RIVER NOTES

Steamer Elwood arrived up last night at 4 p. m. making an unusually fast run, probably occasioned by the steamer Eugene being some 25 minutes behind. She landed at her floating wharf for the first time since it was moored at State street. After discharging her cargo she proceeded on up the river bound for Harrisburg, returning here Friday evening, leaving for Portland Saturday morning at 6 a. m.

The steamer Eugene came up last evening at 4:35 p. m. bound for Eugene City, having a good cargo for that point. After landing at the steamer Altona's wharf she left up bound about three boat lengths ahead of the Elwood. At last account of the boats they were trying to solve the problem of which was the speedier.

The Altona arrives up this evening bound for Independence and leaves here at 7:45 in the morning for Portland. The little steamer Annette at the foot of Trade street is loading her boiler today. She will be plying the raging Yamhill in about two weeks. A large force of men are busy grading the bank and building approaches to the Elwood's new wharf at the foot of State street.

LITERARY.—In variety, originality and excellence the April number of Romance is not surpassed by any of its predecessors. Its leading features are a powerful society story by Arthur Beardsley Mitchell and a group of three thrilling narratives of adventure, all written expressly for this magazine. Besides these, which are all Americans, there are stories of Spain, France, Germany, England and Japan. Romance Publishing Company, Clinton Hall, Astor Place, New York, at 35 cents a number; subscriptions, $2.50 a year. A sample copy of a back number will be sent for 10 cents.

WEBFOOT LAND.—W. P. Sullivan's poem on "Webfoot Land" printed in THE JOURNAL is being copied in a number of exchanges. It was altogether the best thing of that kind that has been written in many a day, and it is destined to live in print for many a day and may be found in future alongside of Sam L. Simpson's "Beautiful Blue Willamette."

PROTECTION.—In these hard times everyone should see to it that his dollars are spent where they will do the most good. Don't support alien Chinese wash houses when you can get better work for the same money at the steam laundry, where the money goes to the hands of most deserving employes.

CASHMERE REMNANTS! A large lot of spring shades just in at the New York Racket. One to eight yard pieces at 25 cents per yard.

THE FRONT'S CONCLUDE.

Details of Their State Convention—Other Matters.

At the afternoon session of the state Prohibition convention the chairman of the finance committee reported as having received pledges for the following sums, to-wit:

Joe Kennedy, $25; Gen. M. Webster, $25; J. H. Roark, $25; J. I. H. Amor, $10; E. L. Lane, $10; W. J. Hunter, $10; J. D. Hurst, $10; D. Bowerman, $10; Mrs. H. S. Jory, $10; T. McKee, $10; Mrs. V. Scriber, $10; F. M. Reinhardt, $5; E. O. Miller, $5; Mrs. S. Grubb, $5; S. Crocker, $5; J. C. Robertson, $5; Mrs. Vandervoort, $5; Mrs. D. C. H. Cox, $5; Mary E. Rump, $5; R. R. Ryan, $5; total, $200.

Resolutions of thanks to the press, the various officers, and to the S. P. R. Co. were voted unanimously.

The secretaries were instructed to prepare a greeting to Hon. Neal Dow of Portland, Maine, and the following in the form of a dispatch was then read and adopted:

"To Hon. Neal Dow, Portland, Maine:—The Prohibitionists of Oregon in state convention assembled at Salem send greetings; read Deuteronomy 27."

The resolution of thanks was also voted to the board of directors of the Washington Prohibition alliance for sending their general agent, Rev. E. B. Sutton, to help in the campaign and empower the state central committee to employ him.

The nominations for joint senators and district attorneys were left to the executive committee to fill out.

An adjournment at about 4:20 was had until 7:30 o'clock when a ratification meeting was held at the I. O. G. T. hall in the Turner block, an open air temperance meeting first being conducted at the intersection of Commercial and State street.

A large crowd listened to a spirited address by lecturer Rev. E. B. Sutton on the street at Small's clothing store.

COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Marion county Prohibition convention met this forenoon at Grange hall, appointed committees and adjourned to hear reports after dinner. Following ticket was nominated:

Senators, Eos Pressnell, J. H. Roark, Representatives, G. H. Whitman, Joseph Cook, F. P. Hurst, N. N. Matthews. One was left blank to be filled by the committee. County clerk, John W. Davis, Salem; Sheriff, Edward Snell, Salem; Treasurer, F. M. Rinehart, Salem; Assessor, Milton W. Gum, Salem; County superintendent of schools, Mrs. E. E. Pentland, Salem; County recorder, G. A. White, Salem; Coroner, W. P. Husk, Sunnyside No. 5.

County Commissioner, J. C. Robertson, Turner.

County Surveyor, Miles Reese, Scotts Mills. Executive committee, E. C. Minton, chairman; Oliver Jory, secretary; C. Marsh, treasurer.

Workmen Enjoy Themselves.

That staunch body of Protectionists known as Protection Lodge A. O. U. W. held a grand reception last night at State Insurance hall, filling the two rooms to overflowing. Dr. Mackey, of Albany was present, Grand Master of Oregon, and delivered a fine address. Rev. M. L. Rugg delivered an address on the symbolic link words of the order, which was voted a very happy effort. Mr. John Moyer, the well known banker delivered an appropriate address of welcome. The rest of the program consisted of choice selections by Prof. Parvin's Willamette university orchestra of six pieces, Prof. McLyman's euphonium baritone solo, recitation by Miss Vandersol, violin solo by Prof. Kruse, cornet solo by Attorney Hollister, and a bang-up solo in good voice by Jo. Benoit, the carpenter. The whole evening was a great success.

Taxes Delinquent.

Sheriff Knight will not enforce the penalty for delinquent taxes, and they are now delinquent, until he is obliged to by law. July 1st, he must make his final return, and about four or five weeks before that he must advertise delinquents and prepare to settle.

Campaign Notes.

At the Saturday school house Tuesday evening, Wm. H. Holmes and E. B. Flagg, of the Democratic candidate for senator, spoke for the Democratic side. Prof. Jory and Farmer John Jory, both candidates on the Populist ticket, spoke for the Peoples party; I. M. Wagner and E. Hofer were present, but Mr. Wagner did not speak. Hofer, opened and closed for the Republicans, as against the other four speakers, and at least two of the speakers devoted much of their time in reply to the Republican opening. Mr. Flagg talked purely from the Cleveland Democratic standpoint, championing free commercial intercourse with other countries. His remedy for the farmer was, plainly stated, shipment of English manufactures in exchange for Oregon wheat and wool—square free trade and in that Mr. Flagg has the courage of his convictions. Mr. Hofer of THE JOURNAL, on the Republican legislative ticket, argued that there could be no half way position between protection and free trade and that the Republican party stood squarely for all-around protection to American industries; that if the Oregon citizen wants a duty to protect the home market against foreign competition in prunes, hops, wool and other products, he cannot consistently ask that citizens of other states be subject to free trade or low tariff competition. This is the theory of the McKinley bill. The Populist speakers strenuously denied that Governor Penneyer was the leader of their party in Oregon. Mr. Holmes spoke well on behalf of the Cleveland administration, but neither he nor Mr. Flagg defended it at all points. The closing speech was entirely devoted to state affairs which were discussed from the standpoint of non-partisan economic reform, the speaker taking a strong position in favor of submitting important legislation and appropriations to a vote of the people before they go into effect. The meeting was well attended and not devoid of interest.

Campaign Preliminaries.

So far there has been only preliminary campaign work. The parties have been feeling the pulse. There have been quite a number of political meetings around the county and great interest is manifested. The people turn out in amazing numbers for thus early in the season and seem more determined to take advantage of getting all the light possible than before. No one can question but that they will be just as keen to vote when the time comes. The Populists have been organizing and educating their forces for six months past, and will poll the largest vote ever given a third party in this county. The Republicans are also getting well under way. After the state conventions next week there will be inaugurated a canvass that for earnestness and thoroughness has not been equalled in Oregon. The real battle has not begun.

Disturbers of the Peace.

Several young men and young girls are complained of as roving the streets late at night in South Salem, and disturbing the neighbors with fiendish, cat-like and boisterous laughter and yells. They keep people awake at unseasonable times when all well behaved youngsters should be in bed. Some allowance must be made for these capers of youth at this season of the year. It is too much to expect, a fine spring evening with moonlight, starlight, the scent of all things budding and blooming, and young blood full of excitement and music. But these bloods are carrying the thing too far and if their parents do not spank them and put them to bed at a more seemly hour the constable may be asked to put an end to their billing and cooing.

