GRANDMOTHER'S ADVICE
In raising a family of nine children, my only remedy for Coughs, Colds and Croup was onion syrup. It is just as effective to-day as it was forty years ago. Now my grandchildren take Dr. Gunn's Onion Syrup, which is already prepared and more pleasant to the taste. Sold every where. Large bottles 50 cents. Take no substitute for this.

Sold by Baskett & VanSlype.

Mrs. Thackeray Dead.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—The widow of William Makepeace Thackeray, the distinguished author, died this morning.

Self Praise.

Self praise is no recommendation, but there are times when one must permit a person to tell the truth about himself. When what he says is supported by the testimony of others no reasonable man will doubt his word. Now, to say that ALLCOCK'S PLEASANT PLASTER are the only genuine and reliable porous plasters made is not self praise in the slightest degree. They have stood the test for over thirty years and in proof of their merits it is only necessary to call attention to the cure they have effected and to the voluntary testimonials of those who have used them. Beware of imitations, and do not be deceived by misrepresentation. Ask for ALLCOCK'S, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION.

Democrats Ejected from the Senate.

THEIR PREDICAMENT IN NEW JERSEY — Republican National Committee in Council.

PLANNING FOR CAMPAIGN OF 1894.

The Tariff Debate Continues in the House.

The New Jersey Way.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 11.—The Democrats are again in possession of the senate chamber. They went to the chamber this morning, tapped on the glass, a Republican sergeant-at-arms opened the doors and the senators walked in. Then the sergeant-at-arms came in and ordered them out. They refused to comply, and he pushed them out. The senate was then called to order, but at once adjourned till tomorrow.

Republican Committee.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The Republican national executive committee met in secret session at noon. The principal questions to be considered relate to finances and the establishment of committee headquarters. The committee is divided on the question as to whether to maintain permanent headquarters for education of voters or merely to open headquarters for each campaign. The place for the headquarters is divided between New York, Washington and Chicago.

IN CONGRESS.

In the house after routine business, the tariff debate was resumed. Breckinridge, Democrat of Kentucky, took the floor and was followed by Dingley of Maine.

CHAIRMAN CARTER RESIGNS.

Chairman Thomas H. Carter of Montana of the Executive committee has resigned the chairmanship, account of business Joseph H. Mauley of Maine was chosen temporary chairman of the executive committee and Carter is continued as Chairman of the National committee. Mauley is empowered open headquarters and N. W. York is practically chosen as the place.

In Congress.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—After the senate had passed the house resolution for an investigation into the personnel of the navy, with an amendment that it be made by subcommittees of the two houses, instead of by a special commission, it took up Peffer's resolution providing for inquiry into the delay in the construction of public buildings. German, replying to Peffer, said the trouble was that congress made appropriations for more public buildings within the last few years than it had been physically possible to construct. The appropriations of the government during the past three years exceeded by over $300,000,000 the total revenues of the government. Call thought it important that all public buildings to be constructed should be begun as soon as possible in order to give employment to the millions of unemployed American laborers now in actual need and distress. Senator Dolph did not think it the duty of the government to provide for the general destitution. He referred to the communication of Governor Penneyer of Oregon, in his Christmas letter to the president, declaring the people of his state were indignant at the governor and had adopted resolutions denying his statements. The resolution was then adopted.

Rejected.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—It is understood that the senate commerce committee has agreed to report unfavorably the nomination of Scott Harrison, brother of ex-President Harrison, to its surveyor of customs in Kansas City. Harrison is a Democrat.

Willis Heard From.

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—A Washington special says: Dispatches from Minister Willis, mailed from San Francisco, reached here this morning. They are lengthy, but it is understood they throw no new light on the situation.

BLOUNT AND WILLIS SPEAK.

The Senate Committee Gets Blount's Statement.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Committee Blount was this morning before the senate committee on investigating the relations of this country with Hawaii. Blount said he found the islands and government entirely under the control or protection of the United States troops and the American flag floated over the government building in which the officers of the provisional government conducted their business. Everywhere was noticed the influence of this country upon the people of the islands. It was evident, Blount said that it would be difficult to secure an impartial account or opinion uninfluenced by surroundings, as long as this state of affairs continued. Consequently he decided, in accordance with the spirit of his instructions and in the interest of fair play, that the flag should be taken down and the American troops removed.

NOT A PROPER INDIVIDUAL.

History of Lyonel Stagge, Bank Examiner.

SERVED A TERM IN THE PEN.

His Removal as Bank Receiver Requested.

