THE LOCAL RESUME.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Breyman are in Portland. A good soaking rain last night and local showers today.

Geo. Williams and daughter went to Portland this afternoon.

J. L. Mitchell went to Portland this afternoon on railroad business.

The Salem Soap and Chemical works which have been closed for some months will resume operations about next Tuesday under the management of Frank Verhaag, the present owner.

Welch Bros. have the contract for laundry building, tower and cistern at the state insane asylum farm. Their price at which they bid is $6,544.

Architect Knighton is drawing up the contract to be signed up today.

PERSONALS.

Prof. Parvin is in Albany. Walter Lyon went to Corvallis today.

Thos. Kay went to Brownsville today.

Rev. and Mrs. McCulloch returned to Mehama today, after taking in the Presbyterian dedication.

Rev. Whiteman, of Turner, returned home today, having attended the Presbyterian festivities.

Greta and Howard Strickler returned this morning from a visit at Oregon City, accompanied by their aunt, Miss Vera Pillsbury, who will make a short visit here.

Hon. Geo. McBride returned to the city Monday night on the overland from St. Helens, after spending the greater part of the summer at that point. He has had a long hard struggle with his physical disabilities this summer, but his mental faculties and bright spirits are undimmed by disease, as his heart is untouched by the pangs of suffering.

What Spoils the Water.

There are many in the city who claim that the fetid condition of the water is the result of broken pipes in the slough, through which water from that source is constantly drawn. Others claim that pumping from the slough is done instead of from the distant channel of the river.—Statesman.

The fact that two prominent city officials have been going to the head of government island, above the water-works crib, in a skiff and washing off may have had something to do with the fetid condition of the water.

Salem Needs Spring Water.

Salem wants the best of everything and can afford to have it. This fact is announced by private business enterprises. For example, the Postoffice grocery store has proven that the best goods the market affords can be sold cheaper than some of the poorer grades under old methods. This house buys and sells lowest. Hence its patrons can afford the best.

Low Rates on Hops.

The Southern Pacific company announces that they will issue effective September 1, 1894, a special tariff on hops in carloads minimum weight of 12,000 pounds, of $1.70 per 100 pounds from Oregon terminal and intermediate points to Missouri river, Mississippi river, Chicago and points common therewith, Cincinnati, Detroit and common points, Pittsburg, Buffalo, and common points and New York, Boston and Atlantic seaboard common points. This is nearly a 25 per cent. reduction and will be of great benefit to the hop growers of Oregon. The Southern Pacific company recognizes the fact of the present low prices being offered for hops and is willing to help the situation by reducing freight rates. E. P. Rogers, A. G. F. & P. A. 9 34

LOOKS BETTER.

Nothing laundried at the Salem steam laundry looks better and lasts longer than if laundried at home. Hence it is a money as well as a labor saving institution. No Chinese labor.

THAT 5000 EDITION.

CORN, CORN, BEAUTIFUL CORN.

Morningside People Will Conduct a Corn Palace Picnic.

The corn palace goes. Whoever says Oregon can't grow corn, and lots of it, lies.

The state fair corn exhibit will surprise the natives.

Shipments are on the way from Douglas and Jackson counties.

It will have to be pretty fine corn to beat the sample left at this office by Judge T. L. Davidson. He shows a sample of white dent corn that is equal to the best Nebraska or Iowa product. It was ripe September first this year.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be put in by the corn committee at the state fair grounds decorating the corn palace. The work will be in charge of S. B. Birdsall, a corn palace decorator from Sioux City, Iowa, who has been engaged by the committee. Bring in your corn in the stalk or ear.

Supt. F. N. Derby of the motor railway assures the committee of a fine donation of corn. He is getting up a corn palace picnic and excursion from Morningside to the fair grounds on Friday and Saturday. All the people out at Morningside are from the corn belt of Northwestern Iowa. They are going out with their families and help decorate the corn palace.

Mr. Derby is an enthusiastic believer in the merits of corn as a crop in Oregon. He was raised on corn. No one need be surprised to find the motor cars decorated with corn stalks during the state fair. The first corn train for Oregon's first corn palace will leave Morningside Friday morning at 9 a. m.

Let everybody who has any corn, great or small, green or ripe, help out this exhibit. The result will be a happy surprise.

Musical Brevets.

Tomorrow the conservatory of music Willamette university opens registration, examination and assigning time for lessons begin.

