GOLD BONDS AND COMPROMISE.

Cleveland Weakening on the Conditions of Repeal.

Vigilant Wins Again.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The Valkyrie and Vigilant were in tow passing outside of Sandy Hook at 9:30, preparatory for a day's race. The weather is fair, with prospect of a good breeze.

The second of a series of races between the British yacht Valkyrie and the American yacht Vigilant for America's cup, sailed today. The course today was triangular outside of Sandy Hook lightship. Each leg ten miles long making the entire course thirty miles.

Early this morning the sky was overcast with fog on the water but later on it cleared away and the fog lifted, making the day brilliant. The wind during the morning was very stiff and uncertain, blowing part of the time only six knots per hour, but at the hour of starting it was blowing an 18 knot breeze.

The preparatory gun was fired at 11:35 and the starting gun five minutes later. The yachts maneuvered for position to the northward of the mark, both carrying mainsail, foresail, jib and club top sail. The Valkyrie again got the best of the start, crossing the line at 11:25, followed by the Vigilant five seconds later. Then the Vigilant set her jib top sail and began to close up on the Valkyrie's weather quarter, both making good headway. The wind freshened and the Valkyrie moved forward, opening a gap four lengths which was maintained without material change till 11:50.

At 12:20 the Vigilant passed the Britisher and at 12:30 was an eighth of a mile ahead. The British claim has been that they wanted heavy wind to show what they could do; but the Vigilant beat the Valkyrie on wind, as badly as on Saturday she beat her before on wind.

The Vigilant rounded the first stake boat at 1:02, and the Valkyrie three minutes and fifteen seconds later. The Vigilant rounded the second stake boat having covered ten miles of the second leg, in 51 minutes. The Vigilant wins, crossing the line at 2:50 p. m. The Valkyrie crossed the line at 3:22. The race is to be three best in five.

Woolen Mills Strike.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 9.—Six thousand employes of the woolen mills at Olneyville, a suburb of this city inaugurated a strike this morning. The indications are that it will extend to all the woolen manufacturing establishments in the state, and there is talk of cotton workers joining the strike. The strike is against the reduction in wages posted this morning.

Cleveland's Ultimatum.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—[Washington Special.]—Cleveland is getting ready for the issue of gold bonds probably for $100,000,000, either under a compromise silver bill or under authority of the treasury department.

It is stated that the only best compromise that can be made with the silver men is to continue to purchase 2,000,000 ounces of silver per month for three years, and authorize bonds for the purpose of increasing the gold reserve to $200,000,000. Silver men may insist upon the purchase of silver.

chase of 2,500,000 a month. If they do they will consent to a provision permitting the national banks to issue circulation for par value of their bonds.

Cleveland may repudiate the proposed compromise and may even seek to head it off by announcing that he will provide for bonds under the authority he already has.

Carlisle's emphatic denial of the report from Paris that the United States is seeking to arrange a $100,000,000 bond issue abroad, and his declaration that no bonds will be issued by the Democratic administration, have no bearing on the situation.

Bombarding Again.

RIO JANERIO, Oct. 9.—The insurgent fleet again bombarded the outside ports today and there was also some firing on the other side opposite the city. It is believed the insurgents will attempt to capture the Estralla powder magazine, but the government will blow the magazine up if it seems likely in danger of capture. There is no truth in the report that foreign warships are landing sailors to protect foreign subjects.

The insurgents' admiral has issued a manifesto, disclaiming any intention of bombarding the city.

A Lake Wreck.

DEER PARK, Mich., Oct. 9.—A wrecked fishing boat was picked up by the Muskegon life saving crew. It was found to be the boat which left Whitefish Point October 6th, with eight persons on board, including Capt. W. H. Carter, his wife and one child, and five seamen. It is thought all are drowned.

IN THE RELIGIOUS WORLD.

Presbyterians Prospering on the Pacific Coast.

TACOMA, Oct. 8.—The synod of the Columbia, of the United Presbyterian church, closed its annual meeting here today, electing Rev. A. M. Aheson, of Oakville, Or., moderator for the ensuing year and Rev. James Speer alternate. Spokane was chosen as the place for the next meeting, in September, 1894. A committee was appointed to arrange to bring out 300 delegates, from all over the United States, to the general assembly at Albany, Or., next May, by special train, making stops at Spokane and Sound cities. The reports show that the denomination in the Northwest is very prosperous and growing fast.

Preserved Smith Again.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 9.—Professor Henry Preserved Smith, D. D., late of the Lane theological seminary, will be heard before the Presbyterian synod of Ohio on an appeal from the Cincinnati presbytery, which found him guilty of two charges of heresy. The synod will convene here Tuesday.

The Baptists.

PENDLETON, Oct. 8.—The Baptists are making thorough and extensive preparations for the meeting of the Baptist state convention, which meets there this month, from the 18th to the 23d. This is the first time this body ever met in Eastern Oregon. A very interesting program has been arranged.

