SENATORIAL ABSENTEES

Defeat a Vote on the Repeal Bill

TO MONDAY OR TUESDAY.

Senators Will Have a Chance to Speak.

AMERICAN PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION

Making its Influence Felt in Ohio Elections.

More Speeches.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—In the senate the prospect now is of the greater part of the day being given to speech-making, though voting on the amendments may begin late this afternoon. There is special debate on part of repeal managers, however, to secure a vote on the repeal bill before Monday or Tuesday, because there are several absentees who are expected to be here by that time, who will not have their votes recorded. It is not supposed the vote will be postponed for their return, but several speeches are to be made yet including those of Gorman, Cockrell, Du Bois, Jones and Stewart. These will probably consume the greater part of the day. There will be a few short speeches after the amendments are disposed of before the vote is taken on the bill.

THE SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

When the senate convened at 11 a. m., fifty-two senators were present. The urgent deficiency bill was taken up and passed. The repeal bill was then taken up, and Wolcott addressed the senate in opposition. He was followed by Sherman, who spoke of the depleted condition of the treasury. To rectify this, the secretary of the treasury should be authorized to issue bonds. He considered it unwise to offer such an amendment to the present bill, but had ready a proposition for the sale of two hundred millions three per cent. gold bonds, as a method he would suggest for relief.

He was followed by Gorman who said when congress met the Democratic party was hopelessly divided on the silver question, as were the Republicans there was a majority in favor of unconditional repeal he asserted, for many of those who would vote that way wanted some other measure passed in place of the Sherman law. Stewart offered a substitute for the Perkins amendment which was practically to the same effect, but differently worded. Substitute lost 59 to 29. Perkins amendment lost 50 to 41. Perry of Arkansas offered the Bland-Allison law as proviso to the repeal bill.

The Bland-Allison amendment was lost by 33 to 37. Allen, of Nebraska, offered an amendment to coin the bullion in the treasury, lost by 31 to 41. The vote on the Blackburn amendment offered some days ago resulted yeas 28, nays 42.

Time Set for Final.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—4:40 p. m.—Special-Senator Voorhees has given notice that he will ask a final vote on the repeal bill at 2 o'clock Monday.

ANOTHER AMENDMENT.

Stewart offered an amendment for a conference of all American states, to fix a uniform silver coinage. Rejected, yeas 32; nays 41.

THE LATEST.

At 5 p. m. Allen, of Nebraska, offered an amendment for free silver coinage; rejected, yeas 28; nays 41.

The Chicago Way.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—One million dollars will be given by Marshal Field to a permanent museum, which is to be an outcome of the world's fair, on condition that $600,000 be subscribed, and that stockholders of the exposition subscribe to the fund $2,000,000 of their holdings, which represent an investment of $5,000,000, but are worth less. George M. Pullman has subscribed $100,000.

The total attendance yesterday was 284,027, of which 259,583 paid.

The Russians Rich.

TOULON, Oct. 28.—The great series of fetes in honor of the visiting Russians and sailors, is at an end, and they carry away with them as mementoes presents to the value of half a million dollars.

New York Banks Solid.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The weekly bank statement shows that the banks now hold about forty-nine million dollars excess of legal requirements.

The Brotherhood.

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—The convention of Brotherhood of railroad trainmen elected E. E. Wilkinson Grand Master.

The Oregon Pacific

CORVALLIS, Or., Oct. 28.—The visit here of Attorneys Muir and Bell of Portland gives strong color to the report that there will be bidders at the sale of the Oregon Pacific railroad. They examined all of the right of way deeds, miscellaneous agreements and mortgages, all circuit court orders including the orders condemning private property for right of way, and the articles of incorporation of both the Oregon Pacific and the Willamette Valley and Coast railroads. They claimed to represent the holders of receivers' certificates but the information they carried away would be of use only to certificate holders contemplating purchase.

Manager Kehler, Superintendent Fields and Engineer Groundahl of the Southern Pacific passed over the Oregon Pacific from Albany to Corvallis yesterday.

Actors and Gas Burners.

"A pair of nippers and half a dozen 18 inch gas burner tips," was the order given by a jaunty young woman who visited an up town hardware store the other day. "That lady," said the proprietor after her departure, "is an actress and is just going on the road. All theatrical people while traveling carry nippers and tips with them. The managers of hotels in small towns try to save gas by putting bits of cotton in the bedroom burners, thus impeding the flow. The minute an actor strikes a light and detects this he pulls out his nippers and tips. Off comes the 'faked' burner and on goes one that lets the full head of gas come through. Before leaving he arranges things as he found them and goes merrily along to get the better of the next economical landlord on his route."—New York Sun.

