Salem Improvement Co.

DAILY WEATHER FORECAST

PORTLAND, May 2.—Tuesday and Wednesday light rain. Temperature stationary.

U. S. WEATHER SERVICE.

R. R. COMMISSION.—The Board has adjourned its session at Salem, and go to investigate Union Pacific branches. They had three fatal cases this time. J. J. Cavanaugh, a railroad man, who was killed near Huntington; in the case of A. Beran, who was killed at the Union Depot, Portland, was found to have been a suicide by the coroner; John Hans, engineer on a Portland and Vancouver motor, the board has heard the testimony, but will personally inspect the premises before rendering their decision. They will also inspect the motor lines at Portland, and will examine the steel bridge at Portland. There is considerable over charge and depot business before the Board.

A YOUTHFUL GROOM.—An Olympia dispatch of Monday says: Judson W. Reeves, a boy 18 years of age, a messenger in the office of the secretary of state, was married today to Miss Carrie Nichols, aged 34. Miss Nichols was a clerk to the house committee on appropriations and revenue and taxation of the last legislature. She is refined and well educated, and was a graduate of the Willamette university. The couple left for Salem, Or. The boy's mother sanctioned the match, and gave a certificate that both were 18 years of age.

THE CHERRIES.—If the baby reporters of the two papers that have aspersed the motives of THE JOURNAL in the Shaw case, would use their columns to bring an evil-doer to justice, there would be at least some excuse for their existence. They can see that all is wrong with a competitor, though their own statements exonerate him entirely, and there is nothing wrong in their infantile peepers with a man who is proven a wretch of the deepest dye.

SOCIAL.—Union lodge I. O. G. T. will give a social in Grange hall, Friday evening, May 7th. All members of the lodge and their families are invited. Free. Come.

See the plain and broad based black satens, lace curtains, table damask and summer underwear, at the New York Racket. eod-dw-2t

STATE FOUNDRY.—The state board now expect to have the state stove foundry in running order by the end of this week.

THE SHAW SHOOTING AFFAIR.

Trial of Elmer Worick on Charge of Assault.

SHAW ON THE WITNESS STAND.

His Nocturnal Habits Fully Gone Over by the Lawyers.

The trial of Elmer Worick an employe of the Capital City nurseries, who rooms in the postoffice block, on charge of shooting at W. A. Shaw, last Friday night, in the hallway of THE JOURNAL office was begun this morning before Recorder Edes. D'Arcy & Bingham appeared for Worick and District Attorneys Condit and Tilmon Ford for the state.

MR. SHAW SWORN.

Examined by Ford: Did not know Worick; left room in postoffice block to catch 11 o'clock car, when shooting took place as described in these columns. Dr. Hall picked the powder out of his hands and face. He grabbed for a stick of wood in the dark from a pile which he knew was there. Did not recognize Worick as doing shooting.

Cross-ex. by Bingham: Had seen Worick twenty or thirty times; had been there the night before; frequently. Condit objected. Court ruled this could not be fully gone into. Ford made point that Worick was not protecting any of his relatives and the evidence should be confined to the facts.

Continued: Could not swear there was any ball in the pistol; thought there was; stated to a number of reporters that it was only blank cartridges that were fired; naturally supposed they were blanks; knew there was a door there; left to catch the 10:40 car; met Worick at Miss Ferris's room; his was the adjoining room; had no idea who assaulted him; offered a reward of $100 for his conviction; told a reporter right away that blanks were fired at him; believed that at the time; nothing said about pistol being loaded with balls, he did not know the information contained the words "loaded with balls," when he swore to it.

MR. SHAW'S CONSCIENCE.

Condit said it was not Mr. Shaw's conscience that was on trial, but Worick. Bingham said it was material for the state to prove that this pistol was loaded with ball or there had been no offense committed.

Ford said it was just as much an assault if there was no ball in it.

Bingham said it was not an assault with a dangerous weapon if it did not contain a ball.

Shaw resumes: I do not swear positive it was loaded with ball.

Nothing was said during shooting. Was not afraid of being robbed.

