The Chinese Bible.

The Chinese scriptures or sacred books were compiled and partly composed by Confucius himself. They are divided into five books--viz: "The Yi-King" which treats wholly of cosmogony.

"Shu-King," the acts and wise maxims of Yao, Shun and other ancient Chinese kings and philosophers, who are now held in great veneration.

"Shi-King," which contains 311 sacred poems.

"E-King," or "The Book of Rites," which is a repository of maxims and directions for everyday life of all sorts and conditions of people.

"Chun-Tsien," which is a history of the time of Confucius. These books taken collectively are usually referred to in lists of "bibles of the world" as "The Five Kings," the word "king" in this connection, as I understand it, simply means "book."

A Careful Brakeman.

For gallantry and thoughtfulness a Boston and Maine brakeman has broken the record, at least in these parts. A group of little girls, in spick span white dresses, were seen by a Homestead reporter alighting from a train at the Union station on a muggy, sticky day, and the brakeman who was lifting them from the car steps to the platform had each of his grimy hands wound carefully with a handkerchief, that no finger marks might be left on the spotless waists and sleeves.--Springfield Homestead.

WILLAMETTE NOTES.

Pres. Hawley addresses the Christian Association Sunday at 3 p. m.

The Philodorian society last night discussed the question: "Resolved that it would be to the best interest of the United States, for congress not to legislate upon the tariff question in this session and decided in the affirmative.

Prof. Cochran assisted by P. L. Brown, are making several improvements in the chemical laboratory; quite a number of new bottles have been purchased and are being arranged for effective class work. The laboratory is too small at present for the proper development of this department, and it is hoped that in the near future the Prof. will have ample room to verify his expanding plans.

The Willamette Collegian for October has gone to press and will be out Tuesday. In view of its size being enlarged and its enlarged circulation (2000 copies) it is now the best and most flourishing college paper in the Northwest. It should have the patronage of Salem people.

Ex. Pres. Whitaker left on Wednesday for his new home and new duties as pastor of St. Paul's church of Portland.

Prof. Yerex will take up his residence in Dr. Whitaker's home, 369 Winter St. He is already busy moving.

The list of the names of the third year and college students is upon the bulletin board in which the time for each to render either an oration or essay before chapel is stated.

R. W. Callison, who gave up his school duties at the beginning of the third term of last year, to take a school at Mossy Rock, Wash., after a successful term of six months, returned on Wednesday, and has registered in the academy, in connection with which he will take up the study of law.

Prof. Sara N. Brown, our new teacher in elocution, who on account of a severe cold has been withholding her appearance before the school in recitation, recited in chapel on Monday, "The Chariot Race," by Ben Hur. Miss Brown displayed rare talent and showed that her training had been thorough and first-class. She is a graduate of the famous Emerson School of Oratory, of Boston, Mass., and since her graduation from the regular course has taken a post-graduate course in the same school, receiving the degree of Master of Oratory.

Resolutions of Respect.

At the last regular meeting of the W. C. T. U., held in their hall on Court street on Tuesday the 26 inst, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, The retirement of our esteemed president, Mrs. Belle W. Cooke, presents a suitable opportunity for expressing the high esteem in which we hold her as a faithful, dignified and courteous officer; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we deeply regret the necessity of losing her in our local temperance work and with heartfelt sadness accept her resignation.

Resolved, That it is but a just tribute to the character of our loved president, Mrs. Belle W. Cooke, to say that her active but unostentatious kindnesses have endeared her to the inmates of many a humble home, as well as to her large circle of friends in general, while every public movement in our city, for the amelioration of suffering, the uplifting of the downtrodden or the suppression of evil in every form, has ever found in her an earnest, untiring conscientious helper.

Resolved, That the secretary of our union transmit to her a copy of these resolutions and, also, that they be published in our local papers.

The Secret of Wealth.

A millionaire said "the secret of my wealth" is in the word, S-A-V-E; and the secret of my health is in the word S-A-G-E. By this last he meant Dr. Sage, whose "Catarrh Remedy" cured him of one of the worst cases of catarrh and thereby saved him from much suffering and premature death, enabling him to make his millions, and enjoy life. The cures made by this medicine are simply wonderful.