PORTLAND, Jan. 11.—The Evening Telegram will publish an article this afternoon giving a few pages of the history of Lyonel Stagge, receiver of the suspended Oregon National bank. The article states that the records of the circuit court show that on December 17, 1889, Stagge under the name of A. L. Waterhouse was sentenced to one year imprisonment in the state penitentiary at Salem, on a charge of forging his name to a thirty-five dollar check.

After serving his sentence, Stagge returned to Portland. He was appointed bank examiner last fall, and when the Oregon National closed a few weeks ago, he was made receiver by Comptroller Eckels. Stagge admits the charge, but is very reticent regarding his life before coming to Portland. His removal as receiver has been requested. Stagge came into prominence at Portland by publishing a real estate and investor's monthly. He has the friendship of many of the best men of Portland, and has his office in the Oregonian building.

SITUATION IN JACKSONVILLE.

Bets That the Governor Will Throw Down His Hand.

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 11.—Nothing has been heard from Governor Mitchell in regard to the statement sent out by the Duval Athletic club, consequently the feeling is general that the battle will not be interfered with. Bowden offered to bet $1000 the governor would within a week throw down his hand and declare he would have nothing more to do with the affair. The wager was not accepted. A number of boxes were disposed of today, the purchasers being mostly town people. Tomorrow the Duval club will apply for a license under the city ordinance permitting boxing contests. Word will tomorrow be sent both to Corbett and Mitchell that the club is ready to deposit the $20,000 purse with the referee, as agreed upon in the article. The champion considers the proclamation of the best move that could have been made. Mitchell thinks it rather strong, and fears the consequences. The Duval club has issued another statement assuring ticket buyers that unless the contest is brought off every cent received will be returned.

It is reported from Tallahassee that Governor Mitchell is not over the address of the Duval Athletic Club. He is represented as declaring in the most emphatic way that the Corbett-Mitchell fight shall not occur in Florida. An afternoon paper of this city criticized the governor's action quite sharply and today's mail brought a personal letter from the Gov. to the editor, in which the governor "stops his paper" and applies harsh epithets to the editor. This letter has been answered in kind.

In Colorado.

DENVER, Jan. 11.—The senate took a recess immediately after assembling. The house as at this morning in hearing petitions for and against immediate adjournment.

CONGRESSIONAL DEBATE.

Johnson of Ohio Denounces the Robber Tariff.

NATIONAL WOOL GROWERS' CONVENTION

In New York and 'Frisco Denounce the Wilson Bill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Johnson, of Ohio, completed his arraignment of the Democratic party for inaction in carrying out its promise to reform what it had characterized during the campaign as the "robber tariff."

Wool Growers' Protest.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—The national association of wool manufacturers met here. Several prominent men made speeches denouncing the Wilson bill, in so far as it affects the wool business. A protest was prepared and adopted, with instructions that copies be sent to President Cleveland and to members of congress. The protest declares that the meeting represented the allied wool industries of the country with an invested capital exceeding $500,000,000, assembled to protest against the measure which threatens to destroy a large part of this capital, and leave the protection of the remainder uncertain; wools and the woolen schedule in the Wilson bill are so drawn as to entail upon American manufacturers a maximum loss and embarrassment and offer to foreign competitors possession of the American market at a minimum of risk and effort.

It particularly protests against the proposed rates of duty and valorem as insufficient without accompanying specific duties, to equalize the present differences between foreign and domestic cost of production.

In closing the document says: We appeal to the patriotism of the American congress to prevent the consummation of this national misfortune and we appeal to our fellow citizens in every walk in life to second our protest against this legislative act of extirpation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11.—Wool growers of the Pacific coast in convention assembled adopted resolutions in condemnation of Wilson's bill placing wool on the free list. It was the general opinion of delegates that the present disastrous condition of wool business would be greatly aggravated in case of repeal of present tariff. The Pacific coast delegation in congress is urged to use every honorable means to leave the present tariff, as regards wool and woolsens, unchanged.

Financial News.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Secretary Carlisle has proposed an issue of bonds to the senate committee on finance. Voorhees, Harris, Jones of Ark., Vest, Sherman, Allison and Jones of Nevada were present. Secretary Carlisle said he wanted authority to issue bonds. He thinks an issue of bonds the best way to meet the apparently rapidly approaching crisis in the treasury. The secretary stated that instead of increasing, the government receipts had continued to diminish until there was coming to be a monthly gap of about ten millions between the receipts and expenditures. He therefore favored an issue of 3 per cent. bonds running for three, four or five years.

The committee disagreed without any action, but enough was developed to show that it will be very difficult to agree upon a bill.

