SUGGESTED COMMENT.

W. H. Leeds, the Republican candidate for state printer, is a clean, able man and will be elected.

H. R. Kincaid is the choice of the people for secretary of state, and for that reason no combination of political tricks can defeat him.

C. E. Wolverton, the Republican candidate for supreme judge, is not a good politician, but for that he will make a better judge.

A vote for I. L. Patterson for senator will not be an indirect vote for Penneyer. Democrats can afford to think twice before casting a single ballot along this line.

Every Democrat, Populist or Republican who has had dealings with the sheriff's office must admit that John Knight is a first class official in every respect. Vote for the blacksmith.

Members of the "bung-hole party," a Penneyer calls the Democracy, will hardly throw away a vote on the renegade who is now abusing them in the hope of being United States senator.

If the results of the next presidential election should be thrown into the house, it would be very important for this country to have the right kind of men there. Binger Herman should be returned by all means.

How strange, that the Populist should nominate for the two fat offices of the county, men who were not eligible! How strange that those men should not find it out until the day before the tickets were ordered printed!

CARRYING ON A STILL HUNT.

Unable to meet the Republicans in open debate, unable to present their cause before public audiences with any chance of success, the Populist managers in this county are making a still hunt. Their leaders were assured of a division of time in the canvass of the county. But those leaders did not put in an appearance. The county ticket was all pulled off but one or two sincere men who appeared at Marion and Jefferson with the Republicans, ostensibly to speak for the whole ticket. The rest of the ticket had been withdrawn or was engaged in a bushwhacking still-hunt with the Democrats, and the Republicans wisely concluded that unless the whole ticket appeared, they would not divide time with two assistant fusionists, no matter how sincere. Let the still hunt proceed. The Republican canvass will proceed open and above board.

CATCHING FLIES WITH VINEGAR.

Gov. Penneyer, being a renegade Democrat, is not his greatest act of ingratitude. He goes about the state telling the stalest old jokes known to political stumpers of the past century, and it is said that some Populists laugh at them.

In his speech at Albina recently Governor Penneyer took a whack at the Democratic party by relating the following anecdote, says the Evening Telegram: "There was a man who boasted that he owned a barrel 200 years old. When he took a friend into his cellar to show him the venerable relic the friend suggested that the hoops looked to be new. 'Yes, they are new I only put them on last year,' said the man. After further inspection the friend suggested that the staves didn't have a very antique appearance. 'That's true,' responded the man, 'I put them in about four years ago.' The friend then wanted to know what was in it of the 200-year-old barrel. 'My God! don't you see the bung-hole?' shouted the relic owner." The governor's application was that the bung-hole was all that Cleveland had left of the party or the old-time Jeffersonian principles. Still he expects Democrats to throw away their votes on him because he once played the part of a Democrat.

W. R. U. ATTENTION.—The members of Sedwick W. R. C. No. 1 will meet at their hall Sunday May 27th at 1:30 p. m. to accompany the G. A. R. to the M. E. church to attend union Memorial service. Mrs. Lou Smith, president; Lottie M. Burton, secretary.

Bids Wanted.

Sealed bids will be received by the county clerk for propositions to print circuit court bar dockets, for the June term, beginning June 1, 1894, bids to be opened at 9 o'clock a. m. June 1, 1894. W. H. EGAN, County Clerk.

Eating Alligator.

There is reason to believe that the flesh of a young boiled alligator is barely distinguishable from veal. It is probably cleaner and more tender than much of the meat of the animals that are usually consumed as food on the continent or in the east end of London. I have never desired to taste the flesh of alligators, cooked or uncooked. But in India I have seen the Sontals and other casteless natives greedily devour the flesh of an alligator without waiting to cook it. The flesh was very pale in color, and probably was much superior to the flesh of snakes and rats and such like creatures which form the ordinary food of the predatory Sontal when hunting in his native woods. It does not fall to his lot very often to be able to circumvent and slay and eat a large alligator. He more frequently comes upon small alligators, and they go to swell the contents of his cooking pots. If, however, he is so lucky as to meet a sahib who has shot a large alligator, say about 6 feet long, he eagerly falls upon the unwonted delicacy without waiting to cook it—very much as we read in books of African adventure that the natives devour the carcases of the large game animals that the English sportsmen do not want for their own purposes.—Longman's Magazine.

