ELECTION NOTES.

Even Aurora went Republican. Ehlen led in Roland's precinct. The sheep voted as well as the lambs. No show for Coxey's in Marion county.

The Republican senators are elected in Linn county. The Republican senators are elected in Linn county.

The whole ticket in Marion county is elected by from 300 to 1500 plurality. Barkley leads the Republican legislative ticket.

Oregon did not become the tail of the Populist kite. Sublimity doublet and trebled her Republican vote.

It will do old Pennsylvania and Ohio good to hear from Oregon. Polk county gives from 300 to 500 majority for the Republican ticket.

Where, oh where, is John P. Robertson and the great campaign of education? Irwin runs ahead of Reid in his home city of Eugene and will be elected.

There is hardly a justice or constable of the Populist party elected in Marion county. Marion county will keep her old-time place as the banner county of Republicanism.

L. H. Poulade was defeated for justice, Assman being elected, in Gervais precinct. Woodburn made a grand showing of Republican gains. It has been the hub of Populism.

Lon. Gesner, the Republican heavy weight beat Swank 41 votes in his own precinct. Five Salem precincts give Lorenz Ehlen 305 plurality. The ten precincts will run it up to six hundred.

Lincoln precinct (the home of Mr. Swank), was nobly carried by a noble band of Republican workers. The Republicans have not got through voting yet. It will take them a month to get through yelling. They voted straight.

West Salem cast 198 votes, (Eola precinct), and out of these 190 are reported to have been Republican. We move to annex that precinct. In Micloay precinct ten ballots for representative were lost by voters voting more than five names. Eight Republicans did not get to vote.

Many Democrats and intelligent Populists manfully showed that they did not endorse the combination to down THE JOURNAL at the polls. The public and private character of THE JOURNAL representative on the Republican ticket was not picked to BULLETIN NO. 2.

Of the Marion County Fruit-Growers' Union. SALEM, June 5, 1894.

Usually, a month passes after a late frost, before we can determine the extent of damage done. Our severe frosts early in May, it is now definitely known, injured some varieties of fruit, from 40 to 60 per cent. Yet we have the promise of the heaviest yield, in the aggregate, ever known, owing to increased acreage; an increase that will be repeated each year for years to come, until the annual output from our section will be enormous. Preparations are now being made on every hand to save and market the berry crop.

Gooseberries have been plentiful on the streets of Salem for a week past, starting at 20c per gallon, declining to 15 cents. Yet the main harvest will not be on before the 11th. The crop is full 100 per cent., and the acreage quite large.

Strawberries are not yet plentiful, but will be by the 9th. The first home grown we could learn of, were brought in by Prof. M. W. Smith, of Polk county, on May 26th; variety, Sharpless. The crop is but 50 per cent., and very spotted. Our Minneapolis correspondents report the Minnesota crop killed, and hoped for shipments from Oregon. The floods are preventing the Hood River Union from shipping. On the 31, the U. P. tried to reach them by boat, but failed. Another effort is being made today. Heretofore they have shipped their strawberries to Kansas City and Denver. Much depends with us on the early resumption of traffic. As it is, the market over the Northern Pacific is cut off, as well as over the U. P.

Black Cap raspberries: The acreage is considerable and the crop heavy. The local demand will cut but a small figure and should we not be able to obtain a market abroad growers will do well to prepare for drying them. Ordinarily 25 cents wholesale is paid for them. Last year a number of our growers tested them and found a profit at 18 cents or even less. They dry away to one-third and dry easily and cheaply. Dealers pronounce our product finer than the Eastern and superior to canned berries. One pound dried will make a gallon of sauce so that at 25 cents per pound they are cheaper than most fruits.

Prunes: Our Petite crop is fully 100 per cent, and greatly increased acreage. The Italian suffered by prolonged cold wet weather from time of blooming. The frosts in May did them considerable damage also. The crop will not exceed 40 per cent, we believe. Cherries, apples and pears, with the exception of a few varieties, promise a full crop. The time for spraying for codling moth is near at hand, and must be done if apples are to be merchantable.

The California fruit bulletin reports a light crop of prunes. Peaches are the heaviest crop they have ever known. Eastern reports say the damage by frosts were greatly exaggerated, except in the south. Their apple crop is large.

A CALL OF BERRY MEN.

By request of a number of growers of raspberries, strawberries and gooseberries, we issue an invitation to all berry men to meet at the office of the Union in the Insurance block on Saturday the 9th at 10 a. m., to discuss the situation. All the information possible will be gathered and presented to the meeting. The possibility of canning and drying will be discussed. The box and crate question will also come up. There should be a full attendance. No grower will be barred out.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Hard times continue and so does THE ONE CENT DAILY.

High Mountains in America.

It may surprise the reader who is a little rusty on geography to be informed that there are over 300 mountains on the North American continent that are over 10,000 feet in height, but such is the case. In Alaska alone there are scores of them, and not less than five in that boreal region exceed 15,000 feet.—St. Louis Republic.
