

FALL AND WINTER.

Notwithstanding the hard times staring us in the face, we have IMPORTED A FINER AND LARGER STOCK of Dress Goods, and Ladies', Misses' and Childrens' Wraps, than ever before.

Dress Goods and Jackets before purchasing.

THE PALACE DRY GOODS AND SHOE COMPANY, 307 Commercial Street.

IF You are going to build or make any kind of improvement, call on the undersigned for material.

LOYAL SOLDIERS.—The National Guard boys of this city, in view of the attacks that have been made through the press of the state, feel like making some expression on the matter, and are therefore preparing a resolution to be presented to the brigade commander.

AN OPEN OUTRAGE.—Even now, before the work of repairing the Williams bridge is completed, certain parties are showing their contempt for the public welfare by racing across it in a manner calculated to soon rack the bridge.

A SALEM FAVORITE.—During the past year an industry has grown up in Salem that is the pride of all her true spirited citizens, and that is the Salem Soap and Chemical works.

LOW FREIGHT RATES.—The Oregon Pacific people have reduced the freight rates upon grain, giving a phenomenal low one. They are led to do this in view of the extremely low price of grain now and in hopes that it will soon advance.

ZOUAVES WILL ORGANIZE.—Whit Holman and Frank Collier have been talking of the propriety of a zouave organization for several weeks past, and the prospects are that the project will materialize very soon.

A KICK.—Salem merchants are complaining that the Southern Pacific railroad charges them 27 cents per hundred for freight from Albany to Salem, which the Oregon Pacific bring from San Francisco to Albany for 21 cents.

POLICE COURT.—Peter Cline was locked up for another five days this morning. In the course of a lecture Judge Edes advised Peter that he'd better lead a better life and keep out of the city court awhile.

SPEED NO OBJECT.—In obedience to the will of the council, the fire department teams will not travel faster than a true hussar, even though blocks burn up.

PERSONAL AND LOCAL.

Alfred Gobalet is spending a few days in Sodaville. Miss Bauer, of Portland, is the guest of Mrs. L. Hirsch.

The Dallas Transcript says that McNary lane, near Eola, has in no wise been prepared, and next winter will be a terror to all travelers of the road.

Special Agent Thompson, of the Northwest Insurance Co., is in the city today.

A. J. Richardson came up from Portland on the morning train. Sanford Ballou, of Pasadena, Cal., is in the city, guest of his daughters, Mrs. A. F. Hofer and Miss O. Ballou, the kindergarten.

The general merchandise firm of G. T. Cox & Co. at Mebama have sold their stock, and their store will hereafter be known as the Mebama Cash Store.

Attorney Richardson went to Portland this afternoon. Miss Pfeiffer, of Albany, is visiting in the city.

Mr. Price and family started to Kansas on the afternoon train. It is Mr. Price's intention to join the scramble for Oklahoma land as soon as it is thrown open for settlement.

Mrs. Gaben of Eastern Oregon is visiting her daughter Mrs. Taylor Smith. Mrs. H. E. Gilbert and children accompanied by Miss Alice Shields went to Mebama today to enjoy a pleasant outing.

L. H. McMahon went to the coast on a hunting tour today. Attorney Johnson, of Woodburn, was doing business in the city today. Col. Jeff Myers returned from Portland today.

RECEPTION.—The ladies of the M. E. church will give a farewell reception to Rev. C. R. Kellerman at the residence of John Hughes Friday evening, Sept. 8th, 1893, all members of the congregation and friends are cordially invited.

BIG YIELD.—S. N. Lilly threshed some wheat on George Horning's place near town yesterday that yielded 45 bushels to the acre. Mr. L. says it is the best he has threshed this season.

WILL PREACH.—Rev. Rugg, who has been called to the pastorate of the Baptist church, will occupy his pulpit next Sunday.

BORN. McCULLY.—To Mr. and Mrs. A. L. McCully, in South Salem, September 6, 1893, a daughter.

MARION COUNTY COURT.

The county commissioners met yesterday, but little except preliminary business was done. R. A. Shepard, Canada thistle commissioner, was allowed $38. Henry Landroth was allowed $6 per month, to be disbursed by Henry Keene.

CHINESE RAIDERS IN JAIL.

Sheriff Knight Brings in a Squad of Fifteen Yip Haters.

On Tuesday Sheriff Knight was called to the hop district, in the vicinity of Butteville to protect the Chinese against a threatened riot. The sheriff appointed two deputies, Allen and Grim, farmers and hop growers in that vicinity to see that no violence be done the Chinamen.

Yesterday he received word from the deputies to come and take charge of some prisoners they had captured while interfering with the Chinese laborers. It seems that quite a number of young men had come up to Butteville, from Portland, expecting to get work in the hop fields. Most of them had secured the promise of work and were waiting for the picking season to open.

The "burrah" spirit was started and those without jobs and those who had work set out for the Hubbard yards to drive the Mongolians out. This they did. They went to Mr. McKinney who has his yard leased to Chinamen telling him they had white men to pick his hops, Mr. McKinney told them he had no objection to the white men doing his work but his yard was leased to Chinamen.

The crowd then went to the Chinamen and gave them orders to leave. They did not do it roughly however. A number that lived in the vicinity of Gervais were sent home by team and six or eight that came from Portland were given tickets and put aboard the train. The arrested men claim the tickets were purchased by a collection in the crowd that had assembled on the platform at the station.