GREAT LAUGHTER.

"Was Mrs. Shaw with you?" This created great laughter in the crowded court room. Many humorous sallies by opposing counsel caused the immense crowd great merriment.

SOME MORE FACTS.

Shaw: Light was in Miss Ferris's room when he left it. Miss Ferris opened the door to let him out and came out into the hall with him, she came out first; light was burning in her room; she went into another room, as I walked off; after shooting went into Miss Ferris's room and got light; the ladies were so scared they would not come out; could not identify the gun.

CAPT. DILLY SWORN.

Had a full talk with Worick about the shooting; counsel for defendant insisted Dilly should state all the surrounding facts leading to the confession so ruled. Charged Worick with knowing it all; Worick said it was nothing but a scheme to scare Shaw a little; confessed to doing the shooting in presence of Minto; said Shaw was coming to see this girl and it was not on the square; he decided Shaw would bear watching; watched him in company with Mr. Bowman; they saw Shaw through a stove pipe hole in pretty close quarters in Miss Ferris's room with Miss Ferris; Worick said after they saw Shaw with Miss Ferris they decided to scare him off the premises; Bowman, THE JOURNAL foreman, was not present at the shooting; after firing a blank cartridge, Shaw resisted him; he shot twice more in blank and then run; he did not want to have to fight him; couldn't sleep very good; did not like to be disturbed; his room was next to the girl's room; they merely intended to scare him off the premises. Counsel showed their purpose was laudatory.

The police testified to being after the $100 reward.

Ford said it made no difference whether Shaw was on the premises legally or illegally.

Dr. Hall was called to prove Shaw's injuries; picked powder out of his face Friday night; it was 12 o'clock.

MARSHAL MINTO

Stated he had arrested Worick; said he did it; seemed to treat it as a joke; Shaw came up there too often; he and Bowman had been watching Shaw come to the girl's room; didn't aim to hurt him; Bowman was not there that night; said pistol was loaded with paper and powder; instead of running Shaw came after him; he went through the composing room and down the back stairs; said Bowman was at home that night at his room, on High street at the time of the shooting; he did not want to hurt Shaw and so he got away so as not to hurt him. Shaw had been coming up there for six weeks; he and Bowman had their suspicions aroused and their only object was to drive him off; Shaw came there nearly every night, and he and Bowman saw him in bed there with the girl; they satisfied themselves that Shaw had committed a crime and ruined the girl; saw Shaw that night; he said if the pistol had been loaded he would surely have been killed; he saw Mrs. Cosper who rooms up there; had a talk with Miss Ferris.

Chas. Van Avery, JOURNAL pressman, was called but knew nothing about the matter whatever. This closed the case for the state.

BINGHAM'S ARGUMENT

In brief was then submitted. There had been no proof that this pistol was loaded with ball; hence no crime was intended; no criminal intent was shown; no intent to injure Shaw was shown; if the court ruled thus no witnesses would be offered for the state; Worick should be discharged. His offense was a lark at the utmost.

Counsel cited 17th Oregon reports, page 300, ruling that to point an unloaded weapon at another was not an assault with a dangerous weapon. There was a new law not yet in force, makes it a crime to point a weapon, loaded or unloaded. Shaw had not even been put in fear or fled from Worick.

THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY

concluded the case for the state, claiming the state had made out its case, proving he claimed an assault on Shaw with a loaded pistol. It was a conspiracy to do Shaw an injury. It made no difference whether it was a lead ball or a paper ball.

FORD'S SPEECH.

Defendant intended to injure Shaw, by stepping up behind him and shooting so that the blood ran down his neck there was an attempt, intentional, by violence, to do Shaw great bodily injury, there was a wad in the gun if there was not a ball.

ADJOURNED.

At conclusion of Mr. Ford's speech Recorder Edes adjourned court to 1 p. m., when Mr. D'Arcy will conclude the motion to dismiss. The hearing in the Bowman case is put off till tomorrow. His landlady will prove an alibi for him.

WORICK BOUND OVER.

