"I Owe My Life to Hood's Sarsaparilla"

"Words are powerless to express the gratitude I feel toward Hood's Sarsaparilla, for under God, I feel and know that to this medicine I owe my life. Twelve years ago I began to bloat, followed by nausea at the stomach, and later with swellings of the limbs, and severe pain. This gradually grew worse until 3 years ago. Physicians told me the trouble was

Caused by a Tumor

For several months I had been unable to retain any solid food. I was greatly emaciated, had frequent hemorrhages, and was satisfied the doctors were right in saying my life was nearly over. One day a friend suggested that I try Hood's Sarsaparilla; I did so, and for 3 or 4 days I was sicker than ever, but I kept on and gradually began to feel better.

I Began to Feel Hungry

Could, after a time, retain solid food, increased in weight, the saffron hue left my skin, the bloating subsided, and I felt better all over. For 2 years my health has been quite good, and I have been able all the time to do the housework for my family. After what it has done for me I never hesitate to recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla." STAY-AT-HOME PESSIMISTS.

After having been robbed by their quartermasters, stripped by their sutlers, paid $13 a month in depreciated paper currency, losing nearly every chance of health and success in life, it is a little hard for the old soldiers of the Grand Army to be aspersed by the pusillanimous stay-at-home pessimists of journalism.

The Portland Oregonian seeks to create the impression that it has been misunderstood in its recent sarcastic editorial, in which it referred to surviving veterans of the union armies as "Romantic fools." Unfortunately the entire press of the country has not succeeded in misunderstanding the Oregonian. The old soldiers have not misunderstood the Oregonian at any time. They have never particularly "resoluted" against it, but have steadily counted it against them.

But at last the Oregonian has found a newspaper to accept its apology, and to understand that its sneering paragraphs was "veiled irony." One newspaper has been discovered to come to its rescue and it bewails the stupid wooden-headed literalness or the press in not knowing irony and sarcasm when they see it. Of course, people who will not wade knee deep through irony and sarcasm about matters as sacred as religion and patriotism are fools any way you take them.

Of course, there may be still more stupid people who consider such subjects entirely improper for jest, irony or sarcasm. None but a wooden-headed ninny can fail to appreciate the playful mood of Harvey Scott, when he refers to Grand Aarmy men as romantic fools whose achievements might as well be dropped from public memory. Only such displays of humor and satire are appropriate, you know, when employed to ridicule the sentiment of patriotism that saved our country.

But the endorsement of the one paper that the Oregonian has received is spurious at best. It is from the Spokane Review, a branch institution of the Oregonian The branch endorses the sentiments of the vine. But the endorsement was probably dictated by the Oregonian. The Portland Telegram, which many people believe is a branch of the Oregonian, but which is still a very independent paper, has alone of all Portland papers resented the insult. It deserves credit for its loyal and manly sentiments; Copying the Oregonian article it says;

"A superficial observer might suppose from the character of our selfish legislation and the autocratic methods adopted in the administration of the government in recent times that the spirit of patriotism had fled. But a mingling with the people will dissipate that idea. The patriotic sentiment is as strong among the masses today as it was in '61—'65, when a million men offered their lives on the altar of country. Then there was no patriotism with capital which took advantage of the necessities of the government to drive a hard bargain and demand a gold interest for the use of its money when the soldiers were being paid in paper currency. There is no patriotism in capital today, and the usurers who are still driving hard bargains with the government look upon a man who will offer to die for country as a sort of romantic fool. But deep down in the hearts of the American people fires of patriotism are still burning and will burst forth into a flame one of these days that will consume the Shylocks who are preying upon the vitals of our national industries."

IMPROVE THE STREETS.

Who does not feel proud of our improved streets?

Who would put Chemeketa, Commercial, and part of Court and State back where they were?

Who would not like to see State Court, Center and other streets looking as well?

THE JOURNAL is a street improvement crank.

It believes with Councilman Albert that all the streets in the city should be graded, gravelled and sanded.

It can now be done on the installment plan and people can have ten years to pay for it in. Has anyone a doubt as to the future of Salem ten years hence? Will you not get your money's worth in the use of those streets in ten years?

The street work cannot begin too soon. THE JOURNAL has no regrets for its policy last year of forcing improvements of the streets mentioned, of forcing the construction of the South Commercial street viaduct, of forcing the cutting down of the hill south of the old moss-covered bridge.

Salem needs more street improvement cranks.

HOW TO RAISE FRUIT.

ED. JOURNAL: More than 60 years ago, when a boy among the foothills of the mountains on the west branch of the Susquehanna river, Pennsylvania, we did choring for our grandfather. He was the most successful fruit tree, vine and shrub grower we ever knew. He ever made sure to place tree, shrub, vine, root, scion and even buds, same side south as be found them in their old place. He also in all cases, whether hard or soft mold, put at the base of the tree some of the old base soil it grew in, fertilizing same with stock urine, of which he always managed to have a supply. Try it and succeed,

S. H. Russell and A. H. Hunt went to Salem Monday morning, having been notified to appear to serve on the jury for the June term of court.

The Marion Nursery Company has commenced picking their strawberries. The company has a fine lot of A. No. 1 strawberries. They made a shipment to Shedd's Monday.

W. P. Smith and Milton Hanson, of Salem, were in town Saturday morning on business. Mr. Smith owns a half interest in the warehouse here.

The Marion Tannery company has elected J. W. Ganee as manager, which is a good selection, as Mr. Ganee is an experienced tanner. Their new building will soon be ready for business.

The railroad company has the fencing material distributed along the road here now, and we hope to see it fenced soon.

J. L. Farnham's new house looms up in sight near the Presbyterian church.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the deceased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Caution to Customers.

Nothing of original or superior merit but has its imitations and counterfeits, even to imperiling the health of communities. For this reason the proprietors of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters caution their patrons to scrutinize every bottle offered (and it is sold only in bottles) and verify its many marks of genuineness.

A sufficient warning to those meditating fraud can be found in the unbroken line of judicial decisions, exposing and severely punishing every one detected in counterfeiting the Bitters, and the redoubled efforts that are being made to protect the public from the deception of these unprincipled pirates.

Remember the Bitters is sold in bottles only, never by the gallon or in bulk.
