THE BIG STRIKE.

It is now a memory. It was a valuable experience. It is claimed by Mr. Pullman the men would have gained $350,000 in wages, whereas they received only $50,000 in donations by going on a strike. Archbishop Spaulding says the working men of the United States lost $35,000,000 by the strikes of 1894.

It is probably the last time a general sympathetic strike will be ordered, or resorted to. There is no connection between sympathy and force. Sympathy produces love and respect. There should be a true and a constant sympathetic interest on the part of employers in their workmen. It would pay better than any other investment. Employers, treat your employes as human. Become personally acquainted with them. It will pay.

POLITICAL DIVISIONS.

Our great lines there can be only two political parties among mankind, be it in this or any other country. One party will have its desires for the present animated by benefits and advantages gained in the past. It would lose by any political change those privileges and profits which now cause it to be conservative. The other party has nothing to lose and all to gain by a change, by progress, by breaking up the monopolies and special privileges now enjoyed by those whose particular interests have grown up, been fostered and protected by legislation and machinery of government. Men may be Republicans, Democrats or Populists at home. At Washington they represent this interest or that, or they represent the disinterested masses of the people. Witness the illustration of this great truth of our politics by the conduct of the senators and representatives in framing the Gorman-Wilson tariff bill. Men in office are not what they are labeled for party purposes. They are what their interests make of them.

A PLATFORM.

The Republicans of Massachusetts have adopted a platform in the following:

The principles of the Republic of Massachusetts are as well known as the commonwealth itself; well known as the republic; well known as liberty; well known as justice. Chief among them are:

An equal share in government for every citizen.
 Best possible wages for every workman.
 The American market for American labor.
 Every dollar paid by the government, both the gold and silver dollars of the constitution and their paper representative, honest and unchanging in value, and equal to each other.
 Best immigration laws.
 Best naturalization laws.
 No tramp, anarchist, criminal or pauper to be let in, so that citizenship shall not be stained or polluted.
 Sympathy with liberty and Republican government at home and abroad.
 Americanism everywhere.
 The flag never lowered or dishonored.
 No surrender in Hawaii.
 No barbarous queen intruding into Hawaii.
 No lynching.
 No punishment without trial.
 Faith kept with the pensioner.
 No answering aid soldier in the poor house.
 The suspension of drink driving and drug selling.
 A school at the public charge open to all the children, and free from parties or sectarian control.
 No distinction of birth or religious creed in the rights of American citizenship.
 Devotion permanent and supreme to the country and to the flag.
 Clean politics.
 Pure administration.
 No lobby.
 Reform of old abuses.
 Leadership along loftier paths.
 Minds ever open to the sunlight and the morning; eyes open to new truth and new duty, as the new years bring their lessons.
 It would be difficult to frame a better platform than this.

Democratic papers are severely criticizing Governor Cleveland for not sticking to his voluntary promise not to reappoint federal office holders who served under his former administration.

Washington, - Fenwick Chapman, of Eugene, will begin a course of lectures on theosophical subjects at Unity church next Monday evening, taking up King Lear.

Information Wanted.

Quite a number of the following circulars are being sent to the different sheriffs and chiefs of police of the state, and as it is possible that some of the JOURNAL readers may be able to give the desired information, it is printed: "Henry Newell Longfellow died just after being taken off the cars at Jamesport, Mo., on March 25, 1894. "The deceased was a cousin of C. H. Longfellow of Jamesport, and was here on a visit about eight years ago. He then said he had been living in California and Oregon for the past fifteen years and had three married and had a son named Kenneth, and a daughter named Mary, and that his wife was dead and children living with his brother-in-law. "Maid deceased was about 55 to 57 years old; about five feet ten or eleven inches tall; dark eyes; dark hair and beard, considerably grey; was a doctor, also traveled repairing clocks and watches. He was a man of very peculiar habits, dressed plain and wore very coarse, heavy shoes; seldom if ever wrote to friends when away. It has been ascertained that at one time in Illinois he was known by the name of Henry Newell or Dr. Newell. I have important information for the above named children. Any one who can help me find them will be suitably rewarded. Address, C. H. LONGFELLOW, Jamesport, Davies Co., Mo.

Printers Ink, the great Advertiser's Guide, says in a recent issue, "The Salem, Oregon, CAPITAL JOURNAL is the first one-cent paper established on the Pacific coast and the only one west of the Rocky Mountains. Not all the readers of a one-cent paper belong to a one-cent class of people, as many buy men purchase a penny paper because its matter, being more condensed, is more quickly read. The newspaper or magazine which reduces its subscription price will not lessen its value as an advertising medium if the quality of its reading matter is kept up to the standard."

A retired newspaper man gives this philosophical reason for quitting the business: "A child is born, the doctor in attendance gets $25; the editor notes it and gets 0; it is christened, the minister gets $10, the editor writes it up and gets 0; it marries, the minister gets another $10; the editor gives a column full and gets 0; in course of time it dies, the doctor gets $6 to $10; the minister gets another $5; the undertaker $25 to $30; the editor prints an obituary and gets 0; and then the privilege of running free of charge a card of thanks."

LOVE AND CASTE.
 A Match Broken Off Because Money and Rank Run Afloat of Each Other.
 The last London season is said to have been the most on record for matchmaking. The number of engagements publicly announced is surprising, and one of the most interesting, that of Lord Willoughby de Eresby, M. P., eldest son of the Earl of Ancaster, to Miss Muriel Wilson, the youngest daughter of Arthur Wilson of Tranby Croft, has been broken off for reasons unknown to the public at large. The lady's parents were the Prince of Wales' hosts at the time of the dreadful boacoran scandal. They are enormously wealthy, and their daughter is pretty and amiable, so that polite society is much worried as to the cause of the quarrel which has led to such a disastrous result. The fault is believed to rest mainly with the parents. Arthur Wilson, though a plebeian by birth and a shipowner by trade, thinks himself as good as any earl living, and he is entitled to that faith in his social standing, seeing that he has been honored with prizes on more than one occasion. On the other hand, the Earl of Ancaster is not an ordinary peer. He holds the exalted post of lord great chamberlain and is the head of one of the most ancient families in this country, with a fine old fashioned contempt for upstart bourgeoisie. But polite society asks, if he didn't like the family into which his son proposed to marry, why did he consent to the match? The parties concerned invited controversy over what would ordinarily be a purely private matter by the ostentatious manner in which engagement and rupture alike have been announced.—New York Sun's London Letter.

Reports to Changes of Temperature. Public men are constantly liable to danger arising to sudden changes of temperature; sometimes from heat to cold, sometimes the reverse. Henry Thurn, Traveling Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., writes from Exeter Hall, Strand, London, February 8, 1894: "I desire to bear my testimony to the value of Allen's Famous Plasters. I have used them for pain in the back and side arising from rheumatism and other causes many without deriving benefit from their application. They are easily applied and very comforting. Those engaged as I am in public work which involves exposure to sudden changes of temperature, will do well to keep a supply of Allen's Famous Plasters in their possession."
