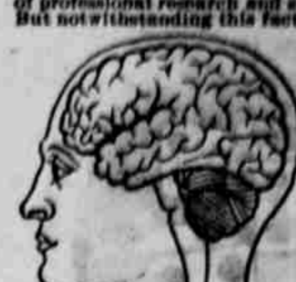
MYSTERIES!

The Nervous System the Seat of Life and Mind. Recent Wonderful Discoveries.

No mystery has ever compared with that of human life. It has been the leading subject of professional research and study in all ages. But notwithstanding this fact it is not generally known that the seat of life is located in the upper part of the spinal cord, near the base of the brain, and so sensitive is this portion of the nervous system that even the prick of a needle will cause instant death.



Recent discoveries have demonstrated that all the organs of the body are under the control of the nerve centers, located in or near the base of the brain, and that when these are deranged the organs which they supply with nerve fluid are also deranged. When it is remembered that a serious injury to the spinal cord will cause paralysis of the body below the injured point, because the nerve force is prevented by the injury from reaching the paralyzed portion, it will be understood how the derangement of the nerve centers will cause the derangement of the various organs which they supply with nerve force.

Two-thirds of chronic diseases are due to the imperfect action of the nerve centers at the base of the brain, not from a derangement primarily originating in the organ itself. The great mistake of physicians in treating these diseases is that they treat the organ rather than the nerve centers which are the cause of the trouble.

DR. FRANKLIN MILES, the celebrated specialist, has profoundly studied this subject for over 20 years, and has made many important discoveries in connection with it, chief among them being the facts contained in the above statement, and that the ordinary methods of treatment are wrong. All headache, dizziness, dullness, confusion, pressure, blues, mania, melancholy, insanity, epilepsy, St. Vitus dance, etc., are nervous diseases no matter how caused. The wonderful success of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is due to the fact that it is based on the foregoing principle.

DR. MILES' RESTORATIVE NERVINE is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It contains neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

AN IDEAL DESSERT.

DIRECTIONS BY WHICH ANY HOUSEWIFE CAN MAKE CHARLOTTE RUSSE.

They Are Attractive In Appearance and Taste as Well as They Look, Are Easily Digested and Can Be Eaten Without Harm by Invalid or Child.

A plain charlotte russe, the New York Tribune thinks, is a very simple dish, easily made at home when once the secret of whipping cream is mastered. The greatest obstacle in the way of whipping cream is undoubtedly the complicated machinery which has been introduced for domestic use. Of all the various mechanical contrivances, from the little churns not over two inches in diameter and which are practically worthless to the larger and really valuable cream churn, nothing does the work so successfully as the ordinary egg whip of the kind used by professional cooks.

The difficulty in the introduction of this whip into general household use is its weight. Very few women have strength enough to use the wire egg whip of the chef successfully. It is exhausting work even for a man, because it must be used steadily with that scientific exactness of motion that is certain to produce a result. Select, therefore, for the purpose of beating cream as light a wire whip as you can get, or even one of bamboo. Begin beating rather slowly and increase the pace until by rapid beating a fine firm froth is produced.

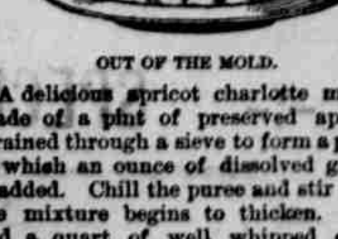
The pan in which the cream is beaten should rest in a second pan of chopped ice, and the cream should be thoroughly cold before you begin to beat it. Lift the froth carefully off when it becomes thick on the surface of the cream into an earthen lined colander set in a second pan, so that any superfluous milk may drain off. Continue to beat till the foam will rise no longer. There will always be a little cream in the bottom of the pan which is not rich enough to beat to a froth. This may be used for coffee or for frozen creams.

It is possible for cream to be so heavy that it will churn into butter in a cream churn before it forms a froth. There need be no such trouble when it is beaten with a whip. A great many housekeepers who have become accustomed to a large cream churn do very satisfactory work with it, but it is not employed by domestic workers outside the family kitchen and at best is an awkward contrivance. When the cream is once beaten, it will not return to a liquid state unless it is heated.

A genuine French charlotte russe is not stiffened by gelatin, but is made of whipped cream flavored and sweetened in various ways. The cake which forms the cover is always sponge cake, and the most convenient form is that of the simple lady fingers that are to be found in any bakeshop. These dainty little cakes are generally used for a charlotte russe by the French. To make individual molds, split the lady fingers and cut them in half. Have at hand six small charlotte russe molds. These should be about 2½ inches high, 2 inches across the bottom and sloping toward the top. Line the molds with the pieces of lady fingers, being careful to keep the outside of the cakes against the mold.

