ANOTHER KINDERGARTEN.—Miss R. E. Dickenson, of the Salem Kindergarten training school, today started a Kindergarten in East Salem, for the accommodation of a number of families in that neighborhood. It is in one of the Patterson cottages on State and 18th streets, and will form the nucleus of a future permanent school of its kind.

STRANGE COINCIDENCE.—When you see the announcement published of a marriage license granted to some young man, you can with safety assume that he has been to G. W. Johnson & Son's for his wedding clothes.

A MAN IN WHITE.—That is what every man in Salem and the Willamette valley is who gets his laundry work done at the Salem steam laundry of which Col. J. Olmstead is proprietor.

COXEY AND ANTI-COXEY.—The Hayesville people will tonight hold a big debate at the school house. The question is Coxeys' rights, and there will be a red-hot discussion.

THREE MEN HELD UP.

A Highwayman Gets a Few Dollars from Church Goers.

Last evening as Louis P. Larden, Sam'l Ludi and Theo. Rott went out Capital street from church they stopped at the junction of the Garden road. After chatting there, and as they were about to say "good night," they were accosted by a large man with a revolver and ordered to "throw up hands." At first they supposed it a practical joke, but the highwayman grew impatient and fired a shot, repeating his demands. The men now began to realize their danger, and as they had but little money with them thought best to disgorge. While Mr. Larden was getting out his purse the other two men escaped, and as he fumbled over the first dollar, the knight of the highway held his revolver against the breast of his victim, constantly swearing and making threats. At last Mr. Larden opened his pocket book and turned the contents onto the ground—about $3.00 in all—when the robber got down on one knee to pick up the coin, still pointing the gun at his man. After he was satisfied there was no more lucre to be had, he very politely handed back Mr. Larden's purse and his top chest key, which was in it, he started to run, going east on the Garden road.

The highwayman was a tall, dark complexioned man, of large frame. He had a pocket handkerchief over his head which partially covered his face, and a hat on top of it. His voice seemed familiar to some of the men, and they think they could identify him.

BENEFIT CONCERT.—Miss Josie Watkins, of the School for the Blind, will give a concert in the W. C. T. U. hall, on Tuesday evening, May 8th. She will be assisted by the Elite Orchestra, Miss Thornton, the Misses McElroy, Messrs. Kundert and Bollinger. Miss Pearl Scott will be the accompanist. Miss Watkins will give several superb recitations. Admission, 25 cents; children 15 cents. Concert at 8 p. m.

THE OLD STYLE.—A successful German farmer, Nick Welter, who has a ranch fifteen miles from Salem, near Sublimity, drove in today with a team of oxen that are perfectly broke to harness. He has put in 65 acres of grain this spring and says he has done it all with this one yoke of cattle. He prefers them to a span of horses, for many purposes.

RAILROAD COMMISSION.—The board is in session today and has before it a petition from the farmers of Adam's station, Umatilla county, asking for improved cattle guards. They finished inspecting the S. P. last week, and will tomorrow go over the O. P. Monday next they start over the U. P. These inspections are made every spring and fall.

THE CITY BONDS.—The council will meet in special session this evening to discuss the matter of city bonds, and their delivery to Rollins & Co. without the accrued interest from Jan. 1st, about $1200. Mayor Gatch claims the city is entitled to this interest.

HOP LICE.—Walter Buckner who has ten acres of hops near Ankeny, and who is an experienced grower, reports lice pretty bad in spots. The yards in the north end of the county are not infected so far.

SILVERTON ELECTION.—The city of Silvertown is today holding its city election. Capt. Adams is the Republican candidate and Geo. Custer the Democrat. The issue is on street improvements.

A GREAT BLUNDER.—Saturday it was stated that the Columbia shoe store was closing out a $1500 stock. Of course every one knew it should have read $15,000. And they are going like hot cakes.

A PLEASANT OUTING.—Yesterday Oscar Johnson, Chas. Craven, Harry Swegle, J. R. Davis and Will Allin, Salem bicyclists, made a trip to Independence and return on their wheels.

