GRAND OLD WILLAMETTE.

Forty-ninth Anniversary and Commencement Exercises.

The graduating exercises of Willamette university began Friday with examinations in the conservatory of music and a recital by the junior conservatory class—the beginners in music. It was the eighth recital by the juniors and was held in the chapel, commencing at 8 o'clock. The program was made up of fifteen numbers as each member of the class favored the audience with a selection. The class is composed of Misses Layson, McKinney, Woodford, Hurst, White, Steiner, Altmott, Culbertson, Harris, Burcham, Bachelor, and Simon. Prof. Parvin takes an important part in all the work of commencement, his band of vocalists and instrumentalists contributing on every occasion. His department has been well maintained. Prof. Parvin's junior musicale contained some good numbers. Those deserving special attention were Maggie Layson's "Swing Song," Genevieve McKinney's "Better Land," Miss Harris's "Spring Reverie," Miss Steiner's violet song, Miss Bachelor's rondo in D major, Miss Simon's "Magnetic Waltz Song," and Miss Woodford's "Pure as Snow" were beautifully rendered.

SOCIETIES' REUNION.
In the evening the Philodorian and Philodorian literary societies met in annual reunion. Shortly after 8 o'clock President Floyd Reynolds, took the chair and announced the opening of the program, an instrumental solo by Homer Kruse. In response to an encore he played a difficult original composition. B. B. Barker, of the Philodorians, delivered the address of welcome in a hearty manner. Then followed other features of the program. The valedictory by Miss Emily Henry, daughter of Judge L. D. Henry, showed good literary ability. A vocal solo by Miss Frizzell was followed remarks from former members of the societies.

With the close of the literary exercises the members and their friends repaired to the society hall and passed an hour or two in social amusement.

GRADUATING CLASS.
The graduating class at Willamette university this year is as follows: Classical—N. M. Newport, B. B. Virgil Peringer, A. B.; John R. Hume, B. A. Professional—John Bayne, Chas. E. Roblin, and N. M. Newport. Musical—Nellie Carpenter, Homer A. Kruse, Lulu G. Sargent. The graduating classes will hold their commencement on Thursday, June 16th. The program is out and will appear in due time.

BOOMING.—The merchant tailoring department at the Woolen Mill Store is booming these days. The manager has demonstrated that high grade clothing can be made up here at home by white labor without charging fancy prices. This is what people like, and show their appreciation by placing liberal orders for spring and summer suits.

THE NEWS FIRST.—All the most important news of Friday was bulletined at THE JOURNAL office Friday and a crowd was gathered at the post-office block all day to get the information. THE JOURNAL is the only paper in the Willamette valley and Western Oregon that gets the Associated Press dispatches.

NOTICE.—Laird, Schober & Mitchell's fine shoes for $2.15, same quality as other parties offer for $4.00. Special at the Palace.

Fine line of Children's Oxfords, Philadelphia too—something new—25 per cent below standard price, The Palace.

SALEM BUSINESS MEN PROTEST

They Unanimously Denounce it as an Outrage.

IT SHOULD BE KILLED.

The Blanket License is Opposed by Public Sentiment.

It is the almost unanimous sentiment of the business men of Salem that the blanket license ordinance introduced at the last session of the city council should be killed. For the welfare of the city, it should never be reported back from the committee.

"Every day will be Sunday bye and bye" if the new license ordinance is passed. This is what nine-tenths of the Salem business men say. They say the reaction will be terrible.

AN OVERSIGHT.

The only business it is not proposed to tax is the fancy houses. That is probably an oversight, as it is a business that several of the council have on various occasions shown an inclination to protect.

EVERY DAY'LL BE SUNDAY
Bye and bye:
When they license banks and preachers,
Dogs, cats and school teachers.

Bye and bye:
When they tax the peanut vender,
Plumber, barber and bartender.

Bye and bye:
When they tax the washerwomen,
We'll close our shops, and go in swimmin'.

Bye and bye:
When they license great and small,
When they license you to live at all.