The Evangelical Alliance.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—The international meeting of the Evangelical alliance convened here today. Addresses of welcome were delivered by President Bonny, Mrs. Potter Palmer, Dr. Burrows and others. They were responded to by Lord Kinnaird, Prof. Henry Drummond, of Glasgow, Colonel Rose-dale, of Netherlands; Rev. Prochet, of Rome, and General Howard of the United States army. Among the speakers were William A. Dodge of New York, president of the alliance; Dr. Simon J. McPherson, and President Gates of Amherst. Meetings of the alliance will continue throughout the week.

First Boat.

MCMINNVILLE, Or., Oct. 9.—Owing to heavy rains the first steamboat since the railroad was built fourteen years ago, arrived here last night.

Chicago Day.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Today is Chicago day at the fair. It is estimated that half a million people are on the grounds.

Congressmen Hot.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—In the house today Springer took exception to Boutelle's applying epithet "dough face" to a member of the house, "It's an epithet," said Boutelle fiercely, "which can be applied with equal force as well to gentlemen from Illinois as gentlemen from Maine."

Springer grew white with rage and striding fiercely toward Boutelle retorted: "I want you to know, sir, you cannot apply such an epithet to me." After some further exchange Boutelle still protesting that the expression was not unparliamentary, withdrew.

THE CONGRESSIONAL DEBATE.

What Was Said and Done in Congress Saturday.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—In the house Everett of Massachusetts opened the debate on the election laws bill. He admitted the laws were within the scope of the constitution, but should only be exercised under extreme pressure.

Grosvonor of Ohio followed in opposition. He made a vigorous assault on the Democratic party for trying to strike down national protection at the ballot box. Referring to the Van Alen appointment Grosvonor said evidence of the most degraded condition to which politics had ever descended was at hand when a respectable gentleman (referring to Horace White of New York) argues that a man who puts up for the corruption fund of the party should not be recognized by appointment to office but should be entitled to have his money refunded.

Oates of Alabama advocated the passage of the elections bill. Hopburn of Iowa, ex-solicitor of the treasury, said it was an insolent assumption of Democrats that the Republican party was interfering with their domestic affairs. "We have the right to require honest elections in the South. The decried statutes do not interfere with state elections, but only require that there shall be proper scrutiny and peace at the polls so every man shall have the right to vote as he pleases at federal elections.

Secretary Carlisle made a visit to the senate wing of the capitol. The visit created a mild sensation as the secretary had just come from a conference with the president and it was naturally supposed he had some important message. He spent two hours in conference with various Democratic senators, among others Voorhees and Harris. A report was soon in circulation that he was sent as the president's representative to arrange terms of agreement with the opposing forces of the Democratic ranks in the senate and there were senators ready to name the terms which he offered.

Inquiry, however, developed the fact that they were merely dealing in surmises. The purpose of the secretary's visit seems to be just the opposite of that attributed to him. Senator Vance told a representative of the Associated Press that Carlisle had gone to the capitol for the purpose of preventing a compromise and Senator Voorhees virtually confirmed the statement. After a conference with Carlisle, Voorhees said the administration forces had no compromise to suggest or ask and they were still determined to make the fight on the old lines and on Wednesday night when the session would be begun he had assurances that there would be a quorum of repeal senators on hand and that they would remain until the bill could be disposed of and there would be no adjournment until it should be passed. It would seem, therefore, if there be a compromise, that it cannot come until after night session test is tried. It is but fair to say there are very few repeal senators as sanguine of success of the bill in its present shape as is Voorhees.

The large majority of senators assert the bill cannot be passed except in a modified form, and others agree with Senator Manderson in the assertion that if no compromise be reached a recess of the senate until December will be necessary, which virtually means abandonment of the bill, Senator Carey, who has not so far identified himself with either side, said tonight the inevitable result of the night session experiment would be an agreement upon a compromise bill.

DeLesseps Dying.

PARIS, Oct. 9.—Ferdinand DeLesseps is said to be dying, at his country house.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Two Thousand Lives Lost by the Storm.

MILLIONS OF PROPERTY DESTROYED.

The Unburied Bodies Causes Fear of an Epidemic.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 8.—The news from every section stricken by the storm makes it safe to estimate the loss of life at fully 2000, while millions of dollars worth of property was destroyed. Besides that thousands of people have been deprived of the means of making a livelihood. The situation is appalling, but New Orleans is doing all it can to relieve the thousands in want. Dr. Story, coroner of Plaquemine parish, has issued this report:

"A good many carloads of provisions and clothing have been sent, but not enough. Men, women and children are without food and clothing. They have become so desperate that they threaten to attack the stores and steal food. It is a frequent thing to see the little sufferers crying and begging pitifully for something to eat. Single graves for the dead were impossible. Great trenches were dug and bodies were piled in one on top of the other.

