LITTLE LOCALS. There is talk of excursions to Portland Sunday to witness the high water. John Hughes was in Portland yesterday. The high water has paralyzed the fish business for the time being. C. N. Churchill went to Hubbard this afternoon to look after some work he has there.

PERSONALS. Rev. Meyer of Mt. Angel went to Albany today. Prof. J. A. Sellwood returned from the county canvass today. Ex-Gov. Moody returned from The Dalles today. Hon. Phil. Metachan returned today from Eugene and Southern Oregon points.

Robt. Thompson, of the Portland custom house corps, is in the city, visiting his family. Hon. Geo. G. Bingham went up to Detroit today, where he will speak tonight. He goes to Corvallis tomorrow to attend the O. P. sale.

A GAY PARTY.—This morning sixteen young men from in and about Salem started up the Santiam for Detroit, where they all have timber claims. They were W. S. Low, Col. J. Olmstead, D. D. Olmstead, Frank Haas, Lon Mc'ay, Newt Ferrell, Elmer White, John Duncan, the two McKnight boys, Mart Stutesman, Chas. and Bert Pierce, John Sykes, Johan and Bert Walling. They will do some hunting and fishing, and some of them will cast their ballots while up there. They are nearly all Republicans and a jolly good crowd. If they don't have a gay time it won't be because they are not built that way.

REPUBLICAN HEADQUARTERS.—The Hotel Willamette, although run by a staunch Cleveland Democrat, Col. A. I. Wagner, has been the scene of great Republican enthusiasm on more than one occasion during this campaign. Republicans and Democrats alike, enjoy the commodious quarters and show their appreciation by their patronage.

CAN'T MATCH IT.—Col. J. Olmstead left today for the Cascade snow regions. He is no doubt looking for something as white as linen from the Salem steam laundry, but even the mountain snow will not match it.

THE HIGH WATER.—Young men, if you are going to Portland to see the high water, and are wearing "high water" pants, just step into Johnson & Son's and get a new pair for a song.

Great Smoke Sale. J. A. Van Eaton has put up all the goods in his store that were in any way damaged by smoke in the late fire and is selling them at greatly reduced prices. People are crowding in for the rare bargains. Fresh new goods are also coming in daily to replenish the store.

Sound and Well. KNIGHT, Oregon, May 6, 1894. For over 40 years I have had heart disease. Five years ago I received a serious injury which disabled me from walking. Doctors failed to cure me. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills, and they did more for me than I could have been made to believe. I am 62 years old today and am sound and well. BYRON B. HERRICK.

TONGUE'S TONGUE LASHING.

Oregon's Favorite Orator Does the Enemy to the Queen's Taste.

At Reed's opera house last evening Hon. Thos. H. Tongue pleased his host of Salem friends, and made scores of new ones. He made a speech that suited their sentiments, as he always does. He was escorted to the opera house by the 2d regiment band and a host of loyal Republicans, followed by a delegation of Portland law students who were in the city for examination before the supreme court. Bonfires were burning everywhere, and Salem's streets were a blaze of glory with her fairest men, women and children. Everybody was happy, as is the custom on all Republican occasions.

At the opera house, after a song and encore from the McKinley quartette, Mayor Gatch introduced the speaker in his unique style, and he was hailed with great applause. It is unnecessary to go into a detailed report of Mr. Tongue's address, although its real worth would make it a document worthy to be preserved for many years. He reviewed the demagogical record of Governor Penneyer, showing where he has made pretense to honest purposes and always failed to set in good faith with his pretensions. After doing this subject full justice, the speaker passed to the tariff question, and in the language of the street "that's just where he lives."

Mr. Tongue's explanation that the tariff which collects our taxes simply gives this money as a tariff for the privilege of our doing business, was new to many, but is a good illustration of the necessity for levying a like tariff off the foreigner, who likewise wishes to do business in our markets. His arguments and illustrations on the tariff question are always apt and pleasing, and are received with enthusiastic interest.

After Mr. Tongue brought his excellent speech to a close, in the midst of great applause the calls came loud and long for Judge Lord, who sat beside the speaker on the platform. After the enthusiasm had quieted down Oregon's chief justice spoke for a few moments, touching both on national and state affairs. He impressed his hearers with the feeling that he would give them a clean-handed business-like governor, and that is what Oregon needs more than anything else. Judge Lord is not campaigning, but whenever he is forced to speak as he was last evening, all who hear him go away convinced that as governor he is the right man in the right place.

SWINGING AROUND THE CIRCLE

The Journal Man and the Other Republican Candidates on Their Travels.

ST. PAUL. Republicans, Democrats and Populists filled the school house and the band played in the open air. Three short, sharp Republican speeches were fired off. Moores talked tariff and anti Populism. Barkley spoke of Republican principles. Hofer talked about the constitution and country roads. In the evening Flagg, Egan, Sellwood, Miller, Huddleson and Lelan whooped it up for the Democrats. All over the country here are sample ballots telling the Democrats who to scratch. Of course, all the Jorys at scratched off and everything is sacrificed to elect Cline of Woodburn and Egan for clerk.

TO CHAMPOEG.

