Salem Improvement Co. CHUNG'S BODY FOUND.

Marion County's Judge Refuses to Allow an Inquest.

The steamer Elwood crew found the body of a dead Chinaman near Lincoln in the river on the Polk county side and notified the city marshal, who telegraphed County Coroner Stott. The coroner wired back to Marshal Minto to hold the inquest. Before proceeding to do so the county judge was seen and the facts submitted to him. Judge Hubbard decided that as the body was lying on the Polk county side that county must bear the expense of the inquest. Some color is given to the coroner's theory here as the man was drowned by committing suicide off the dock at Salem and that this county has concurrent jurisdiction to the other shore.

The Polk county authorities were notified to hold the inquest. Whether they will do so, or not, is not known. The celestial's corpse is lying in state at Lincoln in a badly decomposed condition and may never receive an official inquest.

CONSERVATIVES VICTORIOUS.—Judge Taft, of the United States circuit court has just rendered an important decision in the celebrated United Brethren church controversy, at Toledo, Ohio, his decision being in favor of the Conservatives or "Radicals. This is the first decision of a United States court in this controversy, and is therefore regarded very important.

DELEGATES HOME.—Judge and Mrs. Burnett, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Condit, Mr. Metcahan and daughter Amelia, Judge Walton, H. A. Thomas, H. A. Johnson and J. T. Gregg returned today from the I. O. O. F. grand lodge at Eugene.

MIGHTY DOLLAR.—Agent Jos. N. Dillon of the Mrs. W. F. Florence dramatic company, is in the city, and has arranged for their play, "The mighty dollar" to be presented at the opera house next Friday evening.

"OUR BABY EFFORT."—At the Presbyterian church this Friday evening. The most original entertainment of the season; fine talent—and souvenir program that will delight the whole family from the baby up.

HORSE TRAINER NO BURGLAR

James King is Suspected of Robbery.

No Valuables Found in His Baggage—He is Discharged as Innocent.

While James King, the horse trainer from Puget Sound, was held here for non-payment of bills, he was really detained on suspicion of robbing the Krause residence last Sunday, of nearly $200 worth of valuables. He has since then shown a strong desire to leave the city. He threw up his job of training for several people and called on Mr. Krause, saying that he was very sorry the house had been broken into, as it would give him a bad name, he thought, as he had been in Krause's employ when the robbery occurred. His baggage failed to reveal any of the stolen property. He is not suspected of connection with any other petty thefts committed about the city for some months past.

No evidence had been obtained this forenoon to fix the crime of grand larceny as charged in the complaint. The police expected to be able to find some evidence of the crime in King's effects, but failed.

MR. KING DISMISSED. Upon hearing about noon Mr. King was discharged. He was able to show that at the time of the Krause robbery he was at the fair grounds, and that he earned his living honestly. He has satisfied Mr. Westcott as to his debt and may remain around here. Mr. King has been pretty roughly used by the police in this case, but mistakes will sometimes be made even by the blue coats.

MAY PROSECUTE. Mr. King says he may prosecute the police. They have put him in a bad box and if he can get help he will make it tropical for being put in jail and disgraced. He is a worshiper at St. Joseph's church and Union lodge, I. O. G. T., was known by Judge Bonham when he was coachman for native princes of East India, and has heretofore borne a character above reproach.

SONS OF VETERANS.

Division Staff announced—Surprise Party to Sumpter Camp.

The headquarters of Oregon Division Sons of Veterans has been established at Salem. The beautifully framed charter was shipped here today and ornaments the wall of the colonel's office in the postoffice block. The division staff was announced at the meeting last night, as follows:

- Surgeon, S. H. Griffith, Phil. Sheridan, Woodlawn. Chaplain, W. E. Johnson, E. D. Baker Camp, Oregon City. Adjutant, R. H. Leabo, Sumpter Camp, Salem. Quartermaster, S. E. Howard, Sumpter Camp, Salem. Inspector, A. I. Crandall, Gen. Meigs Camp, Lebanon. Mustering Officer, H. L. Wells, Sherman Camp, Portland. Judge Advocate, Willard Larned, Sumpter Camp, Salem. Sergeant Major, A. W. Patterson, Rufus Ingalls Camp, Heppner. Quartermaster's Sergeant, H. L. Martin, Geo. R. Custer Camp, Eugene. J. P. Rogers, Salem, aide-de-camp on the colonel's staff.

