HE TURNS STATES EVIDENCE.

Judge Newton of the Gravesend Gang Confesses.

HEAVY SNOW STORM IN THE EAST.

Grover Does Not Want to See the New Yorkers.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Following close on "jumping" his bail by Justice Sutherland, Justice Newton started his constituents by turning state's evidence and appearing as a witness for the prosecution in the trial of constable Jamieson upon the charge of perjury. The action of Newton caused consternation to the other indicted men in Gravesend, and they are expected to fall over each other in their efforts to secure immunity by offering to give evidence or by pleading guilty.

Andrew J. White to Retire.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 11.—It is reported that Hon. Andrew J. White will retire from the Russian mission. That it will be raised to an embassy and Levi F. Lieber, a Chicago millionaire appointed.

A Senator Ill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 21.—Senator Colquhoun's condition is still considered most critical.

Heavy Snow Storm.

DENVER, Col., March 21.—A snow storm visited Colorado last night and continues today, accompanied by light wind. The temperature has fallen from 10 to 26 degrees throughout the west, but in this city it is not much below freezing. The storm is general throughout this state, Wyoming, Northern Kansas and Nebraska, Eastern Utah and a portion of New Mexico.

OMAHA, March 21.—The entire western part of the state is covered by yesterday's storm. Heavy snow fall in the northern part, while rain came down in torrents in the South Platte country, considerable damage being done by the wind and lightning. It is still snowing hard and traveling east on a high gale from the west. Reports indicate that cattle losses will be heavy.

Will Stay at Home.

NEW YORK, Mar. 21.—The chamber of commerce committee will not go to Washington tomorrow to urge the president to veto the seigniorage bill, as a telegram has been received from Private Secretary Thurber advising the committee to stay away from Washington.

POLLARD-BRECKENRIDGE CASE.

Letters as Well as Personal Testimony For the Plaintiff.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Cross-examination of the plaintiff in the Pollard-Breckenridge case was continued until late yesterday. It began with the identification and reading of letters written by Miss Pollard to her protector, Rhodes, in November, 1884, in which she asks him to make a special effort to get money to pay her board, suggesting that he borrow it, and adding an invitation to come at a certain hour to see her, saying they would be alone and have a pleasant time.

At the end of 1884 she wrote to him from Bridgeport, Ky. She wrote him asking for money, and signing "Yours with love." In February, 1885, just before she was going away for the birth of her first child, she reproached him for not sending her money and told him if he did not bring it he need not come to see her.

Among the letters were two dated New Orleans, postmarked Tooleborough, Ky. Witness admitted she never was in New Orleans. There were various others asking for money. She went on to say these demands for money were for the purpose of allaying Rhodes' suspicions; being in urgent need of money seemed to present good evidence she had no other resources except what she got from him. Breckenridge planned it all. He dictated the letters dated New Orleans, and others. Some of them he wrote on a typewriter when she was ill at the asylum, saying in explanation she was learning to be a typewriter. Some of them he wrote and dated ahead, mailing on the cars and elsewhere. The court then took a recess.

Miss Pollard was sorely probed with questions regarding her relations with Breckenridge, and to one question answered:

"He acted so queerly my suspicions were aroused. I am not surprised now considering the position he was in. I was pregnant then. I said 'are you going to keep your solemn promise to marry me; if not, I am going to shoot you and myself with the revolver I found in your bag.' He said 'my darling, I am going to marry you and that on the last of this month.' After that he wrote me a solemn letter renewing his promise to marry me." Mr. Butterworth interrupted "have you that letter?" Miss Pollard raised her arm impressively, while every man in court leaned forward to catch her reply, "He took it away from me," she said, "on the 17th day of May, with the vilest, vilest lie."

After the letter was written, and before the 17th of May, Miss Pollard continued, Col. Breckenridge had sent her flowers, and talked to her of their future married life. Speaking of this meeting, she said, pointing her finger directly at the white haired congressman sitting with his head bowed on his breast and the eyes of the room full of men upon him: "I think I saw something near a look of pity on his face that day, more so than I had ever seen before. I think he had a conscience that day, and was really sorry for what he had done."