Dirt was then thrown on them, and if their names were ascertained they cut in rude crosses above the graves. I do not think I exaggerate the facts when I state that at least 2000 souls were ushered into eternity by the recent storm in Louisiana. Of course this includes Bayou Cook, Cheniere Caminda, Grand Isle, etc. I never saw bodies decompose so rapidly as those of the storm sufferers which were viewed by me. This was due to the facts that the flesh and crabs in bayous eat the remain.

I believe firmly that the marshes and other places were filled with human forms. It is impossible to reach these, however, as no one is adventurous enough to explore the swamps. There can be no doubt of the fact that this is conducive to an epidemic of fever or even cholera. If one case of the latter disease should develop, it will spread like wildfire throughout the country, but nothing can be done to prevent this.

The relief party, which set out from Biloxi, tells a awful story of the destitution and loss of life in the Louisiana marshes. The marshes are filled with dead and putrefying bodies. In very few cases are the corpses recognizable. The number of lives lost in these marshes will never be known. The territory covered was a distance of 500 miles. Newly made graves were seen everywhere. The only sign of life seen in the marsh was a raccoon, and it was floating on a log. Hundreds of oyster boats and loggers were lost with most of their crews, and the few survivors tell terrible stories of suffering. Most of them were nude when found.

Captain Julian Lefort, the leading spirit among the survivors of the Cheniere Caminda, places the number saved at 300. The population of the island and the bayous immediately connected with it, was slightly more than 1500. He says the island will be abandoned as a habitation of man. Grand Isle and Chemedelaire will also be abandoned.

The mayor today received a telegram from R. M. Arnold, of Chicago, general freight agent of the Monon route, tendering care for the free transportation of donations of clothing and provisions for the relief of the sufferers by the storm.

STORM FUND.

This city has raised a storm fund of about $75,000 in all, and steamers, loggers, skiffs and trains have been sent in every direction to extend relief. Intelligence from bayou Mandress says there were hundreds of deaths along that section, making about 1600 deaths between Cheniere and bayou Cook. The Louisville & Nashville railroad is still repairing bridges, and will not be in good order for two weeks.

SOME SOUND NEWS.

No Positive Clue as to the Murderer of Mrs. Fetting.

SEATTLE, Oct. 9.—A thorough investigation has satisfied the police that the bottle of chloroform found in the room where Mrs. Charlotte Fetting was murdered on the night of September 4 was not purchased in this city and that it was probably procured at Tacoma. The same make of bottles as the one containing the drug is sold by a number of druggists both in Seattle and the City of Destiny. The druggist who sold the chloroform could give very valuable assistance to the detectives by making the matter known, but he continues to 'fall to do so. This is about the only possible clue that would lead to the identification of the murderer or murderers, unless a confession of some kind is made, which it is not at all likely will be done.

So many persons knew that Mrs. Fetting kept money, and that was the only object of the murder, in her house that gives ground for throwing suspicion upon many people and still no one in particular.

Electric Light War.

TACOMA, Oct. 9.—A war between the city and the Commercial Light and Power Company is on and from the enthusiastic manner in which the managers of the city's light have entered upon the campaign it would seem that the fight is on to stay. There have been rumors of war in the air for some time past between the city and the Commercial company, but it was thought that an amicable agreement could be reached while the flag of truce was in sight. When everything seemed most favorable towards a satisfactory settlement of the differences the flag of truce was suddenly yanked out of sight and the declaration of war followed.

The board of public works, who are in charge of the city's forces, drew up the following order, which Chief Orderly Metcalf was told to deliver to the enemy forthwith:

Robert Sale Hill, general manager of the Commercial Light & Power Company.—Dear Sir: You are hereby notified to remove all wires belonging to your company from the poles owned by the city of Tacoma before October 25th.

PORTLAND, Oct. 9.—A Union Pacific freight train ran into a land slide, near Hood river this morning. Fireman Wilson, Engineer Christian and Conductor Glendenning were slightly injured.

The Two Minute Trotter.

It is hardly a year since horsemen who predicted that the two minute trotter would appear in the future were looked upon as dreamers by less enthusiastic judges. But this great achievement does not appear so visionary as it did. On the contrary, there are many who now regard it as altogether probable.

Nancy Hanks' great record of 2:04 wrought a radical change in expert opinion on this point, and now the confidence in the two minute trotter has been materially strengthened by Directum's mile in 2:07 at Fleetwood. In many respects the latter was a more remarkable performance than the former, since it was done by a 4-year-old stallion on an oval track never considered fast and the first half mile being scored at almost a two minute gait.

What Directum would have done the same day on a fast kite track or what speed he will show when he reaches the maturity of his powers is of course a matter of speculation. But his remarkable mile at Fleetwood, following the sensational record of Nancy Hanks, may well lead horsemen to look with confidence for a two minute record in the not distant future.—New York Herald
