

THE CAPITAL JOURNAL. PUBLISHED DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY, BY THE Capital Journal Publishing Company. Postoffice Block, Commercial Street. HOFER BROTHERS, Editors.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1894. BUSINESS IS BUSINESS. Our circulation—(We Challenge Comparison With Any Newspaper Outside of Portland.)

ADVERTISING RATES. Want ads, 3 lines 25 cents, 20 lines, 50 cents, 100 lines one week, $1.00. This rate is either DAILY or WEEKLY.

Printers Ink, the great Advertiser's Guide, says in a recent issue, "The Salem, Oregon, CAPITAL JOURNAL is the first one-cent paper established on the Pacific coast and the only one west of the Rocky Mountains."

THE HOP MARKET. The Waterville Times an authority on hop matters, says in its last issue: "Pretty free exports again this week, but they are largely of through shipments from the Pacific coast, a number of which are direct consignments."

The general statistics of Odd Fellowship show that from 1839 to the close of 1893, 1,947,711 persons have been initiated, 1,008,045 members of the order have been relieved, and 209,902 widowed families have received aid.

Today has been wet and disagreeable but the rain did not pour down in such copious quantities as it does in the region of the Willamette valley.—Dales Mountaineer.

An Altruistic colony or co-operative farm company has just been organized and is being established near Santa Rosa, California. The government of the colony will be vested in a president and an executive council, chosen from among the members.

The reports of "the great commercial agencies" for last week also prove that our exports are steadily and heavily increasing, and that our imports of foreign goods are largely increasing.

In Italy the government finds itself in a critical condition on account of a deficit of $15,000,000 for the year. This is a small matter. The deficit in the government of Washington for a single month, October, will be nearly, if not more, than two-thirds of Italy's deficit for a whole year.

We should export less gold in the future and more grain and stock.

THEN AND NOW. The day before election David B. Hill sent the following telegram to the San Francisco Examiner: "The Democracy of the rural districts of New York are enthusiastic and confident. The enemy are frightened and dismayed at our onslaught upon them during the past few days. We cannot be beaten if our friends in New York and Brooklyn will do their duty, as I am sure they will. I am in good health and in good spirits and am confident of victory."

The $14,000 stolen from the express office has been recovered, with the exception of a trifle, and everyone in The Dalles is glad of it. Individually Jones "hove" a sigh of relief, to think that his suspicion of Smith was unfounded; and Smith muttered a hearty "thank God" when his neighbor Jones was cleared of any connection with the robbery. It is to be hoped, now that none of us can be suspected of complicity in the affair, that we will try and cultivate a little better opinion of one another.

All hope of the missing ship Ivanhoe has been given up, as she is now nearly a month out from Seattle without having been heard from. Mr. Fred J. Grant, editor of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, was the only passenger on the ill-fated ship. It is said that just before he sailed he insured his life for $20,000, saying: "No man can tell what is going to happen to him, and in case of accident this will leave my wife provided for."

An agent of the American Book company was in Pendleton the other day, observed in the disguise of a highway robber. Had he donned the garb of an honest business man his disguise would have been more complete. The company's agents appear to be on the run, and move in a "mysterious way their wondrous to perform."—Pendleton Tribune.

Someone out in Oregon, telegraphing Senator Hill, says: "I consider any Democrat who opposes your election a political highlander, who is stabbing our national party in the back." People are wondering whether it was Governor Penneyer. The Hill organs are parading the dispatch as eloquent and patriotic.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Today has been wet and disagreeable but the rain did not pour down in such copious quantities as it does in the region of the Willamette valley.—Dales Mountaineer.

People living in a country where a dog's tail will dry off, and where sand storms will blockade a steambot, should not kick about the gentle Oregon mist.

Hon. W. H. Leeds, of Ashland, state printer elect, is preparing to remove to Salem and advertise his household goods for sale. We understand that the secretary of state-elect, H. R. Kincaid intends residing in Eugene during his term of office.—Eugene Guard.

Thanksgiving day, which will soon be here, is a peculiar American holiday, and it is one of the best of them. It ranks beside Christmas in having a religious side and in appealing to the most sacred memories of home and childhood.

The JOURNAL does not wish to say "I told you so," but cannot resist calling attention to the fact that it deplored the nomination of Keeble in the election after the California state convention.

The reports of "the great commercial agencies" for last week also prove that our exports are steadily and heavily increasing, and that our imports of foreign goods are largely increasing.

The veterans in the Washington soldiers' home, at Orting, were not allowed to vote, the attorney general ruling that they had no residence there.

Unlike Caesar, David Hill didn't require the crown offered him three times. One offer was too much in his case.

Not a little emigration has come into Salem this fall. Many empty houses have been filled and a greater air of prosperity prevails.

The Grinnell Herald says George Utley in 1892 bought sheep for $2 a head. He has been selling them in 1894 for $1 a head. Great is reform!

Even honest Bland, of Missouri, the silver monetarist, was lost in the landslide.

HEART DISEASE 30 YEARS! Short Breath, Palpitation.

Mr. G. W. McKinney, postmaster of Kokomo, Ind., and a brave ex-soldier, says: "I had been severely troubled with heart disease ever since leaving the army at the close of the late war. I was troubled with palpitation and shortness of breath. I could not sleep on my left side and had pain around my heart. I became so ill that I was much alarmed, and fortunately my attention was called to Dr. Miles' Heart Cure."