"Did you and he ever have any scenes before this unfortunate occurrence," asked Mr. Butterworth. "Life had not been altogether pleasant with anyone living with Col. Breckenridge. People had sent me an anonymous letter telling me of his relations with a negro woman." (Laughter.) Mr. Butterworth then veered around his cross questioning to the visits of Miss Pollard and Col. Breckenridge to the office of the Washington chief of police.

When asked if he had not suggested that they break their relations, she struck the witness box with her open hand, exclaiming: "No, never, never; there was never such a word hinted on his part," and she continued in a voice choked with sobs. "I gave up my babies for him because he insisted on it. A woman surely could not do more than give up her children. I laid my baby in its coffin because it needed a mother's care which I was not able to give, because he made me put it away from me. I never—then the sentence was not finished for Madeline Pollard's head was bowed on her arms on the witness box, her slender form was shaking with great sobs and there was moisture in many eyes. No man in the court room broke the silence even by a whisper, until Mr. Wilson suggested that the court should adjourn. Col. Breckenridge turned around and smiled what was probably a forced smile, for he walked out of the court room with his head bent in a dejected way.

The cross-examination of Miss Pollard was concluded this afternoon. Her counsel was so well satisfied with the impression she made that they rested the case in spite of the fact that they had a number of additional witnesses and affidavits.

WASHINGTON, D. C. March 21.—The counsel for defense then outlined defense. He said: "I am authorized by defendant to say and it be corroborated by his solemn oath that he did not seduce her; that it never was made known to him that she ever had any children by him until filing this suit last August, nor did he under any circumstances, make any promise of marriage to her." Defense did not intend to condone whatever was wrong in the relations of the two and it was only by the truth that defendant wanted to be judged.

LEXINGTON, Ky. March 21.—Miss Pollard's friends deny that she will kill Breckenridge if she loses the suit for breach of promise, but in any event they say she will write a book giving all the unfortunate events of her life and a graphic account of her infatuation and relations for 10 years with Breckenridge.

THE COLORADO WAR STILL ON

Gov. Waite Barricading and Swearing in Deputies.

DENVER, March 21.—The Times will say this afternoon: "Governor Waite has formed a plan to storm the city hall on the night the decision of the supreme court is rendered in matter of his police and fire appointees, in case the decision is against him. He expects the loyalty of the militia, and has caused a thousand deputies to be sworn in, who will be furnished with state arms. The governor's opponents are fully advised on these preparations and say they have made every preparation for defense."

Prendergast Case.

OTTAWA, Ill., March 21.—The supreme court denied superseades in the case of Prendergast the assassin of Mayor Harrison.

DEMOCRATS BADLY MIXED.

Marion County's Unterrified Put Up a Ticket.

MANY DECLINE, BUT A FEW CHOSEN.

Cleveland's Administration Is Flatly Repudiated.

The Democracy of Marion county utterly failed to harmonize their party at their county convention. The various factions were bitterly arrayed on the question of endorsing the Administration, fusion and federal patronage. It was well along in the afternoon when the actual work of the convention began. Chairman Allen prodded the right man in the right place. He held the convention down as well as any man could. It was a turbulent body of men, right fresh from the soil, meaning to do what was right and the majority disposed to very little of the spirit of bitterness that seemed to animate a few of the local bosses. The influence of federal officials was quite marked and was somewhat resented.

THE TICKET.

Following is the complete Democratic ticket:

Clerk, Wm. H. Egan, Brooks. Sheriff, A. B. Huddleston, Jefferson. Treasurer, Alex. Potter, Turner. Supt. of schools, Jos. A. Sellwood, Salem.

Recorder, Chas. Craven, Salem.

County commissioner, Henry Warren, Macleay. Assessor, A. B. Schwab, Hubbard.