THE HOTELS.

Some of the hotel men are in favor of $200 or $300 hotel license. They say a $10 or $20 license is no protection and is only bleeding them. One landlord who is very indignant, says:

"The council itself goes to restaurants and takes in banquets, with liquors, when they know it is a violation of their own ordinance."

A hackman says: "They will increase my license and stand in with the car companies that compete with me so I can't earn feed for my horses. It helps the fat and the rich to cut down the starved and the poor."

WHAT LEADING BUSINESS MEN SAY.
Sroat & Gile: It's an infernal outrage.

Bozorth Bros.: It's wrong; the way times are now we're taxed enough.

Harritt & McIntyre: We'll fight it to the last.

John G. Wright: It's a—fraud.

Jas. Kyle: Fifteen dollars a car on produce! What do they mean?

S. W. Thompson: A crazy proposition!

Postmaster Gilbert: They need the money.

Manager Holland: Nothing in it.

T. H. Barnes: Give us an occupation tax.

Cook's Hotel: It will just bleed us that much more.

Willamette Hotel: It is a tax, but no protection.

tend to drive merchants out of the city, and keep others out.

Aikin & Palmer: It is unjust and would discriminate.

M. T. Rineman: I approve the JOURNAL's statement of Friday evening in toto. It would encourage every dealer to carry a general stock. It's an outrage.

Geo. Fendrich: Can't stand it.

G. Steiner: It would work a hardship on the people of Salem.

Whale & Ford: Don't favor any more taxes.

Willis Bros. & Co.: Business men are already preyed upon too much.

Osborn & Harritt: Don't like it.

Clark & Eppley: A new way to rob the merchants.

L. A. Davison: Am against it flat-footed.

M. Beamer: Would be injurious.

E. H. Raymond: Oppose it on general principles.

Forstner & Co.: Can't favor any more taxes.

Damon Bros. today captured a live tarantula, and have it on exhibition at their store.

J. G. Barr: Don't favor it. It is too complicated.

Oregon Land Co.: Can't see any good in taxing people to come into our town.

Barr & Petzel: Don't believe in it. Live and let live.

Steiner & Sonneman: We are all taxed enough now. Don't want it. It hurts the town.

McCrow & Steusloff: It would be a detriment to the town.

Keller & Sons: Consider it an imposition on the town.

E. T. Barnes: Such methods should only be employed under great emergency, and that has not arrived.

Damon Bros.: It is most ridiculous.

The Palace: Didn't suppose the council was so hard up.

Wm. Sargeant: Don't like it. It is not right.

I. L. Kimber: Better turn the council out and put some boys in.

Branson & Co.: Don't want it.

E. F. Osborn: Bitterly opposed to it.

C. W. Hellenbrand: Don't like it at all.

Meyers & Co.: Don't favor it at all. Professional men could stand a tax better than merchants.

Dalrymple & Co.: We pay taxes enough now.

G. W. Johnson: Not in favor of it.

S. C. Reed: Don't favor it as it is.

A. S. Braasfield: Not fair.

Smith & Steiner: Rediculous.

Bill Anderson: It has some good features. The tobacco stores that run Sunday and let boys loaf and gamble for cigars and cigarettes should pay as well as saloons. They do more harm.

City Attorney Bingham: The ordinance was drawn to cover certain lines of trade that have clamored for protection. Nearly everything was included with the idea of having the ordinance committee strike out all that was not wanted.

Kansas House: No protection in it; just a tax.

TO SEATTLE.—There lies on our desk an invitation from the Queen City of the Sound, "Where the ship meets the rail," which reads as follows: "Your presence is cordially requested at the celebration to be held at Seattle about June 16, 1893, in commemoration of the completion of the Great Northern Railway to its Pacific terminus at Seattle and the inauguration of through traffic. Acceptances should be addressed to J. R. Hayden, chairman of reception committee, Seattle, Washington."