C. E. EXCURSION.—The steamer Elwood leaves for Corvallis Thursday morning at 6 o'clock, and returns the following Monday. Round trip $1.25. Carl Maiden, manager.

Before you have your photographs taken be sure and go to Ed. C. Barnett, successor to Salem Art Co., and get his special prices. 299 Liberty St. 3t

At St. Paul.

Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. JOURNAL representative went to this pretty town in Southern Marion county. Walter L. Toose and wife and F. A. Ford and wife of Woodburn accompanied us. The ladies and Mr. Ford sang some excellent campaign songs. Mr. Toose discussed tariff, wages and finance. Three loads of loyal Republican Woodburnites, rolled the twelve miles over the French prairie with us.

THE JOURNAL man said among other things that if elected he would labor to increase the profits of the farmer and reduce the profits of politicians to somewhere near more just proportions than exist at present, and that the men who were on the state and county ticket felt as he did about that. This remark was loudly applauded and expresses the true feelings of the people of Oregon. There was an unusually large attendance at the St. Paul meeting, although there are many Democrats there and a Populist club. The St. Paul Republicans are wide awake and will poll the full party vote, as the Populists have made no inroads on them. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Coffey's hospitable home took the strangers in and gave them an Irish welcome. No warmer hearted couple of old pioneers are alive in Marion county today.

St. Paul has some good working Republicans in Chairman Smith who presided at the meeting. J. B. and C. N. Cook, Henry Beaudry and Sam Kerr. J. J. Murphy, now clerk of the supreme court, began his political career as a Douglas Democrat before the war at St. Paul. He started in at the foot of the ladder as justice of the peace and still has many friends there.

A SLUGGER FROM SLUGVILLE.

Striking Marion County Candidates for Peif.

The number of schemes for extracting lucre out of candidates is unlimited. The latest arrival in the city is Herr Moses Blumenthal, of Slugville or San Francisco, who is getting up "an elegant sluiceness," to be posted all over the county. The candidates are all worked for from 50 cents upward and often threatened with annihilation if they do not stand in. In the meantime the Salem papers support these candidates the year through and loyally defend party interests at every point. Great is politics and greater is the slugger from Slugville.

At the Court House.

In estate of Margaret Scollard, W. H. Scollard filed final account and it was allowed by Judge Hubbard.

Egid Baner, age 59, a native of Bavaria, Germany, last from California, was today examined before County Judge Hubbard by Dr. L. Henderson and committed to the asylum.

LITTLE LOCALS.

J. A. Shaw returned to Mill City today. John Holman spent Sunday at home, and returned to Albany this morning. Mrs. Ira Erb went to Mill City this morning for a short visit.

L. A. Grier started today for San Francisco to buy a stock of fruit. Jos. McAllister, aged 71 years, has been committed to the asylum from Grant county. Theo. Potter, of Walla Walla, is in the city visiting his parents. Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Wrightman returned today from Sublimity.

Uncle Sam predicts showers for Tuesday. A year ago Elmer Billings and Frank Starr assaulted Doth Savage. Billings returned to the city last night and was promptly arrested. He will be tried at 3 o'clock tomorrow.

THE CHINESE TREATY.

Negotiated between Gresham and the emperor of China is before the senate. It should be defeated. While extending to a great many classes of Chinese all the rights in the United States enjoyed by the most favored nations, it places them beyond state regulation or control.

Under the treaty our country can be filled up with Chinese laborers under various disguises and pretexes. They are allowed to come in for purposes of commerce, education and travel. With registration certificates to protect them, they will multiply in numbers in our land.

No state law or state court can touch a Chinaman under that treaty. He becomes the legalized ward of the nation, the protected protégé of the government.

The senate should kill the Chinese treaty.

A DEMOCRAT'S OPINIONS.

Captain E. J. Harding on Silver and The Tariff Question.

