ABOUT OURSELVES.

It may seem unpardonable pride and inexcusable egotism to speak of ourselves and to speak of our own success in our chosen field of journalism. But we cannot look back over the labors of four years, without congratulating ourselves and thanking the public for en abiling us to build up a solid newspaper business in O'egon from small beginnings.

To take a comparatively unknown newspaper, heavily in debt, and requiring constant assessments on the stock holders to keep it alive, and build it up into a self-sustaing business with a state circulation second to only one paper in Oregon, is not a slight task in these days of competition. To have success fully passed the dead point of severa lean years in succession, and the panic year of 1893, which wiped out macy more prosperous concerns, is very grati-

The success of THE JOURNAL is due to a proper conception of the element of personal responsibility, which alone makes journalism respectable. The peoplej must know that to have any prestige or influnce the managers of paper must respect their business obli gations and respect the personal rights and business interests of all other men in the community and state.

THE JOURNAL can say for itself that it is the most truly independent newspaper on the coast. It not only has no indebtedness, but it has no obligations outstanding to meet in the future. It owes no banker or money leader anything. There has been no assessment on its stockholders in four years.

THE JOURNAL has not been sus tained by one dollar of public patronage by state, city, county or legislature that has not come to it purely as ligitimate newspaper business. No one employed on it has had any clerkships, or appointments, to the amount of one cent to enable the paper or its proprie- balanced person and whose opinion is sons perhaps why a man cannot get office, or credit at the banks, the Joun-NAL can say that it has had no occa- even the Populists are unitedly for sion to seek either office or credit to him. what it is. It enjoys the warm-hearted loyal support of thousands of men and women who take it and pay for it because they love it as a newspaper. THE JOURNAL recognizes in the man who pays year in and year out for the daily or weekly its true friend. The intelligent subscriber it regards as the greatest factor in its success. The advertiser who honestly and enterprisingly appeals to him will be sure of ample returns to insure him success in his business.

For the variable political changeling who only patronizes a newspaper in order to be able to use it to serve his persoual ambitions THE JOURNAL has no respect whatever. THE JOURNAL Welcomes a 1 men to unite with it in the struggle for principles that undertie good government and the welfare of our country.

FAREWELL 1893.

Thou wert a troublesome tempestnous twelvemonth. We welcome thy specessor and may we part with 1894 less willingly is perhaps as good a wish as we can atter for the coming year, There is generally a deep regret at the departure of a closing year, but over 1893 we cannot shed a tear. Rather in resentful auger we aim a fierce expulsatory gesture of our pether extremity at its departure over the threshold of time.

Thou wert an "ornery" bastard of father Time and it should not surprise us if he would utterly forget thee in the final gathering of his children. Storms at land and sea, whirlwind and earthquake, hall and tempes., all came out of thy Pandora's box of evils. Thy blight fell on the earth and air. Cholera, yellow fever, grippe and anarchy. all flew out in mad profusion to slay and waste. The human intellect almost tottered on its throne and the crank multiplied into an army.

Banks burst, corporations collapsed, factories closed, values tumbled, labor became idle, capital hid away, and hunger and want show their gaunt and famished figures on the streets of the large cities. Insane asylums fill, jails are crowded with criminals, thievry abounds and corruption saps the vitals of government. Where shall we look o not behold thy disagreeable works, sh year of ninety-three? No land so ich, no city so splendid, abroad and a ome thou has wasted at noonday and olighted at night.

As to a troublesome guest whose like we have never seen before and whose face we never want to see again. We old thee a glad farewell. Thy shadow is still on thy successor. It will linge: or a time after thou art gone. May we hope for the speedy disappearance of even the cursed reminder of thy existence, and may the sun speedily break through the clouds as the harbinger of a better day. Let the smiling daughrers of prosperity again sit at our fire sides and we all be granted a trifle more than a bare subsistence, so ungraciously doled out to us by that long-drawn-oudiurual distemper remembered as 1893.

THE GOVERNOR IS IMPEACHED.

Governor Pennoyer far more needs a lunacy commission sit upon him than an impeachment trial. There is nothing to impeach except the Governor's judgment and political veracity and that has ceased to be a subject of controversy. All admit that he is a crank, his ideas and methods will win at the polls. We have talked with a seare of intelligent Democratic farmers the past Fleming, superintendent of the shops. week, who have hitherto stood by him. They all declare be is crazy, Those who still think him a wise and well entitled to any weight are not saving impeached. He is impeached by a malority of mea of every party. Not the perversity of human nature can doubt. But his influence for evil is

GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS.

The New York Mail and Express correspondent telegraphs his paper that no effort is made to disguise the fact that President Cleveland, his cab met, and all the Democrats in congress life sentences, 1,352} years, The people have made THE JOURNAL stagnation which is depressing the country at this time. So profoundly impressed are they that it is believed some immediate step will be taken for relief. If the business failures continue relief. to increase as they promise, it is pro-posed to by aside the tariff bill in the house and make an effort to rush through first the measure authorizing the secretary of the treasury to issue bonds for the purpose of replenishing he gold reserve and making good the leftelency, and another proposition to ncrease the circulating medium of the country through the national or state banks, or both. It is the belief of the president that under the circumstances there should be no delay in acting upon hese messures, which will be advanced for the relief of the country.

All patriotic citizens wish to see our country prosper. Political prejudice, or partisan advantage should not hinder the restoration of commercial confidence or industrial activity. The administration undoubtedly sees that the mere repeal of the Sherman silver coinage set will not alone restore the business interests of the country to a normal condition.