THE RAINS.—This part of Oregon is always favored with showers at intervals during the month of June. The rains descended Friday night and today, the cool weather proving quite a dampener on business. Next week we shall begin to talk about the races, railroads and rose show. By Monday the skies will have cleared and there is a big week ahead.

A RANK REAL ESTATE FRAUD

How W. A. Shaw Tried to Fleece a Widow.

COMPELLED TO DEED BACK PROPERTY

Performance of a Scoundrel who Charged The Journal With Blackmail.

The real estate transfers record the disgorgement of a valuable piece of real estate that was swallowed up by a shark in that profession if there ever was one.

It is the reconveying of choice residence property with improvements on State street by W. A. Shaw to Mrs. Elizabeth Joseph. The facts in the case are that Mrs. Joseph is a widow, whose mind has for some time been affected by disease, and who is said to be unfamiliar and unskilled in business, and who is believed by her friends to be disqualified to protect her property rights against the schemes of unscrupulous traders and designing real estate agents.

Some time in 1892 one W. A. Shaw, a Salem real estate dealer, induced her to deed her property on State street to him for the sum of $9000. It is her home and when it was gone she had nothing else in the world to fall back upon, and upon moving out Shaw took possession and Mrs. Joseph occupied a room on the second floor in the post-office block, moving out of there a few days after the blank cartridges were fired at this same man Shaw in the hallway of that block about a month ago.

THE TERMS
upon which Mrs. Joseph was induced to part with her property were these: Shaw gave her $250 down, and twenty-three notes of $250 each, one payable each year for 23 years, and the last payable in the year 1916, without interest and without security by mortgage, endorser or otherwise. For this worthless unsecured paper she gave him a deed and he exacted a promise to keep silent to everyone about the transaction except to say to anyone who asked that she had sold the property for $9000.

Soon after the shooting affair which took place near her door Mrs. Joseph became more suspicious of Shaw and urged her counsel to press a suit in equity to recover her property. Shaw's lawyers advised him to get out of it by deeding back the property at once, and that has been done. Mrs. Joseph keeps her $250, crediting it on the notes that were to draw no interest and would have been payable to the old lady mostly after her death and along in the first quarter of the next century. Such is Shaw. Where will he turn up next and why don't the newspapers that want him or THE JOURNAL men sent to the penitentiary tell the news about Mr. Shaw?

16TH AND 17TH OF JUNE.
The Flower and Strawberry Fair Next Friday and Saturday.

The ladies' Floricultural society met this forenoon and decided to hold their fair on the above date—the last two days of next week.

Everybody get ready for the show. The roses have been coming on so fast that there remains but a short time to prepare for this display. But the executive committee, officers and members of the Salem Floricultural society are working hard and will do everything in their power to make it a success. Every rose and flower grower in the city should take hold with them.

STRAWBERRY COMMITTEE.
The ladies have appointed C. B. Moores, A. I. Wagner and E. M. Waite as committee on strawberry show. They will arrange cash premiums and issue a circular to strawberry growers.

PROBABLY A FRAUD.—A one-armed man, who gives his name as Adams is going about the country begging for money, on the plea that he has several ribs that need repairs. He says he lost his arm in the Salem lumbering mills and is getting not a little help. He refuses everything except cash, and an occasional meal, and usually growls if turned away with nothing. Most people, especially on Howell Prairie, think he is a dead-beat and warn others against him. No such man has lost an arm at the Capital mills.

NEW PARLORS.—At a meeting of the trustees and a committee for the Endeavor society of the Congregational church it was decided to refurnish, carpet and decorate the church parlors in an artistic manner to be done at once.

GOOD ENOUGH FOR US.—Loyal Salem housekeepers who have used Salem's "Pride of Oregon" flour for years say it is good enough for the king's table, and will use no other.

THE SWEETEST.—And most perfect strawberries in this market, received daily from Southern Oregon, at John G. Wright's Pioneer store.

Those reduced prices at the Columbia Shoe Store, 118 State street, are making heavy sales at that store.