Close Dealing in Maine.

A woman sold a pig to a butcher the other day, and he killed it on the premises. Now, it is a superstition with some butchers that to cut off a pig's tail insures the preservation of the meat. The pig's little tail was cut off. But the woman was on the watch. She picked up the tail and gave it to the butcher to be weighed, saying, "I want pay for the whole of him." But the butcher got even with her. The reckoning came to a half a cent, probably because of the addition of the tail. She wanted the half cent, of course. She always does. So the butcher placed a cent on the block, cut it in two with his cleaver and gave her the half cent.—Portland Daily Press.

AN OPTICAL ILLUSION.

Curious Double Reflections Seen Through a Railway Car Window.

Curious things are sometimes developed by double reflections in the presence of plenty of glass to keep up the reflection. This is what a woman saw a few days ago as she sat in her car in the Grand Central station waiting for the train to pull out:

On the left of her train, and very close to it, was a second train. The seats of her own car had the usual red plush cushions, and those in the other were bright blue. At the right of the observer, and in the same car, sat a young woman lounging carelessly back and reading a magazine. The observer looked out through the window on her left into the corresponding car of the other train. There was also a young woman lying back on the blue plush cushions and reading a magazine. A moment before the seat had been empty.

The observer was struck by the resemblance between this young woman and the one at her right. She looked across her own car. It was the same young person, but the one in her car was actual, the other was the reflection. Yet the reflected figure sat not in a red plush seat as the former did, but on the actual blue plush seat with which that car was furnished. Yet the figure seemed perfectly solid, and no glimpse of the blue plush was seen where the shadow body touched the seat.

As the curious observer looked two men came into the empty car and seated themselves in the very seat occupied by the half reclining figure. The first man slid over toward the window without disturbing the reflection. The second one sat down squarely where the girl was sitting, and here was the strange part of it: The figure showed no signs of disappearing, and there was then presented the figure of the young girl leaning back and calmly reading, with a man sitting solidly on her lap and leaning forward.

And the reflected figure of the girl was just as clear and distinct as the real figure of the man. Below the seat both the real and unreal were greatly mixed. It was a confused mingling of trouser cloth and skirt cloth. The two bodies seemed actually occupying the same space.

It was thoroughly perplexing, and the woman was glad when the train slid away and the picture dissolved.—New York Times.

Hired Relatives.

One of the curious national branches of industry which have grown to enormous proportions in Bucharest, the capital of Roumania, is the noble profession of "hired relatives," which undertakes to furnish to everybody in want of parents, brothers, sisters, aunts, etc., the necessary persons to represent them.

Persons who desire to get married, for instance, and have no parents to figure at their respective weddings, or who are in possession of such who decline to give their consent to the marriage of their sons and daughters, need do nothing more than station themselves near the entrance to the marriage license bureau. There they will soon find themselves accosted by some "gentleman" or "lady," who for a moderate sum of money is willing to take the place of the absent parent.

For 20 lei ($4) quite a respectable looking father can be hired. Fifteen lei is paid for a brother, and a fashionably dressed mother costs the same amount. Investigation has disclosed the fact that some of these professional mothers have figured at weddings 50 times a year.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Why Does the Earth Revolve?

That the earth "do move" is a fact that has been demonstrated in a variety of ways, but exactly why it does so is not so easy to explain. The astronomers are not agreed upon this question, and "when doctors disagree" where are the common people to look for explanations, answers and solutions to such queries? One school of these star wise men claim that the original initial centrifugal force given the globe was directed in a line slightly to one side of the center, which would of course cause the great globe to rotate on its axis, and by what is known as the "law of inertia" it would "continue to so revolve at a uniform rate of speed until arrested by some outside forces." Others claim that the motion of daily rotation is a compound resultant of the general motion of the earth in its orbit and the attraction of the sun.—St. Louis Republic.

The highest waves ever met with in the ocean are said to be those off the Cape of Good Hope. Under the influence of a northwesterly gale they have been known to exceed 40 feet in height.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

RESOLUTIONS.

Following resolutions in memory of Miss Olive M. Capwell, a former superintendent of the Oregon Institute for the Blind, were adopted by the Miltonian literary society of said school:

The sad, silent messenger has again entered the circle of our loved ones, and called from this life of care and sorrow to that bright eternity of peace and joy, our dear friend, Olive Capwell. Inasmuch as we sadly mourn her loss, and shall ever hold her in affectionate remembrance,—

Therefore resolved—1. That we who knew her best found in her a tenderly sympathetic friend, a patient and devoted teacher, an earnest christian, and an ardent advocate of all that is good, pure and noble.

