THE ROSE SHOW,-The executive committee of the Salem florticultura club met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Geo. H. Burnett, and set the date for the exhibition, for June 8th and 9th. being Friday and Saturday following election. This will be the week before commencement, and seems to be about the only desireable date within the flower season. It is also hoped the strawberry crop may be in condition for a display at this time. Aside from the roses and strawberries, which always attract wide attention the com- in the mountains is a large, beautiful mittee has arranged with some of the bleyelists to have a grand street parade on one afternoon. It is expected that thing grows to colossal proportions or no less than 200 wheels can be turned out, all decorated with roses. This will be a great sight, and worth going mileto see. The show will probably be held in the opera house, which will be made a perfect lower of floral decora tions. This will be the fourth annua! fair, and will eglipse any previous effort, as the committees of ladies in charge never do things by halves. Its member, June 8th and 9th, if you have any roses or berries exhibit them, ette valley. whether you expect a premium or not All Marion and Polk county growerare invited to come in and participate.

A MEAN TRICK.-The Astoria Bud get thinks it was a real mean trick that was played on a young man and a widow recently. It was the first real pleasant evening of the season, and It was nobody's business if they did sit down on a board by a barn to look at the stars and things, then to go inside the barn when they saw some fellows coming that way, in order to be not observed. It wasn't right in the two scamps to sit down on the same board and smoke cigars and tell stories and keep the poor lovers hived up nearly all night. No, boys, that is not right you might get taken that way yourself some day.

Here, to the merry nusic of the ever roaring Populist San am, we all went to bed and slept the sleep of the just. The procession next went on to Mill City and thence over the mountains to Mehama, the little gem of summer resorts.

A MOUNTAIN TRIP.

Mounted behind a pair of Cayuats we drove to Mehama where we went to sleep, lulled to slumber by the coaring of the Santiam river, which here takes its final plunges off the footbill Cascades to flow on as a peaceful valley stream until it mingles with the proader Willamette, which pours Intethe Columbia and that into the Pacific Ocean.

We left the lumbering village at 6 o'clock and up through the clear, cool mountain air we climbed three miles up the mountain at an almost halfpitch. We were some in the tall timbar, trees 150 to 300 feet high, and from 2 to 10 feet in diameter. Grouse were hooting, pheasant were drumming and quail were whistling. The cuckoo, large black bird, was calling from the forest deeps. The golden winged wood pecker was sending his high, shrilnotes from hill to hill. The blue jay oird with a pointed topknot, almost ike a chieftain's plume. As everythe Pacific coast, so even the so-called sapsucker that is a tipy forest bird "back east" here grows as large as a small pigeon.

At eight o'clock we are up to the snow line. On all sides are glittering snow peaks and cliffs of lavatic rock hundreds of feet straight on the face. One view down the valley shows the coast range of mountains seventy miles away on the other side of the Willam

"BILLY" HOBSON.

W. H. Hobson, Republican candidate for senator, was born in Missouri, came to Oregon in 1848, located on a farm near Stayton, at which town he has lived ever since. Mr. Hobson was educated in the Sublimity village school under Beach and Crawford. He is now engaged in merchandising and is one of the substantial busness men and solid taxpayers of Marion county. He has been a life-long Republican of a Republican family, all the Hobson brothers being of that political stripe. He is Interested in a He will make a conservative legislator,

Every republic that exists there now or that has eyer existed was founded by Catholics, witness Switzerland, San Genoa, and France. And you would say that the Catholic church is opposed to republics! No, gentlemen, her doctrines do not change.

Let us now pass to our own country. We are proud of our constitution, Where did we get that constitution: In its main features it is taken from the English constitution, the work of Catholic times and Catholic peoples at the family home on Asylum avenue, to the wife of B. F. Salmon, a from the Magua Charta, itself the work of Catholics, long before the Protestant reformation was thought of. So much so in fact that Lord Macaulay asserts FRANCIS -At the residence in South that it took two revolutions to repair the damage done to the constitution by the reformers, Henry VIII and Elizabeth. Hence the grandest features of our laws and constitution are due to Catholic law-makers.