THE LOCAL CAMP.

Sumpter camp mustered a number of recruits last night and is now 30 strong. There will be another muster next Thursday evening, the last before Memorial day. Following is the local staff:

- Chaplain, J. E. Shoemaker. First Sergeant, L. E. Burris. Quartermaster, Hugh Goodell. Sergeant of the guard, J. W. Roberts. Color Sergeant, H. Titus. Corporal of the Guard, A. Z. Roberts. Camp Guard, Willard Larned. Picket Guard, Wylie Zinn. Owing to promotions to division officers a new captain and first lieutenant must be chosen.

A SURPRISE. Immediately after muster a genuine surprise was perpetrated by the arrival at the camp hall of a large delegation of the Woman's Relief Corps and Grand Army Post. All business was suspended and cakes and fruit followed speech making by Mrs. Capt. Jones, Mrs. Major Smith, Past Commanders Batchelor, Sherman and members of Sumpter camp. There is not a happier or pleasanter lot of people in existence than was assembled last night and the very graceful compliment of the ladies was duly appreciated.

Hallbut, Chinook salmon, Sea Bass, Cat fish, Soler Carp, Shad and many other varieties of choice fish received daily at Davison's Court St. market.

FOR THE CHILDREN.—A 10-inch "Kaleidoscope"—something very amusing. Only 10 cents. At Dearborn's book store.

MISS ACKERMAN'S LECTURES.

China as Depicted By an Eminent Missionary.

An interested audience listened to Miss Ackerman on Sabbath, at 8 p. m. when she discoursed on temperance. On Monday night a fine audience greeted her. After good music and prayer, Miss Ackerman appeared in the loose, flowing garments of the Chinese woman, and proceeded to depict the life of the women of Asia.

Landing first in China, that populous country, where the babble of multitudes even on the waters in sampans, caused her to wonder. Sometimes there were three generations in one boat, numerous children stored below at night on shelves, one above another. Women doing the work, and certainly having "women's rights," if that means the right to labor incessantly. On land or water they are mere slaves.

Miss Ackerman traveled by sedan chair, jinrikisha, wheelbarrow and buffalo cart, without springs or seats, over country without roads. Often she, with her attendants, were obliged to sleep in the same room with the buffalo and pigs. The cruel practice of foot-binding she witnessed especially among mandeas, and was told that the sole reason for continuing the custom was, the men thought no woman beautiful unless her feet were small. Some women thought, and rightly too, that compression of the waist by women of other lands was more injurious.

Wives are bought, a coolie paying $5, and a higher class man $30, or $50. Receiving an invitation to a wedding in high life, written in many curious characters, she inquired the meaning, and was told the invitation was addressed to the foreign lady who invites men not to use wine or opium.

The wedding feast consisted of twenty-four courses, and the men were able to partake of all. Miss Ackerman found it difficult to do this even with silver chop sticks an hundred years old. The bride as usual did not appear until sent for seven times. She was dressed in red, and sat at table veiled, without speaking for one hour and a half. Then her mother-in-law peeped into her face and called her son, the bridegroom. The couple then met for the first time. If life is too unbearable, her only escape is by suicide.

Conversing with a Chinese statesman about the opium traffic, Miss Ackerman was told that the whole of China only needed a roofing from side to side to make it a vast and complete opium den, Christian England had forced the traffic upon the empire. This is the darkest spot on England's flag. A dark spot on our own beloved flag is the sending of thousands of gallons of rum to heathen nations.

Sailing for Japan Miss Ackerman brought a physician's prescription against seasickness and was told that seasickness was only a woman's fad. Just make up your mind you are not to be sick and you will not be. Proudly and resolutely she undertook to carry out instructions, but could only go as far as a sight of the first course at dinner. Four days of seasickness followed.

At the Japanese port twenty dainty little ladies with their white ribbon badges met her. One gentleman accompanied her, who informed her that he was a member of the Woman's Christian Temperance union. He offered her his arm, which she took very gingerly and held him at a little distance for fear she might stumble and cause the little man to fall. She was given a grand reception, and told of the astonishing progress of the W. C. T. U. work in Japan. Upon being questioned she advised the Japanese ladies to cling to their own graceful and comfortable costume, instead of adopting the foreign. She visited the great university of 1,000 students.