2. That we extend to the bereaved our deepest sympathy in this their hour of grief, bidding them to keep to their hearts the lessons which she has taught, and to remember that the Author of Life doeth all things well.

3. That these resolutions be copied in New York point and on the type-writer, and copies be sent to the bereaved mother.

Hattie M. Carothers,
Sadie Bristol,
Louisa Lewis,
Nancy Atkinson, Committee.

These resolutions were prepared by pupils who formerly studied under Miss Capwell, and a copy in type-writer and a large print also prepared by the blind students, and beautifully framed were presented to Mrs. Capwell, the mother of deceased. She had framed a life size picture of the former superintendent and presented it to the pupils of the school. Both of these graceful tributes in memory of the deceased will be recognized as extremely appropriate when it is known that the givers had no knowledge of each others intentions. Besides the resolutions the blind institute attended the funeral in a body and escorted the remains to the train. A beautiful flower piece, a sickle of white lilies on a stand-piece were brought by the school. All the children and grown students, and even the employees under Miss Capwell, expressed the deepest grief at her death and showed it in many impressive ways.

MISS CAPWELL'S FUNERAL.

was attended Friday by a large number of people. Rev. G. W. Gonia conducted the service, which was very simple. There was singing, reading of the 90th Psalm, and a brief tribute to her memory. The oldest hymns were sung and the most loving words spoken. Supt. Anderson, Prof. Matthews, Principals Peebles, Hall, Long and Rev. Shuls acted as pall bearers. The remains were escorted on an electric car by many friends to the Southern Pacific depot and sent to West Union, Iowa, accompanied by her mother.

MARY HANSEN.

Miss Mary Hansd who died at her father's home Thursday morning, Oct. 26th, 1893, at 6:30, was 17 years, and 4 months old. She was the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Hansen, of South Salem, and was ill of lung fever for only five days. The funeral takes place Sunday at 2 p. m. from the residence, the remains being interred in Rural cemetery. Rev. Bowersox officiating. Miss Hansen was a pupil in the South Salem school and was a regular attendant of the Methodist church and Sunday school. In spite of the best medical aid she could not recover although she clung to life with the utmost tenacity.

RAMPANT AMERICANISM.

Resembles the Old Know Nothing Movement.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Representative Weddock, of Michigan, who yesterday offered a resolution for investigation into the methods of the American Protective Association, anti-Catholic organization, which has been making its power felt in politics in Ohio, Michigan, Western New York, Illinois and Wisconsin, says it resembles the old know-nothing movement, except that instead of being directed against all foreigners, it is directed against Catholics. If an investigation is ordered, it is expected some astonishing revelations will be made.

The usual Evangelical services at W. C. T. U. hall tomorrow at 10:30 a. m., and 7:30 p. m. J. Bowersox, pastor.

BAPTIST CHURCH.—Services at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school at noon. M. L. Rugg, pastor.

PRESBYTERIAN.—Morning service at 10:30. Subject, "The Bread Problem." Evening service at 7:30; subject, "Daguer of the Philippines and Modern Types." Junior endeavor at 3 p. m. The morning offering will be devoted to the board of sustentation.

UNITY CHURCH.—Services at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school at 12. Rev. W. E. Copeland, pastor. Subject of morning sermon "The Gospel of Character" subject of evening lecture "The New Religion as taught by Science and Comparative Theology."

FIRST M. E. CHURCH.—Sermon 10:30 a. m. subject, "Publishing the story," 7:30 p. m., subject, "The Influence of little things." By request of the pastor the faculty and students of the university will attend the evening service and occupy seats in front.

REVIVAL.—South Salem M. E. church revival services commence next Sabbath morning, subject "Repentance." Evening service "The Ten Virgins." There will be preaching every evening next week, Rev. A. S. Mulligan, pastor at Woodburn will assist. A general invitation is extended to the people to attend these meetings.

Associated Press dispatches from Washington, D. C., of 4:30 and 4:35 p. m., Friday, were printed and the papers of our evening edition delivered at business houses in this city at 8:45 p. m., or an hour ahead of the time the speeches were delivered. This is due to the time gained in transmitting news across the continent by telegraph. THE JOURNAL'S telegraphic report is always the latest of any coast news.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.