A Cincinnati Miracle.

WHY MR. CHARLES B. NOBLE IS BEING CONGRATULATED.

A Remarkable Case of Being Completely Cured of Paralysis After Nearly Three Years of Suffering and Eminent Physicians Had Declared Him Dead. K. H. Harts Esq. 4.

Newspaper men as a rule place little credence in patent medicine stories and seldom bother to even read them. This is not to be wondered at when it is taken into consideration how often they are called upon by unscrupulous persons to fabricate and publish stories of remarkable cures and perhaps print a picture of the mythical man or woman supposed to have been cured. That all medicine advertisements are not mere "fakes," and that all newspaper men are not equally prejudiced is proven by a story published in the Cincinnati Times-Star of a well known newspaper man whose life was saved by reading an advertisement. So remarkable and interesting is the story that it is here reproduced as published in the Times-Star.

Mr. Charles B. Noble, the well known litterateur, who has been suffering for nearly three years with paralysis, was upon the street today, cheerful and active and the recipient of congratulations from his many friends. There is a bond of unity between all newspaper men, so that Mr. Noble's case appeals to every one afflicted as he was. Mr. Noble has spent the last three years in traveling from city to city seeking skilled physicians, to whom he has appeared in vain for relief. Knowing this, a reporter expressed surprise at the remarkable cure, but Mr. Noble, after executing a jig to show that he was as sound as he looked, let the reporter into the secret of his cure.

"It was a hard time I had of it," said he, "but the last medicine we take is always the one that cures, and I have taken the last. I was paralyzed on March 9, 1890, while in the employ of the David Williams Publishing Co. of New York City as their traveling representative in Cincinnati. I found the traveling a great help to me, both in a financial and a literary way, but suddenly stricken down as I was at Somerset, O., 150 miles from Cincinnati, I was incapacitated for both writing and money making. Luckily my literary productions had been remunerative, and I had a snug bank account laid up, but these three years have made a drain on it.

"I sought a score of physicians, going to the best specialists in Cincinnati, Chattanooga and Pittsburg. Twelve Cincinnati doctors, pronounced my case incurable, but I would not give up, and after seeking in vain for relief in Pittsburg and Chattanooga, consulted the best medical talent in Chicago. Up to January 17, 1893, I had spent $2,500 for doctors and medicine and was about to give up in despair when I got hold of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, through reading the advertisement.

"From the first week of using the remedy I made a steady improvement, and on April 12, I put up my case after using it thirty months. I certainly believe this medicine is all the proprietors claim for it, and it will do all they say it will. I take pleasure in recommending it to all similarly afflicted. Like many who have tried medicine in vain I was doubtful of its value at first, and only used when I grew desperate. Now I can not praise it too highly. It has restored me to health and strength and I feel grateful accordingly. Dr. Whitaker pronounced it is a hopeless case of locomotor ataxia.

"Yes, I know there are many who will fancy anything you say about my case is an advertisement, but if they want any corroboration, let them address me at the Y. M. C. A. building, and I will cheerfully answer all inquiries if stamps are enclosed."

Pink Pills, while advertised and handled by the drug trade as a proprietary article, are not considered a patent medicine in the sense that name implies. For many years previous to their general manufacture they were used as a prescription. At first their great restorative powers were not fully recognized and they were chiefly prescribed for impure blood and general weakness. Their remarkable success in such cases, and the fact that there was nothing in the formula that could do no harm, even if they did not do any good, led to their being tried in cases where the skill of the physician and the power of medicine had entirely failed. Their power of restoration seemed to border on the marvelous. They proved to be a never-failing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of La Grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, and all diseases of the blood such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc.

They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities, and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In case of men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature.

Pink Pills are sold in boxes, never in loose form, by the dozen or hundreds, and the public is cautioned against numerous imitations sold in this shape at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 and may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., or Brockville, Ont. The price at which these Pills are sold makes a course of treatment inexpensive as compared with other remedies or medical treatment.