Miss Ackerman next visited Siam, shipping in a vessel manned by a captain and four white officers. On board were 18,000 coolies. Two riots occurred, but were quelled chaining some and throwing others overboard. On landing she was taken at once to the top of a pagoda 300 ft high in order to view the capital of Siam. The streets were water and full of boats. The condition of women was even worse than in China. A wife can be pawned for a husband's debt. Men, women and children blacken their teeth with Betel nut. She was conducted to the king through rows of 150 armed troops.

The king knew all about the W. C. T. U. and thought such a society must make the world better, but he thought his own women were more contented in their ignorance than they would be if educated. He owns his subjects soul and body, has 40 wives, 60 children and 1000 women in his harem. In his temples were electric lights, carpets every thread silver, golden images studded with jewels. One temple contained the sleeping Buddha so large that a person might lie in his ear. It was near sunset, a soft light streamed through the windows, an attendant tapped a post when out flew hundreds of bats, their peculiar shriek mingled with that of the worshippers together with the sighs made a never to be forgotten impression. There are cow temples and monkey temples. At Singapore Miss Ackerman witnessed the worship of the sun by hundreds of Parsees. Going in the gray dawn of the morning to a cliff where these men knelt to catch sight of the first rays of the rising sun which certainly was grand beyond description.

She thought if she did not know the true God she might join them in their worship. She thought of the time which is to come when the heavens shall roll away as a scroll and all things earthly be removed, and yet the souls of these men shall live on. She said to God as she had said five years previous, "Take my life and let it be, Consecrated Lord to Thee." In India she visited the Taj Mahal, by the soft light of the moon, the tomb palace of a heathen queen. A Christian native sat on the tomb and sang a few words at a time, "All hail the power of Jesus name," echoing and re-echoing came the words "Crown Him, Crown Him Lord of all." It seemed as though the choir of heaven had come to earth.

After the lecture an appeal was made for the many millions of women in India, volunteers were called for to educate those girls, five persons promised to give ten dollars per annum for three years for this purpose.

NOTES FROM EXCHANGES.

Eugene Guard, 17th: Mrs. W. J. Plymale and Mrs. Frances Luy went to Salem on the local this morning. We notice Hon. Phil. Metachau and A. O. Condit, of Salem, among the delegates.

Perrydale Patriot: Miss Faunie Richardson, who is attending school at Salem, is visiting her brother, Mr. Geo. Richardson, of McCoy.

Perrydale Item: Mrs. James, of Sheridan, visited the family of H. B. Tingle last Sunday while on her way to Salem.

Astoria Budget: The Oregonian, it will be remembered, made for years a shameless and unconscionable fight for the removal of the state fair to Portland, and has all along claimed and effected to believe that the capital should be located at the big and bullying metropolis. Clearly for colossal gorge and abysmal greed poor little Salem is not company for Portland.

Eugene Register: A. O. Condit and wife came up from Salem yesterday and are guests of E. O. Potter and wife. Mr. Condit is well known here and is a delegate to the grand lodge.

McCoy Item: Mrs. Cass, of Salem, visited friends here Sunday.

Albany Democrat: C. E. Henderson will go to Salem at the coming contest, as the State University orator, having won the position in a preliminary trial.

Dallas Transcript: Mrs. G. G. Bingham accompanied her husband from Salem to Dallas and was the guest of Mrs.

C. G. Coad while he attended court, Sunday Dallas was visited by fourteen wheelmen from Salem. They all rode pneumatic tire bicycles, and as they rode gracefully and noiselessly through our streets presented a very pretty picture. Mrs. Judge Geo. H. Burnett came over from Salem and spent Sunday on a visit to her brothers, the Messrs. John and Chas. Bell.

Rural Northwest: It is evident that the Salem folks intend to do all in their power to make the July meeting of the Oregon State Horticultural Society, which is to be held in that city, a notable one. The fruit growing interests which center about Salem are becoming very great and there is a fast growing appreciation there of the vast importance of this industry.

"Brace Up" Is a tantalizing admonition to those who at this season feel all tired out, weak, without appetite and discouraged. But the way in which Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up the tired frame and gives a good appetite, is really wonderful. So we say, "Take Hood's and it will brace you up."

For a general family cathartic we confidently recommend Hood's Pills.

"Favorite" flour is a true favorite.