Miss Sargent having resigned to take the position as musical director of Pacific college at Newberg, Mrs. Sharp who has long been a music teacher and has quite a class who desire to be recognized in the conservatory is appointed assistant teacher. Prof. Kruse and Miss Carpenter will arrive this evening. Some of the other teachers Miss Hubbard, Miss Newsome, have arranged with a number of pupils to bring lessons. Several pupils from abroad have written and expect to come and enter the conservatory soon.

READERS OF THE JOURNAL.

Notice our regular advertisers and give them your patronage. As a rule they are strictly reliable people to deal with. You will find them liberal and accommodating without a doubt. Some twenty families are employed and connected with this daily newspaper, and it is but right that they give their patronage to those who help us to meet the weekly payrolls. Live and let live. Stand by those who enable you to live and who enable a live and fearless daily newspaper to exist in Salem.

NO MILDEW.

Hop pickers have been at work in the Hayden yards one week since September 4. Until Monday of this week no mildew was found. Since then a few light spots have been discovered, but the loss from this cause will be very slight.

F. C. Gunnung of Stayton is in the city for a few days.

Chicken Supper.

The ladies of St. Paul's Episcopal church will give a supper at their Guild rooms Wednesday, September 12, from 5:30 to 9 p. m. Roast chicken, salad, cold meats, baked beans etc., are among the good things to be served.

ADMISSION FEES.

The general admission to the state fair this year is 50c for both men and women. Pass checks will be issued for readmittance the same as in past years. There will be a charge of 25c for seats in the grandstand for men—women free—but there will be no charge at the race course gates. During five evenings of the week there will be programmes in the pavilion. The evening admission fee will be 25c, but the pass check that is issued on the day ticket will admit to the evening programme the ticket must accompany the check. The 25c ticket is for the benefit of those who wish to attend the evening entertainment but were not present during the day.

THE FINANCIAL PROBLEM.

Since Sunday morning there had been collected and subscribed in all the sum of $618, $48.70 of which was given Tuesday evening. He closed the service with a brief prayer of thankfulness.

Choir and congregation sang "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," and then the "other exercises" were had. Elegant refreshment were served to all who remained. Just before the "other exercises" there were about ten five minute speeches according to the following program:

THE RESPONSES.

"The Old Guard" Mrs. R. Boothby replied for the membership of 1893.

P. S. Knight spoke of the "Salem churches of Old Lang Syne."

"The Church Militant," was spoken for by nearly all the pastors or different Salem churches.

"The Church Triumphant," response by Rev. A. L. Hutchinison.

"The Educational Interest of the Church" by Hon. G. M. Irwin, state superintendent elect.

"The Ladies Aid Society" by Judge A. F. Moore.

The Y. F. B. C. E., Miss Anna McNary.

"The Building Committee" H. J. Bigger.

"The Board of Trustees," A. O. Condit.

"The architect and builder" W. C. Knighton.

INSTALLATION CONTINUED.

Concluding Exercises at the First Presbyterian Church—Historical Papers Read—Responses to Toasts.

INSTALLATION CONTINUED. The First Presbyterian church was again filled to overflowing Tuesday evening to witness the closing installation exercises. All had not got in by eight o'clock and the ushers were kept trotting up and down the raised floor, which must be very severe and arduous on corns and bunions in going down the grade.

THE SERVICE—8 p. m. After singing of a dedicatory hymn, Rev. Whiteman, of Turner, read the 55th Psalm. Rev. G. M. Irwin offered an eloquent prayer. Mrs. McDowell and Miss Myra Albert sang "The Night of Rest." After this the pastor announced that the self-denial fund would be taken up. It took eight ushers with silver plates five minutes to go the rounds of the five or six hundred people while the organist rattled away at some very pretty voluntaries.

Rev. Hutchinison expressed regrets at not hearing from all of the former pastors. Mr. Jas. M. Martin was now introduced as an "old-comer" who arrived thirty-two years ago, and he took the wise precaution to immediately become a Presbyterian and has been one ever since, as much as any man can be a good church member and superintendent of a water company. When he came there were Methodist, Episcopal, Baptist and Congregational churches at Salem.

