"I am a plain straightforward man:
Originally from Lansingburg, where now reside my mother, brother and sister. Several years ago I moved to Kochester. There I was in the employ of the Erie railroad as yard and freight superintendeut. After a strain to my back, caused by heavy lifting, three years ago, I developed so called rheu-matism. It was an increeaing thing for two years,—ar times worse, again better. I worked intermittently. If would shut my eyes I would fail down My feet and legs soon lost feeling-were numb. This extended to my stomach numb. This extended to my stomach and at times to my hands.

Dictors Lee and Spencer of Rochester finally pronounced my case progressive becometer ataxia, said it was incurable, and that they could only ease my sufferings, and so I lay. Up to this time I had been sick nearly two years. Before this and for several months I was confined to my bed.

Pina stuck into my timbs the full length Pins stuck into my limbs the full length gave me no feeling whatever, my legs seemed wooden. To pound them gave off a noise like wood. So I say as I lay there I was absolutely one-half dead— dead from the waist down. There was one word written in large characters all over that sick room—C-L-A-Y. Life departed from my limbs, that word best expressed what was left. You, of course, have read of John Marshall. The reporter in describing him, described me exactly. I sent for the remedy which cured him—for Dr. Wil liams' Pink Pill, to Schenectady, N. Y., and tried them. I took them irregu-larly for two months. They didn't seem to help. All of a sudden one morning one of my legs began to prickle—seemed as though rubbed with nettles. Then, perhaps, you think I did not investigate that medicine. I began why I called. I am a book agent and control of my bowels and after a few have here a complete thesaurus, price weeks got out of bed and tried to stand $1.50. There seems to be no objection what ever to woman taking control of Sunday schools, benevolent institutions, church fairs, festivals and all other means of caring for the flocks and filling the eccle sinetical exchequer, but when it comes to women in the pulpit there is trouble at once. This is only another of the rel ics of barbarism.

In old times if the church could get control of the women and little children they felt protty sure of their ability to manage the rest of the human family.

Half a century ago a woman doctor was scarcely recognized in reputable circles, and a woman lecturer was a mon strosity. Contrasting that date with the present and taking note of the change in sentiment from one decade to another, it is scarcely too much to expect that by another 50 years we shall see a most wonderful revolution in matters of this sort. It is safe to predict that before the end of the first decade of the next century the woman preacher will be no more of a novelty than the woman doctor now is. Woman is specially fitted for such work, and even were she not so it would be only the strictest kind of justice to give her some of the honor as well as most of the hard work of the church. When once it dawns fully upon the minds of the people of this generation that there is no sex in intellect or moral achievement, the first and most difficult part of this knotty problem will have been solved.

By all means open the pulpit doors to women as well as those of the Sunday school room, the hospital and the executive committee.-New York Ledger.

He Wanted Protection.

The prisoner at the bar was a prisoner not so much possibly because he had knocked a man down on the highway and robbed him as that he had been caught in the act by the police and brought there. In any event he was there, and the policeman in the unromantic manner of policemen had narrated the circumstances.

"You hear what the officer says," said the court stornly. "He states that you knocked the man down and robbed him. What have you to say?"

"Nothing, your honor, as to that part, responded the prisoner, "but I want to deny emphatically certain aspersions he has cast on my character, your honor." "Indeed? And what are they, pray?" inquired the court sarcastically.

Why, your honor, he said he believed came from Chicage and had been running a feed factory on the World's fair grounds. I hope, your bonor, that I am still entitled to protection against calamny.

The court, having been at the World's fair opening week, made the officer apol-ogize at once.—Detroit Free Press.