Surveyor, Alfred Gobalet, Salem.

Coroner, W. S. Mott, Salem.

Senators, B. F. Bonham, E. H. Flag, Salem.

THE PLATFORM

As adopted approves the time-honored principles of the Democratic party, and the usual denunciations of Republican extravagance, and has these declarations affecting state matters in which the people are interested;

1st.—We demand of our representatives in congress, such legislation as will at the earliest practical moment correct these abuses, reduce the burdens of taxation, and restore our people to their birth-right of peace, plenty and prosperity, by government, honestly and economically administered in the interest of the whole people and not prostituted to the enrichment of the few at the expense of the many.

4th.—We demand that a system of fixed salaries for all office holders shall supersede the "fee system" in our state and national government.

5th.—We demand that the convict labor of the state shall be used in building and repairing our public roads so far as the same can be done consistently with economy, public policy, and the safe custody of the prisoners while serving their terms of punishment for crime, and we also demand that all convicts be put to work at some productive labor and not maintained in idleness at the expense of the taxpayer.

6th.—We arraign the last legislature of the state for its unnecessary waste of the people's money, by extravagant and reckless appropriation in the interest of speculators and corporations, and hold the Republican party of the state responsible for the shameful and vicious legislation of that body. In this that they have placed the machinery and control of that party organization in the hands of a corrupt, Chinese importing, opium smuggling, bribe taking ring of Portland politicians; and we call upon the honest voters of the state to relieve the commonwealth of this incubus upon its industry and prosperity by taking the reins of power from the hands of such incompetent and unworthy servants. The people cannot hope for immunity from corrupt appropriations of the public money so long as the party in power is controlled by a combination of political spoilsmen which has and will control the Republican party of this state.

7th.—We affirm our advocacy of the principles of the Democratic party as promulgated at Chicago, by the last national convention, and we assert our unbounded confidence in the ability, integrity, patriotism and fidelity to the great and fundamental principles of the Democratic party, of our trusted chief magistrate, the president of the United States.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

8th.—We hereby instruct our delegates to the state convention, to endeavor by all honorable means to secure the nomination on our state ticket, of representative men of our party who stand with us upon our platform and whose character and reputation is such that Democrats in voting for them may preserve their self-respect; preferring rather to be beaten at the polls, than secure local and temporary success, by pandering to the political heresies of extremists and enthusiasts and thus trail our banner in the dust.

9th.—The democracy of Marion county favors honest money—the gold and silver of the constitution, every dollar of equal intrinsic value and exchangeable at the will of the holder, and we denounce any legislation intended to impair the value of the existing contracts. We favor the intrenchment of all gold coin under the denomination of ten dollars with a view to increase the demand for silver coin, and we earnestly advocate the re-assembling of the international monetary conference as being the best means to arrive at a permanent and satisfactory solution of the money question.

10th.—We denounce as unwarranted extravagance and wanton waste of the people's money the action of the last Republican legislature in appropriating nearly $3,000,000 to defray the expenses of the state for the next two years, and we challenge the Republican county convention, which meets tomorrow, to indorse the infamous record of its party's representatives.

Delegates to state convention: E. H. Flagg, at large; others, A. Rush, W. G. Westcott, Geo. A. Custer, Eugene Willis, Jas. Coleman, Frank Durbin, Hugh Eldridge, A. P. Gordon, Web. Holmes, Wm. Kaiser, John Manning, J. O. C. Wimer, John Wittschen, A. L. Wagner.

