COUNTRY REPUBLICANISM.

The Oregonian will not drive the party in the state from its determination to shake off the incubus of unscrupulous metropolitan domination.

In good faith, and voicing the sentiments of rural Republicanism, we wrote as we did. It was at no one's suggestion, because the aspirant for political honors cannot frankly and fearlessly state facts as they are.

Every one is willing to admit that without the farmers no party can do anything in Oregon but when it comes to proposing and carrying out a single one of the reforms demanded in the name of agriculture, the city politician immediately bites his lips and putting on a wise look, shouts "folies, vagaries, bombast!"

The Oregonian claims Portland should control the party machinery because Portland has "to pay the taxes that carry the state government, that keep up the public school system, that furnish appropriations for the public institutions at the capital, and supply the various wants of remote and sparsely settled counties."

A Boy Will "consent to Democracy for a time," rather good thing for many Republicans bring to J. J. Miller, to his old-time destiny.

SUGGESTED COMMENTS.

Even too many blank cartridges have been known to kill a man.

The sales of SATURDAY'S JOURNAL surpassed any day in its history. It still lives.

The old timer don't entertain very often, but when he does he wants all his friends to be there.

Governor Penneyer should not uphold "scab" workmen of any kind. He should meet the demands of the Salem Ministerial union for a union scale of wages.

The Napoleonic prince now in the state is a genuine blood relative of the great blood-letting. We beg to assure the timid that he is perfectly devoid of any thirst for gore.

Dukes, lords and princes are getting so plenty in this country on account of the world's fair that an American will have to be a little careful who he is introduced to at Chicago.

The State penitentiary, which is under a Democratic administration and supposed to be friendly to labor unions ought not to kick at union prices for Sunday services.

Grover Cleveland has his foot not only on the neck of the Democratic congress but of the Democratic press. They applaud everything he does even to hauling down the American flag at Hawaii.

There was an eminent fitness in presenting that Castilian Duke of Veragua a bejeweled casket, while President Cleveland received a simple badge from a labor union of American working girls.

Salem is a good school wherein to learn the newspaper business. There is room in the primary class for a new evening Democratic daily. But it should never be forgotten that this is a newspaper graveyard, and the infant mortality is particularly large.

If her gracious majesty the queen of England has so far forgot herself as to deter all of her royal family from attending the world's fair we can easily forgive her, for American society is thereby also spared the contaminating influence of the Prince of Wales.

The Oregonian is not in favor of reconstructing the Republican party with its foundation laid in the yeomanry of the party on the farms. It prefers to keep the party under control of a few Portland law offices.

A Great Explosion.

CHICAGO, May 1.—The welcome which greeted Christopher Columbus 400 years ago must have been more auspicious to the sturdy heart of the errant mariner than that which greeted his descendant, the Duke of Veragua, as he reached his destination in his visit to the country discovered by his historic ancestor.

AN ADDRESS OF WELCOME.

The party was conducted at once to carriages by the reception committee and the procession formed. It proceeded to the Auditorium, headed by a detachment of police, then came the military escort and the carriages containing the distinguished guests and members of the reception committee.

The duke entered one end of the long room the mayor and party entered the other. The mayor advanced, and in a brief speech presented a costly casket to the duke, containing the address of welcome, handsomely engrossed and illuminated on parchment, and a set of silver keys.

When I received the invitation to attend the opening of the world's Columbian exposition I did not realize how many surprises were waiting me in this country.

Soon after his arrival at the hotel Mr. Cleveland received a delegation of young girls, representing the Badge-Makers' Union, who were anxious to present to the chief magistrate a badge made by their artistic fingers.

THE NAIL: A WORK OF ART.

The golden nail driven by Mrs. Palmer on completion of the woman's building was made by J. H. Laysch, of Butte, Mont., and required several weeks of constant work to make it.

HOW MRS. POTTER PALMER DROVE THE GOLDEN NAIL.

The nail was driven with a silver hammer in the proscenium arch of an assembly hall, in the north end of the building. The hall is lavishly adorned with flowers, and the arch where Mrs. Palmer stood was hung with American beauty roses, gracefully set off with a background of smilax.

Queen Victoria Objects.

LONDON, May 1.—Considerable blame attached to the queen, in best-informed circles, because she is believed to have discouraged the plans of several members of the royal family to go to the Chicago world's fair.

The Earl and Countess Aberdeen.

DETROIT, Mich., May 1.—The Earl and Countess Aberdeen, accompanied by Miss Josephine Sullivan, daughter of the eminent Irish patriot, and Miss Kathleen Erin Emmet, of New York, a descendant of the Irish martyr, passed through the city and received a delegation during a short wait in the depot.