May 15, 1869, with twenty members, of these Mrs. Boothby and Mr. Martin alone survived of those members. Rev. Jas. Stewart added 64 members. Rev. Peck added 22 members in 1872. Rev. R. H. Hill was the fourth pastor and 46 joined. He cleared the church of debt. F. P. Berry was next in 1884. He added some members. Next came E. J. Thompson and he received 150 members. Rev. H. A. Newell resigned July 1st, 1890. The church next had Rev. F. H. Gwynne. He added 120 members and the presbytery took him away. The ninth pastor was the present. He came in March 1893 and added 65 members. The First Presbyterian church of Salem since its organization has had 902 members, and only 25 have died, or one per year. The church of Salem has now 294 living members. Mr. Martin's historical paper was very interesting and was listened to with a great deal of attention. It charged one pastor with having had no very high regard for the tenth commandment. It was a valuable compilation of facts about the church history and will no doubt be spread on the church records.

Rev. Dr. Hill of Indian Territory sent a letter which was read by Brother McCulloch. He came in an early day with his bride around by Panama from New York. He was entertained by Capt. John W. Crawford and wife. That settled it. He located at Salem in preference to Seattle and Portland. He found a weak church and a debt of $2500. He preached at Zena where Elder Walker arranged for services. He also preached at Woodburn, Turner and other places.

Revs. Newell and Stewart did not send letters but may yet be heard from.

How the One Cent Daily and Weekly Are Growing.

ON, OH, YE BLEEDING ADVERTISERS.

Salem Newspaper Lists and Suggestions as to Profit.

Salem has now three daily newspapers and three weekly newspapers and several small publications and miscellaneous advertising enterprises, conducted merely to pick up the unwary. How can a business man wisely discriminate and get returns?

THE JOURNAL is conducted purely upon business principles. It does not beg for support or business on the theory that anyone is compelled to use its columns or be forever ignored on this earth. It submits lists of persons who subscribe and pay for it at the principal towns in this county and who can be communicated with daily and weekly at a very low price per month.

SOME JOURNALISTS.

THE JOURNAL daily and weekly goes to several hundred more post-offices in Oregon and has an aggregate circulation of ten thousand readers who get it every week and read every line in it.

A 50 cent advertisement in our want columns will reach all those people for one week. Our regular commercial rate for locals with all this circulation for locals is five cents a line in each edition. Come in and see our printed lists of subscribers. They are the best class of citizens of Oregon—the best pay—as our lists will show.

During the state fair week the JOURNAL will have nearly a double circulation and a splendid time to advertise is to begin right now. We make a special low rate beginning now and extending over the fair week.

We challenge comparison in point of circulation with any paper in Oregon for the great central Willamette valley trade naturally tributary to Salem.

A STATE FAIR EDITION.

On Thursday evening a special state fair advertising edition of five thousand extra copies will be sent out to all the dairymen of the state, and business men and property owners in adjoining counties. They are subscribed and paid for by Salem business men who believe that is the best way to build up their business and make the state fair a success. It will be a splendid edition to advertise in. No extra charge for space in this edition.

VALLEY LOCAL NEWS.

MARION. Mrs. D. W. Ramsey, of Salem, has been visiting relatives here for several days.

Thomas Little and others killed a large bear a few miles east of Marion, one day last week.

Pearl, Myra and Orlan Ohm, daughters of W. F. Ohm, of the Star Nursery Co., of Salem, are making an extended visit among their relatives and friends here.

Rev. C. B. Scott and family moved to Scott Mills last Friday, where he will serve as pastor of the Friends church. During their stay of two years here they have made many friends who are sorry to see them leave Marion.

Rev. Robinson, of Independence, Or., preached at the Presbyterian church here last Sunday, at 3 p. m. He was formerly pastor of the Presbyterian church here. His many friends were glad to meet him again.

R. T. Ray's new residence east of town, is looming up. He and his boys are doing the carpenter work.

L. P. Haack is painting S. W. Brown's new residence this week.

James Rutherford returned a few days ago from Southern Oregon. He sold his interest in a mining claim up there and will leave in a few days for his old home in New York, where he expects to make his future home. The good wishes of his many friends follow him.

The funeral ceremonies of Mrs. W. F. Ohm were performed here last Wednesday at the Friends church, by Rev. F. M. George, of Salem, after which the body was interred in the Friends cemetery here. Mrs. Ohm and her husband and family were among the first of the members of Friends church that located at this place. She has many friends and relatives here that mourn her loss. "They mourn not as those without hope."