DEED.

McMILLAN.—At 4 o'clock p. m. on Wednesday, April 4th, of pneumonia, William McMillan, of Pittsburg, Kansas. The deceased arrived in Salem on Tuesday morning via the California express in a precarious condition. He was taken to the home like boarding house at 432 Ferry street opposite the state blind school.

Deceased had been blind for many years, was 61 years of age, and had accompanied his sister and her husband, D. A. Brown, to the Northwest in behalf of his health. He was a student and employe in the institute for the blind at Philadelphia for over forty-five years.

The funeral took place from the residence at 2 p. m. today, interment at Lee Mission cemetery.

OREGON'S FRUIT CROP.

Reports from Various Points Are Exceedingly Encouraging.

As the season for the blooming of fruit trees is at hand, horticulturists, and the public generally, will be interested in knowing what the prospects are for the various fruit crops in different sections of the state. The state board of horticulture has been making the necessary arrangements to furnish the information, and, with the assistance of prominent and reliable fruit growers in all parts of the state, will be able to furnish accurate reports every two weeks as to the progress of the fruit crop of this year. Following are reports received up to March 31.

COVET, March 7.—Fruit prospects for Union county are good.

THE DALLIES, March 12.—Prospects for general fruit crop good. The peach on the uplands have suffered some from frost, still there is good prospect for a crop along the bank of the Columbia river.

ASHLAND, March 13.—Fruit crop, big.

CHEWAWA, March 14.—Prospects for all kinds of fruit good.

MILWAUKIE, March 16.—Fruit prospects good.

ZENA, Polk county.—Cold weather has retarded vegetation sufficiently to encourage the hope that our fruit will blossom out too late to be injured by frosts or cold rains. Yield of peaches, prunes, pears and cherries will be greatly increased.

RIDGELAND, March 18.—Prospects for fruit crop very good. Prune trees in good condition, better prospects than last year. Peach tree buds not in as healthy condition as last year and expect a lighter crop. Apples, pears and cherries in fine condition.

RUSSELLVILLE, March 19.—Prospects for berry crop good.

HOOD RIVER, March 20.—Fruit in good condition, excepting peaches, which were injured by the recent coldness. Strawberry crop rather late, on account of unusual stormy weather but larger than ever, on account of increased acreage.

TALENT, March 21.—Fruit prospects good.

MEDFORD, March 22.—Prospects for fruit crop in Rogue River valley very good.

MILTON, March 22.—Prospect for a fruit crop never better. Peaches ready to burst out; as yet no damage has been done, and if the weather continues favorable, will have an immense crop.

NEWBERG, March 23.—Prospects for all kinds of fruits are good, buds are swelling and some peach bloom is out.

PHILOMATH, March 23.—Spring very backward; no damage done, and the prospect is very bright for an abundant crop of all kinds.

WOODLAWN, March 23.—Foster and late peaches look well; George the Fourth does not promise as well.

EGGON, March 30.—Trees of all kinds came through the winter in splendid condition. At present, Almond, some peach and apricot trees are in bloom, and all trees are abundantly laden with fruit buds.

THE DALLIES, March 31.—Fruit trees are not as badly hurt as was thought two weeks ago.

H. A. Doseh, who has visited and inspected many orchards in the vicinity of Portland, says that trees of all kinds are well set with fruit buds, and the prospects are very favorable for a good crop. The only thing to be feared is unseasonable cold rains.

Salem Shooters.

At the first regular shoot of the Salem Rod and Gun club at their grounds out in M. rungside following scores were made: B. W. Harritt, 25; H. A. Thomas, 13; H. A. Salisbury, 16; Charles Adams, 9; Murray Gilbert, 18; C. J. Oimstead, S. C. D. Gabrielson, 19; F. A. Pike, 13; Oswald West, 13; and William Brown, 13. This is the first of a series of contests for an "Ideal Lefevre," double-barrelled shotgun, as the season's prize. The next event will come off on Tuesday, April 17th, at the same time and place.