After the closing arguments of the attorneys, Recorder Edes bound the defendant over, with bounds fixed at $100. Bonds were promptly furnished, and in June Mr. Worick's case will come before the grand jury.

WHO GOT SHAW'S MONEY?

Mr. Shaw now sees where his fool newspaper friends, that advised him to attack the JOURNAL and sold him their space and their newspapers for that purpose, have landed him. They will now probably turn on him and read him. But the man who lets himself be gunned by alleged newspaper persons—deserves no more sympathy than old man Skinner got. THE JOURNAL is not the newspaper that got Shaw's money. He has no use for the JOURNAL. It was not the JOURNAL he bought and paid for and had thrown about people's door yards Monday. He did not have JOURNAL reporters come to his house and dictate reports of his shooting affair and interviews with Miss Ferris. The people who have been trying to shield Mr. Shaw probably could tell all about these things. They owe the public an apology for slandering the only newspaper that has given the people the news, regardless of threats and of money. The witnesses in the trial completely exonerated any JOURNAL proprietor or employe from any complicity in the affair. Mr. Shaw was simply a trespasser in the hallway of the JOURNAL composing room. The evidence shows that the JOURNAL'S allegations as to Shaw's relations to Miss Ferris were true. If they are not true Mr. Shaw has his remedy.

FROM STAYTON.

Miss Ella Edger was in town Saturday.

Mr. W. H. Roberts and wife of Seio spent Friday and Saturday in our midst.

Mrs. O. C. Wimer and daughter Minto left for Corvallis Saturday, where they go to visit Mrs. John Smith.

The town boys played a game of baseball against the school boys Saturday, the game came out 8 to 17 the school boys ahead.

While on the way from prayer meeting last Thursday night one of our christian bugs and marshal got into a scrape using "cuss" words to such an extent that it was the talk of the town Friday.

Mrs. William Wimer left for Portland Saturday where she will make her future home.

Rev. Ashby is lying ill at his home near town, his son and daughter of Eastern Oregon will be here next week.

Mrs. Anna Smith of Stayton is lying almost at death's door in Corvallis at the home of her sister.

Four travelling actors are in town this week forming a company to produce a drama Friday night at the opera house. Several of our young ladies will take part.

George Dorcuss while splitting wood last week cut his arm very bad—the ax coming down with such force that an artery was cut. Drs. Kitchen and Hunter dressed the wounds. He is now getting on very nicely.

A very pleasant surprise party was tendered Eugene Coates last Thursday night the occasion being his 19th birthday, about 20 of his friends were present.

WEDDING BELLS.

At the residence of the brides mother in Mill City at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, April 23 1898, Frank Thomas and Miss Allie Lake were united in marriage by Rev. Baker.

The contracting parties are well and favorably known in this city. Mr. Thomas is a painter by trade and during his stay among us, has made a host of warm and true friends. The bride is one of Mill City's most fascinating and beautiful young ladies loved and respected by a legion of friends.

May they have a pleasant voyage on the matrimonial sea.

FASHION'S FANCIES.
The shops are already making a display of the serviceable castor or so called washing gloves with good sized buttons at the wrists.
Four stont figures are shown some very gracefully made princess dresses in rich clinging summer silks, veilings, bengalines, fancy striped and dotted sarahs and plain india and victoria reps.
There are a host of lovely summer novelties among the goods opened to view this week, and if one can judge by the present exhibit of new toilets shirring and gauging are to be quite as popular as ever.
Among the pretty toilets for afternoon wear for next season are glaze silks and shot foulards and taffetas in pompador or old chivits pattern made up upon crinoline linings at all, but over inexpensive silks or batistes.

Diamonds and other gems studded about in the hair are still in high vogue. Most women choose a star, crescent or floral device, the color of the leaf and blossom being represented by jewels of a hue matching each.
Crinoline except in the hands of a skilled dressmaker has a most artistic and awkward effect. Many of the new "Easter gowns" were spoiled by the introduction of this lining, the exact line where it ceased just below or above the knee being plainly visible.—New York Evening Post.
