THE SCHOOL LEGISLATURE.

Salem Students Receive a Letter from the President.

The pupils of the East Salem schools have been conducting a mock legislature now for six weeks on Friday afternoons.

They have two houses and officers and pass bills, joint resolutions and memorials, innocent and instructive diversions. Such a legislature would be appreciated even by the people of Oregon and it is presumed these young Americans will one day sit in the state house and make real what at present is only a highly pleasing amusement.

THE OFFICERS. The officers of the senate were: Chas. Savage, president; Maud Denham, chief clerk; and John Cochran, reading clerk. The officers of the house were: Guy Miller, Speaker; Mabel Hutton, chief clerk; Lloyd Mullett, reading clerk. Prof. Anderson was governor. The senate was composed of sixteen members and the house of twenty-eight and on joint ballot the Republicans showed a majority. In fact, they had a majority in both houses.

Following resolution was introduced in house and adopted March 17, in senate and failed, March 17. Reconsidered March 24, senate March 28. Answer received, April 17.

THE RESOLUTIONS. House resolution No. 4, introduced by Le Grand.

Whereas, Grover Cleveland, president of the United States, will be 56 years of age Saturday March 18, therefore be it

Resolved by the house, the senate concurring: First, that we do hereby extend to Grover Cleveland, president of the United States, our heartfelt and sincere congratulations for the return of his birthday, and

Resolved, second, that we heartily wish him many happy returns of his birthday, and

Resolved, third, that we most earnestly wish him great and continued success in performing the duties of the high and exalted position to which the people of the United States have seen fit to elevate him, and

Resolved, fourth, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the journal of this legislature, that they be printed in the daily papers of the city, and a copy be forwarded to the president of the United States.

CLEVELAND'S REPLY. EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, April 10, 1893.

E. H. ANDERSON, Esq.—MY DEAR SIR: The President directs me to acknowledge the receipt of your courtesy of the 28th ultimo. The thoughtfulness and consideration of the pupils of your school in this regard are especially appreciated.

"I have used Alcock's Plasters for some years for myself and family, and, as far as able, for the many sufferers who come to us for assistance, and have found them a genuine relief for most of the aches and pains which flesh is heir to. I have used Alcock's plasters for all kinds of lameness and acute pain, and, by frequent experiments, find that they can control many cases not noticed in your circulars.

Suspected Murderers of a Chinaman. OREGON CITY, Or., April 21.—Parties in from Multnomah state that a search party looking for evidence relative to the murdered Chinaman, found a pair of bloody trousers in the cabin occupied by the two men, Burns and Mack, who are now in jail awaiting the action of the grand jury. Other minor evidence was secured, among which was the tracking of persons from their cabin to that of the murdered Chinaman and back. There were also found cartridge shells fitting the bullets taken from the wound. Another suspicious circumstance which has come to light is the way in which the two men acted the day when they went to throw up their job of wood-cutting. Mr. Spangler, for whom they were working, thinks their actions peculiar prior to the time when he first heard of the murder.

Lamb came here to negotiate with Attorney Jack S. Newman for some real estate north of the city. He drew $28,000 out of a bank Monday and gave the money to Newman in a satchel on the street. Lamb was expected to go direct to Newman's office, a few steps distant, after getting something to eat. Nothing has since been seen of Lamb. The $28,000 is still in Mr. Newman's possession uncalled for.

WILLAMETTE ASSOCIATION.

The Spring Meeting of Congregationalists in Corvallis.

CORVALLIS, Or., April 21.—Pastors and delegates composing the Willamette Association of Congregational churches met in the Corvallis church at 2 o'clock. Rev. J. L. Hershner, of Mississippi avenue church, Portland, East Side, was elected moderator, and A. E. Wheeler, of Eugene church, clerk; George H. Himes, Portland First church, reporter; Rev. H. V. Rominger, Hassalo-street church, Portland, East Side, photographer, and Rev. D. V. Poling, Independence church, leader of music. Letters of dismission were granted as follows: To Rev. O. W. Lucas, to the association of San Bernardino, Cal.; to Rev. B. F. Moody, to Chicago; to Rev. H. Anderson, to the Puget Sound association; to Rev. D. L. Fordney, to an association to be formed in Western Washington, bordering the Columbia river. On motion, the following resolution, offered by Rev. Cephus F. Clapp and seconded by Rev. Charles Curtis, was adopted: "Resolved, That a committee of 13 be appointed to investigate the public charges of a scandalous nature against the character of Rev. C. L. Corwin."

The moderator accordingly appointed a committee. "The Today and Tomorrow of the Church," was the subject of an admirable address by Rev. H. V. Rominger. Superintendent C. F. Clapp gave an address on the American Home Missionary Society, showing its work, and urging that all Congregationalists in Oregon should make an average contribution for home missionary purposes of $2 per member.

A cordial invitation was received from President J. M. Bloss, of the State Agricultural college, for the association to visit that institution in a body. The invitation was accepted. Rev. H. L. Bates presented a paper on "How to be a Good Congregationalist," followed by Rev. J. M. Dick, whose address was upon "The Today and Tomorrow of the Temperance Conflict."

The afternoon session closed with a few timely hints on "Bible Study," by Mrs. Dora V. Barber.

In the evening a praise service of half an hour was led by Rev. J. L. Hershner. The associational sermon was preached by Rev. Elmer S. Smiley of Vancouver, his text being "What Think Ye of Christ?" Following this, President Thomas McClelland gave an address on "The Today and Tomorrow of Pacific University," giving a succinct review of its history from the beginning, and of its hope in the future.

Southern Oregon Mines. ASHLAND, Or., April 21.—Reliable news telling of a remarkable strike in Willow Springs precinct near the old postoffice is received. The lucky prospector's name is Jacob Herchberger, and so rich is the vein that yesterday morning he took out rock enough streaked with gold to easily bring a thousand dollars, and it is estimated that he has taken out no less than $2,500 since finding the vein a day or two ago. One remarkable thing about it is that the vein was discovered right on the old overland stage route and only 200 yards from the Willow Springs stage station, where, before the railroad lines in this valley, all overland passengers on the old Oregon and California stage waited, while a change of horses was made. Several other strikes in the same vicinity have been made lately. The hills are filled with industrious prospectors, and the excitement has not been so great in mining matters for years.

A Writer of Stories. Just a few years ago a sharp nosed, bright eyed young man used to haunt the secondhand book stores of this city. He would buy and eagerly devour all the cheap novels, blood and thunder stories, etc., exposed for sale. One day he astonished an old bookseller whom he found reading an interesting story by informing him that he was the author of it. One day he disappeared, and later it was reported that he was writing for the weekly story papers in New York city.

The other day came the news that he was at the head of a novel publishing company and wrote about 100 continued stories himself yearly for his weekly story papers and library publications. He is said to have an income of about $50,000 a year. He has concealed his right name, it is declared, and writes under any number of noms de plume.—Cincinnati Times-Star.