She Got a Seat.

A young woman who is a pewholder in the cathedral was refused admittance to her seat last Wednesday by another woman who was occupying a portion of the pew, and who said that she was reserving the other part for some friends. The owner stepped into the next seat, and from there over the back of the seat into her own pew.—Buffalo Courier

The best of all ways

To loosen the bowels, is to use Pierce's Purgative Peppermint. For nine-tenths of the diseases of the body begin with constipation or the clogging up of the sluice-ways through which the impurities of the blood escape, so that they are reabsorbed into the system. The Purgative Peppermint gently but thoroughly upon the stomach and liver, and are the best laxative known. Without racking and straining the organs, they open the bowels and restore a natural and healthy digestion. Unequalled in dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness, piles, or any of the resulting diseases.

Rev. C. W. Clapham

A highly esteemed clergyman of the M. E. church, pastor of the Church Creek circuit in Dorchester Co., Maryland, writes: "C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass., I feel it a duty to the public to send this certificate. I saw in a Philadelphia paper a letter from a man who had suffered from Muscular Rheumatism and had been restored by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I had the grip in the winter of '91 and '92 so severely that it deprived me of the use of my arms so that my wife had to dress and undress me, and when away from home I had to sleep in my clothes. I tried five doctors and not one accomplished anything. Then I saw the letter alluded to and determined to try Hood's Cures

Hood's. Before I had taken one bottle I had the use of my arms, thank God. These are facts and can be verified by many persons here. J. M. Colston, Church Creek, supplied me with Hood's. I am pastor of the M. E. church here. C. W. CLAPHAM, Church Creek, Maryland.

A MAN OF BROAD ACRES.

What Thomas Harrison, of North Dakota, Owes to Paine's Celery Compound.

The world has had in all just 15 decisive battles. But every man has in his lifetime more decisive battles than this. The important epochs in man's life that settle for him wealth, position, and often life itself, come without warning.

Weakness, indigestion and lack of nerve force at these turning points is fatal. In long and doubtful sickness, when life itself trembles in the balance, a little more strength and power of resistance to disease makes the difference between life and death.

Thin people with depleted, diseased blood run big risks. Careful men and women all over the country are building up their systems and storing the nerve centers with energy now it is spring. They are taking that remarkable blood purifier and nerve food, Paine's Celery Compound.

It cannot be repeated too often that the blood is the fountain which supplies every part of the body. If this life-giving medium lacks vigor and richness, nerves, brain, heart, kidneys, and lungs, immediately suffer. The weakest spot will give way first.

If you find yourself growing thin, nervous, without appetite—look out. You are starving some important organ through inappropriate nutrition.

Thomas Harrison is the proprietor of the famous Harrison farms of North Dakota. He holds the office of notary public and is coroner of Traill county. He writes from Burchard, N. D. Dakota: "Two years ago when the grip was prevalent in this country I suffered very much from this trouble. The disease lingered with me until it developed into catarrh of the head. For this loathsome trouble I tried many remedies advertised for catarrh with out any permanent relief, and while spending the winter of '92 '93 in Los Angeles I was treated by a specialist without any better results. Seeing Paine's Celery Compound advertised, I tried it, not expecting much relief, as I thought that I could not be cured. I used one bottle as directed, and was entirely and permanently cured. This was over six months ago, and I have not experienced a return of any of the symptoms, though I have been exposed to the inclement weather in North Dakota and have not caught the least cold this winter, when I was troubled with catarrh I would have had cold after cold all winter. I will cheerfully answer any inquiries as to the correctness of my statements. Many around here are using the compound on the strength of my recommendation. It makes people well."

A GOOD THING is always imitated. This is a well-known fact, and, therefore, it is not strange that the country has been flooded with condensed milk, said to be just as good as the Gail Borden Eagle Brand. Experience has proven that it has no equal. It stands to reason that the superior facilities of the New York Condensed Milk Company, with persistent, conscientious, scientific study of the production of milk, give it a decided advantage. Consider this.