After a good dinner at the St. Paul hotel, where the landlady is a sister of Judge Galloway, we proceeded to Champoeg, which was the former name of this county, and is the Indian word for "Sand Camp," the town formerly having been down on the sandy river bottom, but was all swept away by a flood over thirty years ago. Here a good audience listened to the Republican speakers. We found our kinsmen Gus Hoefler and John Hoefler, and of course took dinner at both of their homes. "Uncle John" as he is familiarly called is a historical landmark in Oregon and the second largest individual taxpayer in the county. The Hoeflers in the north end of the county are not people to be ashamed of, whatever there may be to say of the other lot who spell their name a little different at Salem. John Hoefler has been justice of the peace for all this county for nearly twenty years and if he does not look out will be elected again. They tell about Republican gains all through this part of the county but time will tell that next Monday. The Populists had clubs all through this country but they have dwindled away to almost nothing.

AT BUTTEVILLE.

The home precinct of Lorenz Ehlen gave the Republican candidate a splendid reception. The large hall was packed, like a sardine, with well dressed, fine looking men, women, young men and maidens. It was more a love feast than a political battle. Lorenz got out his or-hesters and after the speaking it was: "I'll dance all night, 'Till broad daylight, And vote for Ehlen in the morning. The old home town of the Matholts, the La Rocques, the Maltheux, will give a good report for the whole ticket

GREAT COUNTY RALLY.

The Republican Candidates at Salem Saturday Night.

Tomorrow evening at Reed's opera house will occur the regular meeting of the Republican canvass. All the county candidates, and many of the more important ones will be on hand. The Second Regiment band and the Woodburn band of sixteen men will furnish music for the occasion. The famous McKinley quartette will sing some of its best songs, and lively speeches will be made.

Republican clubs from Woodburn, Aumsville, and all the surrounding towns will be on hand, and a glorious good time will be had. The bicycle boys will turn out for the occasion, as will also the First Voters' club, and in all a great procession will be had. Everybody in Salem wants to hear Charley Moores. H. L. Barkley, the brilliant orator, will be on hand, and should be heard by everybody. Plain Lon Gesner may be induced to make a few remarks, and he talks sense too. E. Hofer, of THE JOURNAL, will make a few remarks. Other speakers will be present and all will be asked to say a word; in fact a regular experience meeting will be had. Everybody is invited to come, as accommodations will be arranged for all, especially the ladies.

U. S. Crop-Weather Bulletin.

The temperature became much warmer than the normal, averaging six degrees daily. The precipitation was about the average except in the Rogue River and Umpqua valleys, where it greatly exceeded the normal. The reports received this week are the most favorable of the season as to the progress which grain, hay, hops and vegetables are making. It becomes more evident as the season advances that the frosts injured the fruit crop materially. Fruit on low lands suffered while on the more elevated lands little or no injury resulted. Considerable fruit is already dropping. In some sections it is thought that an average crop will be secured. The apple crop will be large in all sections, having suffered the least from the frosts. A correspondent writing from the southern section expresses the opinion that cherries will be abundant, prunes will mature on half of a crop and apples will be about the average, which seems a conservative estimate. Strawberries have been in the market in the southern counties for several weeks; they will not mature a full crop though the second crop of blossoms give promise of an abundance. Small fruits will be plentiful. Fall wheat is heading in Jackson, Josephine and Douglas counties also in some sections of the Willamette valley. The timely arrival of the warm weather and the providential occurrence of the showers on the night of the 25th have had a most beneficial influence in starting the growth of vegetation that has been retarded by the constant cool weather of the past month. The wheat that turned yellow has again resumed its healthy green color since the warm weather began. Timothy, clover and alfalfa is approaching maturity with the prospect of maturing heavy crops. The hay harvest is progressing in Southern Oregon. The hop crop is advancing in an encouraging manner. No hop lice have appeared. Tent caterpillars are numerous and are attacking the orchards. A feeling of encouragement prevails over the prospect of an abundant harvest.

THREE BEAR SCALPS.—H. A. Hartley today brought in three bear scalps, and walked off with a county warrant for $9.00. Will positively cure sick headaches and prevent their return. Carter's Little Liver Pills. This is not talk, but truth. One pill a dose, see advertisement. Small pill. Small dose. Small price.

A man that would wilfully misrepresent its interests, for selfish ends; is morally too dead to skin. And the voter that is influenced by such damnable prattle; like the boy's puppy, will never get to be very large. FARMER.

A MISUNDERSTANDING.

The bicycle boys supposed they were to appear in the procession Saturday evening and the notice for last night was too short to get them all out, hence they did not attempt to join in the parade.

Falling Off a Log.

"As easy as falling off a log," is an old saying. When it was first uttered nobody knows. Nothing is easier unless it is the taking of a dose of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. These act like magic. No gripping or drenching follows, as is the case with the old-fashioned pills. The relief that follows resembles the action of nature in her happiest moods; the impulse given to the dormant liver is of the most salutary kind, and is speedily manifested by the disappearance of all bilious symptoms. Sick headache, wind on the stomach, pain through the right side and shoulder-blade, and yellowness of the skin and eyeballs are speedily remedied by the Pellets.

Dissolution.

The barber and bath establishment heretofore conducted by Hoyer & Mills, has this day been sold to J. C. Mills, who will continue the business in the future as the sole proprietor. All parties indebted to the old firm are requested to settle at once as the books must be closed.

Geo. Hoyer, J. C. Mills.
