LEGAL DIFFICULTIES SETTLED.

Independent Evangelical Church of Oregon Organized.

The following was received by I. B. Fisher today from Judge Williams, at Portland: "With reference to the contempt case here in Portland, we have in our possession letters from Bowersox and also from Rev. Poling in which they state that they and their ministers have agreed to adopt and use the name of 'Independent Evangelical Church,' so that we regard this as now the settled name of their organization in Oregon.

These ends the litigation in the Evangelical church case, and as will be seen Rev. Bowersox and his followers have adopted a new name for their organization in this state, "Independent Evangelical church" and will hereafter be distinguished from the church of the Evangelical Association.

PERTINENT PERSONALS.

Governor Penney proposes free silver and turkey for Thanksgiving.

Rev. J. S. White of Salem, says he will not read the free silver proclamation in his church.

Gov. Boies of Iowa, is so ill he has cancelled all his campaign appointments. The election is held next Tuesday.

It was Penney's last opportunity to get before the people in a public document, and he made poor use of it for Thanksgiving day.

In the language of John L. Sullivan, Governor Penney "let himself out for a punch bag" in that message.

THE JOURNAL does not believe that as a whole a better class of business men can be got into our city government.

"Despite not the day of small things" as the tiny pill taken from a vial of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets said of the 300-poult man, suffering from indigestion. As a gentle, thorough laxative, these Pellets resemble Nature more closely in their action than any thing before discovered.

If you want a sack of sugar you can get it at a reduced price this week at Clark & Eppley's.

A Queer Test of Strength.

The recent French experiment upon 50 persons of both sexes, in which a machine for compression as a test of strength was used, demonstrated that the strongest man was able to produce with his right hand a pressure equivalent to 85 kilograms, the weakest 40, the average being 56. One curious conclusion arrived at as a result of the experiment was this: The short men were all very nearly as strong as the tall ones, the average difference between groups of the two sizes being only three kilograms. The force of the strongest woman of the 50 amounted to only 44 kilograms, and that of the weakest to only 16, while the average was only 33 kilograms.—St. Louis Republic.

The First Oyster Eater.

The gluttonous Vitellius is reported to have eaten 1,000 oysters at a sitting. "He was a very valiant man who first ventured on eating of oysters," King James was wont to declare, a sentiment echoed by the poet Gay: The man had sure a palate covered o'er With brass or steel that on the rocky shore First broke the oozy oyster's pearly coat And risked the diving morsel down his throat.—Waverly.

A Miss With a Mission.

"What sort of a girl is she?" "Oh, she is a miss with a mission."

"Ah!" "And her mission is seeking a man with a mansion."—Sketch.

NORTHWESTERN NEWS.

Tulare City, Cal., has three Chinese left, and they are registered.

The sale of cattle in Baker county has put a large amount of money in circulation, and stockmen are laying in large winter supplies.

More money is being brought into this country from the sale of fruit this fall than ever before. The sales will increase from year to year as the young orchards increase in their bearing.

Those who have tried fruit raising in the right manner find it pays well and the acreage of fruit throughout Eastern Oregon is being largely increased. That is what is wanted in this country. It pays much better than raising wheat.—The Dalles T. M.

L. McGregor, of Roseburg, is now shipping two car loads of dressed meats a week to the Portland market, and is well satisfied with his growing business. He supplies thirteen retail markets in that city.

There is a movement on foot for the Oregon Press Association, or at least representatives of that organization, to visit the winter fair at San Francisco in a body.

D. W. Coolidge, secretary of the state board of equalization, goes to Salem next week to begin his work in preparing preliminary tables for the use of the board, which meets the first Tuesday in December.—Eugene Register.

A bany Democrat: The Sunday Welcome says that a slate has been prepared that has Governor Penney for the People's party candidate for mayor of Portland and Moffett for the People's party candidate for governor. We had supposed the Populists themselves would have something to say as to whom they would select for their gubernatorial candidate.

A Eugene paper says: The Excelsior Fruit Co. is putting out 11,000 more prune trees this fall, bringing the number of trees planted up to 22,000. The orchard is situated near Monroe and the company intends adding 100 acres to it yearly until 500 acres have been planted in fruit trees. There will be 200 acres planted when the work of this fall is completed.

The Ochoo Review says: Mrs. R. E. Darsey has the honor of introducing the first Mongolian, or Denny, pheasant into Crook county, she having arrived here from the Willamette valley last Monday with five of these beautiful birds—three hens and two cocks. Mrs. Darsey offered the birds to the residents of Prineville for $20. This amount was readily raised, and the birds were turned over to the care of Wm. Combs, who took them to his farm three miles above town, where he will care for them during the winter, and next spring will turn them loose to propagate. The birds increase very fast, one hen raising from 20 to 30 chicks each season, and if not molested, these five will in a year stock the whole country with the finest game bird known.

A Benton county paper says:—Evergreen blackberries, just ripe, and exceedingly large and luscious are to be seen growing on the vine on Judge Burnett's farm near town. As somebody once remarked: "Oregon beats the world."

A single fourteen-acre hop yard brought this season into Polk county $3,500, and netted its owner $2,334; a large profit, perhaps than was derived from the largest wheat farm in the county; and while the wheat growers are waiting for a market, this man has sold his crop, paid his debts, and has a neat balance to his credit in the bank.

The Corvallis Times thanks S. A. Hemphill for a basket of peaches grown on a peach tree planted fourteen years ago, by Mr. Hemphill, which from the year it began to bear has never failed to turn off a crop of from five to ten bushels. It is of the yellow freestone variety, and its history of faithful production proves that properly acclimated peaches are a sure crop in Webfoot.

Old Time Methods of treating Colds and Coughs were based on the idea of suppression. We now know that "feeding a cold" is good doctrine.
