HE WANTED TO WADE, HE DID.

The Weary Bank President Found a Rocky Yale Graduate to Go Him.

A stout gentleman, well on to 60 years, was in the throng of Saturday afternoon visitors at the Produce Exchange baths yesterday afternoon. He told everybody that he'd had a hard week. He said he was a bank president. All the attendants seemed to know him. He knew all the attendants too. They were Tom and Jim and Pete to him.

He wanted everybody to understand that he'd had a hard week. Every newcomer was corralled an impressed with the fact. Then he said he wanted some one to take his hand and wade through the pool with him. The pool is 30 feet long and 15 feet wide, with five feet of salt water. He wanted to wade in, new summer suit and all. It would rest him and make him forget his hard week, he said, if somebody would take his hand and wade in with him.

"It'll make me feel like a boy again," said the alleged bank president.

"We used to wade in clothes and all when I was a boy," he added when his appeal was not heeded.

While he was waiting for some one to take his hand and wade, in walked a young man also in a new summer suit. The young man wore silver bowed spectacles. He is a graduate of Yale. He peered over his spectacles at the old fellow, who returned the peer and then made his appeal to the young man.

"Well, old man," said he of the silver bowed spectacles, "I was out pretty late myself last night. I'll go you."

Solemnly the old man and the younger man clasped hands and walked to the edge of the pool. They zigzagged a little, but they stood upon the brink of the pool steady enough, and hanging their hats down upon their heads, they stepped off. The water was nearly up to their shoulders. But hand in hand they waded the length of the pool, the bank president smiling and contented and the younger man peering over his silver bowed spectacles as if in a contemplative mood. Not a word did they say to each other. The old man's face wore the expansive smile of childish delight. The younger man was solemnly content. They clambered out of the pool hand in hand, soaked from shoulders to heels. The old man shook the hand of his younger comrade and said:

"I thank you, sir. You have afforded me much pleasure."

"All right, old man," said the Yale graduate. "Any time you want to wade send for me."

He gave the old man his card, and as the old man jabbed the limp pasteboard into the puddle in his waistcoat pocket he remembered his watch. He pulled out a massive gold timepiece. The salt water had stopped it and probably ruined it. As he came to this conclusion the old man said:

"Well, never mind, we had fun, didn't we?"

Then the two men were tacked off to the steamroom and stripped, and for two hours they nodded sleepily at each other while their clothes and shoes were drying.—New York Sun.

Just Before an Earthquake.

An earthquake is likely to be attended with great atmospheric disturbance, such as explosions, thunder, lightning, etc. At Millitello there was an explosion in the fog which overhung the city for several days before the great earthquake, many houses having their roofs and upper stories completely ruined as the result hours before the shock which completed the awful work of destruction. In other instances queer looking clouds, in some cases not larger than a good sized balloon, will hang over a spot threatened by an earthquake for several days prior to the beginning of the terrestrial disturbances. This was the case at London in the year 1149, at Munster in 1612, at Lisbon and at Riohanda, South America. At Dunstal, England, all the water in the lake "stood up like a pyramid to the height of 100 feet," and in several cases all the water was thrown out of the wells.—St. Louis Remble.

GET WELL

My face had for years a humor in my blood, which made me dread to shave, as small boils or pimples would be cut, thus causing the shaving to be a great annoyance. After taking three bottles I show that the blood is contaminated, and some assistance must be given to relieve the trouble. CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES.

Outline of Speaker Crisp's Action

ON THE COINAGE COMMITTEE.

There May Be a Split With the President.

ORGANIZATION OF THE HOUSE

Depends Upon the Tone of the President's Message.

SEEKING TO SHIFT RESPONSIBILITY

For Action or Inaction of Congress Upon the President.

Speaker Crisp's Course.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Speaker Crisp authorizes the statement that there is no basis whatever for any one of the many reports circulated regarding the appointment of chairman of committees. He does not expect to announce committees until 8 or 10 days after the organization Monday. He may make an exception of the committee on coinage. All depends on the tone of the president's message. If Cleveland shall confine his recommendation strictly to repeal, with no hint of subsequent legislation in direction of bi-metallicism, it might be considered wise to put Cookran at the head. If, on the other hand, the president should deem a more pacific policy advisable, it might be considered wise to permit Blaine to retain his position, if he should care to do so, despite the opposing majority in his committee.

Prime Minister Gladstone replied he did not know how to ascertain the truth of the assertion that a decline in the amount referred to had taken place in the value of securities held in England. He did not believe the supply of gold was insufficient for trade requirements and could not announce measures to avert a crisis that he did not believe would occur.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS

OLYMPIA, Aug. 4.—Albert Deuce, a young Englishman, was working at the bottom of a well about sixty feet deep. He felt gas suffocating him and called to his partner to pull him up. During the ascent he fell to the bottom and was instantly killed.