Justice of the peace, Salem, A. A. Miller. Constable, Frank Ferrell. The precinct committeemen named were as follows: Salem No. 1, J. H. Brooks; Salem No. 2, E. Willis; Salem No. 3, L. McClane; Salem No. 4, J. H. Albert; Salem, W. W. Johns; Yaw Park, H. Shoemaker; Abiqua, Dan Friedman; Sublimity, Paul Frank; East Salem, James Dawson; North Salem, Wm. Goodrich; Prospect, Sam Hayden; Englewood, D. J. Holmes; Aurora, W. W. Wolfe; Breitenbush, Nat Bowman; Butteville, A. F. LaRoque; Champoug, E. Coleman; Fairfield; H. Eldridge; Gervais, B. A. Nathan; Horeb, Chas. Work; Howell, Frank Durbin; Hubbard, Jonathan Allen; Jefferson, A. B. Huddleston; Labish, Jas. Finney; Lincoln, Wm. Simpson; Macleay, W. B. Hurst; Marion, —Porterhouse; Mehama, H. Parker; East Silverton, G. A. Custer; Stayton, W. W. Elder; St. Paul, Frank Coleman; Turner, F. S. Matteson; Woodburn, P. A. Cochran. None were named for Silver Creek, Elkhorn or Fairfield precinct.

SCHOOL MATTER.—The directors of school district No. 24 met in regular session yesterday, the entire board being present. President Smith officially withdrew from the chair and was succeeded by M. L. Wade who, as senior member of the board, was naturally chosen for the place. Webster Holmes' full year, as clerk of the district, being up, the board proceeded, under the new law, to elect his successor and their choice fell upon Scott Bozorth, who was duly installed. The recent vote was canvassed and A. Olmart, the newly elected member was then sworn in and took his place. The resignation of Mrs. Alice T. Miner as teacher in the East Salem school, was accepted, who withdraws on account of ill health. The superintendent was instructed to fill the vacancy so made until the expiration of the term, and it is expected Miss Catterlin will be chosen. The clerk's salary was fixed at $15 per month, and the office will be established at the office of Bozorth Bros.

MATRIMONIAL.—The county clerk this morning issued a license for Miss Emma Conover and Alden E. Commons, both of Scott Mills, to marry, B. S. Cook vouching for them.

The Krug Case.
SEATTLE, Mar. 21.—Adolph Krug, the defaulting city treasurer, was convicted of using $10,000 public money in a manner not authorized by law, and to make profit thereby. The jury was out only eighteen minutes. Krug was unmoved. His attorney gave notice of a motion for a new trial and an appeal will be taken, if refused.

Twenty-six other indictments of the same nature remain to be tried for Krug, and others indicted as accomplices. Henry Fuhrman, a wealthy citizen, one of the latter and indicted with Krug of which the latter stands convicted, will be tried Monday, and the other cases will follow soon, probably.

Serious Runaway.
McMINNVILLE, Or., March 21.—Dr. E. E. Goucher, of this place, was found lying insensible in the road two miles east of here, where he had been thrown from his buggy by a runaway team. He was carried into a farm house near by, and revived. No bones were broken but it is feared his injuries may prove fatal. He is one of the most widely known physicians in this county.

A School Burns.
CHICAGO, March 21.—A fire in the South Evanston public school today caused a panic among the pupils and teachers. Several jumped from the fourth floor and were seriously injured, four possibly fatally. One child was found unconscious on the third floor and may die. The building valued at $50,000, was destroyed.

Liquor to Be Sold Under Restriction.
DES MOINES, Iowa, March 21.—The house by vote of 53 to 45 passed the liquor bill, allowing sales under severe restrictions, in communities where 65 per cent of the population petition for it. The prohibitory law was not repealed, and if a saloon keeper fails to pay the tax quarterly it becomes active against him.

Against Horse Racing.
ALBANY, N. Y., March 21.—The senate has passed, and it now goes to the governor, the bill providing for taxing racing associations 5 per cent on their gross receipts.

Kossuth's Funeral.
TURIN, March 21.—Louis Kossuth is dead, and it has been decided that his remains be buried in Hungary and be given a public funeral.

THE MARKETS.
SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Wheat May $1.12.
CHICAGO, March 21.—Cash, 54; May 58.
PORTLAND, March 21.—Wheat valley 83@85; Walla Walla 75 @77.
Senator L. T. Barin was a passenger for Portland this afternoon.
