run, and we are glad to see him rising, phoenix-like, from unjust persecution and ostracism, by reason of the foolish, to the high plane of eminent, lucrative and deserved success.

During the reporter's visit to the doctor's sanctum, he was invited to witness a difficult surgical operation in a varicose case of long standing, in which the patient was handled in the most skillful and scientific manner, and with but little pain. The doctor, after the operation, guaranteed him a perfect cure, with but proper care on his part, in from one to two weeks, and cited cases in the city in which he had performed absolute cures in far more aggravated cases, which were investigated and found to be as stated.—From the Tacoma Morning Globe.

DR. CONTRIS FITS TEETH WITHOUT PAIN, By the "Hale Method."

A great many inquiries have been made concerning this method, as it is comparatively new to the people of this country. For the benefit of those residing in the country and neighboring towns, who are unfamiliar with the Hale Painless method of fitting teeth, the following explanation is given: This method was discovered by Dr. Hale, of St. Paul, about a year and a half ago. It is one of the greatest discoveries in the history of dentistry; doing away with the tortures formerly experienced in having teeth excavated and filed. The painless method is not an experiment. It has been introduced in all the large Eastern cities, and is being used daily by the most eminent members of the profession. Hundreds of thousands of teeth are lost annually. Why? Is it because people don't need their teeth, is it because they are indifferent and think they have no value, is it because they could get false teeth that would be as satisfactory in every way, or is it the expense of having the work done that causes so many to postpone it? No, it is simply because the pain usually experienced in the dentist's chair is dreaded by every one, and especially those who are nervous or delicate in health. The remedies are applied locally and are not injurious to the tooth structure. The Hale method is a God-send to all, as teeth can also be extracted without pain by this system. He convinced by consulting my patrons as they are all well pleased and cannot say too much for the Painless Method. I am thoroughly equipped to do all kinds of first-class dental work, at reasonable prices. DR. CONTRIS, Dental Parlor, Rooms 1, 3, and 5, State and Liberty Sts., over Gray Bros.

A DRUMMER WHO COULD DRAW.

New Church Committee Are Often Led to Choose an Architect.

Building committees are too often at the mercy of tricky schemers and "fakers." There are so called architects who lay themselves out to do the work of this class of clients. The writer well remembers an instance of this kind. In the course of a visit to a friend living in a city that may be called Bearville, his host happened to mention that he was a member of a church building committee, and one evening he begged to be excused in order to attend a committee meeting. A great New York architect was coming to submit plans for the new church. My host returned home delighted with the New Yorker.

"He's a fine fellow," said my host. "You should hear him talk. He has the building at his finger ends and speaks of the smallest detail as though he loved it. Such undoubted ability! Such mastery! He has planned a church that will be the gem of the city, and after looking at his drawings one can understand one very striking remark he made."

"What was that?"

"Oh, he said it had been the dream of his life to build a church like that—the dream of his life. I like to see a man so earnest and enthusiastic. I am going to vote for him, and so are more than half of the rest of the committee."

So the enthusiastic architect was chosen. It was only when it was found that the lowest builder's estimate that could be obtained for the building of the church was 30 per cent more than the architect's estimate, and also that after the work had been begun very important changes in construction had to be resorted to in order to make the building safe that this genius began to be worshipped with a less adoring homage. Moreover, the church was found to look very much less imposing in reality than it had in the drawings, in which advantage had been taken of every trick of draftsmanship and shading to produce effective tout ensemble.

Two years later the writer was invited to pay a visit to a relative at, we will say, Grandjeon. Strangely enough, his host upon this occasion was also a member of a church building committee. He, too, was absent one evening at a committee meeting, and on his return the writer was surprised to find that the identical New York architect before mentioned had been interviewing the committee.

"Well, does the architect meet your views?" said the visitor.

"Exactly. He is a very fine fellow. Really a remarkable man," said the host impressively.

"Indeed!"

"Yes. Such mastery of his subject. You should hear him! He is a thorough genius. He says it has been the dream of his life to build a church like the one he proposes, but he has never had the opportunity until now."

He had quite taken the committee captive by his pretty drawings and his eloquent talk. He was, in fact, a clever drummer who could draw. He understood next to nothing of scientific construction, rarely made a calculation as to strains and stresses, put in deep shadows in his drawings where there was no varied outline in the profile of the building itself to justify it, and drew attractive figures in the foreground which, by their ridiculously small comparative size elevated the fictitious edifice on paper into grand proportions. When he got hold of a building committee, he conquered them by his clever readiness and flattered them in a way that his exquisite perception of character rendered possible.—Engineering Magazine.

Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind. Gentlemen: I take pleasure in informing you of the very beneficial results which have followed the use of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine in the case of myself and wife. For a year I was subject to a distressing pain at the base of the brain and upper portion of the spinal cord. I was greatly troubled with sleeplessness. Your Nervine was highly recommended to me. My case had been so obstinate that I had no confidence in the efficacy of any medicine. Yet as a last resort I consented to give it a trial. Much to my surprise, I experienced marked benefit; my sleeplessness disappeared; my headache was removed; my spirits and general health greatly improved. THOUSANDS of cases are cured. I soon gained twenty pounds. ALL THIS OCCURRED AFTER LEARNING AND WELL KNOWN PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE. My wife is taking the Nervine with the best of success. LOUIS D. VANDERVERE. THE LAST DAYS OF KOSCIUSKO.

Kosciusko, wounded and made prisoner at the battle of Mactiejowice, was kept two years in the prisons of St. Petersburg, and, amnestied by Czar Paul I, went first to England, thence to Italy and then to Paris. Here he struck great friendship with the charge d'affaires of the Swiss confederation, M. de Zeltner, and finally went to live the last years of his life in his friend's house at Solet, where he died on the 15th of October, 1817. The heart of the hero remained in the possession of Kosciusko's goddaughter, Mile de Zeltner, and on her marriage with Count Morosini passed into the keeping of that family.

The descendants of those among whom the great Polish patriot passed away protest most anxiously, and on the best authority, against the phrase attributed to Kosciusko when falling wounded on his last battlefield, "Finis Poloniae!" This exclamation was never uttered by Kosciusko, who himself refuted the legend, saying in his last days, "These are the words of a self conceited braggart, and as far from my heart as they are from my hopes."—London Saturday Review.