MARSHFIELD, Or., Aug. 4.—A. H. Hinch, who was in jail in Empire City awaiting trial for killing Andrew Wikman in August of last year, died of hemorrhage of the lungs. Hinch gave himself up after he had killed Wikman and was put in jail, but he broke jail just before the convening of court and was in hiding in the woods for a number of months but was finally captured. Hinch was an early settler, coming here in 1852, and was a conspicuous figure in the Indian war. He discovered the Randolph Blank sand mines out of which he realized quite a fortune.

EUGENE, Or., Aug. 4.—A couple of children came here alone on the local train, a girl about 7 years of age and a boy somewhat younger. The girl gave her name as Compton. They told bystanders that their father was to meet them, but he did not put in an appearance and the marshal took them in charge. They stated that their mother lives in Halley, Idaho.

OLYMPIA, Aug. 4.—J. S. McCabe, a rancher living about eighteen miles from here, was shot by a neighbor, Geo. W. Manville, and died a few minutes later. Both men were prominent in the country and have extensive ranches. The tragedy has created intense excitement and is supposed to be the outcome of an old feud increased by Manville's recent suit against the Northern Pacific, in which McCabe appeared as a witness against him. Some time ago they had a personal altercation and Manville was sued for assault.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 4.—A telegram from Chicago announces that out of the 605 Chinese loaded on world's fair certificates, as they are called, but 80 are in the world's fair at Chicago today, and there is no telling when the 80 Chinese left will scatter out of that city and locate where they please. Six months ago Chun Pak Kwai, a San Francisco Chinaman, and Chou Hall, his partner in Chin, arranged to bring the Chinese to this port. They brought them over and customs officers now say that no less than $300 each or the sum of $150,000 was paid by the people landed to Kwai.

FOREIGN ITEMS.

The Berlin Imperial bank shows a decrease of $1,098,595.

In the London yacht contest the race was won by the Stantina, which beat the Valkyrie eight minutes. A breakage of the jaws of the gulf was the cause of the Navahoe's mainsail dropping.

A cable from a member of the marine hospital service stationed at Naples says the cholera is growing worse there.

A grenade exploded on the German ironclad Baden at Kiel. Lieutenants Olsner and Zombach and seven seamen were killed and 17 wounded.

The question of Turkish outrages upon Armenian Christians was again brought up yesterday in the house of commons. Sir Edward Grey said what little information the foreign office had on the subject was very painful. Fifty-six persons had been arrested, seventeen condemned to death, and many others sentenced to long terms of imprisonment. Subsequently the sultan commuted the death sentences of all but five. These have been executed within the past two or three days.

The directors of the bank of England have decided to advance the rate of discount to 3 per cent. The advance was unexpected and is attributed to the further large withdrawal of gold today for the United States and the probability of fresh shipments on Friday or Saturday. Two and one-half millions in gold were taken Thursday.

A Rome correspondent says: "The official reports have greatly understated the facts. Reliable advice declares that there was fifty-two new cases and twenty-eight deaths that day, and forty-nine new cases and twenty-seven deaths Monday. Cholera has been epidemic in Marseilles for the last three months. There have been 901 deaths from cholera in Marseilles since the middle of May. There have been 6866 deaths from cholera in Mecca and 2188 in Jeddah since the present epidemic broke out.

HOPS ARE HOPS.

Old hops are selling in Waterville, N. Y., at 20 and 21 cents.

The London cable to the JOURNAL August 3d showed a firmer market. This is two months in advance of the crop going to market.

The spider is doing much harm in England. Clear hot weather for Oregon diminishes the hop louse evil to the lowest point possible. If hop growers manage their business carefully they have a good future for their product.

GIVE FAMILIES A CHANCE.

In the next 60 days $50,000 will be spent on public work in Salem. Workingmen with families to support and children to educate should be given a chance.

Young men who waste their earnings in saloons and fast living, or transients who have no interests here, are well enough off picking up a living as best they can. Money for public works should go to support families located here first.

These families are held together by the fathers and big boys. Give them a chance to exist.

THREE REASONS.

There are three very good reasons why the board of education should leave the office of superintendent of schools vacant:

A good superintendent cannot be employed for $1000 a year. There are plenty who will take the office, draw the salary and pretend to fill the place.

The district has no money to throw away, and each school will be a better school if the principal who is there all the time has some authority and is held responsible for the work of the school.

If necessary to have the honor conferred on some one, let the teachers elect a head principal, or the board designate a senior principal.

SUGGESTED COMMENT.

The people are well satisfied with the JOURNAL'S bulletins and telegraphic report.

Salem wants more first-class principals, and no second-class city superintendent.

The police should not go so fast in enforcing the law against the bawdy houses.

One of the greatest causes of bank failures is withdrawal of funds by people who need their savings to live. Out of work, they are eating up what with ordinarily good times would remain in the banks. Lack of employment is the greatest cause of financial stringency.
