THE CAPITAL JOURNAL.

PUBLISHED DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY, BY THE Capital Journal Publishing Company.

HOFFER BROTHERS, Editors.

ETHICS OF JOURNALISM.

About a month ago there was an effort of certain alleged newspapers to brand THE JOURNAL with the crime of blackmail.

It is admitted that anyone attempting to levy blackmail upon a newspaper is a criminal.

They have utterly failed to sustain their charge against THE JOURNAL. It never arose above the dignity of mean spite work.

These newspapers have a greater crime to answer for than Mr. Shaw. While he carried on private schemes of debauchery, they were seeking to debauch public morals.

There never was a ranker offence against chastity and virtue committed in this city than that which these two alleged newspapers set out to defend and cover up in the Shaw-Ferris case.

They gave value received in comparison with Shaw's worthless non-interest-bearing non-negotiable notes.

They shall leave the public to inquire why there has been an utter failure of justice so far to convict the only real offender. THE JOURNAL is not police, justice court, public prosecutor, grand jury, nor is it actuated by motives of revenge, nor in the pay of a villain.

The people must square their own accounts with any who have been delinquent in duty, including newspapers that betray public trusts for private emolument.

COMEDY ON THE STREET.

Character: Street Commissioner on bicycles, Councilmen in carriages, Citizens on foot.

CITIZEN ON FOOT. That's a mighty fine bicycle that you've got, what did it cost?

STREET COMMISSIONER. One hundred and fifty dollars.

CITIZEN ON FOOT. I see that you have made a mighty fine bicycle track at the lower end of Wilson Avenue.

STREET COMMISSIONER. Oh, yes; these machines cost too much money to have any thing but a fine track; we boys can't afford to have them all stove up.

CITIZEN ON FOOT. Who is that with that fine team and carriage up at the other end of the avenue?

STREET COMMISSIONER. That is Councilman Cross.

CITIZEN ON FOOT. What do you suppose his line that gets?

STREET COMMISSIONER. Oh that's a fine rig, carries out about $400, team $850.

CITIZEN. See there, he has stopped and is swearing like a trooper; wonder what's the matter with him?

COMMISSIONER. Let's go up and see.

CITIZEN. Hallo Cross; what's the matter?