Will Not Reconvene.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—It is stated in official circles here that there is no probability of the international monetary conference reconvening in the spring as was thought likely some time ago. At least the suggestion for it to reconvene will not emanate from the United States. This information has been conveyed to the British government by Secretary Gresham.

He Stole Thousands.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11.—Theodore F. Baker, for 28 years paying teller of the Consolidated National bank, confessed yesterday to President Watson that during the past 20 years he had stolen more than $47,000. He was arrested and held in $16,000 bail for trial in February.

FIGHT WITH BURGLARS.

One of Them Was Probably Fatally Wounded.

SEATTLE, Jan. 11.—A shooting scrape occurred between Policeman Carpenter and two burglars, in which one of the burglars was probably fatally wounded and Carpenter had a narrow escape from death. At 2:15 o'clock a policeman came upon two men trying to effect an entrance into the store of Anderson Brothers, corner of Jackson and Pearl streets. The burglars started to run, but the officers overtook one and knocked him down with a revolver. The other burglar slipped up and when only a few feet away fired, the bullet grazing the officer's head and almost tearing open his helmet. The revolver was held so close the powder burned the officer's face. The officer returned the fire and emptied his revolver, fearfully wounding the burglar, who, however, managed to escape. From blood marks in the road it was plain the wounded man had bled profusely. Both men got away.

Colorado Legislature.

DENVER, Jan. 11.—The senate special committee, to whom was referred the governor's message, agreed upon a report. They declare that there is no occasion for an extra session, and recommend adjournment tomorrow.

Iowa's Governor Inaugurated.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Jan. 11.—Gov. Frank L. Jackson, the newly elected governor of Iowa, was inaugurated today with the usual ceremony.

Salem's Defective Fireplugs.

There is no doubt but that the city of Salem was swindled on the last lot of hydrants, or fireplugs that were put in last year. Many of them have already shown signs of giving out. The statement of Chief Cross in last night's JOURNAL has been taken up by ex-Chief Low who says:

"In my recent report I called the attention of the council to the condition of this plug and, also when the same was first discovered out of order early in the season I informed the fire and water committee. The statement that the other hydrants about the city are turning out badly is untrue.

Alderman Cross says Chief Low called the attention of the fire committee to the defective condition of the Court street hydrant. The committee did not have it repaired because there were other plugs near by that would serve any purpose.

As to the other hydrants "turning out badly," which ex-Chief Low says is not true, Alderman Holman says: "they were made too light, and are giving out. He says the center rod is too light. It twists and bends because it is too limber." Mr. Holman thinks they will all have to be taken out and rods put in that are strong enough to operate them.

The facts will probably all come out and be laid before the next meeting of the Salem city council.

One May Stay.

As the Chinese show a disposition to register one of the registering officials may stay and complete the job. A number of laborers had their photos taken this morning at the rate of two for a dollar.

W. CORDRAY SHOT.

A Brother of the Portland Theatre Manager.

HE WAS DOING THE COWBOY ACT.

It is Thought the Pistol Was Accidentally Discharged.

PORTLAND, Jan. 11.—At five o'clock last evening, William Cordray was shot at his rooms at No. 247 1/2 First street in this city. The wound is probably fatal. Wm. Cordray is a brother of John F. Cordray, the well-known theatrical manager of this city, Seattle and Tacoma.

There are many conflicting rumors as to the cause of the shooting. Wm. Cordray has been acting as assistant manager to J. F. Cordray for some time, and during absence from this city of John F. Cordray, William has had full charge of the business here. It is stated on one hand that there has been difficulties between the brothers that resulted in the discharge of Wm. Cordray, and that he has been drinking heavily during the last few days. Last evening, it is said, on going to his rooms, after some conversation with his wife, he remarked: "I do not know whether to kill you or not." Mrs. Cordray went into the adjoining room, from which she soon heard the report of the weapon. On re-entering the room where she had left her husband, she found him lying on the floor dangerously wounded.

To get the pistol with which the deed was done, Cordray must have gone into a third room where it was lying on a table. On the other hand, John F. Cordray states that William was seated on a chair practicing with the pistol the "cowboy act" of twirling it around his forefinger when the pistol was accidentally discharged. The ball entered his left breast a little over the heart.

Physicians in attendance declined to probe for the bullet. Cordray is unconscious, and his condition is considered critical.

At 11 o'clock Cordray was reported to be resting somewhat easier, but he is still unconscious and physicians do not care to take the risk of further probing for the bullet.

Failure.

BOSTON, Jan. 11.—W. H. Tenney & Co., boot and shoe jobbers, have failed. Liabilities are $200,000. The result a long credit and poor collections.

THE WEATHER.—It has been warmer today with very little rain. Forecast for tomorrow is the same.
