WHAT WE NEED.

In a single edition of one of our best daily papers we read of murder and suicide, elopements and bankruptcy, starvation and suffering of all kinds and we not only find this in one day's edition, but every day throughout the year and yet the American people are satisfied apparently to read this daily and think their duty as done when their jaws confine the criminals that are caught their charities feed the boldest of the hungry and their school houses are reared to educate such as will not run away from school.

Back of all this is needed a broader and deeper philanthropy one that seeks not only to confine the criminal classes of the worst sort for the general good, and to feed the hungry, as a sort of salve to one's conscience, but that shall seek the means to prevent criminal classes from existing and shall provide ways by which every man may become honest and earn his own bread. This country is broad; it has much untilled soil, and with the right kind of training no one need starve, though all may not become rich. It is time American parents and teachers should open their eyes and see what is in the future for our boys and girls. It is time we aroused ourselves and began to teach the young people the value of time, the importance of industry, and the ability to use every God-given power. It is time we began to look to the congress of the future, and to train our boys, yes, and our girls, to become future statesmen of whom we may be proud. The home is a good place to train a child, but not every child has a home. The primary school is a good place, but until a child is six years old he must be kept out of school. What is to be done with the little waif between two and six years old? If he is turned loose upon the streets until he is six, he will not go to school much after that. Charity kindergartens have already been established in a few cities.—Nashville Banner.

DEMOCRATIC NEWS.

THE JOURNAL is a newspaper. It is considered the duty of a newspaper to print all news of importance. Hence we print Democratic news as well as Republican news, Populist news, as well as Probi news. We print more such political news, print it more plainly and more timely than any other political newspaper of any party. In other words readers of this paper, no matter of what party, obtain more and better party news than they will receive in any mere party paper of their several parties, because they will receive all the important party news of all the parties. THE JOURNAL was the only paper at Salem to print the great speech of David B. Hill, delivered in New York the other day. It is the only paper that has printed the statements of President Cleveland in his own behalf. It has done this not because Salem has no Democratic newspaper but out of justice to itself as a newspaper. Its readers have as good a right to get the Democratic news as the Republican news.

WHY FOR REPEAL?

A writer asks why is THE JOURNAL for repeal of the Sherman silver purchase law? Because that law has no way to get out, and because it does not put silver in circulation. Its intention was to give the country an abundance of silver money in circulation. The silver has been hoarded up in Washington. Miners have been taking their bullion to the treasury and getting certificates convertible into gold. The government was forced by the Sherman law to buy so much silver per month and forced to pay for it in gold. That has drained the gold out of the treasury, drained the gold out of the country, was an unjust operation and did not help silver. THE JOURNAL is in favor of free coinage of silver or such terms as it will circulate largely among the people. It is in favor of increasing the legal tender limit of silver. It is in favor of laborers on government works being paid off each week in silver direct from the mints. These are some of our reasons for repeal.

FROM SHEDD.

While attending a social at Shedd Friday evening, Grace May Burdick, a young girl visiting two miles out of town, lost a beautiful gold watch and chain. Late Saturday night her father heard of the loss and started Sunday morning to hunt for the lost property, which he fortunately found, nearly embedded in the mud.

John Ellison had his index finger badly broken, while trying to separate two men from fighting. He has just completed a nice little dwelling house, soon to be occupied by the family of Geo. Burdick, late of Washington.

The firm of Burdick & Adams, last week shipped a carload of hogs to Portland, and have another load ready for the Seattle market.

Our school is progressing finely, under the management of Prof. Chase, as teacher. His family will move here soon.

H. E. Hayes, State Grange lecturer, passed through town Tuesday, and was entertained at the home of W. W. Powers. Mrs. Powers returned home today, from Salem, where she has been visiting her son, for the past three weeks.

Pensive and Expensive.

Many a woman shrinks from consulting a physician about functional derangements and weakness, and prefers to suffer in silence. She is sad and pensive, and her neglect of her ailments will prove expensive. It may cost her her life. One of the most skillful physicians of the day, who has had a vast experience in curing diseases peculiar to women, has prepared a remedy which is of inestimable aid to them. We refer to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the only remedy for women's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money refunded.

STATE NEWS, NOTES, AND COMMENTS.

Within the next three weeks $100,000 will be sent in circulation in Crook county from the sale of beef cattle.

Corvallis Times: The college funds are in a much easier condition. Treasurer Applewhite has just received notice from the state treasurer that $5,500 will be available for redemption of state warrants within fifteen days.

A meeting for purposes of forming a kindergarten association has been appointed to meet next Friday afternoon, Oct. 27th, at 3:30 o'clock in the Albany college.

A head-end collision of horse cars at Eugene shook up the Presbyterians and stove in the car ends.

A movement is on foot to consolidate the Congregational and the Presbyterian churches of Pendleton.

That Grand Trunk railroad which so nearly wrecks these passengers twice should be called the Great Smash line.

Grover Cleveland should take warning of that Grand Trunk road, which nearly wrecked the same passengers twice. His party has wrecked the people once on finance. They should not do it again on the tariff.