Capt. E. J. Harding was in the Indian wars of 1855 at the head of company A, and in the war of the Rebellion, and he was at the head of company B, first Oregon Cavalry. He paid $787 taxes this year and came within about twenty-five votes of being elected county judge in 1892. He was clerk of courts for eight years and for six years held the office of clerk of the U. S. district court, first judicial district comprising all the Willamette valley. The first judge was O. C. Pratt; next came Judge Thos. Nelson; next Geo. H. Williams; next R. P. Boise, all under the territorial government. Coming to Oregon in 1859 and now owning and farming about two thousand acres, and always a Democrat, Mr. Harding's opinions are of some interest upon public questions. He was seen by a JOURNAL writer in the city the other day, and responded to various inquiries as follows:

"I am not taking any hand in politics this year, state, county or national. The Cleveland administration seems to have no use for Oregon Democrats since its experience with appointments during the term before Harrison.

"I think the tariff question is a good deal of a humbug. We don't get our supplies as farmers any cheaper with the tariff on or the tariff off. Wool at ten cents a pound does not give you a yard of cloth a cent cheaper than when wool was four bits a pound. The man who buys the manufactured product never experiences the benefit of cheap raw material. The way to benefit him is to let manufactured goods come in free. If we are to have free trade in wool give us free trade in woollens also. "Silver fluctuates too much to ever be a stable national currency. An ounce is worth a dollar today, 50 cents to-morrow, and no free coinage arrangement would alter that feature of instability fatal to security.

"If wool was 25 or 30 cents a pound and wheat a dollar a bushel we would all have all the money we want and there would be some scarcity of farm labor in place of unemployed armies. "About our state platforms, I do not know what is in them. They don't amount to anything, and no one reads them for information as to what men or parties are going to do when elected. "We do not need a constitutional convention. There is plenty of constitution on hand already made, if it was lived up to, to last for many years to come. We need some way to stop officials taking double their constitutional salaries, or fees that amount to the same. There is very little attention paid to a constitution except to take advantage of it for purpose of gain."

"The counties and the state all violate the limit set by the constitution about going in debt. "I have heard and read of the initiative and referendum. There is nothing in it. The people have altogether too much voting to do now. You cannot right abuses by voting. You must overcome the tricksters and schemers who are behind the abuses before you can reform them. Political tricksters will control the voter just as they do now. As a farmer I have no confidence in the referendum. Not a particle. The people will get no relief from any new parties. They have got to get right down and dig for reforms if they get any."

"My mother has long been troubled with eczema but has been greatly relieved by Hood's Sarsaparilla." Miss Mabel Eaden, Blaine, Oregon.

PERTINENT PERSONALS

There isn't a man in Oregon connected with a brass band whose moral character would not be blemished by associating with some of the "R-vv-ends" like R. K. and Waldrop, who advertise their political monkeyshines "without a brass band."

It is a piece of Governor Penoyer's Populistic impertinence to attach to all the Populist handbills and advertisements of speaking—"no brass bands." There are better men in Oregon blowing brass horns than many of the would-be Populist statesmen.

Geo. W. Dimick, on the Populist ticket sends a lengthy reply to C. B. Moore's acceptance of his proposal for a joint discussion. Mr. Dimick evidently is not entirely satisfied with Mr. Moore's terms. We suggest he arrange the details by private correspondence, as the readers of a public newspaper are not interested in the matter.

A Popular Man.

Lorenz Ehlen of Butteville, the Republican candidate for county clerk is an immensely popular man in the north end of the county where he has lived since he was a boy. He plays the violin and clarinet skillfully and has furnished a full orchestra on many occasions of festivity on French Prairie. Lorenz Ehlen is as good a farmer and business man as he is a musician. He is a self made man along with the hard working pioneers at whose weddings and at whose children's weddings he has furnished good music and in whose hearts he has a warm place. He draws a good bow, writes a good hand and he will make Marion county a good honest clerk.

The people are heartily tired of the organization of any more new political parties. There are at present four in the field and four sets of candidates and another party is liable to get in the field. The discussion of capital and labor by cranks and Coxey has proceeded until there is not enough left of either to keep a soul and body together.