When Deputy Grim and his posse arrived and demanded arrest, no resistance was made and out of the crowd of about 50 they arrested 19 and locked them in the Armory until the sheriff arrived last night and brought 17 of them to the county jail on the 9 o'clock train. The remaining two are held to identify others that took an active part in the crusade against the Chinese.

Of the 17 men in jail there is but one Marion county boy, the rest belonging to the Portland crowd where they were gathered from all quarters of the globe. Two of these are from Sweden, one from Finland, one from England, one from Norway, one from Ireland, two from Scotland and the rest from various parts of the United States. They are all young men, some only 19, and without families. The names are H. A. Whitman, J. Held, Fred Thompson, Harry Williams, John Peterson, Wm. Collins, Joe King, Thos. Duff, F. Wells, Gus Smith, Pat McGraw, J. Eaton, Gus Schout, W. Briggs, M. Whitte, Fred Petzell and Wm. West.

The men held in jail can not be classed as hoodlums by any means. They claim never to have been in jail before, and some are very anxious to know their fate. The leaders seem to be Whitman, who is in custody and Sam Miller, marshal of Hubbard, who has not yet been arrested. It is developed that Whitman and Miller and perhaps two or three others went from Hubbard to Butteville and asked the crowd there to join in and rout the Chinese from the vicinity of Hubbard. That some who joined the party did so ignorantly is evident. One prisoner claims that he was urged to join with the promise they were going to Hubbard to have some beer and a good time generally and he didn't know the purpose was to drive the Chinese out. Another when asked why he took part when he had all the work he could do, answered that he expected to have a good time. The sentiment of the captured ones is not strongly against the Chinese though the more intelligent are opposed in principle to having Chinese labor in competition with white labor.

This crusade against the Chinese has been very orderly and such actions will serve to crystallize public sentiment against the Chinese until the Geary law is fully enforced. The prisoners in jail will be disposed of as soon as two writs from Hubbard arrive.

AGAIN.—John Holman has again opened a blacksmith shop in Salem, at rear of Cook's hotel. All friends invited to give him a call, and get work done in the best manner. 9-6-1m REDUCING RANK TREASON.

Influence of a Gondola Ride Through the Lagoons of the Fair. The music came softly, sweetly out to the old man and his daughter as they sat half reclining on the luxurious cushions of the gondola, gaily decorated with Japanese lanterns.

The myriad of gay lights from the cornices, from the roofs, from the water's edge, reflected in silver and gold the ripples of the lagoon. High up along the balcony they could see the flaming torches flickering with Roman reminiscence and the white, ghostly faces and dark forms of the people looking down on the beautiful scene, while all around the lagoon, sitting upon the wide rail of the fence, leaning against the stately or moving about with eager, restless tread, they could see the thousands of sightseers.

"If Byron and Browning could have lived to see this, papa, what poetry we would have from them. They never saw anything to equal this."

"Well, I guess there are few towns could beat this show," the old man complacently remarked. "How dreamily poetical Howells makes Venetian life!" she mused. "It must be something like this. How I should love to live in Venice! "

"Well, I guess there are few towns could beat this show," the old man complacently remarked. "How dreamily poetical Howells makes Venetian life!" she mused. "It must be something like this. How I should love to live in Venice! "

"Do you mean to say you'd rather live in that perennial flood town, Venice, than Chicago?" he sharply interrogated.

"Papa, my life would be a happy dream in Venice."

"Now, look-a-here, Maria," he savagely said, "I won't have that bowlegged dude feller of yours prowling round the house any longer. He puts you up to all this moonshine business, and I won't stand any more of this comic opera-gondolier business, d'ye hear? I ain't going to be paddled round in a canoe by a pair of opera bouffe scullers. We'll land and take an electric or steam launch—something that can get a move on."

He prodded the nearest gondolier with his umbrella and ordered an immediate disembarkation.—Chicago Tribune.

Bicycles in Italy. Judging from the vast number of swift running machines to be seen on its streets, Florence bids fair to merge the time honored "City of Flowers" in the less romantic but equally well merited title "City of Wheels." To the bicyclist the advantages of such a city are manifold, and although barely three years ago the novel vehicle excited a commotion in the streets today Florence may be called the bicycle city of the continent.

Many of the bicyclists are young sprigs of Florentine nobility, many are business men who feel the need of much exercise in little time, but far, far more than both of these classes together are shopboys, who spend every spare franc and most of their spare moments in bicycling. One can but rejoice at their fast, for truly the way of the shopboy is hard and his pleasure few. In Italy such life means long hours of work and very meager pay, which is mostly spent on dress, for who wants a shabby, untidy clerk? Oh, that some philanthropic soul would bequeath a hundred or so bicycles for the use of Florentine shopboys! It would be a slight improvement on the legacy for the maintenance of stray and homeless felines, which was the result of an English woman's observation in Italy.—Boston Transcript.

Mrs. Peary's Sewing Machine. In the good ship Falcon, which has sailed away to carry a band of intrepid voyagers up into the frozen regions, was noticed as a part of its cargo a sewing machine. Mrs. Peary has told of the prize which a needle proved to the Eskimo women, and how on her previous voyage one of them unprovided with such a treasure came and asked for one of them, offering her child in exchange.

The Eskimo wears her bone needle in a case hung from her neck, and the marvelous steel ones which "this woman from the south," as they call Mrs. Peary, brought up were almost too precious to be carried in any way, but new cases were made, the cords strengthened, and these, too, were worn capula fashion against the skin.

What the sharp eyed little creatures will say to the sewing machine when they see it reeling off the seams of the skins, which they so laboriously accomplish, will be interesting to hear about.—New York Times.