It will take about a pint of cream beaten to a stiff froth to fill these individual charlottes and leave a little to make a dressing around them. If you wish charlotte russe a la vanilla, flavor the whipped cream with a teaspoonful of vanilla, adding 2 heaping tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar for sweetening. If you wish the charlotte russe au cafe, add 2 tablespoonfuls of coffee essence with the same amount of sugar, or if you wish it flavored with maraschino add a tablespoonful of this liquor.



OUT OF THE MOLD.

A delicious apricot charlotte may be made of a pint of preserved apricots strained through a sieve to form a puree, to which an ounce of dissolved gelatin is added. Chill the puree and stir it till the mixture begins to thicken. Then add a quart of well whipped cream sweetened with a scant half cup of powdered sugar. The amount of sugar needed will depend largely upon the amount in the preserved apricots.

Baked Omelet Is Nice.

Allow less than two eggs apiece, or for four people six eggs. Beat all the whites and yellows together save one white, which beat separately. Add a dash of salt, one of pepper and a dessertspoonful of flour mixed to a thin paste in milk; then add an additional tablespoonful of milk. Beat in the whipped white, mix well, pour into a hot, well buttered pudding dish and bake. When it sets, it is done. Send hot to the table, for it soon falls. This is as good as omelet souffle, but should be baked in a deep dish and of course served in the same.

Chilblains In the Hands.

Take a piece of alum about the size of a nut and melt in enough hot water to cover the hands. When the alum has quite dissolved, soak your hands in the liquid for a quarter of an hour. Wipe the hands dry, put on loose gloves at once and wear them all night and as long as you can during the day.

A Peculiar Method of Fishing.

At Tetulia, one of the islands of Oceanica, M. Aylic Marin witnessed a peculiar method of fishing. The scene, as he describes it, is picturesque and interesting. The costume of the natives of Tetulia is a kind of short tunic of seaweed or leaves. They powder the hair white with chalk and wear wreaths of gardenias or red hibiscus on their heads and around their necks. The warriors, unlike the men of peace, powder their hair red. As their locks are very long they have quite a terrible appearance.

At a signal all the inhabitants of the village assembled on the seashore. There were about 200 persons. They plunged into the water, each carrying a branch of the cocoa palm.

At a given distance from the shore they turned toward it and formed a compact half circle, each one holding his palm branch perpendicularly in the water, thus forming a kind of seine. The leader of the party gave a signal, and this living net approached the shore gradually, in perfect order, driving before it a multitude of fishes. Surrounded by this living wall and caught in the cocoa palm branches, many of the fishes were cast on the sand by the waves, and others were killed with sticks.

The women gathered up the fishes in baskets. Some were at once taken to the cabin of the chief of the village, and some were cooked for M. Marin over hot coals and given to him without seasoning, but with bananas and cocoanut milk to complete the meal.—Youth's Companion.

The Biggest Man on Earth.

John Hanson Craig, with his wife and 3-year-old child, are visiting James Anderson and James McPherson, relatives. Craig's home is in Danville, Hendricks county, but he has been in the show business since his babyhood. In answer to questions he said:

"I now weigh 907 pounds and am 27 years old. At birth I weighed 11 pounds; at 11 months I weighed 77 pounds; at 2 years, 206 pounds. At that time I took the $1,000 premium at Barnum's baby show in New York city in the year 1858. At 5 years I weighed 302 pounds; at 18 years, 405 pounds; at 20, 601 pounds; at 22, 725 pounds; at 27, 758 pounds; at 28, 774 pounds; at 29, 791 pounds; at 30, 866 pounds; at 31, 836, and my present weight is just 907 pounds. I am 6 feet 5 inches high, measure 8 feet and 4 inches around the hips, 48 inches around the ankle, 29 inches around the knee, 66 inches around the thigh next to the body. I require 41 yards for a suit of clothes and 3 pounds of yarn for stockings."

Mrs. Craig is a good looking blond, weighs 130 pounds and formerly accompanied her husband in the role of snake charmer as "Zola Ayres."—Indianapolis Journal.

All the Women Bought the Novel.

An amusing paragraph which has been going the rounds of the press states that the publishers of a German novel recently did a neat thing in the way of advertising. They caused to be inserted in most of the newspapers a notice to the effect that a certain nobleman of wealth and high position desirous of finding a wife wanted one who resembled the heroine in the novel named. Thereupon every marriageable woman who saw the notice bought the book in order to see what the heroine was like, and the work had an immense sale.—Printers' Ink.

The Handsomest of all Coins.

This proud distinction is generally conceded to the United States' twenty dollar gold piece, a marvel of beauty in design and finish. The loveliest of God's handiwork is a handsome woman, if in the bloom of health; if she is not, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will restore her. Ladies who use this peerless remedy are unanimous in its praise, for it cures those countless ills which are the bane of their sex—irregularities, dragging-down pains, inflammation, hysteria, sleeplessness, and the "all gone" sensations which burden their daily lives.
