DEMOCRAT SUSPENDS.

The editor of the Marion County Democrat, which was established as a dally and has been running as a seekly prints the following notice in his issu-of Aug. & suspends publication with no intention of resuming. We do this without any bitter feeling toward anyone, but with the livelest friendship for those who have done their best to belp sustain a Our reason for taking this action is that we cannot afford to give any more of our time and money to the Demoe atic party. The paper has lived over two years and a haif and has dimin-ished our means to that point that it the mark. We are aware that some subscriptions have not expired and if any subscriber feels aggrieved at our ourse we stand ready to supply the Oregon Historian for the balance of his time. Respectfully Yours, E. H. FLAGO,

Editor Democrat.

THE DEMOCRAT. The Balem Democrat suspends publiextlen this morning. It is volume 2, No. 22 and has survived much longer days when Mr. Bush managed the Htatesman. Mr. Flagg wisely selects an Oregon paper edited by a Missouri versity the piano that belonged to his Democrat to supply all unexpired father, General Robert E. Mr. Flagg deserves has, it is said, directed the planting of thoroughly Democratic. He possesses ability of firstrate order and applied it unflinchingly. He had also newspaper the notes of invitation received by the business sense. The commercial in- Bradley-Martin contingent who receive stinct was well developed in him. He has made a strong effort and applied both money and labor, almost without stint, to establish a Democratic organ at the Capital City of Oregon, which from a Democratic standpoint is un- Munich. invitingly Republican, and will probably be more so for the next eight the Cleveland regime. This leaves with three daily news-Of the remaining papers, (except THE JOURNAL, of course,) it may be said Salem is well and creditably served with newspaper establishments. No town of its size in the west has more ability on its press. But no * town is less tolerant of a mere party organ. The people who read much are becoming intolerant of a subsidized press, whether it be subsidized by corporations or, a political party. The newspaper that cannot live as an independent business enterprise is not going to live at all in the long run. The people are not going to be bled to pay for a newspaper that is controlled by those who are clothed with political power and authority by the people and then turn around and use the press to wreat the power that created them out of the hands of the people. A free press is "sine qua non" of a free people and a free government. The party organ is not in any sense a free newspaper, but the slavish tool of those who should be the servants of the people, but who seek to set up as their master.

It is no easy thing to cure lung trouble when it once fairly gets a hold upon the system. It can easily be pre-vented by the use of Allcock's Porous Plasters. Just as soon as any intima-tion of soreness about the lungs or stiftness of the joints appears, put on one of these plasters, and you will be sure to gain great advantage.

He also with rheumatism. A cold is s comparatively slight thing. The application of an Allcock's Porous Plaster to any part affected by it will not only relieve, but overcome it. If however, the cold gets a firm hold on the joints and muscles, rheumatic pains are not so easily overcome. To cure is good, to prevent is better.

Brandreth's Pills will relieve rheumatic pains and muscles, relieve rheumatics.

THE COMING STREEGELE.

THE JOURNAL has letters from many citizens and members of the legistature discussing needed legislation and reforms and has decided to devote considerable space at the proper time to discussion of the committed propositions upon which the people demand action. We shall seek to do this solely for the purpose of securing the best possible result out of the conditions before as, and we hope to say, when the semion is over, well done, good and faithful servant, of every member of the legis-characters engraved or stamped on them were undoubtedly the first books. The first known example of bookbind ing in boards in the modern style was a Latin psalter in the ninth century. Some of the early printed books, in order to imitate manuscripts, had the initials and borders painted by hand.

Roman books were often composed of a number of pages of wood strung together with a cord passed through a hole in the corner of each block.

All the English kings, from Henry I to Edward VI, took the coronation oath on a manuscript copy of the four evangelists bound in oak boards an inch thick. This book was made in 1400.

Book sewing machines, to do the work of fastening together the sheets of which a book is composed, were introduced in 1672. Before that time all books were sewed by hand. The book sewing machine reduced the cost about one-half. -St. Louis Globe-Democrat,

A FATAL QUARREL

The Trugle Tale of a sauke That Loved a Rooster.

Heakes don't grow very big up our way." aid a Pike comity man to the snake editor of the New York turn, "but they grow unomenon smart. A friend of mine, who ived back in the Birth Mnob country, capared a young black make once and made pet of it. The snake got as tame as a kiten and had the rin of the premises. One may be not egg honogry, and he stole an egg rom under a sitting hen and swallowed it. The egg was just on the eve of hatching and the chick picked its way out of the egg as it lay inside the snake, and not finding daylight yet kept on picking until it had picked a hole through the snake and stuck te head out. That was as far as it could get, and there it stuck.

"The snake didn't like it at first, but by and by the novelty of the situation seemed to strike him, and he grew proud of that strange living protuberance. My friend didn't interfere, curious to see what the result of that singular companionship would be. The chicken and the snake grew very foud of one another, and it was worth a farm to see 'em go to sleep together, the snake turning its head back and snuggling down by the chicken's head. The make kept the chick well supplied with food, catching flies and worms and insects of va rious kinds and passing them back to the chicken by the hundred. The chicken grew like a weed, and along toward the end of the summer the blacksnake's body was pouched out like a small hand satched where the chicken was spreading out, and above the anake's back. It was the funniest sight you ever saw and touching, too, the two creatures doted on each other so.

"One day along in August the snake and his friend were taking a nap. Presently the chicken woke up, stretched his neck to its full length and got rid of his first crow. The first crow of a young rooster, even when he has the aid that seems to be in the flopping of his inciplent wings, is always a heartrending performance, and as this rooster couldn't use his wings his first crow was real spooky. The snake woke up with a start. He looked wildly about. He was scared and no mistake, but finally made up his mind that he had been dreaming and settled down to finish his nap. He had scarcely closed his eyes when the young rooster, encouraged by his first attempt, atretched his neck and tried his voice again. The snake jumped as much as 10 feet, his eyes full of terror, and sailed dog. The chicken seemed to enjoy the per-formance hugely, and while the snake was still trembling he let go another crow.

"Then the snake discovered where the queer noise was coming from, and he turned a look on the chicken that was terrible in its reproachfulness. The young rooster would have done well if he had heeded it, but he didn't. He stretched his neck as high as he could and crowed again square in the snake's face.

"The snake struck at the chicken's head, but missed it. The chicken got mad and clipped the snake in the head with his bill. And then it went. They tumbled and fought around that yard for five minutes. Then they suddenly became quiet. The anake had got the chicken's head in his mouth and swallowed it, neck and all. Earthenware bricks or tiles with had killed his friend, but had choked himself to death in doing it."

A Grand Feature

Of Hood's Sarsaparilla is that while it purifies the blood and sends it cours ing through the veins full of richness and health, it also imparts new life and vigor to every function of the body. Hence the expression so often heard; "Hood's Barsaparilla made a new person of me." It overcomes that tired teeling so common now.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable perfectly harmless, always reliable and beneficial.

readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have to much faith in its curative powers, that they offer the Hundred Delay. that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any cases that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