People are generally satisfied to be smashed up to a collision once. An Eastern railroad is trying to do it twice.

It has been settled. The battle ship Oregon will receive a fine silver service from the people of Oregon. The service will cost in the neighborhood of $3500 and will be engraved with Oregon scenery. This money is to be raised by popular subscription, a committee having already been appointed to look after the matter. The service should be the finest ever placed on a warship. The Oregon is the finest vessel in the American navy and the silver for the service should be Oregon silver.—Baker City Democrat.

LaGrande Chronicle: There is a singular appropriateness in the selection of the young lady who is to touch the button that launches the new battle ship Oregon. Miss Shelby is the great-granddaughter of Gen. Jo Lane, the pioneer patriot and soldier, who is indissolubly associated with Oregon's history. Gen. Lane had achieved a national reputation before he crossed the sunset side of the Rockies. The rugged quality of his courage and statesmanship fitted him for leadership in a frontier settlement, and when he came to Oregon the little band of settlers were only too glad to put him in the foremost rank. And it was fortunate for the new territory that it had a leader so magnificently equipped for the work before him. Now that our state is resting on the solid foundations which General Lane helped to lay, it is fortunate that there is a descendant of the third generation to help identify his name with an event that is to signify Oregon's importance.

HUMOR SHE MEANT IT.

And She Didn't Care How Loud She Talked Either. "I suppose you have heard of the man in which Mr. Snodgrass treats his wife and children, haven't you?" said Mrs. Keedick to a friend as the two were riding together in a street car. "Sh! Don't speak quite so loud," replied the latter in a frightened sort of a whisper. But the admonition was lost on Mrs. Keedick, who continued in a somewhat louder tone: "I believe it is all true too. They say he's so stingy that he won't give his wife a single dollar unless she just literally pleads for it, and then he throws it to her much as a miser would throw a bone to a dog."

"Please don't speak quite so loud," replied Mrs. Keedick's auditor. "Mrs. Snodgrass hasn't had a new bonnet in two years," the speaker went on, without lowering her tone, "and it must be much longer than that since she had the pleasure of ordering a new gown. Before I'd put up with such nonsense I'd make my husband's life a burden to him! It isn't as though the skinflint couldn't afford it. He's far better off than your husband or mine, and yet he treats that sweet woman who was fool enough to marry him in that cruel fashion."

"A little lower tone, please," nudged the listener, but Mrs. Keedick's voice was just as loud as she kept on: "It's the same way with the children. They can't go to school because they haven't clothes fit to wear. He's as cross as a bear to them too. Seems to resent their presence on the same earth with him. How I do pity the poor things, and especially at this time of the year! It's a mighty sorrowful Christmas they will have unless the neighbors take up a collection for them."

There came another nudge from Mrs. Keedick's friend, and just then a man who sat near signaled the conductor to stop, and he got out. The nudger heaved a sigh of relief. "That was Mr. Snodgrass himself, and I'm so afraid he heard what you said." "Yes," replied Mrs. Keedick calmly. "I knew it was the miserable, mean man, and I intended that he should know just what people think of his meanness. I'm in hopes it will do him good and make life more bearable for his wife and children." And Mrs. Keedick smiled sweetly as she bade her friends good afternoon and left the car.—Brooklyn Life.

Made Him Wait. At a dinner party before Renan had risen to fame he was about to speak on a current topic when Jules Simon signified his intention of talking, and the hostess asked Renan to wait. When the greater lion had done roaring, the lady said: "Now, M. Renan, it is your turn. You were going to say something." "I merely want to ask for some peas," he replied, with gravity, and he was silent during the rest of the evening.—Youth's Companion.

Wanted His Money's Worth. A forlorn Irishman, reduced to the extreme stage of poverty and destitution, as a last resource made inquiry at a marine store as follows: "Do you buy rags and bones here?" "Yes," was the reply. "Then, be jabers," said Pat, "you may put me on the scales."—Tit-Bits.

MRS. ELMIRA HATCH. HEART DISEASE 20 YEARS.

Dear Sirs: For 20 years I was troubled with heart disease. Would frequently have falling spells and smothering at night. Had to sit up or get out of bed to breathe. Had pain in my left side and back most of the time; at last I became dropsical. I was very nervous and nearly worn out. The least excitement would cause me to faint with fluttering. For the last fifteen years I could not sleep on my left side or back until I began taking your New Heart Cure. I had not taken it very long until I felt much better, and I can now sleep on either side or back without the least discomfort. I have no pain, smothering, dropsy, no wind on stomach or other disagreeable symptoms. I am able to do all my own housework without any trouble and consider myself cured. Elkhart, Ind., 1888. MRS. ELMIRA HATCH. It is now four years since I have taken any medicine. Am in better health than I have been in 40 years. I honestly believe Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure saved my life and made me a well woman. I am now 70 years of age, and am able to do a good day's work. May 27th, 1892. MRS. ELMIRA HATCH. The same principle is applied of course to the weeds and grasses of a cultivated field.—Chicago Herald.
